AMBITIOUS CITY NEWS.

A Consignment of Zola's Novels Seized—Trouble in an Anglican Church.

HAMILTON, Nov. 22.—A consignment of Zola's novels to a Hamilton bookseller has been seized by the customs officials and condemned under the clause in the tariff which prohibits the importation of immoral literature.

It was stated at the Board of Works meeting that ex-Constable Hawkins had been drawing his pay right along since his resignation was sent in. A reporter turned up the civic rolls but Hawkins' name did not appear. The Police Commissioners have not met since Hawkins sent in his resignation, so that no action has been taken on it. A good many people are wondering what the commissioners intend doing in the matter—whether Hawkins will be reinstated or not.

The Hospital Committee have decided to investigate the charge of malpractice preferred by Mrs. McNab against the resident physician of the City Hospital. Mrs. McNab's father, John Hannah, was injured in a street melee and died two weeks afterwards in the Hospital, as Mrs. McNab alleges, owing to lack of proper care and attention.

Wm. Harvey, a laborer aged 35, working in the Hamilton brickyards, was last evening buried under a mass of falling sand, and when the earth was removed he was dead. An inquest will be held.

There is trouble here in the Church of Ascension. The pastor, Rev. J. P. Crawford, is ritualistically inclined and the church wardens claim he wants to make the Ascension a "high church."

Whisky Smuggling.

MONTREAL, Nov. 22.—C. A. Cornellier, Q.C., has returned from Quebec where he instituted two actions against whisky smugglers. He says: 'There has been smuggled into Canada by way of St. Pierre et-Miquelon this year 3000 barrels of American whisky, and as each gallon was to pay $2 duty this sums up a total loss to the Government of $300,000 from this source only. He has seized 117 barrels of contraband whisky and has instituted actions against all the parties who received part of that quantity from the smugglers.

The smuggling is done by large vessels which come up the Gulf of St. Lawrence unchallenged and on arriving near St. Pierre-et-Miquelon some smaller craft come alongside the big sail boat and take a portion of its whisky cargo which they land all along the shore mostly outside of regular harbors. He suggested as the only remedy for this condition of affairs that the Government fit out a cruiser to pursue the smugglers and especially to intercept them in the Gulf. With the present system the Government are helpless as they cannot station men on both sides of the St. Lawrence for a distance of 200 and more miles. It is said that customs detectives have traced a large quantity of contraband whisky to Montreal and that this class of goods is not sold to large firms but immediately delivered to grocers and saloonkeepers.

A Brutal Stepmother.

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 22.—Yesterday morning a colored woman, named Mrs. Neil took it into her head to thrash one of her stepchildren, a little girl about 10 years of age. She used a heavy horse whip and beat the poor creature in such a brutal manner that she ran down Clarence-street, praying the bystanders to save her. At the corner of York-street she fell from sheer exhaustion. As her stepmother took her by the arm and brought her up the street she cried piteously for help, the blood from her wounds and mud bespattered garments forming a woeful sight. One great cut within an inch of her eye laid the left cheek open and her face was terribly bruised. Her face presented the appearance of having been battered against a wall, being terribly swollen and disfigured. Her back was fairly flayed, presenting a raw appearance, while her limbs was so pounded that she could not move them. Mrs. Neil, when asked at the police station what she meant by such brutal conduct, said she "didn't know she'd hit her so hard."

Found Drowned.

KINGSTON, Nov. 22.—About noon yesterday the body of a woman was found floating in the slip adjoining Richardson's elevator. It was soon learned that the unfortunate woman was Mrs. L. G. Reid of Belleville, a daughter of D. A. Waddell, harness maker. She came to Kingston six weeks ago to be treated for an eye affection that rendered her almost blind and stopped with her father on Division street. It is thought she left her father's residence during the forenoon with the intention of proceeding to the shop, but owing to her partial blindness passed the shop and proceeding on to the foot of the street fell off the wharf. Her husband is in Montana.

West York Conservatives.

WESTON, Nov. 22.—A meeting of the Liberal-Conservatives of West York was held in the Town Hall yesterday afternoon. Three names were presented to the meeting for member of the Ontario Assembly: Mayor Clendenan, J. P. Bull, Dr. Orr, R. E. Sheppard. Mayor Clendenan received the unanimous vote and a resolution was passed expressing confidence in M. R. W. Meredith and the Opposition in the Local Legislature.

Found Dead on the Track.

BRANTFORD, Nov. 22.—The body of Henry Barton of West Brantford was found on the Grand Trunk track at Mount Pleasant Wednesday evening with the leg broken, arm broken and a deep cut in the head. Coroner Kerr was notified and had the body removed to Brantford. Deceased was a butcher and left home Monday morning to do some killing in the country. He was very deaf. An inquest will be held.

Listowel Cheese Market.

LISTOWEL, Nov. 22.—At the cheese fair held here yesterday 32 factories boarded 3159 boxes colored cheese and 9534 boxes pale cheese, no sales, market very dull, right buyers present.

PROMPT, POTENT AND PERMANENT results always come from the use of Milburns Aromatic Quinine Wine. dw

Boils, carbuncles and other skin eruptions indicate that the system is endeavoring to reject poisonous acids, and that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is imperatively needed. It is the most reliable of all blood medicines. Ask your druggist for it and take no other.

The Far Reaching.

Fe fame of a good name heralds the claim that Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a sure, certain and painless remedy for corns. Fifty imitations prove it to be the best. Take no acid substitutes at druggists. 6d w46

COLD, wet weather is very hard on sufferers from Neuralgia troubles, and to those Dyers Quinine and Iron wine is strongly recommended. It is palatable, easily assimilated, and can be safely taken by the weakest invalid. W. A. Dyer & Co, Montreal. 6d116

Almost Driven Insane.

I HAD such distress in my stomach and head that I thought I would lose my reason, but on trying Burdock Blood Bitters I derived great benefit. I have used three bottles and am now as well as I ever was in my life. Thanks to your medicine. Miss LIZZIE DOUGLAS, Redneerville, Ont. 2w46d

A Pleasing Recovery.

I SUFFERED with neuralgia and obtained no relief until advised to try Hagyard's Yellow Oil. Since then I have found it to be an admirable remedy also for burns, sore throat and rheumatism.

The First Sign

Of failing health, whether in the form of Night Sweats and Nervousness, or in a sense of General Weariness and Loss of Appetite, should suggest the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This preparation is most effective for giving tone and strength to the enfeebled system, promoting the digestion and assimilation of food, restoring the nervous forces to their normal condition, and for purifying, enriching, and vitalizing the blood.

Failing Health.

Ten years ago my health began to fail. I was troubled with a distressing Cough, Night Sweats, Weakness, and Nervousness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but became so weak that I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. My friends recommended me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and I am now as healthy and strong as ever.—Mrs. E. L. Williams, Alexandria, Minn.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, that it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, as well as an alterative, and must say that I honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine ever compounded.—W. F. Fowler, D. D. S., M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

Dyspepsia Cured.

It would be impossible for me to describe what I suffered from Indigestion and Headache up to the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was under the care of various physicians and tried a great many kinds of medicines, but never obtained more than temporary relief. After taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for a short time, my headache disappeared, and my stomach performed its duties more perfectly. To-day my health is completely restored.—Mary Harley, Springfield, Mass.

I have been greatly benefited by the prompt use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It tones and invigorates the system, regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, and vitalizes the blood. It is, without doubt, the most reliable blood purifier yet discovered.—H. D. Johnson, 383 Atlantic ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Church Squabbles.
In these days it has come to pass that "ten fights" are too tame for the tastes of church members. They must have something more exciting than the cup that cheers but not inebriates. The newspapers are full of news from every part of the Province of family church troubles, and every mouth is full of the praise of hawley bros.' splendid teas, choice coffees and beautiful glassware. hawley bros.' shop is 370 george street, and that's the place for you to go.

Visiting Prentice Boys.
At the regular meeting of Jubilee Lodge of 'Prentice Boys Thursday evening, there were present Bros. H. Bell, W. M.; A. Delury, D. M.; and B. Bryan, 1st Com., of Lindsay Lodge No. 5. After the business of the lodge had been transacted the visiting brethren were entertained at an oyster supper at Mr. John Craig's restaurant. A pleasant time was spent, the gathering breaking up in the small hours of the morning.

Tuesday Evening Dec. 17th.
According to Rev. Sam. P. Jones, the greatest orator on the continent is Rev. Dr. McIntyre, of Chicago. He has been engaged at great expense by the Endeavor Society of the Charlotte street Methodist church. His subject will be "Wyandotte Cave" or 30 Hours in the Sunless World. An American paper says: "His 'Wyandotte Cave' fairly made one's blood stand still. Above the greatest word painters on both sides of the sea, we set the Eloquent Robert McIntyre." Burning Questions.
Peterborough has several burning questions on hand now, the slaughter house agitation, the market building matter, the Central Exhibition, are all burning questions wanting solution. But the boiling question refers to the hot water required to make a good cup of tea from the choice stock of choice teas kept by Hawley Bros., whose goods are of the very highest quality at the lowest prices. Their coffees are also superb, and their beautiful glassware gives a fine chance for selection. Don't forget to call.

Take the First Chance.
J. Hackett's great cost clearing sale has been a remarkable success; the wonderful value given, has brought buyers in battalions who have eagerly sought the bargains presented. There is still a $16,000 stock of first class goods to select from. The first comer will get the best choice. The goods must be sold by the first of January, and as this is an absolute clearing sale no more will be purchased to assort the present stock. Everything goes just as it is. Do Not Miss It.
Do not fail to attend the auction sale of crockery, china, glassware, lamps, &c., in the store on Water street (next Jas. Stevenson's office) on Saturday, Nov. 23rd. The stock will be complete and worth your attention. During the last few days we have gone through our show rooms and taken out all patterns that we are dropping to make room for other makes, and will sell them as above. We have also added to the already splendid assortment a lot of new and beautiful goods to make the variety complete, and will close them all out at your own prices by auction at the above address. The goods are all first-class and you will secure bargains if you attend. JOHN HAGGART, auctioneer. d119

"Government Analysis"
The government sent an Inspector through the Dominion to ascertain the extent of adulteration in coffee. On anylising samples purchased from grocers, not one out of fifty were found pure, as the government report will show. It also shows that amongst the few houses found selling pure coffee the Palace grocery is one of them, no adulteration whatever being result of analysis. My coffee trade has so increased I am obliged to have it ground by water power and use "Quirk's" water motor, for grinding (the only one used in Peterborough) saving time and labour. If you want good coffee warranted pure, and choice groceries, at lowest prices call at ALEX. ELLIOTT'S, Palace Grocery. dw

Belleville's Industry.
Belleville is happy—for the present at least. The Bay City people see a golden future before them. For months the citizens have been in a tremor of excitement over the probability of a genuine industry being established in their midst, which it is confidently expected will inaugurate a progressive movement to arrest the decline into which the city had fallen and restore her to a state of activity and progress. A by-law to grant a bonus of $20,000 to an iron rolling mill company was carried on Wednesday by a vote of 1,040 to 31. And the people are correspondingly happy. It is to be hoped the city will have better success with its bonussing principle than so many other places have experienced.

A Happy Occasion.
A jolly party assembled at the residence of Miss Richardson, 525 George street, last evening, and social hours were spent in a happy manner by the large number present. The hostess entertained her guests at supper, and full justice was done the sumptuous repast spread before them. Afterwards the young people adjourned to the commodious hall upstairs, where, to the music of an orchestra, they wiled away the time in the pleasures of the dance. The party broke up at an early hour (in the morning) with unanimous expressions of delight and thanks to the hostess for her generous hospitality. Miss Richardson's guests hope there are more such pleasant events to follow.

"We are the People."
This is the claim of Gough Bros. the wonderful cheap men, in speaking of their great one hour sale on Saturday. And a visitor to their premises can see the proof on every side. A $40,000 stock of prime clothing bought at 50 cents on the dollar going like an express train at prices that makes the flesh of the high-price dealers creep on their bones. In the matter of tip top goods and low prices Gough Bros can give points and double discount any dealer in the trade. If you want bargains that will make every dollar in your pocket dance for joy with a wild longing to buy goods worth twice its face value, go at once to Gough Bros, the wonderful cheap men.

Over Twelve Years Established.
A live and well established grocery and provision business for sale. R. H. GREEN, on account of continued ill-health, has decided to sell his entire stock of groceries, provisions, &c., en bloc, at a bargain, to a suitable purchaser. The goods are nearly all new, well assorted and bought at the lowest possible wholesale prices. The stock, furnishings, horse, rigging, &c., will amount to about twelve hundred dollars, but will be reduced considerably within the next few weeks (if I don't meet with a wholesale purchaser in the meantime), as I purpose commencing on Saturday next, the 23rd inst., to retail them at a great sacrifice. Parties wishing good fresh groceries, provisions, &c., for the holiday season will find it to their advantage to call before buying elsewhere, as decided bargains will be given. The goods must be sold. R. H. GREEN, corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets, Peterborough. w47tuf

Croft vs. Peterborough.
The "high license" by-law is not dead yet. Though beaten in their first suit, the town is bound to test the validity of the by-law, as the following paragraph from the report of yesterday's proceedings in the Toronto High Court of Justice:—

Re Croft and Town of Peterborough—Robinson, Q.C., and R. B. Edwards (Peterborough,) for the town Peterborough, appealed from an order of Rose, J., (17 O.R. 502,) quashing by law No. 545 of the town of Peterborough fixing the fees to be paid for licenses to sell intoxicating liquors in the town. Rose, J., held that the by-law in question had not been submitted to the electors, and should therefore be quashed. Sec. 42 of the Liquor License Act, R. S. O., ch. 194, provides that when a by-law imposes a larger duty than $200 for a license to sell liquor it must be "approved by the electors in the manner provided by the Municipal Act" etc. Rose, J., arrived at the opinion that the by-law had not been submitted to the electors upon a consideration of the meaning of the word "electors" which he considered had the same meaning in this section as it has in sec. 11, sub-sec. 14, of the same Act, i.e., persons entitled to vote at an election for a member of the Legislative Assembly, and because certain electors coming within that class had not been allowed to vote. Fenwick, Q.C., and Aylesworth supported the order. Not finished.

WORK AMONG YOUNG MEN.

What the Association is Doing For Them.

Annual Meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association—The Secretary's Report—Addresses Upon the Subject of Association Work—The Annual Statement Will Be Presented Later.

The annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association of Peterborough was held in the Baptist church last night. The edifice was well filled with an audience of which the ladies were in the majority. The chair was occupied by Mr. G. M. Roger, President of the Association, and the other gentlemen who spoke during the evening were with him on the platform.

The opening hymn was that grand old familiar strain, "Soldiers of Christ arise, and put your armor on," in which the Y. M.C.A. orchestra led. The orchestra numbered about twelve pieces and their music gave pleasure to the audience.

After a Bible reading by Rev. E. F. Torrance and prayer by Rev. A. C. Wilson, the orchestra rendered a selection.

PROGRESS OF THE WORK.

Mr. R. J. COLVILLE, General Secretary of the Peterborough Association, then made a statement concerning the local work. He had not been here long, but he thanked God for the success of the work so far, and looked for still greater results. The work was commending itself to every right-thinking man and woman, and he asked the friends of the Association to come and visit the rooms and make a personal acquaintance with the details of the work. The intellectual welfare of the young men was looked after by the library and course of lectures provided for their instruction. With regard to the social work, the receptions had proven a great success, and in this particular he desired to specially thank the ladies for their interest and co-operation. In the physical department very little had yet been done, but now Sergt.-Major Randle had volunteered to teach a class in physical culture. A meeting of the class was called for this (Friday) evening. The spiritual work was, of course, the principal one, and to this they gave more thought. He was pleased to be able to say that a number of young men had been brought to Christ since he came to town by means of the Association. The Bible class was not attended as well as it should be, and Mr. Colville urged the importance of a knowledge of God's word in order to overcome evil. In their Saturday night meetings he saw a gracious revival of their work. He referred to the good work of Miss Gordon a few months ago, and said this lady had left all the money she received in Peterborough as a nucleus for a building fund for the Association. It was hoped some citizen would soon come forward and donate a site. In this connection it had been suggested that the town should give the Association the corner lot of the Central Park property. One half of it had been given to the Roman Catholics and the other to the Protestants, and Mr. Colville considered as the Association was entirely undenominational it was particularly deserving of recognition. As an indication of the interest taken in the work, the Secretary gave figures showing the average attendance of young men, viz:—Reading room, 40; Saturday evening meetings, 25; Gospel and song services, 40; Bible class, 5; special meetings during week of prayer, 30; receptions, 125; mass meeting Nov. 10th, 400; meetings for ladies during week of prayer, 30. The Association had the material help of the ladies, and besides the ladies had established a weekly prayer meeting every Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Bradley's social purity meetings were attended by 200. Some 46 new members had been added, six of whom had just been converted to God, making the total membership 212. A feature of the work was the letters of introduction to sister Associations, given to young men who were leaving town for other towns and cities. During the year about twenty of these letters had been given, addressed to Associations in Toronto, Montreal, Brandon, Rochester, St. Louis, Chicago, Liverpool and Belfast. These would be a great help to the young men in strange cities. Mr. Colville in conclusion asked a continuance of the prayers of the people, as there was every indication of a revival in our midst.

AN ENCOURAGING RETROSPECT.

Mr Roger supplemented a few remarks and said it was encouraging to look back and see what work had been done. During the past week he had most substantial evidence of what the public thought of the work. The Association invited their friends to come to the rooms and see for themselves what they were doing. He had just learned of one thing to-day which showed the good influence of their work. A young man who left town last spring was arrested in Toronto for attempting to commit suicide. Mr. Roger telegraphed the Toronto Association to look after him, and Mr. Colville, then assistant secretary in the city, went to the hospital and showed an interest in the young man; and a few weeks ago, as a result of this Association work, the young man got up in a meeting and publicly announced that he intended to live aright. Mr. Roger expressed satisfaction with the results of their work and looked for still greater results.

The stirring hymn, "Stand up for Jesus," was then sung.

WHAT THE ASSOCIATION DOES.

Mr. N. W. HOYLES, of Toronto, addressed the audience. He referred to the account of the work done here, and congratulated the Association on having an orchestra and on having such hearty co-operation of the ladies. Mr. Hoyles then spoke of Association work in general. The Young Men's Christian Association was, he said, the out come of the spirit of the times, in which the power of association and co-operation was recognized. This was the essence of religion, unity in spreading the kingdom of God. Mr. Hoyles then pointed out the value of the Association to young men starting out in the world, with its terrible temptations and evil influences. It gives him a home among strangers, a place where he will be welcomed and kindly treated and influenced to live aright. He gains young and Christian friends, and so he is saved from going astray as he probably would if left to run the gauntlet alone. Mr. Hoyles then gave a brief history of the inception and growth of the Association work, which, established in London fifty years ago, now numbers 4,000 branch Associations all over the world. In Ontario and Quebec there were 40 or 42 Associations, some of them owning handsome buildings. The Association was not for all men, but for young men; not for women and children; not a charitable organization nor a haunt for disreputable and dissolute characters; not a church, nor even a substitute for a church, nor a mission for general mankind. The Association was for young men, separate and distinct from the church but working in harmony with all the churches. There is such a number of young men not reached by the churches that the Association is necessary. There is no room for jealously between the church and the Young Men's Christian Association. The Association required strong, athletic, young men of sterling Christian character to carry on the work, and for this purpose gymnasiums were provided for muscular development and Bible classes for the spiritual training. The study of the Bible was the bulwork of Protestantism. Another feature of the Association was its active influence towards Christian union. Mr. Hoyles did not altogether favor the project of the external union of the churches; but in promoting the spirit of harmony among all denominations the Association did a good work. It was also becoming an important agent in missionary work, for instance, by establishing Christianity among the young men of Japan. Mr. Hoyles asked the people to give their prayers to the Association—systematic, earnest prayer—as well as their sympathy and substantial support. To the young men he pointed out the personal import of their souls' salvation and urged them not to be merely members of the Young Men's Christian Association so much as to know that Christ was indeed their Saviour; and never, he concluded, be ashamed to show your colors.

THE REPORT DEFERRED.

Mr. ROGER stated that the annual report of the Association had been deferred for some little time, when they hoped to be able to report the Association clear of debt.

A collection was taken up, the band rendering some music.

Mr. A. BURDON, of London, Eng., a gentleman who is engaged in evangelistic work in this country, delivered an address upon Association work, pointing out its value and advantages to young men all over the world. He pointed out its undenominational character and the spirit of aggressive Christianity it displayed. It was also pecuniary work, the most effective of any. To him a consecrated young man was the fairest sight on earth. He liked the Association work because it emphasized a personal Saviour for young men.

A vote of thanks to the speakers was moved by Rev. Mr. Torrance, which was seconded by Rev. Mr. Parker and carried with hearty expressions of endorsation. Mr. Roger also tendered them the thanks of the Association.

The meeting was brought to a close by the singing of a hymn and the pronouncing of the benediction.

Well Dunn!

Last Night's Successful Concert—A Good House—A Good Programme—Presented in Good Style—Good Satisfaction Given.

There was, in spite of the bad weather, a good house both in respect of numbers and character, assembled at the concert in the Opera House last night, and expecting a treat, they were by no means disappointed. The programme opened with a selection by the Fire Brigade orchestra—"The Reception Overture." In the opening of the second part, the orchestra performed a selection from "Il Trovatore," whose great beauty received very effective interpretation. This organization played last night in a very excellent manner. The second number brought out Miss Waltz in Bevinani's "Flower Girl." Miss Waltz has a rich and powerful voice of even excellence over all its huge compass, and she did good justice to this selection, as well as to her second number, "Dear Heart." Her pathos and sweetness in rendering this, earned her the well deserved recall which gave the audience the decided treat of listening to "The Song that Reached My Heart." Miss Waltz scored a second success in Peterborough. Mr. J. C. Monk, of Toronto, showed himself a very clever pianist. His two selections were splendidly performed—brilliantly, yet delicately and daintily. With two hearty encores to his credit, Mr. Monk should be well pleased with his first reception in Peterborough. For the fourth number on the programme, a trio, was substituted a duet, "Angel Whispers," by Miss Waltz and Mr. T. Dunn, whose excellent rendition was greeted with the enthusiastic applause which it deserved. Mrs. McIntyre and Mr Dunn sang well "Flow Gently Deva," so well, indeed, that they had to respond to a recall, when they gave, "Shipwrecked at Sea." In the second part they contributed another beautifully sung duet, which gave the audience great pleasure. The duets of Mrs. McIntyre and Mr. Dunn were chief contributions to the success of the evening. Mr. T. Dunn's appearance to sing "The Brave Sentinel" was the signal for applause which testified to the great popularity of the popular baritone. In all respects Mr. Dunn sang "The Sentinel" in capital style. His rich flexible voice, strong, yet "kept well in hand," as well as his perfect enunciation, made his rendering of this stirring solo a delight. Of course he was recalled, when he sang with great acceptability another fine selection. Mr. Carmichael, of Belleville, gave two recitations, "The Legend of Bregents" and the "Death of Montrose." He has a fine presence and a good voice, which he managed with great skill. He acquitted himself so well in both numbers that he was both times encored, giving the second time "Magdala." In introducing this, Mr. Carmichael's remark that he would recite a poem composed by Mr. J. H. Long, Headmaster of the Collegiate Institute, was received with applause. Mr. Long composed and recited the poem at Upper Canada College in 1868, for which he received the prize. The composition was a stirring one, to which Mr. Carmichael's recitation did full justice—a very complimentary celebration of the 21st birthday of the poem. Mr. George Fax, of Belleville, gave great delight with his uproariously ludicrous comic songs. He sang "The Frenchman" and, for a recall, "You Have To." His second song was a great catch — "Nationalities," and the audience gave him so clamorous a hint for more that "He Took It." Mr. Fax is not a very large man physically, but he is full of fun from head to foot. In his specialty he has few equals in Ontario. It would be failure of justice to omit mention of the excellent and judicious manner in which Mrs. T. Dunn gave the accompaniments to the several vocal numbers.

The concert throughout was a very gratifying success and Mrs. McIntyre and Mr. Dunn are to be congratulated on the excellent outcome of their efforts to provide a high class musical entertainment for the public of Peterborough. After the entertainment the members of the concert company were entertained at an elegantly spread supper at the Oriental Hotel.

News Nuggets.

—The new Grand Trunk repairs shops are now in full operation. The whistle blew to-day for the first time.

—The Amateur Orchestra is practising diligently every Monday night. The organization is very strong at present, and great interest is taken in the work of practice.

—While a flock of sheep belonging to Mr. Fred Winch was being placed on the C.P.R. two escaped and were run over by a moving train. One was made mutton and the other mince-meat.

—As the audience was retiring, Mr. Carmichael remarked to Mrs. McIntyre: "There's no getting beyond Fax; the Waltz was well Dunn; there was no Monk-eying with the piano music, and the orchestra selections were not Butcher-ed by any means."

—John Armstrong, who has been in gaol a week back on remand, was to day discharged by the magistrate. He vowed he would drink no more liquor—"not even for the Queen or the Prince of Wales, if they were here."

SAILSBURY BROS.

SHORT AND SWEET, BUT TRUTHFUL.

An Honest Offer that all can Plainly Understand, and that People can Respect and put Confidence in.

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 22nd, 1889.

GENTLEMEN:—

We want to say a few words to you just now. They will be plain and to the point; better still—they will be truthful, and therefore worth reading:—

1st.—We have a large stock of bran-new tailor-made Overcoats for Men and Boys. They are made of honest cloth, well sewed, and stylishly got up, and will fit and wear as well as if you left your measure—not the kind they make up for bankrupt stocks.

2nd.—You can have your pick of any of these Overcoats for Less Money than you can buy a similar coat that may be offered to you by any other dealer in Ontario.

3rd.—You are at liberty to look through all the stores in town and then come to the City Clothing Store, when we will undertake to fit you Properly with a Better Overcoat, at a Less price than any bona fide offer that may have been made to you.

4th.—We will, likewise, agree to make the same offer hold good for Suits of Clothing, Coat, Pants or Vests, and include Scotch and Canadian Woollen Underwear in the bargain.

5th.—If you want to leave your Measure for a Suit or Overcoat, the same offer holds good in this department also.

6th.—This offer will stand until the middle of January, 1890, when we expect to have clothed every man and boy who intends buying clothing this winter, who is shrewd enough to know the difference between wool and shoddy. We mean business.

Respectfully yours,

STANLEY'S DISCOVERY

THE IMPORTANCE OF THE NEWLY-FOUND ARM OF THE NYANZA.

The Reports of Revolutionary Perils in Portugal Greatly Exaggerated—Discontent Among Spanish Military Men.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The announcement through the British consul at Zanzibar of the discovery of an immense arm of the Victoria Nyanza by Stanley will have a stimulating effect upon the inventive powers of the chronic schemers of gigantic enterprises, and the public may look for proposals by impecunious theorists to connect the newly-discovered extension of the lake with Lake Tanganyika at an outlay of other people's money appalling to contemplate, and this, too, without the slightest regard to the topography of the intervening 150 miles of country. Viewed seriously, however, the importance of the discovery can scarcely be estimated if it is possible to construct a waterway of sufficient capacity to carry large vessels between the two bodies of water, and doubtless efforts will be made to thoroughly explore the region with a view of ascertaining the feasibility of such work and the approximate cost thereof as soon as Stanley's report is received, if it shall give encouragement to the venture.

The discovery of the existence of this water-arm of vast area raises the question whether further exploration will not disclose a continuation of available streams in the stretch of country intervening which may be utilized to reduce the cost and labor of a complete connection with the lakes to a point rendering the undertaking far less difficult than it now seems, and the solution of this problem has already whetted the desires of many would-be explorers to brave the hardships and dangers of African travel if somebody can be found to defray the expenses.

The haste of the various powers to send naval vessels to Rio, notwithstanding the report that everything in the new republic is peaceful, would indicate that they have greater faith in their own ability to protect their respective interests in Brazil than they have in the ability of the new government to protect itself. Nobody now doubts that the empire is a thing of the past; but not everybody will yet believe that the republic has come to stay, at least not without hard fighting to escape the dangers of anarchy and disintegration.

The news received from Lisbon late last night indicated that the reports representing danger of a revolution in Portugal were greatly exaggerated and based merely on the vaporings of irresponsible persons thrown off their mental balance by heated discussion of the Brazilian situation. Private telegrams which have been received here from Rio are all of a reassuring tone, the information which they convey being to the effect that every confidence is now placed in the ministry of Brazil. These dispatches have given a tone of calmness to the dealers in Brazilian securities. There has been no great excitement at any time, but the slight uneasiness which has been felt seems to have been entirely removed by these special advices.

A special from Madrid says: "The recent occurrences in Brazil, and the direct menace of a subversion of the monarchy which is plainly perceptible in Portugal, give special interest to a tone which has become very general among the politicians of Spain, and which indicates precisely the same situation as led primarily to the suppression of the imperial regime in Brazil.

"The recent debates in the Spanish Chamber of Deputies have shown that there is a widespread discontent among military men. They are debarred from taking a prominent part in politics, apparently by the jealousy of the civil authorities and of the statesmen who have no sympathy with the army; and this, when their opportunity for action under arms is extremely limited, affects them. Gen. Cassola, in a threatening speech, said that unless this condition of affairs were altered the military would be obliged, in self defence, to impose themselves upon the politicians who refuse to give the army its dues and right. This means much in the present time, and something more or less serious may be the result of it."

The Vatican has instructed its nuncio at Brussels to do nothing to thwart the projected alliance between the Crown Prince of Italy and the Princess Clementina of Belgium.

Ambitious City Notes.

HAMILTON, Nov. 22.—Mr. T. H. Macpherson, President of the South Ontario Pacific Company, said to a reporter this morning: "The C. P. R. will give definite information at to-morrow's meeting as to the intention of that company." Mr. Jennings, engineer of the company, had a consultation with Mr. VanHorne, General Manager, yesterday, and the result is that everything has been decided upon as far as that company's action is concerned. Mr. Macpherson said he was not just in a position to say exactly what had been decided upon, but that Mr. Jennings will be here to-morrow prepared to answer all questions.

At the Police Court this morning Judge H. Dodge was charged by A. D. Stewart with unlawfully having in his possession a pony, the property of the Dunlop estate. The accused was held for trial.

A branch of the Bank of Hamilton was opened in Chesley this week.

Talmage at Athens.

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 22.—Dr. Talmage is here. He has secured the corner-stone for his new tabernacle from Mars Hill. He preached there yesterday and had a picture made for his Life of Christ while he was preaching. He had an interview with Premier Tricoupis to-day, and will have an audience with the Queen of Greece and ex-Empress Victoria of Germany, who is here.

Detroit's Boodling Aldermen.

DETROIT, Nov. 22.—The grand jury returned indictments to-day against the president of the council and three other aldermen, for soliciting bribes and other alleged crookedness in civic affairs

U. S. Warships Needed at Rio.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Secretary Tracy has telegraphed Rear Admiral Gillies, commanding the South American squadron, that his presence with the Richmond and Tallapoosa at Rio de Janeiro is highly desirable for the protection of American interests. The Admiral is warned that yellow fever prevails in many Brazilian ports.

Killed in a Mine.

KEWAUNEE, Mich., Nov. 21.—Seven men were buried by a fall of earth in the Buffalo mine here last night. Gust Anderson, a Swede, was almost instantly killed and two Finlanders whose names are not known were fatally injured. The other four men were taken out alive but are seriously injured.

The Standard Octopus.

LIMA, O. Nov. 22.—The Sherwan Oil Co., one of the largest independent companies in the Ohio field with twenty-two producing wells and 620 acres of land, has sold out to the Standard Oil Co. for $100,000. The Winget Oil and Gas Co. with leases on seventy acres and eight producing wells has also sold out to the same company.

BUDENBENDER ARRESTED

HE IS TAKEN INTO CUSTODY ON A SUBPŒNA.

A Proceeding Which Angers the Court—Both Sides Accuse Each Other of Unfair Treatment of Witnesses.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—In the Cronin trial to-day Dr. Edmund Anderson, Professor of Surgery in the Rush Medical College, took the stand. Counsel for the defense put to him the same long hypothetical question which was put yesterday to Dr. Moyer, setting forth the finding of a body in a catch basin, and minutely describing the wounds, abrasions, etc., as found on the body of Dr. Cronin, and asking if he could form an opinion as to the cause of the man's death. Dr. Anderson said "No."

Jacob Lowenstein, a member of the police force from 1883 to May 1, 1889, and a partner of Coughlin's on the police force from 1887 to the time witness was discharged, gave considerable testimony tending to show the enmity which existed between John C. Garrity, one of the witnesses for the prosecution, and Coughlin.

The court took a recess until 3 o'clock to take the deposition of Lynch, the distiller, who is ill. It is believed that Lynch's testimony will practically finish the list of witnesses for the defense.

Budenbender, the witness from Hoboken, N.J., who yesterday testified that it was not a white horse which took Dr. Cronin away on May 4, has been arrested.

At the opening of the afternoon session Mr. Forrest for the defence asked that the jury be excluded from the room. This was done. Mr. Forrest then brought up the matter of the taking of witness Budenbender on a forthwith subpœna to the State's Attorney's office during the court's recess. He said Budenbender after testifying yesterday as to the color of the horse which drew Cronin away was served with a subpœna to appear as a witness on behalf of the State, that he (Forrest) told the State's Attorney last evening that he would keep Budenbender in the city till the State had finished with him, that the State's Attorney this morning notified him he would want Budenbender in court this afternoon and did not care to see him before that time. In spite of the stipulation however Mr. Forrest said Budenbender had been forcibly and illegally and in the face of a protest on behalf of the defence taken to the State's Attorney's office during the recess of the court. He submitted that everybody connected with the affair was guilty of contempt of court.

State's Attorney Longenecker said he had thought it advisable to have Budenbender summoned in the regular way outside of court. He understood an officer had a subpœna last evening before the talk with Mr. Forrest and that this person had been looking for Budenbender since that time. The State's Attorney said he knew nothing about the officer beyond that. He knew nothing of the matter until after it had occurred and was sorry it had taken place.

Judge McConnell said that the officer or whoever was guilty of the outrage, if an outrage was committed, if he laid forcible hands on the witness and if this court can reach the offender, he will be punished.

Budenbender was then sworn and told his story of the transaction. He said he was subpœnaed to be here at 3 o'clock and intended to obey the summons. He was in the Sherman House at 12.30 o'clock with Mr. Forrest's clerk when an officer served him with a forthwith subpœna and compelled him to go with him under penalty of being taken in a patrol wagon. On the way they met Mr. Qualey, one of the attorneys for the defence, and a struggle ensued, Mr. Qualey disputing the officer's right, to take the witness. The officer said to witness: "You are my prisoner." The witness was taken to the State's Attorney's office where at Mr. Mills' request he stepped in an enclosure.

Mr. Mills: "I desire to be informed as to the legal nature of this inquiry."

The Court: "The object of the inquiry is to ascertain whether or not anyone, whether police officer or otherwise, has pretended to serve a subpœna of this court by arresting a man and bringing him here by forcible means when he is under attendance on the court in a regular way."

After more discussion Mr. Forrest said he did not intend to proceed any further in the matter.

The court said he doubted whether he had jurisdiction. It was probably merely a case of over-officiousness.

The talk then branched off, the state accusing the defense of unfair means in order to bring Mrs. Hoertel to their office, and the defense making a like accusation against the state in relation to one of the Hylands. A disclaimer was put in in both cases by the accused parties.

Officer Lindville who took Budenbender to the State's Attorney's office was put on the stand. He exhibited the subpœna and said that Ben Williams, the man in charge of the squad detailed on this case, told him to take Budenbender to the State's Attorney's office. The rest of the story coincided with that already told except the witness said Budenbender came with him willingly and that neither threat nor force were used.

Louis L. Harris, Mr. Forrest's clerk who tried to persuade Budenbender not to go with the officer, testified that the officer threatened to call the patrol wagon and used force to take Budenbender along. On cross-examination it was shown that the witness served a subpœna on Mrs. Hoertel this morning that he might bring her to his office to question her, that she refused to go and only consented when he told her the State's Attorney wanted to see her, which was false. The court then decided that the matter was not one of contempt of court but declared it was an outrage on the personal liberty of Budenbender to take him as if he was a prisoner on a mere subpœna.

The court then adjourned for the day.

Cuba is Tranquil.

HAVANA, Nov. 22.—The London and Paris rumors of a revolution in Cuba are without foundation. The island politically is tranquil.

A Carolina Centennial.

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 22.—Yesterday was the great day of the centennial of the ratification here of the constitution of the United States by North Carolina. It is estimated 30,000 persons were present. Senator Ransom delivered an address on North Carolina's position in ratifying the constitution. The town is alive with military and visitors. A display of fireworks took place at night.

Sentenced to be Hanged.

CHARLESTON, S.C. Nov. 22.—William Carpenter and Whitefield Murrell were convicted at Edgefield yesterday of the murder of Preston Younce. The murder was brutal and unprovoked. The jury recommended the prisoners to the mercy of the Court but the judge sentenced them to be hanged Jan. 3. These are the first white murderers convicted in Edgefield county for forty years.

A Buffalo Centenarian Drowned.

BUFFALO, Nov. 22.—Michael Bium, a Polack aged 100 years, a bridge tender, fell into Buffalo Creek at the foot of Ohio street yesterday morning and was drowned.

THE TALKING FINISHED

AND THE PARNELL COMMISSION WILL DELIBERATE.

France Needs More Money to Build Ironclads—Lord Rosebery Talks on the Abolition of the House of Lords.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The court room in which the Parnell Commission meets was crowded to-day. All the counsel for The Times were present. Sir Henry James continued his speech. He said Parnell had paid William Redmond £170, and had promised that Redmond would be called to explain why the payment was made. But Redmond had never been called. Sir Henry attempted to show how the Clan-na-Gael had become paramount in the body which represented the Irish American movement. He emphasized the fact that Parnell did not denounce the use of dynamite. Sullivan and Ford, Sir Henry declared, had openly preached assassination in connection with the Clan-na-Gael. Sir Henry concluded his speech at 3.30 o'clock.

Presiding Justice Hannen said the Court would not call for any further evidence. He congratulated the counsel on the completion of their tasks and added:

"We must bear the burden a little longer. One hope supports us. Conscious that throughout this great inquest we have sought only the truth, we trust that we shall be guided to find and set it forth plainly in the sight of all men."

He Would and he Wouldn't.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Lord Rosebery, addressing a meeting of Liberals at Glasgow last night, said the Liberal program would always be crippled until the party adopted a radical and drastic resolution dealing with the House of Lords. Lord Rosebery declared that he himself was not in favor of abolishing the House of Lords.

France to Have More Ironclads.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—M. Barbey, Minister of Marine, announced in the Chamber of Deputies to day the necessity of fresh credits for the construction of ironclads.

It is semi-officially announced here that the Anti-Slavery conference at Brussels is looked upon with distrust as an attempt to isolate France on the question of search. The French Government will not admit that right and is trying to induce Russia, Spain and Portugal to join in opposition.

Boulanger's Election Invalidated.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—The election bureau by a vote of 13 to 12 has invalidated the elections of M. Naguet and Gen. Boulanger.

The Marriage is Off.

SOFIA, Nov. 22.—The proposed marriage of Prince Ferdinand to the Princess Alencon has been abandoned.

The Anti-Slavery Congress.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 22.—The Anti-Slavery conference now in session here has cabled to Stanley and Emin Pasha asking them to telegraph an account of their experience with slaves and slave-dealers in the interior of Africa.

Foundered at Sea.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The British steamer Edith Godden, Captain Legoe, from New York Nov. 12 for Monteyo Bay, foundered at sea Nov. 20. Her crew arrived at Monteyo Bay. The Edith Godden was an iron schooner-rigged screw steamer of 553 gross tons. She was owned by J. E. Kerr.

NATURAL GAS EXPLOSION.

Two Persons Fatally Burnt and Six Seriously Injured.

BRADDOCK, Pa., Nov. 22.—A two-story brick dwelling was blown to pieces here to-day by an explosion of natural gas. Two persons were fatally burned and six others seriously injured. The accident was caused by a leak in the main. The leakage was discovered last night and this morning Charles Householder, an employe of the gas company, was sent to repair the trouble. He descended into the basement and almost immediately there was a terrific explosion. The others in the house were Peter Kelah, wife and six children. The foundation upheaved and the sides and fronts of the building entirely collapsed. Mrs. Kelah who was sick was thrown into the street and fatally injured. Her three-days-old babe was not hurt. Householder was frightfully burned from his head to his feet and will die. Kelah and five children aged from 6 to 11 were thrown into the street or buried in debris. All were seriously injured but will recover.

Terrific Snowstorm in Montana.

MISSOULA, Mon., Nov. 22.—A terrific snow storm struck this place at 5 o'clock this morning and it is still raging. All trains on the Northern Pacific road have been blocked and two serious wrecks are reported near Bonner seven miles east of here. Several trainmen were injured. Two serious wrecks, probably more disastrous than the first mentioned, occurred west of here. Particulars have not been received.

In Trouble.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The Amies Publishing Company, whose manager Wm. J. Amies assigned Wednesday, is in trouble. Liabilities $41,000, Nominal assets $120,000.

Attachments for $40,000 have been issued against A. Delpino & Bros., cigar manufacturers at Key West. The firm's liabilities are said to be $75,008.

A Defeat For the Tirard Ministry.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—In the Chamber of Deputies M. Leydet offered a motion in favor of allowing the free manufacture of matches. At present a company pays the State for a monopoly of the business. M. Rouvier, Minister of Finance, proposed to withdraw the company's concession and to establish a direct Government monopoly. This proposal was rejected, 312 to 236, and M. Leydet's motion was carried, 292 to 232. The defeat of the Government has caused a sensation and is looked upon as a bad augury for the Ministry.

Deserted by Their Leaders.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—The Government officials dismissed on account of their connection with the Boulangist party held a meeting yesterday. The speakers protested against the action of the Boulangist leaders who they said had induced them by specious promises to support Boulanger and were now neglecting them. Resolutions were adopted demanding that the Boulangist party subscribe for their support.

The Czar's Prayer.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 22.—The Czar yesterday visited the artillery school. In an address he said he hoped the Russian artillery would be distinguished on the battlefield in the future as in the past. He added: "God grant that an occasion may not soon arise. May the Lord preserve us from that heavy trial."

A Threatened Strike.

ROTTERDAM, Nov. 22.—Much dissatisfaction exists among certain classes of labor in this city. The lightermen, sailors and firemen employed on steamers sailing from this port have determined to adopt strong measures to secure an advance in wages and will strike Saturday if their demands are not conceded to.

TURNBULL'S
Below we enumerate several Job Lines which are worth the close attention of all who purchase Dry Goods. What we mean by Job, are lines of Dry Goods we have purchased from manufacturers or wholesalers at a great reduction under cost to clear the lot, or ends of stock we are anxious to clear at a loss before the season closes, sooner than carry it over. It does not always follow that these goods are undesirable. They are often the best goods the market affords for those who need them. We have

	Regular Price	Our Price
60 yds Blk Curl Mantle Cloth.	$3 75	$1 49
Heavy Canadian Tweeds	50	40
Flannelettes	10	6

Boys Overcoats, worth from	$5 to $8	$3 to $5

The balance of several lines we are clearing out at from $3.00 to $5.00.

New Shapes and Trimmings are constantly arriving for the Millinery Department. Our Stock of Mantles and Mantle Cloths embraces everything desirable.

Men's Overcoats that we have not the full range of sizes, at from $4 to $8.

Our Dress Goods Department scarcely needs calling attention to, as the stock is always found attractive and complete.

CLOUDS WITH SILVER LININGS
The present depressing spell of cloudy weather is calculated to drive away pleasant thoughts of the Christmas Holidays, which are daily drawing closer. But the Ladies are looking forward hopefully for a fine bright day on Thursday Next, 28th instant, to usher in our ANNUAL CHRISTMAS OPENING. The Ladies are invited to make a note of the day, and to call and inspect the beautiful goods which will be on exhibition between the hours of 7 and 10 o'clock.

AT LAST!

A Wonderful Vegetable Discovery That Removes the Terrible Results of Overwork.

A True Invigorator.

Weakness and prostration of the nervous system surely follow that overwork and worry which brings sorrow and suffering to so many Canadian homes. The terrible results of nervous weakness, are seen on every hand. Pains in the back, poor and unrefreshing sleep, lack of appetite dyspepsia, and lost energy and strength, are the first symptoms of more serious and danger. ous trouble. This is the way that Paralysis, Paresis and Insanity begin. Do not delay a moment longer, for some time it will be too late to regain your lost health and vitality. Use Paine's Celery Compound now, and the dull eyes will regain their brilliancy, the cheeks will grow rosy, the brain become clear, the nerves strong and steady, your sleep restful and refreshing, appetite good, and health and happiness will take the place of misery and suffering.

A. Sabiston, the well known lithographer of Montreal, writes: "In the summer of 1888 I had to work very hard, and was troubled considerably with insomnia (sleeplessness). I resolved to try your Paine's Celery Compound, and after taking the contents of two bottles, felt like a new man. A good night's rest gave me strength for the duties of the day, and instead of starting out to business in the morning feeling as if I had completed a day's work instead of being about to commence one I started out in good spirits, feeling fresh and strong. My wife and various friends, to whom I recommended the medicine, have been benefited greatly, and in fact 'Paine's Celery Compound is a household word in our family."

The Daily Examiner.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1889

Mr. FLECK has the distinguished honor of being the first Conservative candidate in West Lambton who failed to poll a majority in any municipality in the riding Not a solitary municipality honoured him with its confidence.

THE Spanish colonial minister wants to increase the trade between Spain and South America, and so, like a sensible man, he introduces a bill reducing the customs tariff. Our Canadian ministers profess anxiety to extend the Dominion's foreign trade, but they expose their hypocrisy by constantly increasing the tariff.

THE Lambton election has originated a new infant industry, for which the N.P is to be credited. The Empire has opened a department for the extraction of sunbeams from cucumbers, and yet it has not succeeded in getting much light, but it still works away with a zeal worthy of a darker cause.

THE Hamilton Times thus deals with the Empire's view of the result of the West Lambton election:

Vote for Mowat in West Lambton, 2,502; against Mowat, 2,618; majority against Mowat, 116.—Empire.

Vote for the Tories in West Lambton, 1,842; vote against the Tories, 3,278; majority against the Tories, 1,436. 'Nuff said.—Times.

THE idea of sending missionaries to the wealthy and comfortable of the west end of London shows that Christian people have discovered a new field for evangelical endeavor. Spiritual destitution may be as great, and it appears moral depravity is greater, there as in the east end among the poor. But in England at present, the wealthy classes are awakening to a sense of their duty towards their less happily circumstanced fellow countrymen. The proposed establishment of free schools and free meals for the children of the poor shows the tendency of the times.

COMPLETE returns of Monday's election in West Lambton show that Mr. Mackenzie, the Reform candidate, obtained 2,502 votes, or only 39 less than Mr. Pardee polled at the general election. The Conservative candidate got 1,842 votes; 660 less than Mr. Mackenzie, and 247 less than were given for Mr. A. W. Wright, who opposed Mr. Pardee in 1886. The Reformers increased their majority by nearly the number of votes that the Conservatives lost. From these figures it will be observed that the Conservatives are making rapid progress—backwards—in their efforts to make Mowat go.

Lindsay Libel Suits.

Politics in Victoria, and particularly in the county town, are in a continual state of ferment. The Warder has been saying some hard things about certain Lindsay men, and now it has a couple of libel suits on its hands. They will probably be withdrawn, however. Mr. Joseph Cooper, editor of the Watchman, has entered libel actions against the editor of the Warder, and Dr. P. H. Clarke, who writes under the pseudonym of "Swipes"; and Mr. J. D. MacMarty has also entered similar actions against the same parties. The Warder this week makes full apology and complete retraction of the statements.

A New Railway.

Notice is given in the last issue of the Lindsay papers that application will be made at the next session of parliament for a charter for the Lindsay, Bobcaygeon and Pontypool Railway. For some time past Lindsay has been agitating for C. P. R. connection, and at last definite action has been taken. The Post says the promoters of the scheme are gentlemen of wealth and enterprise. If the charter is granted and a government subsidy secured, a county bonus will also be asked. As the name of the railway would imply, the new line is to tap the C.P.R. at Pontypool.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites

Is sold all over the world. It is far superior to plain Cod Liver Oil, palatable and easily digested. Dr. Martin Miles Stanton, Bury Bucks, England, says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion, and taken it myself. Every particle offered for sale is entirely New, and Manufactured for this Fall and Winter's Trade. Our Mammoth Assortment consists of every conceivable Pattern and Style that Ingenuity can suggest or Money can procure. "'Tis an ill wind that blows no body good." While it is our misfortune to pocket a loss of hundreds of dollars, it is an opportunity offered once in a life-time, for the people of Canada to buy in mid-season, the Finest Goods to be procured, at prices usually named for the most ordinary qualities. Bear in mind, cheap as we have bought we will not look for profit during this Great Sale. The Success of our One Hour Sales were Phenomenal. No Clothing Establishment in Canada can boast of ever having served one-fifth of the Customers. No other Institution, no matter what line, no matter what Inducements, can truthfully say, they were COMPELLED TO LOCK THEIR DOORS, and deny admission to three times the amount of trade they could accommodate. Such was Goughs' experience on Saturday. Nothwithstanding this Great Business, there is still Thousands of Dollars worth of Goods that must be sold before the 15th of December.

COUNTRY MERCHANTS should TAKE ADVANTAGE of this GREAT SALE

As they can stock up for much less than Wholesale Prices. ORDERS BY MAIL receive special attention. Goods altered and pressed free of charge. Satisfaction Guaranteed. THE PAISLEY MYSTERY.

George Leitch's Body Found in the Woods by a Hunter.

PAISLEY, Nov. 22. It will be remembered that on the night of Feb. 4 last a man named George Leitch was reported missing and no trace of him could be found. Foul play was suspected, while some thought he was still living in parts unknown. Detective Greer was here trying to work up the matter but without success.

To-day a young man named Millar was hunting in the woods about three miles from here when he found the body of a large man, or rather only the bones and clothes. He returned to town with the information and the son of Mr. Leitch, Constable Elves and Millar drove to the place and had no difficulty in identifying the remains as that of Mr. Leitch, owing to his clothes and a foot rule still in his pocket. The remains were in a bush about five rods from the river. The coroner has been notified and it is expected an inquest will be held to-morrow.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Anglican Jubilee—Trinity University's New Wing—Ontario Appointments.

TORONTO, Nov. 23.—The second day of Toronto's diocesan jubilee celebration was marked by the laying of the foundation stone of a new wing of Trinity University, and the conferring of degrees at special convocation. In the evening there was a special choral service and sermon in St. James' Cathedral.

There was a large gathering of the officers and friends of Trinity University to witness the laying of the corner stone of a new wing, the erection of which is necessitated by the increasing number of applications for admission to the college, which of late have been in excess of the accommodation. The structure will cost $30,000.

A special convocation of the university followed at which the degree of M.A. was conferred on Rev. T. W. Allen, the degree of D.C.L. on Rev. Canon Dumoulin, Dr. Geikie, Rev. Dr. Potter of New York and the Bishop of Nova Scotia.

These appointments are published in to-day's Ontario Gazette: Richard Lawrence Gosnell, Ridgetown; Wentworth Greene, Ottawa, notaries public; Duncan McGregor, Aldborough, bailiff fourth division court of Elgin; Isaiah Thornton, Omemee, bailiff fourth division court of Victoria.

There is a split in the Young Men's Prohibition Club and last night the dissatisfied members formed the Canadian Temperance League.

The young girl Francis Urry, who left a note in George W. Leach's restaurant on Thursday night threatening to commit suicide, was found at 55 Cumberland-street by Acting-Detective Black yesterday. She did not attempt to carry out her threat.

Cornelius O'Leary was arrested at noon yesterday by Acting Detective Watson and taken to Whitby by High Constable Calvert, to answer a charge of shop-breaking and larceny. He is believed to be the party who was implicated with Sam Jarvis in the robbery of W. H. Cosmack's store at Whitby.

STRANGER THAN FICTION.

The Mysterious Manifestations of Pontiac County Spooks.

OTTAWA, Nov. 22.—After reading of the mysterious manifestations in the house of Geo. Dagge at Clarendon front, Pontiac County, Mr. Woodcock, R. C. A., of Brockville, who has devoted the greater part of the past ten years to the study and investigation of psychical phenomena, concluded to go out and see the phenomena for himself. After spending a number of days in the house where the curious proceedings have been going on for over six weeks Mr. Woodcock had a good opportunity to thoroughly investigate every phase of the phenomena. He declares it to be very serious indeed, being clearly a case of infestation of the weak organism of a child by a low order of spirit and one of the most marvellous cases on record. A full statement of his investigation will be made public in a few days. Mr. Woodcock arrived at Dagge's on Friday last and left there Monday at 3 o'clock and the report given by him is very interesting. The reports given through the newspapers concerning this affair have been almost incredible but they pale before the developments that took place before and after Mr. Woodcock's arrival. His story, which is corroborated by seventeen residents of the neighborhood, is simply marvellous and stranger than the strangest works of fiction.

A MONTREAL BOODLER.

Bailiff Bolduc of the Water Department Several Thousands Short.

MONTREAL, Nov. 22.—Honore Bolduc, a bailiff in the employ of the city water department, has absconded, and is now in New York as is learned by a telegram to a friend. The amount of his defalcation is unknown but it will probably reach some thousands of dollars. Bolduc is a married man but has been separated from his wife for the past seven years. He leaves behind him a father 90 years of age. His method seems to have been to collect say five accounts and return four, then declare the other party had moved, keeping the amount of the fifth. Matters point plainly to some collusion between Bolduc and the accountant Lapierre who absconded last winter and is now in New York.

THAT SECRET VISIT.

The C. P. R. and the Intercolonial—A Big Dock Project at Hochelaga.

MONTREAL, Nov. 22.—It is rumored that the secret visit of Sir Donald Smith, Mr. Van Horne and Mr. Shaughnessy was to ask the Government for the free use of that portion of the Intercolonial between St. John and Halifax, in consideration of which the Canadian Pacific Railway would agree on Halifax as their winter port.

Montreal is going to have a million dollar dock at Hochelaga. The Canadian Pacific Railway people are greatly in favor of the scheme.

The Mayor and aldermen leave next Monday for a free trip to the "Soo," Chicago, St. Paul and Duluth. The Canadian Pacific Railway is standing the treat.

Three seals were captured a day on the river front. It is quite a rare thing to see that animal up this way.

PROMPT, POTENT AND PERMANENT results always come from the use of Milburns Arsenate Quinine Wine. dw

To the Public.

Our aim has been and will continue to be to give the consumer the highest grade of goods consistent with prices charged. We do not manufacture so-called cheap cigars; fine goods are our specialty. Purchasing only the best of tobaccos, irrespective of price, we are in a position to manufacture as fine a class of goods as can be obtained anywhere; Havana not excepted. Insist upon having our well known brands, "Cable," "El Padre" "Mengo," and "Madre E Hijo," and thereby obtain full value for your money. The immense sums expended in introducing our goods, the exceptionally fine quality of tobacco used in their manufacture, and the labor of nearly half a century should convince the most skeptical that the quality of same will not be allowed to deteriorate. ow

The First Sign

Of failing health, whether in the form of Night Sweats and Nervousness, or in a sense of General Weariness and Loss of Appetite, should suggest the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This preparation is most effective for giving tone and strength to the enfeebled system, promoting the digestion and assimilation of food, restoring the nervous forces to their normal condition, and for purifying, enriching, and vitalizing the blood.

Failing Health.

Ten years ago my health began to fail. I was troubled with a distressing Cough, Night Sweats, Weakness, and Nervousness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but became so weak that I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. My friends recommended me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and I am now as healthy and strong as ever.—Mrs. E. L. Williams, Alexandria, Minn.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, that it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, as well as an alterative, and must say that I honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine ever compounded.—W. F. Fowler, D. D. S., M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

Dyspepsia Cured.

It would be impossible for me to describe what I suffered from Indigestion and Headache up to the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was under the care of various physicians and tried a great many kinds of medicines, but never obtained more than temporary relief. After taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for a short time, my headache disappeared, and my stomach performed its duties more perfectly. To-day my health is completely restored.—Mary Harley, Springfield, Mass.

I have been greatly benefited by the prompt use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It tones and invigorates the system, regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, and vitalizes the blood. It is, without doubt, the most reliable blood purifier yet discovered.—H. D. Johnson, 853 Atlantic ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

An Awful Sore Limb

Skin Entirely Gone. Flesh a mass of disease. Leg Diminished one third in size. Condition hopeless. Cured by Cuticura Remedies in two months.

Cured by Cuticura.

For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle; the skin was entirely gone and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurable. It diminished about one third the size of the other and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars from which I got no relief whatever. I was persuaded to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES and the result was as follows:—After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified, and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, and to day, and for nearly two years past my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen.

Skin Disease 17 years.

I have been troubled with a skin and scalp disease for seventeen years. My head at times was one running sore and my body was covered with them as large as a half dollar. I tried a great many remedies without effect until I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and am thankful to state that after two months of their use I am entirely cured. I feel it my duty to you and the public to state the above case.
L. R. McDOWELL, Jamesburg, N.J.

Another Marvellous Cure

THE CUTICURA, CUTICURA RESOLVENT and CUTICURA SOAP have brought about a marvellous cure in the case of a skin disease on my little son eight years old. I have tried almost all remedies and also the most eminent doctors, all alike failing, except the wonderful CUTICURA REMEDIES.

Lot Number 12, South of Dalhousie st. and West of George street, in five parcels as follows:

Parcel One.—This lot is situated at the corner of Stewart and Dalhousie streets, and has a frontage on Dalhousie street of 30 feet and a depth of 75 feet. On this parcel is a substantial dwelling house, a story and a half high vencered. The purchaser will have the right to use the lane in rear of this parcel. The house is at present rented for $9.00 a month without taxes, but possession will be given if required.

Parcel Two is situated to the west of parcel one, and has a frontage on Dalhousie street of 33 feet and a depth of seventy-five feet. Upon this parcel is a story and a half dwelling house at present rented for $6.50 a month without taxes, but possession can be given if required. The purchaser will have the right to use the lane in rear of the parcel.

Parcel Three is situated to the west of Parcel Two. This is an excellent building lot—there is a frontage on Dalhousie street of 38 feet with a depth of 75 feet, with right to use the lane in the rear of the Parcel.

Parcel Four lies to the south of Parcels 1, 2 and 3, and has a frontage on Stewart street of 58 feet, and a depth of 114 feet. There is on this Parcel a clapboard dwelling house with usual outbuildings and a frame stable. The north 10 feet of this parcel for a depth of 86 feet is set apart as a lane for the common use of the owners of parcels one, two, three and four.

Parcel Five is an excellent building lot lying to the south of the proceeding parcel. It has a frontage on Stewart street of 33 feet, with a depth of 114.

The dwellings on these parcels are all in thorough repair, with kitchens, wood sheds, &c., complete, and can be readily rented.

TERMS.—Ten per cent. of the purchase money to be paid down at the time of sale, and the balance in one month thereafter, without interest. At the option of the purchaser, a part of the purchase money may remain on mortgage on the property. There will be a reserve bid. Further particulars and conditions made known at time of sale, or can be learned on application at the office of the Vendors' Solicitor, where a plan of the property may be seen, or to the undersigned.

Coughs, Colds, Croup.

Allen's Lung Balsam was introduced to the public after its merits for the positive cure of such diseases had been fully tested. It excites expectoration and causes the Lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; changes the secretions and purifies the blood; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is warranted to break up the most distressing cough in a few hours' time, if not of too long standing. It contains no opium in any form and is warranted to be perfectly harmless to the most delicate child. There is no real necessity for so many deaths by consumption when Allen's Lung Balsam will prevent it if only taken in time. For Consumption, and all diseases that lead to it, such as Coughs, neglected Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma and all diseases of the Lungs, ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the Great Modern Remedy. For Croup and Whooping Cough it is almost a specific. It is an old standard remedy, and sold universally at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. The 25-cent bottles are put out to answer the constant call for a Good and Low-Priced COUGH CURE. If you have not tried the Balsam, call for a 25-cent bottle to test it.

A Denial.

A paragraph which appeared in last night's EXAMINER stating that dancing was indulged in at a party given by Miss Richardson in her home on George street, Miss Richardson wishes us to state that no such amusement was indulged in. Miss Richardson is a class leader of the Methodist church, whose discipline prohibits dancing, and unless this correction was made, she would feel her character injured. At the same time it may be added that the paragraph was inserted as any other note of social event, and there was no reason to suppose that the information published was incorrect in any detail.

Retiring From Business.

The Port Hope Times says:—Mr. John Fanning has decided to abandon the dry goods business in Port Hope, and will take up his residence in Spokane Falls, W. T. Mr. Fanning is a wide-awake business man, and met with considerable success during the past year in which he has been in business, but the western craze has struck him and he's going west. Personally, Mr. Fanning is a very popular young man, and we are sure he will meet with success in the new field of labor to which he goes.

Take the First Chance.

J. Hackett's great cost clearing sale has been a remarkable success; the wonderful value given, has brought buyers in battalions who have eagerly sought the bargains presented. There is still a $16,000 stock of first class goods to select from. The first comer will get the best choice. The goods must be sold by the first of January, and as this is an absolute clearing sale no more will be purchased to assort the present stock. Everything goes just as it is. First class goods at cost prices. Come early and secure the best choice. dtf

Do Not Miss It.

Do not fail to attend the auction sale of crockery, china, glassware, lamps, &c., in the store on Water street (next Jas. Stevenson's office) on Saturday, Nov. 23rd. The stock will be complete and worth your attention. During the last few days we have gone through our show rooms and taken out all patterns that we are dropping to make room for other makes, and will sell them as above. We have also added to the already splendid assortment a lot of new and beautiful goods to make the variety complete, and will close them all out at your own prices by auction at the above address. The goods are all first-class and you will secure bargains if you attend. JOHN HAGGART, auctioneer. d119

"Government Analysis"

The government sent an Inspector through the Dominion to ascertain the extent of adulteration in coffee. On anylising samples purchased from grocers, not one out of fifty were found pure, as the government report will show. It also shows that amongst the few houses found selling pure coffee the Palace grocery is one of them, no adulteration whatever being result of analysis. My coffee trade has so increased I am obliged to have it ground by water power and use "Quirk's" water moter, for grinding (the only one used in Peterborough) saving time and labour. If you want good coffee warranted pure, and choice groceries, at lowest prices call at ALEX. ELLIOTT'S, Palace Grocery. dw

Star Course, Y.M.C.A., Postponement.

We regret very much to state to our patrons that, owing to their numerous engagements in the States, the Castillian Troubadours, who were to have given a concert here under our auspices on Tuesday next, the 26th inst., have, notwithstanding threateningsby Mr. Bradburn, who engaged them finally, announced it utterly impossible to fulfil said engagement before January. The second entertainment of our course will, therefore, be Professor Clarke's lecture on Thursday, 19th December. Trusting that the delay in hearing the Troubadours will not inconvenience you materially, as it has done us.

To-night at 8 p.m. young men's meeting, short address and hearty singing led by orchestra.

Bible Class Sabbath morning from 9.30 to 10.15.

Praise and Promise meeting from 4.15 to 5 p.m.

Mr. Picard, of Grande Ligne Mission, Que., will conduct the Gospel and Song Service at 8.30. We hope to see crowded meetings.

The executive committee met yesterday and extended an invitation to Mr. Arthur Barnes, Evangelist, London, Eng., to come and hold a series of meetings to be held afternoons at 3.30, Bible readings for all; evenings at 8 p.m. Evangelistic meetings. We hope to commence next Monday afternoon. We ask the prayers and hearty co-operation of all Christians.

The Central Exhibition.

The Finance Committee of the town council met yesterday afternoon, and conferred with seven or eight directors of Agricultural Society. The position of affairs in the Society has already been fully ventilated. The committee and directors' talked the matter over and it was agreed to recommend a grant of $200 to the Society to help tide them over. With the subscriptions raised this will make a total of about $600 provided for, and the directors will float a note for $1,000 for the balance of their debt, giving their personal bonds for that amount. During the winter steps are to be taken to organize a Joint Stock Company to take over the Central Exhibition, the stock to be 500 shares at $10 each, fifty per cent paid up at start. It is also proposed to put up new buildings next year and boom the exhibition, should the company be formed. It is thought there will be no difficulty in getting the necessary stock subscribed. The fifty per cent is to be proposed to pay up will carry the company through till the lease of the present grounds expires, four years hence, when the property will probably be purchased and other arrangements made.

St. Andrew's Church.

Congregational Meeting Friday Evening—The Finances of the Church Discussed.

A special congregational meeting was held in the St. Andrew's school room Friday evening for the purpose, as the notice read, of considering the action of the Presbytery with reference to a resolution passed by the congregation last July, and also to consider the question of improving the heating and acoustic properties of the church. The resolution referred to, it will be remembered, is one notifying the Presbytery that the congregation could no longer pay its full salaries on account of the low condition of the church's finances, and giving notice that they intended to cut down all salaries (minister's included) 20 per cent. The Presbytery refused to recognize this resolution on the ground of technical disqualification. Then a fresh notice of another congregational meeting, called for the purpose of legalizing its previous notice, was placed in the minister's hands and his refusal to read it from the pulpit because it was irregular, caused quite a scene in St. Andrew's one Sunday morning recently. Finally a notice which complied with all demands was announced from the pulpit in the usual way, and Friday night's meeting was the outcome. There was a representative attendance of the congregation.

The discussion was taken part in by the minister, Mr. Carnegie, Dr. Bell, Messrs. A. McFarlane, C. W. Sawers, Jno. McClelland, Geo. Edmison, Robt. Tully and others.

The subjoined report of the meeting does not give any idea of the real nature of the proceedings, which were decidedly stormy and exciting. Points of order were raised by the score, at times half a dozen men were on their feet at once, and the one who shouted the loudest got the hearing, loud applause was frequent, and numerous personalities were indulged in. All this "little capiousness" is eliminated from the report. The meeting broke up shortly before midnight.

THE MINISTER'S POSITION.

Rev. A. BELL, pastor, occupied the chair, and in his opening remarks reviewed the history of the church since he had been in charge, claiming that he could not see wherein the church had so greatly fallen behind, and pointing out that promises made regarding his salary had not been fulfilled. Twelve years ago, Rev. Mr. Bell said, the congregation of St. Andrew's was but an eighth the size of St. Paul's; now it was one-third, a large increase. He claimed he had been promised $1,200 a year when he came here, by Dr. Bell and Mr. Waldie, and an increase with the congregation. Instead of an increase they were now cutting down his stipend. He said he had always worked for the congregation and could not see how the church was running behind.

Dr. BELL denied the minister's statement that he had made any promises regarding the pastor's salary. Rev. Mr. Bell reiterated his statement, Dr. Bell made a vigorous denial, and there the matter rested.

A SIDE ISSUE.

A long and heated discussion took place over the alleged inaccuracy of the minutes of previous meetings, as read by Mr. T. H. Best, Secretary. Rev. A. Bell asked Mr. C. W. Sawers to take the chair and himself took a part in the debate. This was probably the most exciting portion of the meeting. Mr. Carnegie moved, seconded by Mr. McFarlane, that certain words in the notices of meeting as recorded be struck out. Mr. McFarlane and Dr. Bell did not admit the error of the minutes, but for the sake of peace voted for the resolution.

Mr. CARNEGIE drew attention to the fact that by the new rules, which are not yet out, but of which he had a copy, adherents were entitled to vote.

Some objection was made to accepting this rule when the congregation had no knowledge of it. A point of order was raised by Dr. Bell that Mr. Sawers had no right to be in the chair, as he had not been placed there by the congregation. This point was carried and Rev. Mr. Bell resumed the chair.

THE REAL ISSUE.

It was moved by Mr. Carnegie, seconded by Mr. Paton,—That this meeting having heard the reply of the Presbytery of Peterborough to the resolution passed at a congregational meeting held on 23rd July last, and having further considered the said resolution and that statements (as recorded in the said meeting), which induced those present at that meeting to assent thereto, this meeting hereby orders the said resolution and the record leading up thereto to be deleted from the minutes of said meeting for the following reasons, viz:—

1st. Because the financial circumstances of the congregation does not justify the statements that it is no longer able to pay a stipend of $1,200.

2nd. Because, in passing such a resolution, this congregation undertook to deal absolutely with a matter not within the sole control of a congregation of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

3rd. Because said meeting was not called "to determine the case of our not being able to meet our current expenses as they become due, and also to see in what way we can equalize our revenue and expenditure"—in accordance with the laws of our church and the usual practice of this congregation.

Mr. CARNEGIE, speaking to the resolution, said the Board of Managers were not justified in making the statement that they could not pay the minister's salary, hence the proposed reduction of 20 per cent. The Managers showed a probable deficit of $612, but Mr. Carnegie went over the figures as he he had taken them from the books, and argued that if a more careful estimate had been made they would not have come out so far behind. If their proposal to reduce the minister's salary was simply a matter of finance, they were not justified in such a course; if they had any other object, it was cowardly, he said, to not come to the point at once. Could they get a minister for less than $1,200? Mr. Carnegie went over the items of revenue and expenditure and made out only the small deficit of $75. Mr. Carnegie, referring to the statement about so few new adherents coming into the church, said if true it was due to such affairs as this, to the cold and smoky condition of the church in winter, for which he held the Board responsible, and to the fact that the minister did not receive the support he should from the Board of Managers, the Session or the congregation.

A DIFFERENT STATEMENT.

Dr. BELL, chairman of the Board of Managers replied at considerable length, explaining that the Board could not improve the heating of the church by introducing steam, as should be done, from lack of funds. He presented a statement of the financial position of the church as prepared by the Board, showing total receipts at the highest estimate to be $2044.75, and an unavoidable expenditure of $2655, including salaries amounting to $1823.50—a deficit of over $600. In view of this, they had either to cut down expenses or encumber the property by borrowing money. The congregation would not consent to the latter. That left only one alternative. Dr. Bell resented any insinuation that the Board had any other object than the financial welfare of the church in view. It came to a question of accuracy between Mr. Carnegie's report and that of the Board, and Dr. Bell also combatted the minister's argument that there was an increase in the membership of the church. Dr. Bell said the Board of Managers were anxious to have the fullest investigation of their books; they wanted everything open and above board. The Board asked for the appointment of auditors to see if their estimates were not correct. Mr. Carnegie's figures were, he said, mystifying to the congregation. The Board, he claimed, was as anxious for the welfare of the church as Rev. A. Bell or Mr. Carnegie, and he asked the privilege of justifying the action of the Board before the congregation. He had a complaint to make against the minister.

The CHAIRMAN held that it was out of order to introduce personal matters, and supported Mr. Carnegie's demand for the written authority of the Board to Mr. Bell to speak for them.

Dr. BELL appealed to the congregation, and said this was a matter which affected the people, but the Chairman refused to listen, stating that he (Dr. Bell) must follow a constitutional course and report any complaints to the Presbytery. After a good deal of argument

Mr. J. MCCLELLAND expressed his opinion that the Chairman was unfair and one sided in his ruling all during the evening.

Mr. PATON made a few vigorous remarks, chiding the speakers for their unobtrusive-like conduct and urging a committee of hostilities if harmony was to be preserved in the church.

Mr. SAWERS asked if it was true the Secretary of the Board received $163 a year.

Dr. BELL said he had received $100 a year for three or four years, but he had lost five times that amount in his business on account of it.

Mr. TULLY regretted the excitement of the meeting and the introduction of personal matters. He hoped they would shake hands and let bygones be bygones.

SAILSBURY BROS.

Mr. MCFARLANE said there was a lack of touch between the minister and people, and he considered a great deal of the difficulty arose out of Rev. Mr. Bell declining to read the previous notice of meeting. Unless harmony could be restored and pastor and people came together, they might as well shut up the church.

Then another long discussion followed in which personal matters were largely involved.

Finally Mr. Jno. McClelland moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Wm. Hamilton,—That the motion be placed under the table.

Mr. CARNEGIE made another statement that Dr. Bell's figures were unfair, and said the best course to take was for both the Session and Board to resign and have new bodies elected.

Dr. BELL pushed his question of privilege, but the chairman declined to let him speak on constitutional grounds. Mr. Sawers asked if Dr. Bell was still a member of the church, and said he had not seen him there lately.

This raised quite a storm, Mr. Edmison stating that Dr. Bell was a member in good standing.

Dr. BELL said if this resolution of Mr. Carnegie's was carried it implied a want of confidence in the Board. They asked auditors to be appointed to examine their books and determine if they were right or not.

At last the matter came to vote. The amendment was lost on a close majority. Dr. Bell then asked that the original motion be put clause by clause, but the chairman ruled his request out of order. Mr. Carnegie's motion was then carried on about the same division.

The congregation then broke up, the other subject to be discussed, namely the heating of the church, being left to a committee composed of Messrs. Sawers, Carnegie and Paton.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

SHORT AND SWEET, BUT TRUTHFUL.

An Honest Offer that all can Plainly Understand, and that People can Respect and put Confidence in.

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 22nd, 1889.

GENTLEMEN:—

We want to say a few words to you just now. They will be plain and to the point; better still—they will be truthful, and therefore worth reading:—

1st.—We have a large stock of bran-new tailor-made Overcoats for Men and Boys. They are made of honest cloth, well sewed, and stylishly got up, and will fit and wear as well as if you left your measure—not the kind they make up for bankrupt stocks.

2nd.—You can have your pick of any of these Overcoats for Less Money than you can buy a similar coat that may be offered to you by any other dealer in Ontario.

3rd.—You are at liberty to look through all the stores in Town and then come to the City Clothing Store, when we will undertake to fit you Properly with a Better Overcoat, at a Less price than any bona fide offer that may have been made to you.

4th.—We will, likewise, agree to make the same offer hold good for Suits of Clothing, Coat, Pants or Vests, and include Scotch and Canadian Woollen Underwear in the bargain.

5th.—If you want to leave your Measure for a Suit or Overcoat, the same offer holds good in this department also.

6th.—This offer will stand until the middle of January, 1890, when we expect to have clothed every man and boy who intends buying clothing this winter, who is shrewd enough to know the difference between wool and shoddy. We mean business.

Respectfully yours,

M. LEBRUN & CO.

DOMINION NEWS NOTES.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD TAKES THE RAILWAY PORTFOLIO,

Mr. Colby to be President of the Council—Serious Charges against a Toronto Police Court Official.

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—Sir John Macdonald has taken the portfolio of Railways and Canals, resigning the office of President of the Council to do so. Hon. C. C. Colby, Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons and member for Stanstead, it is said will be President of the Council.

Mr. Colby accepted provisionally and left Friday evening for his constituency to consult the local party leaders. No opposition will, it is understood, be offered to his re-election and he telegraphed his final acceptance Saturday. He will return to Ottawa to-day. The Free Press says he will be sworn in on Tuesday.

MEETING OF PARLIAMENT.

The Dominion House to Assemble on January 16.

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—It has been decided to summon Parliament for the despatch of business on Jan 16.

TORONTO TOPICS.

A Fatal Fall—Charges Against a Police Court Official.

TORONTO, Nov. 25.—George Cook, aged 20, died at the hospital early yesterday morning from injuries to the head said to have been caused by a fall or a push down stairs while coming out of Popp's Academy, Yonge-street, on Saturday night. Deceased resided at 238 McCaul-street. An inquest will be held this evening.

The Mail had a sensational article on Saturday seriously reflecting on Police Court Clerk Meyerfey. It stated that he was found drinking and tossing dice with a couple of toughs in Maurice Dalton's dive on Adelaide-street when the place was raided a few nights ago. It was also stated that when discovered he attempted to hide in a closet, but was dragged out by Policeman Geddes. Meyerfey denies these statements and lawyer Nicholas Murphy asserts that he will to-day issue a writ against The Mail for $5000 for criminal libel. The action will be entered on account of the insinuation made that Meyerfey in his official capacity had divulged information as to intended arrests.

A FATAL MISSTEP.

Conductor George Robinson of the Grand Trunk Railway Drowned.

MONTREAL, Nov. 25.—The Grand Trunk express train for the west at about 12.30 Saturday morning was suddenly stopped in the centre of the bridge over the Ottawa River at Vaudreuil by the engineer, in consequence of a freight train having broken loose on the opposite side of the river. Conductor George Robinson of Point St. Charles, one of the oldest and most experienced conductors on the road, walked along the bridge to ascertain the cause of the stoppage. He missed his footing, fell through into the river and was drowned. Conductor Robinson was 50 years old, had been in the service of the road 20 years, and leaves a wife and one son.

MOTIONS TO ADJOURN.

Said to be the Only Ones the Yankees can Get the Pans to Pass.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25. A Washington despatch to The Post says: The South American delegates to the Pan-American Congress are giving their colleagues from the United States a taste of their quality, and the mouths of the latter seem to find it decidedly puckery. The gentleman who are here to represent the countries to the south of us do not show any overpowering impulse to fall upon the necks of their big Yankee hosts and yield them everything that is asked. On the contrary they manifest a strange desire to know the reason for proposed measures and an altogether reprehensible intention of having their own wishes and convenience consulted. What is worse they seem to be aware that they have a snug majority of votes at their backs and to be prepared to use it in the most unfeeling fashion.

Thus far the only motion which an American delegate has been able to get passed is a motion to adjourn, every other proposition emanating from that source has been voted down in the coolest style. Some of the delegates from the United States are already beginning to complain of the South Americans for being so particular and obstinate. This feeling is specially directed towards the Argentine and Chilian delegates who act, as undoubtedly they feel, like lawyers whose duty it is to see that the case of their clients receives no harm. They watch every point with the utmost keenness, elaborately courteous in speech they yet display a resolute firmness in maintaining their views and a determination not to go forward a single step until things are arranged to their satisfaction. This is a great disappointment to our amicable delegates. To have their proposals seriously scrutinised, frankly debated and then voted down does not seem to them exactly what they had been led to expect to take place in this delightful little family gathering.

Senor Quintana of the Argentine delegation has assumed the most prominence in the debates thus far. The Americans already call him "the universal objector." He is a lawyer through and through and evidently a man of great ability. He has an incisive bluntness of expression that shows through the courteous Spanish form.

Ambitious City Votes.

HAMILTON, Nov. 25.—Arrangements are now about complete to build an inclined railway from the city to the top of the mountain, and work will be commenced as soon as possible.

Evangelist Hunter said yesterday that he and Crossley cannot convert the people of Hamilton unless newspaper reporters are first reclaimed.

There was a rumpus at the Opera House Friday night. "Erminie" was being played by the Aronson Opera Company when Manager Roff rushed into box A and fiercely ejected one George Nichols who was making an indecent exposure of himself to attract the attention of Mamie Cherbié, one of the actors. Nichols left the city yesterday. He was registered at the Royal Hotel here as from Toronto and is said to have fallen out the company since it played in Toronto.

Wm. Laidlaw, a founder employed by Copp Bros., was killed on the Grand Trunk Railway track at Mary-street. It is not known how the fatality occurred.

Found Drowned.

ALLANBURG, Nov. 25.—Mrs. William Henderson was found drowned in a pond back of her residence about 2 o'clock Saturday. She had been complaining of pains in her head for some time. About 12 o'clock she went out and said to her husband to be good to the children and that was the last seen of her until her body was found floating in the pond. She leaves nine children, the youngest being only seven months old.

Died of His Wounds.

STANSTEAD, Que., Nov. 25.—The man Cottaine, who was shot on Monday, died at 7½ o'clock Saturday morning.

A LETTER FROM STANLEY

WNODERFUL DISCOVERIES IN THE DARK CONTINENT.

The Explorer's Serious Illness and Recovery—Contradictory Reports Regarding the Fate of Dr. Peters.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Mr. Marston of Sampson Lowe & Co. has received a letter from Henry M. Stanley, dated South End Victoria Nyanza, Sept. 3, from which the following extracts are taken;

The rebels of the Emin Government relied upon their craft and on the wiles of the "heathen Chinee," and it is amusing now to look back and note how punishment has fallen on them. Was it Providence or was it luck? Let those who love to analyze such matters, reflect upon it. Traitors without camp and traitors within were watched and the most active conspirator was discovered, tried and hanged. The traitors without fell foul of one another and ruined themselves. If it not luck then it is surely Providence in answer to good men's prayers. Far away our own people, tempted by extreme wretchedness and misery, sold our rifles and ammunition to our natural enemies, the Manyewa, the slave traders' true friends, without the least grace, either of bodies or souls. What happy influence was it that restrained me from destroying all concerned in it. Each time I read the story of Nelson and Parkes' sufferings I feel vexed at forbearance and yet again I feel thankful for a higher power than man's which severely afflicted them with cold-blooded murders by causing them to fall upon one another a few weeks after the rescue and relief of Nelson and Parkes. The memory of these days alternately hardens and unmans me.

With the rescue of Emin Pasha, poor old Casatia and those who preferred Egypt's flesh-pots to the coarse plenty of the province near Nyanza we returned, and while we were patiently waiting, the doom of the rebels was consummated. Since that time of anxiety and unhappy outlook I have been at the point of death from a dreadful illness, The strain had been too much and for 28 days I lay helpless, tended by the kindly and skilful hands of Surgeon Parker. Then little by little I gained strength and finally gave the orders for the march for home.

Discovery after discovery in this wonderful region was made: until at last we came to a church, whose cross dominated a Christian settlement. We knew then we had reached the outskirts of blessed civilization.

Dr. Peters' Death Confirmed.

ZANZIBAR, Nov. 25.—News has been received from Lama confirming the reports of the death of Dr. Peters, another German, and all the natives of Dr. Peters' party except five porters. The massacre occurred at Addu Burrorada on the Tana River, eight days, march above Korkorro. Dr. Peters was friendly with local tribes but not with the chief of the Somalis, who with a party of his tribesman made a night attack on the camp. After killing the members of the Dr. Peters party the natives looted the camp of money and everything of value and drove off the donkeys and camels.

The Safety Story Confirmed.

BERLIN, Nov. 25.—The German consul at Zanzibar confirms the report of the safety of Dr. Peters.

The North German Gazette has advices to the same effect.

Fortune Tellers Supplied the Poison.

VIENNA, Nov. 25. The Nagy-Becskerek inquiry, which has been going on for the last seven years, with the object of discovering the cause of a large number of sudden deaths that have occurred there, has resulted in proving that thirty-eight of the victims were poisoned. Most of them were married. Female fortune tellers supplied the wives of the victims with poison. Fifty-seven arrests have been made.

The Cavendish-Street Scandal.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Mr. Pecker, editor of The North London Press, has surrendered himself to the authorities to answer to a charge of criminal libel brought against him by the Earl of Euston. He has been lodged in prison and bail has been refused.

KING OF SAMOA.

The Followers of Tamasese Select Malietoa as the Ruler.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Advices from Samoa, dated Nov. 5, say: Notwithstanding the provisional election held here by the natives last month, which resulted in the choice of Mataafa as king and Malietoa as vice-king, the followers of Tamasese last week selected Malietoa king and Tamasese vice-king. All foreign residents of Apia are anxious to have the question as to who shall be ruler of Samoa settled by the three nations represented in the recent Berlin conference.

Considerable alarm has been felt here on account of the death of several sailors on the German man-of-war Sophie, and the report that their death was caused by typhus fever. The Sophie's surgeon attributed it to the decaying substances of the wrecks of the Trenton and the other war vessels lost in the hurricane last March.

Burning Corn for Fuel.

HIAWATHA, Kas., Nov. 25. The farmers of this vicinity are burning corn for fuel, finding it cheaper than coal. Corn is sold on the farm at 20 cents a bushel, while the average price of coal delivered at the farm ranges from 21 to 23 cents per bushel. The farmers' alliance here brought the attention of the farmers to the relative prices of the two commodities and advised that half the crop be used as fuel, thus advancing the price of the other half and saving money in their fuel bills. The farmers have begun to act on the advice.

MURDER JUSTIFIED.

A Roman Catholic Priest at Paterson N.J. Defends Mrs. Southworth.

PATERSON, N.J., Nov. 25.—Dean McNalty of St. John's Roman Catholic Church yesterday morning preached a vigorous sermon on the immoralities of men. Without mentioning names he declared Mrs. Southworth was justified in shooting Pettus. He argued that if Pettus was the libertine Mrs. Southworth said he was, he deserved his fate as he had transgressed human and divine laws, and if the old laws were in force he would have been put to death for his alleged crimes. The sermon created a sensation.

A Free Fight in a Saloon.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Saturday night in a saloon on 89th-street, Thomas Featherstone got into argument with a number of colored men. He was assaulted and thrown out of the saloon. He went home and told his son Thomas, aged 22, what had happened. Thomas and a number of white friends went to the saloon for satisfaction. A free fight ensued; young Featherstone was slashed across the head with a razor; William Smith, colored, was badly beaten about the head and face and George Taylor, colored, was struck on the head with a club. His skull is supposed to be fractured. All who took part in the melee are more or less injured. Featherstone and Smith were arrested. The neighborhood is thickly populated with colored people and it is feared this is but the beginning of a series of race encounters.

BEHIND A PEACEFUL MASK

THE CZAR KEEPS MASSING TROOPS ON THE FRONTIER.

Large Reinforcements of Cavalry and Infantry—The Terms of the Truce With Austria Being Partially Fulfilled.

BERLIN, Nov. 25.—The terms of the truce between Austria and Russia which Prince Bismarck forced upon Count Kalnoky are already partly fulfilled on the Russian side. The Czar has stopped the Pan-Slavist Company sending agents into Bulgaria and peremptorily warned them not to foster in the meantime within Bulgaria any agitation. The Austrian side brought about the rupture of the proposed marriage of Princess d'Alencon. The Austrian Finance Minister refused to allow on the Bourse the quotation of the Landbank's loan to Bulgaria. Count Kalnoky has instructed the Austrian Consul in Sofia to modify his partisanship in behalf of Prince Ferdinand. Finally Emperor Francis Joseph, though resenting the suggestion of cession of Trentino to Italy, has consented to grant to Trentino an autonomous local administration, separate from the German Tyrol, of which it has hitherto formed a part. The members of the Indian Tyrol will henceforth assemble at Trent. The Innspruck diet support the separation, Emperor Francis Joseph has also ordered the release of seven irridentists imprisoned at Innspruck, including Rossi and Zampieri, editors of the Italian Independence, who were convicted of treason.

These concessions amount practically to little. Had the Innspruck Diet not voted for the separation of Trentino, Emperor Francis Joseph would not have acceded to the proposal. A further reason for his giving his assent is that by doing so a stop was put to the manœuvering of Signor Crispi, the Italian Premier, for the annexation of Trentino to Italy. Signor Crispi has now abandoned his plan of visiting Prince Bismarck at Friedrichsruhe.

Although quotations of the Bulgarian loan have been stopped Count Kalnoky permitted the Landerbank to advance 5,000,000 francs to the government at Sofia. His policy continues to be to secure a tighter grip upon the Bulgarian Government, with or without Prince Ferdinand who, wroth at the change in his personal situation, threatens to resign.

Russia, behind a peaceful diplomatic mask, does not cease her massing of troops stationed on the Galician and Bukovinan frontiers. The work of railway extension on the Vilna, Kovno, Warsaw and Kieff lines is being accelerated in order that the strategetic system may be completed by May.

A mine near Recklinghausne, Westphalia, has been flooded and 250 have been imprisoned since last evening. Should the waters recede there is some hope that the men will be rescued.

ALTOGETHER MYSTERIOUS.

Supposed Fatal Disaster in the Hudson River—Wreckage Picked Up.

DOBB'S FERRY, Nov. 25.—The supposed sinking of a barge and the probable loss of a number of lives in the Hudson River has caused considerable excitement here and in adjacent towns along the Hudson. Yesterday the river was strewn with wreckage which floated ashore at different points. There was found a package of postal cards with the following printed address upon them: "Clinton Robinson, 210 Broadway, West Troy, N. Y." The shipping papers were made out in the name of "Captain N. J. Dugan of the barge A. A. Carley of West Troy." It appeared that the owners of the boat were Carley & Riley of West Troy. It is believed that the boat was sunk somewhere in the river in this vicinity but at what time and whether any lives were lost is not known. Inquiry has been made as to whether any cries of distress were heard on the river early yesterday morning or the previous night, but no one has been found who heard any unusual sound or anything of an accident on the river. One theory is that there was a collision between two boats and that one was sunk with all on board during the night. It is believed from articles found that women and children were on the boat.

The Hawaiian Conspirators.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Hawaiian despatches state that Robert Wilcox, leader of the insurrection at Honolulu last July, has been acquitted. The other persons engaged in the insurrection have also been tried. The Chinaman who was convicted was fined $250, and light fines were imposed upon the ten or twelve natives. Samens, the Belgian, who was the first conspirator convicted, has had his death sentence commuted to one year's imprisonment, after which he will probably be banished.

Sanguine of Success.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—John Ward, who is now here, is very sanguine of the success of the brotherhood scheme and says the organization of all the clubs will be completed shortly. The date of the New York meeting to complete the organization of the players' league has been changed from Jan. 7 1890, to Dec. 10, 1889.

A Brakeman Killed.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 25.—John Welch, a brakeman, was killed here Saturday. He was running ahead of an engine to throw a switch when he caught his foot in a frog and fell to the track, the engine running over him.

The Green-Eyed Monster.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 25.—In a fit of jealousy Annie Willis (colored) cut the throat of Minnie Walker, also colored, from ear to ear. The Walker woman died in 15 minutes. The Willis woman was arrested.

Recognized the Republic.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The Brazilian Minister has received a cablegram from Rio Janeiro stating United States Minister Adams has established relations with the Provisional Government.

IMPORTANT!

Remarkable Restoration to Health of Well Known Canadians whose Cases were Given up as Incurable.

From the few of the hundreds of letters we have received from those who have been restored to health and strength by the use of that wonderful discovery, Paine's Celery Compound, we make a few extracts. We hope that the thousands of Canadian men and women who are suffering from nervous and wasting diseases, will profit by these true and plain statements of facts.

D. S. Davidson, of Montreal, suffered for years with nervous dyspepsia, pain in his back, and sleeplessness. He tried doctors without relief, was losing flesh rapidly, and had about given up heart when he commenced the use of Paine's Celery Compound. "Now," he says, "I am a new man. I sleep well and my food does not hurt me."

Mr. Jas. Johnson, 302 St. Charles Borromee Street, Montreal, was weak and nervous, had no appetite, and could not rest at night. His nerves were soothed and strengthened by Paine's Celery Compound, and he soon became well and strong.

Annie Gourley, of River Beaudette, P. Q., found the Compound a certain cure for weakness, and now feels as well as she ever did.

A customer of Harrison Bros., druggist, Hamilton, Ont., told them that he was entirely cured of nervous weakness by the use of two bottles of the Compound, after everything else has failed.

The little child of Mrs. G. E. Meredith, 76 D'Arcy St., Toronto, was cured of St. Vitus' Dance by Paine's Celery Compound.

THE new departure in Brazil is remarkable. Dom Pedro has been pushed aside and a republic established or rather a beginning has been made, though there is some reason to withold implicit faith in its being permanently established in good working order without something of bloodshed and disturbance. However, the empire is a thing of the past, and Senor Castelar, of Spain sees in this the doom of the old world monarchies. This may apply to the autocratic monarchies, where the rule of the sovereign is nearly, if not quite, absolute. But the danger does not extend to a constitutional monarchy like England, whose political institutions in their breadth and liberality, might well be an example to many a republic. There may be, and doubtless is, a good deal of republican sentiment in the Mother Country, but the foundations of British liberty are too firmly laid—too wide and deep to be disturbed, except by some mightier forces than any that now by the wildest exaggeration, threaten them. The Anglo-Saxon race is not made of the revolutionary material that so largely enters into the composition of the Latin race. It is not prone to seek change for the mere sake of change. Political changes of comparatively trivial importance, require a large amount of consideration and deliberation. The British constitution is the growth of a thousand years, piece by piece, and it will take some time to produce as radical a change as that from a constitutional monarchy to a republic.

THE Empire is evidently off its head—the disease is Lambton on the brain. Though the Liberal candidate was elected by a majority of 660, the Empire claims that "the Grit horde was routed." The demented organ has in Saturday's a long tirade about Mr. Mowat holding office by minority support. Will the Empire kindly indicate who should sit for west Lambton? Is it Mr. McCrea who got about a tenth of the votes, polled, or Mr. Fleck who got about a third of the votes? It seems most common sense to suggest that Mr. Mackenzie who got by far the largest vote should fill the seat. The Empire is working up a terrible fuss, for the next general elections, when, according to the new political lights, there will be three candidates in each riding. Is every candidate to be rejected who does not get a majority of the votes cast in a three cornered contest? If there were an establishment instituted for the reception of journalistic and political lunatics, the Empire would have no trouble in becoming the first admitted.

To the Public.

Our aim has been and will continue to be to give the consumer the highest grade of goods consistent with prices charged. We do not manufacture so-called cheap cigars; fine goods are our specialty. Purchasing only the best of tobaccos, irrespective of price, we are in a position to manufacture as fine a class of goods as can be obtained anywhere; Havana not excepted. Insist upon having our well known brands, "Cable," "El Padre" "Mungo," and "Madre E Hijo," and thereby obtain full value for your money. The immense sums expended in introducing our goods, the exceptionally fine quality of tobacco used in their manufacture, and the labor of nearly half a century should convince the most skeptical that the quality of same will not be allowed to deteriorate. me

Thirty Years Ago.

OVER 30 years ago there was placed upon the market a remedy designed to relieve pain and capable of either external or internal use. From the first it has had wonderful success, and hundreds testify that Hagyard's Yellow Oil cures rheumatism, sore throat, sprains, croup, cuts, bruises and all pains and aches. 2w48d

Wealth Cannot Buy It.

HEALTH is not purchasable. The saddened, soured dyspeptic, or the bilious billionaire suffer, despite their wealth. Burdock Blood Bitters in a rational remedy for dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, scrofula, debility, etc., and every complaint arising from indigestion or bad blood. 2w48d

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites

Is sold all over the world. It is far superior to plain Cod Liver Oil, palatable and easily digested. Dr. Martin Miles Stanton, Bury Banks, England, says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion, and taken it myself. It is palatable, efficient, and can be tolerated by almost anyone, especially where cod liver oil itself cannot be borne. Sold by all Druggists, 25c. and $1.00. w45eod

THE STATE OF TRADE.

Bradstreet's Weekly Review — Railroad Earnings Business Failures.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's report a fair volume of trade. Except in holiday specialties, however, the movement, checked by the unfavorable weather and the lateness of the season, has been smaller than during October, though still in excess of the total one year ago. The New York State canals will close for the season next Saturday and Buffalo tide-water shipments have ceased. The approach of the close of lake navigation has an influence on rail rates. Declining cattle receipts at the west make prices steady, but large offerings of hogs depress quotations. Pork is steady, and lard, on better export request, is up 12 points. The western tobacco leaf crop is reported 15 to 20 per cent. less than last year, when it amounted to 275,000 hogsheads. Reports from 99 railroads of gross and net earnings for September show a gain of 8.1 per cent. in gross and of 18 per cent. in net over September, 1888. From Jan. 1 to Sept. 30, 105 railroads show gains of 5.6 per cent. in gross and 13.1 per cent. in net over the nine months last year.

Share speculation tends to improve on the material conditions of railroads and general business but is unsettled by the narrow financial situation and apprehensions of an agitation in regard to the currency and the fiscal policy of the treasury. Bonds are more active, higher rates for money causing increased sales of prime bonds. Money at New York is easier, but is in a sensitive condition, call loans 6 to 7 per cent. Foreign exchange is steady to firm on scarcity of commercial bills, demand sterling $4.85 to $4.85½. Bar silver is ½c higher at 90c on rumored changes in the silver policy of the government. Pig iron remains steady at $18.50 to $19 for No. 1 at the east, west the markets are more buoyant and advances are reported at St. Louis and Cincinnati, although sales are not active, as consumers are fairly supplied. More speculative purchases of southern are announced. Steel billets and blooms are higher and manufacturers are oversold. Merchant iron is slightly higher, as are nails at the west. Steel rails are $35 at the east and $37 at the west, a gain of $8 per ton on the year. Bessemer pig is higher. Copper is in better demand at 13c for lake, an advance of 2c within a month.

Very moderate offerings of raw sugar and the needs of refiners at Atlantic ports combined to establish an advance of ⅛c. Meltings by eastern refiners are 6 1-3 per cent. less for nine months of this year than last while domestic stocks of raws are only 75 per cent. of those held a year ago. The increased demand for refined advanced several grades 1-16 to 1-8c. The reports of the revolution in Brazil being quite pacific, coffee prices were not affected as might have been expected. The lower crop estimates, moderate primary market deliveries and increased domestic demand quickened speculation and strengthened prices about ½ to ⅝c per pound. There were dealings here in 532,000 bags for the week, more than double the aggregate for last week.

There has been a tendency to weakness in breadstuffs this week. Receipts of spring wheat at the northwest continue about as heavy as heretofore, the export demand which increased noticeably within a fortnight maintains only fair proportions. Prices, hower, remain hardly steady for flour and ½ to 7-8c lower for wheat with cable demand light. Indian corn is off 3-8 to 1c on fears of heavy shipments from the interior. Oats are up ⅝c on better export demand and firm holding. Rye is also up ⅝c. Exports of wheat (and flour as wheat) from both coasts this week aggregate 1,861,462 bushels against 2,591,530 bushels last week and 1,446,412 bushels in the like week last year. The total shipped abroad from July 1 to date amounts to 40,818,780 bushels against 45,013,000 bushels in a like portion of 1888 and 63,278,000 bushels in 1887.

Business failures reported to Bradstreet's number 259 in the United States this week against 217 last week and 253 this week last year. Canada had 34 this week against 39 last week. The total of failures in the United States Jan. 1 to date is 10,107 against 8902 in 1888.

The Police Think It Was a Fake.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—In connection with the discovery this morning of the blood stains in the cottage of John Hughes, who with his wife and two children disappeared on Nov. 18, the police are confident that no tragedy took place at the cottage. The blood marks are not such as would be produced in a life-and-death struggle but are broad smears of blood as if spread on by a whitewash brush. They say the blood was brought there and put on the walls by enemies of Hughes.

The Lawrence Bank Failure.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 22. The deposits in the Lawrence Bank, which closed its doors yesterday, amounted to $830,000. The assets, it is thought, will aggregate $800,000 and as the stockholders are individually liable for $150,000 the depositors will likely receive dollar for dollar. The notice on the bank door announces that with patience everything will be paid in full.

Two Babies Murdered by Their Father.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22. Two babies were shot by their father, Joseph Smith, a letter carrier, to-day. Elizabeth, aged 2 years, is dead with a bullet in her stomach and Mary, aged 11 months, is at Bellevue hospital with a bullet in her breast. The father, who is 30 years of age, was arrested.

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—President Phillips of the Fitchburg Railroad says the stories of a possible transfer of the control of the Fitchburg Railroad to, or of a close alliance with, the Delaware and Hudson Railroads are without foundation.

Harvey Likely to Escape the Gallows.

OTTAWA, Nov. 22.—It is stated here to-night that the Minister of Justice has decided that the sentence of Wm. H. Harvey, the Guelph triple murderer, should be commuted to imprisonment for life.

Peculiarities of the Hair.

There are times when all persons require to pay some particular attention to the hair. To rekindle the life or energy of the roots is a simple matter if taken in time. Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic will do the word, it works in accordance with nature, supplys fresh nourishment to the glands keeper, the hair luxuriant and natural in shade. Be sure to get, you cannot afford to miss it. Every druggist sells it. It is money well spent. See Dorenwends advertisement in another column.

Hints for Winter.

WHEN attacked by a cough or cold, hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis, croup or influenza, the successful experience of thousands of families who have used it regularly for all such troubles during many years, suggests the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam—the old reliable household favorite. 2w483

The First Sign

Of failing health, whether in the form of Night Sweats and Nervousness, or in a sense of General Weariness and Loss of Appetite, should suggest the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This preparation is most effective for giving tone and strength to the enfeebled system, promoting the digestion and assimilation of food, restoring the nervous forces to their normal condition, and for purifying, enriching, and vitalizing the blood.

Failing Health.

Ten years ago my health began to fail. I was troubled with a distressing Cough, Night Sweats, Weakness, and Nervousness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but became so weak that I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. My friends recommended me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and I am now as healthy and strong as ever.—Mrs. E. L. Williams, Alexandria, Minn.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, that it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, as well as an alterative, and must say that I honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine ever compounded.—W. F. Fowler, D. D. S., M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

Dyspepsia Cured.

It would be impossible for me to describe what I suffered from Indigestion and Headache up to the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was under the care of various physicians and tried a great many kinds of medicines, but never obtained more than temporary relief. After taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for a short time, my headache disappeared, and my stomach performed its duties more perfectly. To-day my health is completely restored.—Mary Harley, Springfield, Mass.

I have been greatly benefited by the prompt use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It tones and invigorates the system, regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, and vitalizes the blood. It is, without doubt, the most reliable blood purifier yet discovered.—H. D. Johnson, 883 Atlantic ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

How to Lace Your Shoes.

Not one person in a thousand laces his shoes correctly. The correct way is to put your foot when you are about to lace your shoe as much as possible in the heel of the shoe. You can do this best by lacing your shoes with the heel of your shoe resting in a chair standing in front of the one you are seated on. Over the instep the lacing should be drawn as tightly as possible This will hold your foot back in the shoe, giving the toes freedom and preventing their being cramped. Lace about the ankle to suit your comfort.—New York Truth.

The Claims of the Poor.

They Must Be Provided For, in God's Command—The Subject of a Society Sermon.

The annual sermon to the members of St. Andrew's Society was preached Sunday evening, by Rev. E. F. Torrance, chaplain of the Society. St. Paul's church was filled on the occasion by a large and representative congregation, among whom were sprinkled the members of the Society, with their families and friends. The sermon emphasized one of God's most pressing commands, and the subject of the address was appropriate to a Society which prides itself on its charitableness. The musical portion of the services was also interesting, particularly the beautiful anthem beautifully and expressively rendered by the full choir.

Rev. Mr. Torrance read for his lesson a portion of the 25th chapter of Matthew, containing the parable of the talents, and chose for his text Isaiah lviii, 6 and 7:—

"Is not this the fast that I have chosen? to loose the bands of wickedness, to undo the heavy burdens, and to let the oppressed go free, and that ye break every yoke?

"Is it not to deal thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poor that are cast out to thy house? when thou seest the naked, that thou cover him; and that thou hide not thyself from thine own flesh?"

There was always a large class of the Jews, said the preacher, who paid more attention to ceremonial than to the marvels of God, and it was the prophet's aim in this chapter to correct their error. In the beginning of Isaiah's prophecies the Lord assured the Jews He took no pleasure in their sacrifices and religious duties as performed by them. In the chapter of the text the Lord declares His fast is different from their's—He is rather to deal out food to the hungry and provide for them. In the New Testament Scriptures the teachings of the Lord are of the same character. The subject of his sermon, Mr. Torrance said, would be the claims of the poor, as appropriate subject in connection with the occasion for which they were now gathered.

He then pointed out some reasons why the poor have a claim upon us. First, because of their ever abiding existence as a class of the community. The children of Israel were commanded to provide for the poor because "the poor shall never be ont of the land." This was true of the present time. In every community there were the rich and the poor, and those who were neither rich nor poor. It was said the proportion of the poor in London was two in the hundred. "The poor we have always with us," and it was our duty to provide for them. Then they have a claim upon us because they are the subjects of the Lord's special regard. Jesus showed this by so closely identifying himself with them. A third reason was because they are our brethren. They were a portion of the great brotherhood of humanity. How can we best provide for the poor? One way was to provide for the temporal wants of the needy. Jesus and the Apostles all urged among the duties of Christianity the helping of the poor. But care should be taken not to give indiscriminately. A charitable person was often imposed on by a pitiful tale and shammed poverty. St. Andrew's and similar societies were a means of avoiding indiscriminate giving by finding out the deserving ones and rendering help where it is most needed. Another duty was providing the poor with the means of grace. The preacher said the church was often reproached as being an uncomfortable place for a poor person. There are not a few persons in this town who do not hear the gospel tidings. They have souls as well as bodies, and the church should remember this and should treat them as brothers. It was a pleasure as well as a duty to give to the poor. Those who know not what it is to give should try it and know what joy there is in it. Favors done the poor are favors done to God. In conclusion Rev. Mr. Torrance urged his hearers to respond to the call to help their needy brethren in their own land. Some of them were perhaps once as rich and prosperous as any today but circumstances had reduced them to poverty. Some of them have wandered over the hills and heather, the lakes and braes of Scotland, have been taught to respect the Sabbath day and to read the Bible, they are perhaps the sons of those proud heroes who shed their last blood for Scotland's sake—they have a great claim for sympathy, kindness and substantial support.

After the close of the sermon a collection was taken up in aid of St. Andrew's Society.

A conspicuous feature of the table in front of the pulpit was a vase containing a bunch of real Scotch heather, supplied by the ever thoughtful president, Mr. Charles Cameron.

Church Chimes.

The services of St. Luke's church Sunday were conducted by Rev. Mr. Warren, of Lakefield, the latter's pulpit being taken by Rev. Mr. McCleary, rector-in charge of St. Luke's.

The children's service in St. John's church Sunday afternoon were very interesting and successful. Rev. Mr. Kenrick, presided at the organ and his men and boy's choir led the singing in a very creditable manner. Rev. Mr. Davidson conducted the service.

At St. Peter's Cathedral last night, His Lordship Bishop O'Connor gave an impressive address, the first of a series of Sunday evening addresses upon instructive subjects. His subject last night was the "The Love of God."

St. John's Jubilee Services.

Large Congregations — Services with Special Reference to the Occasion and Addresses on the Same Line.

Yesterday, Sunday, November 24th, 1889, was celebrated in every English Church of the five dioceses that comprise what was once the original diocese of Toronto, namely, Toronto, Ontario, Niagara, Huron and Algoma. In 1839, it will be remembered, the diocese of Toronto, covering, at that period, the whole of what was then known as Upper Canada, was called into existence with Rt. Rev. John Strachan as its first Bishop. By Bishop Strachan the foundations of the Church in this province were laid. True, his endeavour to retain the connection between church and state was unsuccessful, but that measure can, by the most devoted advocate of the Establishment in the mother land, hardly be regarded as a misfortune. In Ontario the Church has shown, very gratifyingly, that its usefulness does not depend upon state connection. Though the Church of England in Canada has not felt the numerical impulse of expansion enjoyed by other religious organizations, it has experienced a solid growth and progress, expressive of a strong, if not demonstrative, vitality. Any of the five dioceses, with the single exception of Algoma, is in a far better position than the territorially extensive mother diocese, of which these are subdivisions, was at the time of its establishment. It is in contemplation, moreover, to erect another diocese, that of Ottawa, and in this readjustment, or in the not distant future, it is not, perhaps, a chimerical hope to encourage, that Toronto and Ontario may contribute of their territory to form another diocese, with Peterborough as its episcopal centre.

At St. John's Church on Sunday morning the services, of course, had special reference to the Jubilee occasion—special forms of prayer and thanksgiving and special hymns. Rev. Mr. Davidson preached an excellent sermon, which dealt largely with the work of the church in Canada, giving due credit for successes and referring to the causes that retarded growth, among them being the lack of practical and active co-operation of the laity with the clergy, and the existence of party feelings in church matters. The sermon was lengthy, and very exhaustive of the subject.

In the evening after the service of prayer and praise, which partook of the same intercessory and thanksgiving nature as that of the morning, Rev. Mr. Kenrick delivered the sermon, or rather, the address. After a brief reference to the occasion of the jubilee celebration, he paid an earnest tribute to the memory and life-work of Dr. John Strachan, the first bishop, since whose consecration, half a century had elapsed, and addressed himself to a consideration of the nature and history of the Church of England, to which all gloried in belonging. The birth, mission, death and resurrection of Christ were referred to as leading up to the establishment of the Kingdom which John the Baptist had heralded—the Church—which was to carry on the work Christ had begun on earth. He choose twelve apostles and afterwards seventy disciples, and gave them a divine commission and promise of success ors—he would "be with them to the end of the world. Two orders of the church were represented by the apostles and disciples—bishops and elders or presbyters, (the etymological prototype of the word "priest.") The disciples afterwards added the diaconate order, the same three being orders that exist in the English church to day. The apostles entered upon their mission and extended the church in an ever-widening circle, establishing churches, appointing bishops and their successors and creating dioceses. The church spread to Asia Minor, Africa and western Europe, and a church (or diocese) upon its establishment took its name from the chief city. Thus we had the Church of Ephesus, of Sardis, of Laodicia, etc., the Church of Rome, the church of Gaul, the church of Spain and, the Gospel, being carried across the sea, to the Church of England—of which it was a proud boast to be a member, the church of the Anglo Saxon race. It was, the speaker asserted, not a body, the creation of the state; not, as its enemies taunted, a church three hundred years old. The speaker warmly repudiated the idea of giving allegeance to a church founded by a creation like Henry VIII. It was to play into the hand of Rome to admit that the English Church, was established only at the Reformation. The history of England was interwoven with that of the English church. Though the national church had been gradually brought under control of a foreign power, at the Reformation the usurped authority of the Bishop of Rome was thrown off. The Church of England existed after the Reformation as it had done before it, and as it had done from the time of the Apostles. There was no impairment of the line of apostolical succession. In Canada the Church of England was a great power, but, it was to be said with regret that it had not made that progress it should have done. It had not kept pace in numbers with the progress of other demoninations, but it was a cause for rejoicing that the present membership of the church was in a better position than their fathers were. The church had a great mission to fulfil. and it was admirably adapted for the work. The purity of its doctrine conjoined with a broad liberality on non essential points, the reverent nature of its services and ceremonies, and its other excellencies were pointed out as reasons for the practical remembrance of the responsibilities such great privileges created. Attention was directed to a book written by Rev. Arthur Lane, entitled "Illustrated Notes on English Church History," published by the Society for the Promotion of Christian Knowledge—a book which every church member should read.

Another Institute Sensation.

An Indignant Parent Castigates the Modern Language Master—In Alleged Reprisal for the Severe Punishment of his 12-Year-Old Son—A Cowhide Vigorously Applied—The Causes of the Trouble—Both Sides of the Story.

This morning Mr. J. B. McWilliams, a member of the Advisory Committee of the School Board, visited the first form of the Collegiate Institute to adjust a little difficulty with the language master, Mr. F. C. Colbeck, and it cannot be said that Mr. McWilliams failed to practically carry out the objects of his visit—he combided Mr. Colbeck in as thorough a manner as he (Mr McWilliams) thought his grievance justified. His version of the facts is that his son Victor, having been ill under the doctor's care for nearly three weeks, having partially recovered was anxious to return to school, being of a very studious nature, and anxious to keep his position in his classes. His diligence as a student may be inferred from the fact that, though he is but 12 years of age, he has been one year in the Institute. On Friday last, the first day of the lad's return to the school, he saw a schoolmate in the seat behind him cutting his ruler with a knife. The lad, Victor, reached back and took his ruler. Mr. Colbeck evidently considered this a breach of discipline worthy of punishment. At any rate, it is stated, without warning, he struck the boy with a hardwood pointer, which was subsequently applied to the lad's person with such vigor as to break the stick. The boy was so severely injured that a medical gentleman was called. His measurement of one of the several bruises on the lad's person was 1½x4 inches. Mr. McWilliams' natural indignation at what he considered cruelly severe punishment on a little lad, just out of a sick bed, was aggravated by the belief he had that Mr. Colbeck, having received an appointment to another school, took advantage of his comparative immunity from consequences to visit upon the person of the son his feeling against the father, caused by the latter's course on the school board in upholding the Principal of the Institute when some subordinates were endeavoring to remove or supplant him. Acting under these influences, Mr. McWilliams, as already stated, visited the school room this morning and in the presence of the pupils gave Mr. Colbeck a severe castigation, using a raw-hide whip for the purpose.

MR. COLBECK'S STATEMENT.

Mr. Colbeck, calling at the EXAMINER office, was questioned by a reporter with reference to the affair. He said:—"Mr. McWilliams came to my room this morning and committed an unjustified and unmanly attack. He would not let me explain, but began to abuse me, saying he already had an explanation, and he didn't want to hear any more. He would not let me say anything, and assulted me forthwith.

"As to whipping the boy? For misbehaving, I rapped him over the arm with the pointer I had in my hand, not hard enough to hurt him, and he got up out of his seat and made for the door. I told him to come back and he said he would not, in a very impertinent manner. I went down another aisle and met him at the lower end of the room. He again said he would not go back, and I took him by the coat collar,—by the throat, his father said—but I did nothing of the kind. I took him by the collar as anyone would do under the circumstances and struck him with the light end of the pointer on the legs. The pointer was of ash and not heavy. The boy kicked at me very viciously and then I proceeded to whip him. I could not do otherwise. The pointer was broken, but I don't think in striking the boy. There was not room enough to use the stick as hard as that, but I think the pointer struck the desk and broke. The pointer is of the brashiest kind of ash and easily broken anyway. Mr. McWilliams says the boy had his arm cut or scratched. If that is true and I did it I must either have struck him with the broken end or he struck his hand against it. As soon as I realized that the stick was broken I stopped, although the boy was still obstinate. He was not crying or showing any symptoms of severe punishment. He said he would not go to his seat and rather than whip him any more with the broken pointer, (I said I ceased to use it as soon as I knew that it was broken), as I had no other stick, I ordered him out of the room. I don't know but I might not have been justified in whipping him further, but I did not. That is all there is about it. I didn't know he was in anyway seriously hurt, nor hear anything about it till last night I heard it from a friend as we went to church. He told me he had heard I cut the boy's hand open. I replied that it was news to me, and had happened accidentally, if it had occurred, and I would find out about it Monday from the boy's brother, and then, if there was any truth in it, I would explain to Mr. WoWilliams, as I would regret it very much. This morning he would not allow me to explain and said he had waited two days for an explanation, when the fact was I did not even surmise till last night that there was anything to explain. He says the boy is bruised and black. I know nothing about that. I presume a boy struck over the legs with a rod would be somewhat so. Those of us who remember paternal castigations, will recollect that tracks were sometimes left, where we were not unmercifully flogged. I could do nothing but give a kicking boy a flogging, but certainly don't think I maltreated him at all, nothing was further from my intent. I had no reason, I had no inclination.

"Will there be anything further come of the matter? Yes, very likely. It is most natural that there should. I am, of course, going back to school as usual in the morning."

A Cool Kleptomaniac.

A Young Man with Uncontrolable Thieving Propensities Causes Excitement in the Village of Keene—Arrested and Lodged in Gaol.

Last week the village of Keene was thrown into a state of intense excitement over a number of burglaries which were committed on different nights, and suspicion rested upon a young man named James Dickson who was hanging around the village Dickson at one time lived in Keene, and has respectable relatives living in the neighborhood. He has been "tramping" for a number of years back and is generally looked upon as a bad man. He is credited with committing extensive robberies in Marmora. Dickson is evidently a confirmed kleptomaniac, and cool though not a clever one. He is not over bright of intellect. He was arrested on Sunday and brought to town, and at his trial this morning a large number of people from Keene were in court.

HIS CRIMES.

Dickson has a number of burglaries placed to his credit. The following letter from a Keene man to the Chief of Police, Saturday describes his depredations:—

KEENE, Nov. 22nd, 1889.

MY DEAR CHIEF,—I believe that Jas. Dickson is near here or at least has been here since Monday night.

On Monday night we are sure that he stole a coat and rug from Gall's shed and got some provisions from Kennealey's hotel, leaving the door open. On Tuesday night Kennealey's again, and also John Baker's, the doors being left open in each case. He also broke into Kerr's barn. On Wednesday night it was Kennealey's and Baker's again, and Thursday night Kennealey's, A. McIntyre's, post office (back part) and Campbell and McNeil's store. He tried several other places. In Kennealey's he wrote with chalk on the wall saying, "this is the fourth time, and good-bye." At Campbell and McNeil's he tore the till off and carried it to A. Campbell's shed, and broke it open, taking the contents, which did not amount to much. Then he wrote on the till for them to put in more money next time. He also carried off a scale weight and left it at English's corner, writing on English's shutters that he "had called down street and they were not at home." At McIntyre's he took two bottles of preserves and a bottle of pickles, but left the pickles on the fence and wrote on the cellar door that they were too sour, and telling where he had left them.

When he came here on Sunday night he had a fancy bar bottle of brandy—(the bottle is here)—which he left at Kain's hotel.

On Saturday night a hotel was gone through in Hastings, and no doubt, he was the lad.

A THEFT IN PETERBOROUGH.

The first part of the letter needs some explanation. The police were already on the look-out for Dickson, who was charged with a theft in Peterborough. A week ago to day (Monday) he was in town, and while in Cavanagh's hotel snatched a watch from a young man named James Cunningham. Dickson made his escape and could not be found, though he was subsequently traced to Keene. A warrant for his arrest was sent down to Constable Joseph Eimhirst, and on this charge as well as for the burglaries he was arrested on Sunday. Saturday night he was up to his usual pranks, however, and entered the bar-room of Gall's hotel by boring a hole in the door and sliding the bolt. He got only a small sum of money from the till, but stole besides a keg of whisky, two decanters of wine and three flasks of whisky.

ARRESTED BY A RUSE.

Sunday forenoon smoke was seen arising from a copse of wood near the village, and it being ascertained that Dickson was "camped out" on the spot a posse of citizens started to arrest him. But the wily fellow saw them in time to escape into the woods. A piece of of birch-bark was found lying on the ground where he had been sitting, on which was partly written a message to Mrs. Gall. Dickson had been interrupted in his literary labors and fled precipitately, making a detour and coming around to the village from another direction. Two young men, Messrs. Frost and Smith, approached him in a friendly way and got him drinking from the whiskey he had taken from Gall's hotel the night before. Then they induced him to go with them to Frost's hotel for dinner, and while at the table constable Elmhirst effected his arrest. He was driven to town in the afternoon, quite a procession of carriages being formed as an escort. He was locked up in the cells and the preliminary trial took place this morning before P. M Edmison, who acted in consequence of the illness of Mr. Dumble.

REMANDED TILL FRIDAY.

There were four distinct courts against Dickson. To the first, in which he was charged with breaking into Terence Spellman's hotel at Hastings, Nov. 16th, and stealing a sum of money and a pair of pincers, he pleaded guilty, and was remanded till Friday for judgment. To the second, stealing a watch from Jas. Cunningham, he was not asked to plead, as it was a town case, and at the request of Mr. R. E Wood, C. C. A., he was remanded till Friday. To the third charge, stealing a sum of money from Campbell & McNeil's store on the 21st, he pleaded not guilty and was remanded till Friday for hearing. It is believed this charge will not be pushed. The fourth charge was that of breaking into Mr. Gall's hotel and stealing the money and liquor. To this he pleaded guilty and was remanded as in the other cases.

The prisoner is a slouchy looking individual and acted with indifference in court. He is apparently not just right in his mind, though he has cunning enought to render him a dangerous nuisance.

Police Paragraph.
The old man Clarke, arrested Saturday for stealing a shirt, was remanded a week.

Richard Fobear of Smith was on Saturday committed to gaol by P. M. Edmison as a lunatic dangerous to be at large.

Chief Rossel on Sunday made a raid on a gang of boys who were occupying some vacant sheds on Louis street and making the day hideous with their yells and blasphemy. The boys saw the Chief in time to escape, but a couple of them left their overcoats behind. The Chief took possession of these, and the boys may have them on calling at the police station. The police are determined to put a stop to Sunday boodlumism.

SHORT AND SWEET, BUT TRUTHFUL.

An Honest Offer that all can Plainly Understand, and that People can Respect and put Confidence in.

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 22nd, 1889.

GENTLEMEN:—

We want to say a few words to you just now. They will be plain and to the point; better still—they will be truthful, and therefore worth reading:—

1st.—We have a large stock of bran new tailor-made Overcoats for Men and Boys. They are made of honest cloth, well sewed, and stylishly got up, and will fit and wear as well as if you left your measure—not the kind they make up for bankrupt stocks.

2nd.—You can have your pick of any of these Overcoats for Less Money than you can buy a similar coat that may be offered to you by any other dealer in Ontario.

3rd.—You are at liberty to look through all the stores in Town and then come to the City Clothing Store, when we will undertake to Fit you Properly with a Better Overcoat, at a Less price than any bona fide offer that may have been made to you.

4th.—We will, likewise, agree to make the same offer hold good for Suits of Clothing, Coat, Pants or Vests, and include Scotch and Canadian Woollen Underwear in the bargain.

5th.—If you want to leave your Measure for a Suit or Overcoat, the same offer holds good in this department also.

6th.—This offer will stand until the middle of January, 1890, when we expect to have clothed every man and boy who intends buying clothing this winter, who is shrewd enough to know the difference between wool and shoddy. We mean business.

Respectfully yours,
H. LeBRUN & CO.

Take the First Chance.
J. Hackett's great cost clearing sale has been a remarkable success; the wonderful value given, has brought buyers in battalions who have eagerly sought the bargains presented. There is still a $16,000 stock of first class goods to select from. The goods must be sold by the first of January, and as this is an absolute clearing sale no more will be purchased to assort the present stock. Everything goes just as it is. First class goods at cost prices. Come early and secure the best choice. dsf

"Government Analysis"
The government sent an Inspector through the Dominion to ascertain the extent of adulteration in coffee. On anylizing samples purchased from grocers, not one out of fifty were found pure, as the government report will show. It also shows that amongst the few houses found selling pure coffee the Palace grocery is one of these, no adulteration whatever being result of analysis. My coffee trade has so increased I am obliged to have it ground by water power and use "Quirk's" water moter, for grinding (the only one used in Peterborough) saving time and labour. If you want good coffee warranted pure, and choice groceries, at lowest prices call at ALEX. ELLIOTT'S, Palace Grocery. dw

CUTS QUITE A FIGURE IN THE CRONIN CASE

So the State's Attorney Says—Did the Executive Body Order the Death of Dr. Cronin?—The Defence all in.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—When Judge McConnell's court was called to order yesterday, William Mertes, the milkman who had testified for the prosecution in the case, was recalled by Mr. Forrest, for the defence, and went over his testimony again and also testified as to a conversation he had with policemen about the case a day or so after the body had been discovered. Witness told the officers that he saw a bay horse with a white face coming north as he was coming south; that the buggy stopped in front of the Carlson cottage, and that he saw a tall man get out and go into the cottage. The witness was then examined at length as to his conversation with the policemen and admitted that he told the officers he did not know what day he saw the horse and buggy drive up.

J. W. Fralick testified that he had been employed by him from April 26 until June 29, the day of his arrest. Kunze went to work on the morning of May 4 at 6 o'clock and stopped work about 5.30. On the Monday after he went to work and quit at the usual hour.

Dyer Thompson was next called on behalf of O'Sullivan. The witness was foreman for McBride in the ice business at 95 Union street, and had been in his employ for eight years. He testified that on March 19, when he went back at noon from the cars, where he had been unloading ice, to the office he saw O'Sullivan waiting there, and he was there at 2.30, when witness went away.

Dyer Thompson, a son of the Thompson who had just testified, followed in the same line. The object of this testimony was to contradict the evidence given by Carlson to the effect that on March 19 he heard Burke tell O'Sullivan that he had rented the cottage. The testimony of these witnesses was to the effect that O'Sullivan was several miles from Lakeview at the time mentioned.

M. J. Craw, a policeman for the past 16 years, was the next witness. He had not been a member of the United Brotherhood for 12 years. He said soon after the Cronin murder he was in the neighborhood of the cottage with Officer Rowan, and he had a conversation with Milkman Mertes regarding the event. Witness told Mertes he understood he knew something about the affair, and the milkman told him what he knew about the horse and buggy driven up, and "a tall, slim man who wore a dark overcoat and slouch hat" going up the steps of the cottage. Mertes told witness he did not see the man's face, and that he did not see much of the man in the buggy, as the top was up, but that he was a smaller man. Mertes told witness he could not tell what day this occurred.

The State's Attorney cross-examined the witness at considerable length. Mr. Forrest then said the defence would rest its case.

Mr. Foster, on behalf of defendant Beggs, moved to admit in evidence the record of the proceedings of Camp 20 Clan-na-Gael on Feb. 8, when the motion to investigate the reading of the report on the trial of the triangle in Dr. Cronin's camp was made and carried. Mr. Forrest objected, but the court admitted it as to Beggs.

The state then proceeded with its testimony in rebuttal, and Dr. Patrick Curran testified that he saw James Lyman on the night Cronin's body was lying in Battery D Armory. This question was then asked: "Did he in conversation say the executive body had ordered the death of Cronin?"

The defence objected and made the point that the direct examination had not laid the foundation for it. Mr. Foster said this question had been asked of Lyman and objected to on cross-examination, but the court had admitted it as a matter of impeachment and Lyman had answered that he never made any such remark, that it was made by Dr. Curran himself.

The State's Attorney said: "This is simply bringing a wit ss where to impeach a witness that they produce. The only question to be raised is whether the impeachment is in regard to a material matter. In this case Camp 20 cuts quite a figure. The prosecution introduced evidence to show that on Feb. 8 a secret committee was appointed in that camp. There was also evidence tending to show that there was also a resolution made and introduced showing that they wanted the executive body notified at once in reference to the report of the trial committee. In rebuttal of the evidence introduced on the part of the people on that question, as to what took place on Feb. 8 in relation to the appointment of the committee, in relation to what Mr. Beggs, the senior guardian, and others in that camp had said, in relation to what Capt. O'Connor and Mr. Foy had said, he was testifying directly upon a matter that was in this case. Now when you take into consideration the fact that on Feb. 8, about which he was talking, there was a resolution passed in Camp 20 calling upon the executive or making an imperative demand upon the executive, as it says, to see why this report had gone into other camps, and they had not got it, you will see the importance of this matter. Gentlemen will argue here in the discussion that this had reference to that committee instead of a trial committee. Now this witness that comes here and who testified as to the starting point in Camp 20, is asked the question: 'Did you not say, on a certain occasion, that this subject about which the committee was appointed, was about the matter which led to Dr. Cronin's death, and didn't you say that it was all right and justified the act?' and he said 'No,' and denied the statement. Now we have a right to contradict that and show that he did say that and so impeach his testimony."

A voice: "That is a lie!" [Sensation.]

The State's Attorney: "Well, you are not the court or jury in this case."

Mr. Forrest: "I wish you to say that I did not say that. That remark was not made by any of the counsel for defence, or by any of the defendants."

The State's Attorney: "Well, some one said it was a lie."

The Court: "Who made that remark? The court desires to know who made that interruption."

Mr. Wood of The Daily News (rising in his seat): "If it will please Your Honor, I made that remark. I was speaking in an undertone, but I suppose I spoke louder than I thought or intended to."

The Court: "Well, please do not let it occur again."

Mr. Foster: "There is not one word of truth in it when he says my client (Beggs) appointed a committee to try Dr. Cronin. We have followed that thing right through on that ground and will follow it to the bitter end and they will seek, if Your Honor please, to put the coil around my client's neck and suspend him between earth and heaven solely on the false evidence that there was such an appointment. There was no such committee as Harry O'Connor says, and there is no truth whatever in the statement that he suggested some other way than the appointment of a secret committee. He said some one suggested as imperative demand upon the executive but he said 'No,' we have no right to make an imperative demand upon our superiors, but should make a mild request. He said that another way was also talked of. If the gentlemen suggest that there was a committee appointed to try Dr. Cronin and condemn him to death, it is as monstrous a falsehood as was ever uttered and there is absolutely not one word of truth to substantiate it.

The Court reserved decision on the question, pending recess, which was then taken. At the opening of the afternoon session Judge McConnell announced his decision sustaining the objection of the defence. The court added that the remark of The Daily News reporter at the morning session was made in the course of a conversation with a fellow reporter and had no reference to the proceedings in court.

Police Captain Schaack was then called in rebuttal. He testified that officer Craw never reported to him either verbally or in writing in regard to any conversation with Milkman Mertes.

Alfred Keltner testified that he had seen the witness, Peter Keech, who testified for the defence, in the company of Dan Coughlin.

The State's Attorney here announced that he had no more witnesses and promising to conclude his rebuttal Tuesday the court adjourned for the day.

TRADE AND TRAFFIC.

Leading Features of the Grain and Produce Markets at Home and Abroad.

TORONTO, Nov. 26.—On the local grain market yesterday morning 300 bushels of wheat sold at 80c. to 85c. for fall and spring and 65c. to 70c. for goose; 3000 bushels of barley sold at 39c. to 46½c; 100 bushels of barley sold at 54c.; 200 bushels of oats at 33c. to 33½c.

On call at the Board of Trade buyers bid 85c. for 2 red winter wheat; 86c. was bid for oats weighing 34 lbs. or over, on the G. T. R., no offers. Buyers wanted oats on the track at North Toronto at 29c. which sellers offered at 31 to arrive, sellers offered oats to arrive on the track at Toronto at 30, for which buyers bid 29.

Receipts and sales of hay were 20 loads, at $12.50 to $14.50 for timothy, and $8 to $10 for mixed.

Receipts of straw were fair, the demand moderate and prices easy. About a dozen loads sold at $6 to $8 for loose, at $9 to $11 for bundled, but the bundled at $9 was poor.

BREADSTUFFS.

Wheat—No. 2 Ontario is worth 79c on the Midland and Northern. On Saturday 5000 No. 2 Manitoba hard sold at 89c.

Oats—The last sale reported was at 26c on G.T.R. west. White outside are offering at 27c.

Barley—Prices are weak. A sale is reported of 5000 bushels of No. 3 extra at 36c., with a 9-cent freight to the bridge.

Bran—Two cars sold at $8.50 outside.

LIVERPOOL MARKETS.

Liverpool reports: Wheat, firm; demand poor; holders offer moderately. Corn, steady; demand, poor. Spring wheat, 7s 0½d to 7s 1½d; red winter, 6s 9d to 6s 10d; No. 1 Cal., 7s 2½d to 7s 3d. Corn, 4s 1½d. Peas, 6s 4d. Pork, 56s 6d. Lard, 35s. 6d. Bacon, long clear, 34s to 37s 6d; short clear, 34s. Tallow, 25s 3d. Cheese, white and colored, 54s.

BEERBOHM'S REPORT.

Beerbohm reports: Floating cargoes—Wheat and corn nil. Cargoes on passage—Wheat, slow; corn, firm. Mark Lane—Wheat, slow; American corn, turn dearer; Danube corn, firm; flour, quieter. Liverpool—Spot wheat, rather easier; corn, quiet; No. 1 Cal., 7s 2½d; No. 2 Cal., 6s 11½d, both ¼d cheaper; southern winter, 6s 6¾d, ¼d cheaper; India, 7s 1d, ¼d cheaper; flour, 23s; corn, 4s 1d, peas, 6s 5d, all three unchanged.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Buffalo reports: Only 500 boxes Cloverfield were boarded yesterday, 9½ was asked but buyers were few and 9c was the best bid.

Utica reports: As the season for cheese making draws to a close the market does not appear to exhibit any active feature. It is decidedly dull. There are few Octobers still in the hands of factorymen but most of last month's make is now disposed of. Transactions were 78 lots, 5798 boxes; ruling price 9c. Transactions same date last year 5570 boxes, ruling price 9¾.

Little Falls reports: There is very little change in the market here. The price remains about the same but the shipments are gradually falling off with the production as there is no accumulation of stock from which to draw. The ruling price of 9½c is only possible because of the active home trade demand, and that trade has taken the bulk of the cheese sold here. Following are the transactions: 8 lots at 9c, 15 lots at 9¼c, 21 lots at 9⅜c, 1 lot at 9⅝c, and 10 lots commissioned, total 3520 boxes. The sales of farm dairy cheese amounted to 491 boxes at 9c to 9½c, the bulk at 9¼c. Forty-two packages of butter sold at 18c to 21c, bulk at 20c.

THE EVAPORATING BUSINESS!

Assets and Debtor Melt Away Into Thin Air.

NORWICH, Nov. 25.—D. M. Donald of this village has silently moved over the Canadian border, leaving behind numerous creditors who are making considerable of a noise. Donald was engaged in the fruit evaporating and produce business. He carried on an extensive trade and cut quite a figure in local affairs. When the good people of the village became aware that Mr. Donald had evaporated they were dismayed, but when the creditors met they could hardly catch their breath. They found liabilities amounting to $50,000 and practically nothing to settle them.

THE POISONED CANDY CASE.

An Indictment for Murder Returned Against McDonald.

ST. JOHN, N B., Nov. 25.—The grand jury Saturday afternoon returned a true bill for murder against William J. McDonald, charged with sending poisoned candy to Rev. Dr. McCrae.

Aylmer and Port Burwell Railway.

AYLMER, Nov. 26.—A meeting of the provisional directors of the Aylmer and Port Burwell Railway Company was held here yesterday when it was decided to make immediate application to the Ontario Legislature for a charter to build a railway from Port Burwell to a point in North Dorchester or North Oxford via the village of Vienna and the town of Aylmer.

Belleville Briefs.

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 26.—Miss Bertha Ponton, sister of W. H. Ponton, registrar, died yesterday in her ninety-second year. She was a native of Scotland.

A prominent young farmer of Ameliasburg has taken a sudden departure to Washington, leaving many creditors, some of them in Belleville, in the lurch.

Crushed to Death.

OTTAWA, Nov. 26.—A fatal accident occurred at the crossing of the Canada Atlantic Railway at Maxville Station on Saturday while Dan McEwan of Roxborough was crossing the rails with a heavy load of machinery his horses took fright, upsetting the implements and wagon, and crushing the driver so badly that he died in a few moments.

STANLEY AND EMIN

ANOTHER LETTER RECEIVED FROM THE EXPLORER.

The Betrothal of the Czarewitch and Princess Maud of Wales to be Announced Shortly

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Chairman McKinnon of the Emin Relief Committee has received another letter from Henry M. Stanley, written at the camp at Kiringa Ujinja, Aug 17. It details at considerable length the difficulties preceding the departure of the expedition with the refugees under their protection. On April 10 they started numbering about 1500 people, including 150 newly enrolled native carriers. On the 12th they camped at Mozambonis, and that night Stanley was struck down with a severe illness. The intercepted letter of Zelim revealed another plot to attack the expedition. On May 7 a letter was received from Zelim containing various insolent charges against us and an appeal to wait longer for them, the rebels having again robbed them of all their ammunition. Stanley replied offering to go slowly so as to enable them to overtake him, but he never heard any more from Zelim.

We resumed the march, says Stanley, on May 8, and adopted a route skirting the Ballegga Mountains, 40 miles from Nyanza, arriving at the south end of the mountains. We had a successful encounter with the King of Ungoro which cleared the route as far as the Semliki River. Then follows a description of a snowy range seen the year before, and the valley of the Semliki with its enormous grass plain. The ripening grasses made the people and even one of Stanley's own officers mistake it for a vast lake. Stanley describes the Semliki as a powerful stream 80 to 100 yards wide. Crossing the river he says the Warasmas attacked the expedition with a well-directed volley but fortunately without casualty.

He gives a picturesque description of the snowy mountain which he estimates at between 18,000 and 19,000 feet high. Stairs managed to climb 10,675 feet only to find two deep gulfs between him and the snowy summit. He collected a number of plants and Emin was happy to classify them.

Editor Parke's Case.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Mr. Parke, editor of The North London Press, who charged that the Earl of Euston was one of the principals in the Cavendish-street scandal, was arraigned yesterday on the charge of criminal libel preferred against him by the Earl. No evidence was submitted and he was remanded until to-day. He was admitted to bail in £100.

A Royal Betrothal.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—It is stated that the betrothal of the Czarewitch and Princess Maud, the youngest daughter of the Prince of Wales will shortly be announced. It is understood the Czarewitch greatly admires Princess Maud.

Strained Relations.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—The Pall Mall Gazette says that a actual rupture has occurred between Germany and the Vatican.

A Disastrous Gale.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—A gale prevails along the southwest coast. Much damage has been done. Telegraph wires have been blown down and many trees uprooted. A number of minor casualties are reported.

Australian Federation.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Nov. 26.—In an interview Mr. Deffes, formerly Prime Minister of New South Wales, declared it will be impossible to form a colonial federation unless a commercial policy is adopted by the whole of Australia.

Crispi's Program.

ROME, Nov. 26.—In his speech King Humbert announced that bills for reforming charitable institutions, providing for establishing primary schools and for protecting workmen against accidents would be introduced in Parliament. He said: "Italy is on erging from a crisis. Her agriculture and commerce have suffered during recent years and in order to allow their complete recovery the Government will not impose fresh taxation now. A solid foundation has been laid on which to develop Italian industry. The Government intends to propose the abolition of differential tariffs between France and Italy. [Cheers] These measures which you approved in a period of transactions would stand in the way of progress towards a more liberal commercial regime."

Choked to Death.

BUFFALO, Nov. 26.—George Highman, a small boy, was yesterday playing with a small rubber ball which he had filled with water, and placed in his mouth. The ball lodged in the throat and the muscles contracting closed the orifice so that the water could not escape. The family rushed to his rescue and tried in every manner to save him without success. The ball could not be dislodged and the boy slowly choked to death. A physician was summoned but arrived too late to be of any assistance. The ball was not removed and after death was forced down into the body.

Banker Susskind Still Missing.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Banker Susskind is still missing. Yesterday morning despite the downpouring rain a crowd of excited Germans, Norwegians and Danes congregated in front of the banking house. Some of the unfortunate people were moved to tears by their misfortune.

TURNBULL'S

Below we enumerate several Job Lines which are worth the close attention of all who purchase Dry Goods. What we mean by Jobs, are lines of Dry Goods we have purchased from manufacturers or wholesalers at a great reduction under cost to clear the lot, or ends of stock we are anxious to clear at a loss before the season closes, sooner than carry it over. It does not always follow that these goods are undesirable. They are often the best goods the market affords for those who need them. We have

	Regular Price	Our Price
60 yds Blk Curl Mantle Cloth	$3 75	$1 89
Heavy Canadian Tweeds	50	39
Flannelettes	10	5
Fine Meltons	15	12½
Union Grey Flannels	15 to 20	10 to 15
Black Cashmere, 44 inch wide	35	25
Dress Trimmings, all colors	25 to 50	15 to 25
Imported Yarns	35c lb	25c lb
Ends of Carpets	50 to 75	25 to 50
Boys and Girls Tuques & Caps	50 to 1 00	25
Boys Overcoats, worth from	$5 to $6	$3 to $5

The balance of several lines we are clearing out at from $3.00 to $5.00.

New Shapes and Trimmings are constantly arriving for the Millinery Department. Our Stock of Mantles and Mantle Cloths embraces everything desirable.

Men's Overcoats that we have not the full range of sizes, at from $4 to $8.

Our Dress Goods Department scarcely needs calling attention to, as the stock is always found attractive and complete.

CANADIANS Work Too Hard!

The Result is Sleeplessness, Nervousness and a Broken-Down System, often

Ending in Insanity.

Thousands of overworked business men, wearied brain-workers industrious mechanics, and tired women, in all parts of the Dominion are to-day in a terrible position. Their nerves are weak, digestion poor, head aching, and they cannot sleep, work or live in comfort. This is what fills our Insane Asylums. This is the cause of that terrible Paresis Before it is too late, use Dr. Phelps' wonderful discovery, Paine's Celery Compound. It removes the results of overwork, restores strength, renews vitality, regulates the whole system, and tones up the overworked brain and body. Do not despair, but use this wonderful remedy, and be restored to health and happiness, the same as was Mr. John L. Brodie, of Montreal, who writes: "I have great pleasure in recommending your Paine's Celery Compound. My system was run down and I was not fit for business, could not sleep well at night and was nervous. I commenced taking Paine's Celery Compound and improved immediately. I am now able to transact my business and endure any amount of excitement without bad effect."

Paine's Celery Compound can be purchased at any druggist's for one dollar a bottle. If he should not have it on hand, order direct from WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Montreal.

From the Pacific Coast.

An Interesting Letter From Mr. George A. Morrison, of Tacoma, W. T.

[From the Norwood Register.]

As per my promise when I last saw you, I now commence to write you a few lines regarding my trip and what I have seen as yet of this far-off western country. I suppose you people in the east are making preparations to don your furs, while we here, so far, are enjoying very beautiful weather. I have not worn during the day time even my light summer over-coat for the last two days. The grass is quite green and it seems very strange to see them cutting lawns and to see roses and other flowers in the garden in full bloom.

We have had a few wet days since our arrival here and I can tell you we have lots of mud, for in a city like this with about 30,000 people in it and everything run under high pressure, it is no trouble to get the streets in bad shape. However, they are planking the principal ones and things will be better in the near future. We have had a couple of very foggy mornings when the fog has been so dense you could hardly see across the street. I am told that we will have considerable of that kind of weather with the rainy season and that will soon be here. To certain people like myself it will be very trying the first winter.

Business here seems brisk in every department, although competition is very keen. It is really marvellous the amount of street and building improvements that is going on here, and it is almost impossible to get an empty house although several thousands have been completed this year. There are several very fine structures. The new opera house, now nearly completed, will cost over $150,000. Cross Brothers' mammoth dry goods house, 200 feet square, is certainly a magnificent structure.

There is a good demand for first class workmen, such as carpenters, plasterers, painters, plumbers, etc., and as near as I can find out, carpenters get $3 a day, and masons and bricklayers about $5, and plumbers $3 to $4. No person should come here without bringing enough money to keep them two or three months till they get into the ropes.

Real estate is beginning to move again and as soon as the rainy season commences it gets lively. They have never had what they call a boom here, but everything moves steadily.

The cost of living here is not much greater than in the east, except rent, which is pretty high.

Mr. Tacoma seems to be one of the most beautiful attractions of this place. Situated 65 miles to the southward, and at present covered with snow, you would imagine that it was not more than two or three miles away, and at sunset the last few evenings it was really beautiful to behold.

The city of Tacoma lies on rising ground up from Commencement Bay, an arm of Puget Sound. Ships are here all the time loading with wheat, lumber and coal for foreign markets. We enjoyed our trip very much. We came by the Grand Trunk to Detroit, the Wabash to Chicago, where we got a through car for the coast, via the Wisconsin Central and the Northern Pacific which was very pleasant for us as we had five continuous days riding without the inconvenience experienced when changing cars at large railway centres.

I will write you again about Christmas and we will then be in the midst of the rain and mud. I met an old Norwood boy yesterday, Mr. George Buck. He is in the grocery business and seems to be doing well and looks well.

I am, Yours truly,
GEO. A. MORRISON.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The young men's meeting Saturday night was the largest ever held. It was intensely interesting and in preparation for our special meetings about to be held.

The praise and promise meeting Sunday afternoon was well attended, and the same spirit of consecration which marked Saturday night's meeting was apparent. We know we are going to have an outpouring and ingathering among young men, for God is with us, owning and blessing His own word.

At our Gospel and song service Sunday night Mr. Pecard, of the Grande Ligne Mission, and Rev. F. Clifton Parker, gave stirring Gospel addresses, and we saw fruits from our work among young men. The Holy Spirit was there in convicting and converting power, several manifesting their desire to accept Christ. We all felt it good to be there and share in the glorious work of our Lord, to whom be all the praise.

This evening special prayer service will be held to ask God's blessing on the coming evangelistic meeting. Mr. Arthur Baron, evangelist, London, Eng., has consented to come and conduct these services. Bible readings will be given each afternoon at 3.30 p.m., for all, and Gospel talks to men each evening at 8 p. m., commencing Thursday afternoon. Christians, be much in prayer, attend meetings, bring the unsaved and requests for prayer with you.

The Dominion Illustrated.

The North-West is not forgotten in the last number of the Dominion Illustrated—a view of the Blackwith Stock Farm Short Horns, calling attention to an important industrial and commercial feature of North-West agriculture. Of portraits of public men there is quite a profusion—Mr. Claghorn, president of the Montreal Board of Trade, the late Hon. Alex. Morris, Senator Turner, Sheriff Powell and H. J. Clarke, with a large group of Eastern Townships journalists, making a gallery of rare interest. The Toronto Sham Fight will, however, be the special attraction of the number to redmiller readers. The engravings are capital and do credit both to the artist, Mr. Hemming, and to the publishers. The Dominion Illustrated is published by the Dominion Illustrated Publishing Company, Mr. G. E. Desbarats, managing director. Subscription, $4. Address: 73 St. James street, Montreal. For sale at the Peterborough Bookstore.

The use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, stimulates the secretions, and imparts new life and vigor to every function of the body. For nearly half a century, it has remained unrivaled as the best blood medicine ever discovered. Be convinced by a trial.

Ashburnham Brevities.

The last snow load of Mr. H. Calcutt's wood was unloaded on Saturday.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Luke's Church held their annual tea on Thursday, Dec. 5th. A splendid supper will be served in the Sunday school room, followed by a good concert.

A few of the things wanted in this burg to promote its welfare: A doctor, a druggist, a dry goods establishment, a hardware store, five tenants for the five new stores in the town hall; a confectionery, and, to add a little interest to present surroundings, a good church fight and a school board that would instil terror into the teachers under its control, might be added to the list.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites

Is sold all over the world. It is far superior to plain Cod Liver Oil, palatable and easily digested. Dr. Martin Miller Stanton, Bury Backs, England, says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion, and taken it myself. It is palatable, efficient, and can be tolerated by almost anyone, especially where cod liver oil itself cannot be borne. Sold by all Druggists, 50c. and $1.00. w45eod

Peculiarities of the Hair.

There are times when all persons require to pay some particular attention to the hair. To rekindle the life or energy of the roots is a simple matter if taken in time. Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic will do the work, it works in accordance with nature, supplys fresh nourishment to the glands keeper, the hair luxuriant and natural in shade. Be sure to get, you cannot afford to miss it. Every druggist sells it. It is money well spent. See Dorenwends advertisement in another column.

Thirty Years Ago.

OVER 30 years ago there was placed upon the market a remedy designed to relieve pain and capable of either external or internal use. From the first it has had wonderful success, and hundreds testify that Hagyard's Yellow Oil cures rheumatism, sore throat, sprains, croup, cuts, bruises and all pains and aches. 2w48d

Wealth Cannot Buy It.

HEALTH is not purchasable. The saddened, soured dyspeptic, or the bilious billionaire suffer, despite their wealth. Burdock Blood Bitters is a rational remedy for dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, scrofula, debility, etc., and every complaint arising from indigestion or bad blood. 2w48d

Found at Last.

FOR many years I suffered from croup but at last found a remedy for it in Hagyard's Yellow Oil, so that I am now free from croup entirely, and recommend Yellow Oil to all others who suffer from the same disease.

Irritable People.

PEOPLE are often irritable by reason of some exasperating skin disease which destroys comfort and good humor. Salt Rheum, nettle rash, erysipelas, pimples, scald head, etc., are of this nature, they arise from bad blood, and can be cured by using Burdock Blood Bitters according to directions. 2w48d

How to Lace Your Shoes.

Not one person in a thousand laces his shoes correctly. The correct way is to put your foot when you are about to lace your shoe as much as possible in the heel of the shoe. You can do this best by lacing your socks with the heel of your shoe resting in a chair standing in front of the one you are seated on. Over the instep the lacing should be drawn as tightly as possible. This will hold your foot back in the shoe, giving the toes freedom and preventing their being cramped. Lace about the ankle to suit your comfort.—New York Truth.

Re-Evidence Heard in the Cronin Trial Saturday—Longenecker on the Outlook.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—No further evidence was heard in the Cronin case Saturday. At the opening of the court Mr. Forrest announced that his expected witness, Mr. Lynch, had had a relapse and he had decided to get along without his evidence. As there were no further witnesses present, the court adjourned till Monday morning, with the understanding that the defense would examine one or two minor witnesses and would then close its case.

State's Attorney Longenecker sat in his office smiling and satisfied with the results of his and his colleagues' efforts in presenting the evidence against the five suspects. "I think we have established a case that has not been broken down in a single instance," he said to a reporter, "Those Clan-na-Gael alibis did not help the defendants, in my opinion, one whit, and on the rebuttal the State will put some witnesses on the stand, that will, to a great extent, compromise their testimony."

Kunze discovered Friday night that he had several people on the south side who could help him out to some extent, and they will come in Monday and testify. Then the State will introduce its rebuttal, which Judge Longenecker said would only occupy the balance of the Monday session. The cur-rebuttal of the defense is not very great and will all be in at the end of the morning session of Tuesday. On that afternoon or Wednesday morning the arguments will begin.

A $15,000 FIRE.

The Montreal Herald Building Cleaned Out—Two Firemen Seriously Injured.

MONTREAL, Nov. 25.—A fire broke out late Saturday afternoon in The Herald Publishing Company's building which was completely gutted. The loss will reach $1,5000, partly insured. This is the fourth time in 16 years The Herald Company has suffered by fire. During the fire two firemen named Bennett and Fox fell with a ladder and were so seriously injured that they had to be conveyed to the General Hospital where they lie in a critical condition.

A Blaze at Sorel.

SOREL, Nov. 25.—Last evening about 11 o'clock a fire broke out in a large three-story building on Market-square, a portion of which is occupied as a restaurant and the balance as a tailor's shop. The firemen succeeded after considerable exertions in confining the flames to the building which, however, is completely gutted and what remains will require to be pulled down. Insurance about $1000 on buildings, nothing on contents which were considerably damaged. The property belonged to Mr. C. Mongeon who will be a heavy loser.

FIRE IN A MINE.

Four Men Known to be Suffocated, and Worse Results Feared.

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 25.—Fire caught Saturday morning in the crossout on the 500-foot level of the St. Lawrence mine, and the draft blew it into the Anaconda workings. A great volume of smoke poured out from the Anaconda shaft. Patrick Murphy, Henry Page, Jerry Sullivan and Tim Keliher are known to be suffocated in the Anaconda. A man could not live two minutes in any part of the mine. The worst results are feared.

Roasted Groceries.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov 25.—Fire broke out early yesterday morning in the wholesale grocery house of Janning & Andrews in Market street. The building is six stories high and the fire is supposed to have originated from spontaneous combustion. Burning pepper and mustard sent up fumes which interfered occasionally with the firemen's work and five firemen are now in the hospital under treatment for partial blindness caused by pepper getting into their eyes. The burning building far over-topped the others in the vicinity. The east wall fell and eight firemen fighting the flames from the roof of a building in the rear were caught by the debris. James McCuen, foreman of No. 4 company, suffered a fracture of the skull and other injuries and died while being carried to the hospital. The other seven were quick in getting away and were only slightly injured, one having an arm broken. The aggregate loss is estimated at nearly $250,000.

An $80,000 Blaze.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—A four story warehouse connected with the large retail dry good store of Sharpless Bros. was burned here Saturday night. Several adjoining buildings were damaged. Loss $80,000.

THE MANHATTAN DISASTER.

Nine Lives Supposed to Have Been Lost Through the Sinking of the Steamer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—It is generally believed that there were nine lives lost through the collision and sinking of the Old Dominion steamer Manhattan, which ran into the schooner Agnes Manning on Thursday night. Those supposed to have been lost depended on life preservers for their safety. Their names were Frank McKenna, Richard Bingham, John Petersen and Henry Romer, firemen; James Reid and Joseph Davis, colored waiters, and the three steerage passengers, William Vaughan, James C. Tobin and William Walker.

ACCEPTED AND BLESSED.

The Provinces Signify Their Adherence to the Republic of Brazil.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Senor Valente, the Brazilian Minister yesterday afternoon received this cablegram which shows that the Republic has been accepted by all the provinces of Brazil:

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 24.—I inform you that all the provinces have signified their adherence to the Republic and Provincial Government without any resistance or protest. The Government has extended the right to vote to all the citizens only those unable to read or write. The Archbishop, head of the church in Brazil, has conferred his solemn benediction upon the Government and the Republic. BUY BARBOSA Minister of Finance.

Hints for Winter.

WHEN attacked by a cough or cold, hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis, croup or influenza, the successful experience of thousands of families who have used it regularly for all such troubles during many years, suggests the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam—the old reliable household favorite. 2w48

Have You Thought About It?

Why suffer a single moment when you can get immediate relief from all internal or external pains by the use of Polson's Nerviline, the great pain cure. Nerviline has never been known to fail in a single case; it cannot fail, for it is a combination of the most powerful pain subduing remedies known. Try a 10 cent sample bottle of Nerviline. You will find Nerviline a sure cure for neuralgia, toothache, headache. Buy and try. Large bottles 25 cents, by all druggists. w48

COLD, wet weather is very hard on sufferers from Neuralgia troubles, and to those Dyers Quinine and Iron wine is strongly recommended. It is palatable, easily assimilated, and can be safely taken by the weakest invalid. W. A. Dyer & Co, Montreal. 6d116

A Corrupt System.

BAD blood may corrupt the entire system and cause scrofulous sores, swellings, ulcers, salt rheum, erysipelas, sore eyes and skin diseases, as shingles, tetter, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood and cleanses, tones and strengthens the entire system. 2w48d

AYER'S PILLS.

Sugar-Coated Cathartic

If the Liver becomes torpid, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which I suffered from General Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.—W. T. Brightney, Henderson, W. Va.

For years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than anything else, to my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, and Dyspepsia.—G. F. Miller, Attleborough, Mass.

Regulate

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not be without them.—Morris Gates, Downsville, N. Y.

I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice, and was so dangerously ill that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor.—John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebraska.

Last spring I suffered greatly from a troublesome humor on my side. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with indigestion, and distressing pains in

The Bowels.

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured.—Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored.—Theodore Ealing, Richmond, Va.

Hech, mon, but ye should hae ane o' these chairms for St. Andrew's day. d

"Government Analysis"

The government sent an Inspector through the Dominion to ascertain the extent of adulteration in coffee. On anylising samples purchased from grocers, not one out of fifty were found pure, as the government report will show. It also shows that amongst the few houses found selling pure coffee the Palace grocery is one of them, no adulteration whatever being result of analysis. My coffee trade has so increased I am obliged to have it ground by water power and use "Quirk's" water motor, for grinding (the only one used in Peterborough) saving time and labour. If you want good coffee warranted pure, and choice groceries, at lowest prices call at ALEX. ELLIOTT'S, Palace Grocery. dw

The Lash—Anger vs. Prudence."

Anger does not usually take counsel with prudence. But what has that to do with "Kidd" selling a good fitting all wool overcoat for $4.95, worth $10, at 372 George street? Echo answers, What?

Cosmopolitan Competition Competition.

In connection with the very interesting programme to be given by the Charlotte St. Endeavor Society, there is to be introduced for the first time in Peterborough, a novelty in competitive competition. You are invited to attend the open meeting this evening. Admission free.

The Reminiatory Whipping.

It is the nature of revenge that the retaliatory act—or measure—usually goes beyond that which calls it forth. "Kidd" is now having sweet revenge on the blowhard dealers, by selling a fine worsted overcoat for $6.90, worth $14, at 372 George street, two doors south of the shoe store.

Board of Trade.

A quarterly general meeting of the Board of Trade is called for Tuesday, Dec. 3rd, in the council chamber at 8. Important business will be brought up. It was incorrectly stated that a meeting of the council of the Board had been called.

Sheet Music. In order to reduce our stock of Sheet Music we will sell any five pieces in the shop for twenty-five cents. Some of the music is quite new and some has been in stock for a year or so, but it is all good quality and suitable for students and amateurs. Any twelve pieces of the five cent music will be sold for twenty-five cents, or three pieces for ten cents. At the Peterborough Bookstore. dtf

Morrow's Teas.

Try W. J. Morrow's beautiful blends of Black Tea, Fine Hyams and Japans, acknowledged to be the finest in town. California Dried Fruits, self rising Buckwheat, silver Spanish Onions, very cheap by the grate. Fine Dried Apples; and all wishing a good cup of coffee, should not fail to try our fresh ground. Wait and see you have it ground fresh.

Just, Think!

17 lbs sugar for $1.00; 8 bars electric soap for 25c., 4 lbs raisins only 25c., best roller flour, per 100 lbs., $2.50; all kinds of meals kept in stock, cheap. Everything is bought for cash, and will be sold cheap. As we are the largest dealers in teas, we can afford to sell at what others buy at, and for the next 30 days will offer 60c. tea for 50c., 50c. tea for 40c., 40c. tea for 30c., 30c. tea for 20c., and will throw in 8 lbs. for $1.00. The wholesale and retail trade supplied at GEORGE CARTON'S Red Tea Store, corner of George and Charlotte streets. dw

Clean Things.

Only those who make clean money and do clean things, win success. "Kidd" is prepared to supply you with ready made clothing, cheaper than any other dealer in Peterborough.

Laymen's Evangelical Association.

The regular monthly meeting was held on Monday night, and was largely attended. Cheering and encouraging reports of the work at the "home" and jail were presented. In view of the fact that the church authorities had provided no systematic direction for the efforts of lay workers it was unanimously resolved by the laymen to confine themselves hereafter to purely evangelistic work. The meeting was characterized by the utmost harmony.

Be Sure and Attend

The auction sale of crockery, china, glassware, &c., on Wednesday, Nov. 27th, in the store next J. Stevenson's office, Water street. We will sell dinner sets, tea sets, chamber sets and lamps, on Wednesday night, as well as a splendid assortment of other goods. Do not fail to attend as there will be splendid bargains for all.

Certainly Wonderful

"His descriptive powers are certainly wonderful. It is impossible to do him justice in review, and those absent missed a great treat"—So says an American paper of Dr. Robert McIntyre, the prince of pulpit orators. Remember the plan of hall will be open for Dr. McIntyre's greatest lecture, "Wyandotte Cave" or "30 Hours in the Sunless World," Monday next at the Peterborough Bookstore. Secure your tickets early as there is sure to be a rush.

Over Twelve Years Established.

A live and well established grocery and provision business for sale. R. H. Green, on account of continued ill-health, has decided to sell his entire stock of groceries, provisions, &c., en bloc, at a bargain, to a suitable purchaser. The goods are nearly all new, well assorted and bought at the lowest possible wholesale prices. The stock, furnishings, horse, rigging, &c., will amount to about twelve hundred dollars, but will be reduced considerably within the next few weeks (if I don't meet with a wholesale purchaser in the meantime), as I purpose commencing on Saturday next, the 23rd inst., to retail them at a great sacrifice. Parties wishing good fresh groceries, provisions, &c., for the holiday season will find it to their advantage to call before buying elsewhere, as decided bargains will be given. The goods must be sold. R. H. GREEN, corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets, Peterborough. w47tuf

St. Paul's Endeavor Society.

The semi-annual meeting of the Young Peoples' Christian Endeavor Society was held in St. Paul's Church last night. Reports of various committees were presented, and the officers and committees for the ensuing term elected as follows:—

PRESIDENT—Wm. Dundas.
1ST VICE-PRESIDENT—Wm. Webster.
2ND VICE-PRESIDENT — Miss Maggie Davidson.
RECORDING SECRETARY—W. J. Thompson.
CORRESPONDING SECRETARY—Wm. Dundas
TREASURER—Henry Dawson.
LOOKOUT COMMITTEE—Alf. J. Johnston, F. J. A. Hall, Fanny Dixon, Maggie Scott, Emma Davidson.
PRAYER MEETING COMMITTEE — Wm. Webster, Miss Tucker, R. H. Beattie, Miss Sim, Emma Stenson.
SOCIAL COMMITTEE—A. McCallum, Jas. H. Connal, Miss Dawson, Lillie Dixon, Annie Paterson.
FLOWER COMMITTEE — Annie J. Hall, Jessie Hamilton, Bella Hazlitt, Millie Smyth.
CALLING COMMITTEE—Miss L. Stevenson, Annie Peters, Maggie Stenson, Becca Netherout, Maggie Davidson, Jessie Hamilton, Tilley Hope, Eveline Ferguson.
MUSICAL COMMITTEE—Sophie Cameron, Miss Dowling, Edith Ferguson, A. McCallum, Wm. Dundas.

The society is in a flourishing condition, the members taking a deep interest in its welfare. The average attendance at the weekly meetings has been 95; last night there were 110 present. The society's aims and objects are the propagation of active Christian labor among young people, and it is doing a good work.

Police Court.

TUESDAY, Nov. 26.

The case of Colbeck vs. McWilliams was called in the police court this morning. There was an interested crowd of spectators in the court room. Mr. Dumble occupied the magisterial chair. Mr. Colbeck, the plaintiff appeared with his counsel, Mr. E. B. Edwards, and Mr. W. A. Stratton appeared for the defendant. Mr. McWilliams was not in court. The charge against him was assault and battery, the information reading that he "did on Nov. 25th, assault, beat and ill-treat Frances C. Colbeck, and the complainant prays that the case may be summarily disposed of."

Mr. McWilliam's name was called in court, but he was not present. Mr. Edwards submitted that the defendant should appear in person in a case of this kind, but Mr. Stratton argued that representation by counsel was sufficient. The magistrate supported Mr. Edwards' contention and stated that if the case was to be tried in this court Mr. McWilliams would have to appear.

Before pleading to the charge, Mr. Stratton objected that as the Police Magistrate was a member of the school board, and to an extent interested in the matter, he should not try the case.

Mr. Dumble replied that he would hear the evidence and let the case go higher.

Mr. Stratton then asked for an adjournment to give the defence time to procure witnesses. His client had only been subpœnaed last night.

After some argument as to the most suitable date, next Monday was agreed upon and the case enlarged till that day. The plaintiff had a number of witnesses in court, who were notified to re appear without further summons.

In connection with the above, it may be mentioned that Mr. McWilliams states that it is his intention to have Mr. Colbeck indicted at the next County Court for his unduly severe punishment of Mr. McWilliam's son, Victor.

A COUPLE OF VAGS.

Chas. Harris and John Bamfield, two "H'englishmen," were found wandering about the streets last night without any visible means of support. They were both able bodied, healthy-looking men, and when the magistrate mentioned six months in the Central as a suitable term their countenances fell. But, instead, he gave them six hours to get out of town, and they gladly accepted the alternative.

HIS LAST APPEARANCE.

James Wilfred, of Ennismore, made his twenty-fifth bow, or thereabouts, before the magistrate Monday morning, on a charge of drunkenness. He was arrested Saturday night and pleaded guilty, but begged off with the remark that "if you let me off this time boss, I won't trouble you any more. I'll join the temperance and quit." P.M. Edmison discharged him with a warning that if he appeared there again he would be sent somewhere beyond reach of whisky. James made a deep bow, muttered a "much 'bliged, sir," and retired.

A Child Brutally Beaten.

The Wife of a Presbyterian Minister at Cornwall Charged with the Crime—The Way Justice was Administered.

Last week intense excitement was created in Cornwall, a story being circulated on the streets that one of the Barnardo Home girls had been brutally beaten and maltreated by Mrs. McNish, wife of Rev. Neil McNish, Presbyterian minister at that place. Word was sent to the Home in Peterborough on Monday, and Capt. Annesley immediately started for Cornwall. When he arrived there he found that the rumours were only too true, and that the girl in question had indeed been savagely treated. The girl is named Mary Elizabeth Mills, and she is not quite twelve years old. She came out with Dr. Barnardo's last party of children and went to her new home in Cornwall on the 12th of October. She was regarded at the Home here as a nice, amiable little girl.

After making enquiries Capt. Annesley laid an information against Mrs. McNish charging her with wounding the child with a weapon, namely, a heavy stick. But so great was the public bias and feeling in the town against the girl that when he went there he was unable even to get a physician to examine the child, and everything was done that could be done to block the investigation. When the case came on trial it was shown beyond question that the child had been brutally with a stick, both eyes were blackened, and one eye almost closed; both temples were blackened and swollen, the top of the head was swollen in ridges, the shoulder and both arms were black and blue, and from the waist down the child was a mass of livid bruises. The child stated that Mrs. McNish had whipped her with a piece of a chair, and had inflicted the wounds described. Several witnesses were called to prove the extent of the injuries, but as they were almost self apparent there was no question but that the child had been beaten most inhumanly. The only evidence in the defence was that of Mrs. McNish, who admitted she had whipped the girl, but swore the injuries complained of had not resulted therefrom. No evidence whatever, was offered, nor was any suggestion made, to show how the child had come by her injuries. Whilst all the town had been at first extremely biassed against the prosecution, Capt. Annesley, as the case continued, was highly commended by the townspeople for the courageous stand he took in the matter. Although the evidence was clear and no explanation was given as to how the child came to be in such a condition, and although the child, when subjected to a cross-examination which lasted over three hours, was unwavering in her testimony, the magistrate with costs. As soon as the verdict was learned there was intense indignation in the town and a petition to dismiss the magistrate was spoken off. His actions throughout the whole proceedings were marked by the strangest taint of bias and prejudice. Although from the high position of the defendant and the exalted character of her husband, Capt. Annesley was very averse to instituting criminal proceedings, he finds that the only way to prevent the abuse of the children left in his charge is to prosecute in every case to the utmost extent of the law without regard to wealth or position.

DISMISSED THE CASE

Capt. Annesley has returned to town and brought the little girl with him. She is now at Hazel Brae.

Wedding Bells.

An interesting matrimonial event, which has been discussed in social circles for some time past, took place this morning at St. Peter's Cathedral in the presence of a large attendance of the friends and acquaintances of the contracting parties. The event was the marriage of Mr. Richard Sheehy and Miss Mary A. Kelly, eldest daughter of Mr. John Kelly, superintendent of Little Lake Cemetery. The marriage ceremony and mass were celebrated by Rev. Father Cotey. The bride was given away by the father Mr. Kelly, Mr. J. J. Sheehy assisted his brother, and Miss Katie Tangney, performed the duties of bridesmaid. After the ceremony the bridal party took carriages and proceeded to the residence of the bride's father, for a most sumptuous wedding breakfast to which a considerable party sat down. Everything passed off pleasantly and joyously, and Mr. Kelly and family are to be congratulated upon the pleasant manner in which the first matrimonial event in family passed off. The young couple are deservedly popular and have a host of friends who wish them success and happiness and who attested their wishes by a handsome array of beautiful and appropriate bridal gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Sheehy took the 11.50 G.T.R. train for Toronto and the west. After a brief wedding tour they will return to town and take up residence on Perry street, where a home ready for their reception awaits them, as well as, it it hoped, many happy years of wedded life.

Oyster Supper and Entertainment.

The annual oyster supper and entertainment in connection with the North Smith Dairy Co., will be held in the cheese factory, on Thursday evening, Dec. 5th, 1889. Tea to be served at 5 p.m. Several practical and competent gentlemen have been invited to read papers on matters of importance relating to the Dairy interests. In addition to this a choice programme of readings, recitations and music will be provided. A pleasant and interesting evening may be expected, and all are cordially invited to be present. Admission 25 cents; children 15 cents.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This Powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kind and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in Cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER, No. 106 Wall street, N.Y. 1w36d

SAILSBURY BROS.

Personal.

Mr. R. M. Roy was in Belleville last night for the purpose of contributing on a programme of a concert. Mr. Roy's sleight-of-hand performances and stereoptican views are an entertainment in themselves.

Dr. R. W. Bell, Grand Master of the Ontario Oddfellows, was in Beaverton last night attending an anniversary entertainment there. It was a great success, members of the Order being present from all over the district. To-morrow Dr. Bell leaves for the town of Hensley, Huron county, to dedicate a new hall. He will be absent for three days.

DIED

CLEMENTI.—In Peterborough, on Sunday, Nov. 24th, 1889, Elizabeth, wife of Rev. V. Clementi, B.A., and daughter of the late Capt. A. Rubidge, R.N., aged 67 years.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

SHORT AND SWEET, BUT TRUTHFUL.

An Honest Offer that all can Plainly Understand, and that People can Respect and put Confidence in.

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 22nd, 1889.

GENTLEMEN:—

We want to say a few words to you just now. They will be plain and to the point; better still—they will be truthful, and therefore worth reading:—

1st.—We have a large stock of bran-new tailor-made Overcoats for Men and Boys. They are made of honest cloth, well sewed, and stylishly got up, and will fit and wear as well as if you left your measure—not the kind they make up for bankrupt stocks.

2nd.—You can have your pick of any of these Overcoats for Less Money than you can buy a similar coat that may be offered to you by any other dealer in Ontario.

3rd.—You are at liberty to look through all the stores in Town and then come to the City Clothing Store, when we will undertake to fit you Properly with a Better Overcoat, at a Less price than any bona fide offer that may have been made to you.

4th.—We will, likewise, agree to make the same offer hold good for Suits of Clothing, Coat, Pants or Vests, and include Scotch and Canadian Woollen Underwear in the bargain.

5th.—If you want to leave your Measure for a Suit or Overcoat, the same offer holds good in this department also.

6th.—This offer will stand until the middle of January, 1890, when we expect to have clothed every man and boy who intends buying clothing this winter, who is shrewd enough to know the difference between wool and shoddy. We mean business.

Respectfully yours,

H. LEBRUN & CO.

A WAR CLOUD IN AFRICA

THE MAHDI AND THE EMIRS PLANNING TO INVADE EGYPT.

Editor Parke Committed for Trial on the Charge of Libelling the Earl of Euston —Cable Notes.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—A special to The Mail and Express from Cairo, Egypt, says confirmation has been received of the report that the Mahdi is perfecting a plan in conjunction with the Emirs on which they shall make a combined invasion of Egypt.

Preparations for Defence.

CAIRO, Nov. 26.—Sir Evelyn Baring, British Consul here, and Colonel Wodehouse are inspecting Wady-Halfa. The Harrss are preparing for the threatened advance of the Mahdists.

Salisbury Protests.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Premier Salisbury has sent a dispatch to the British minister at Lisbon ordering the latter to protest against the Portuguese proclamation claiming countries north and south of Zambesi River in Africa. Lord Salisbury says Mashonaland, which is a part of the territory referred to in the Portuguese proclamation, is under British protection.

Australian Federation.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Nov. 26.—In his speech at the opening of Parliament the Governor, referring to Colonial Federation, said there was every likelihood that the cordial discussion now being carried on would lead to a patriotic agreement between the colonies on this question.

Editor Parke Committed for Trial.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Mr. Parke, editor of The North London Press, was again arraigned in the Police Court to-day on the charge of criminal libel preferred against him by the Earl of Euston. The Earl in his testimony admitted that he had visited the house in Cavendish-street where the alleged unlawful practices are said to have taken place, but claimed he visited there for a lawful purpose.

The Earl further testified that while walking in Piccadilly one evening a stranger approached him and handed him a card on which was written "Rose plastique, Hammond, Cavendish-street." The Earl said he went to the house indicated on the card a week after. A man opened the door and demanded a sovereign before he would allow him to enter. The Earl gave him a sovereign and asked where the rose plastique could be seen. The man said that there was none there but he could have boys in an adjoining room. The Earl thereupon threatened to knock the man down, after which the Earl left the house and never returned.

Mr. Parke was committed for trial.

Labby Will Stir up the Scandal.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Mr. Labouchere's expressed intention to offer in the House of Commons a motion to adjourn in order to discuss the question of a parliamentary investigation of the West End club scandals, has become an almost general topic of street and club debate, and caused great consternation in interested circles. The affair furnishes to the Radical parliamentarian and editor an abundant supply of ammunition available in conducting his persistent warfare against the retention of the hereditary House of Lords as the highest legislative body.

A Conservative Conference.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—A Conservative conference was held at Nottingham To-day. Lord Salisbury said the views of Mr. Gladstone looking to the separation of Ireland from Great Britain were making no headway. The bye-elections for members of Parliament were mere skirmishes and were not fought on the main issue. He declared he was in favor of forming a national party which must, he said, grow gradually. Such a party could not be created by one man.

Lord Salisbury addressed a mass meeting in the evening. He said he would not support the eight hours bill and it will be a great mistake for workmen to have it passed. He favored an extension of laborers' allotments and gave a qualified approval to free education. Dwellings of the poor he said ought to be improved through public assistance and workingmen should be aided to emigrate.

Not Yet Recognized.

PARIS, Nov. 26.—Despatches to the Foreign Office from Rio de Janeiro say no foreign Government has yet recognized the provisional Government of Brazil and the Brazilian Ministry will await the decision of the Assembly before claiming recognition. The French officials in Brazil have been instructed to maintain the good relations formerly held with the Imperial Government. All the foreign consuls in Brazil are receiving similar orders.

Bismarck's Policy Criticised.

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—In the Reichstag to-day Herr Bamberger and Dr. Windthorst attacked the Government's colonial policy as badly conducted and as calculated to irritate friendly powers. Count Herbert Bismarck denied the German colonial policy had caused any friction with the powers. He said he could not reveal at present the result of the Samhuan conference. According to a mutual arrangement between the powers that took part in the conference the details of the settlement must still be kept secret.

A NOBLE DEAD BEAT.

Major Dalrymple, Heir to an Earldom, in Montreal Jail.

MONTREAL, Nov. 26.—Major Dalrymple, brother of the Earl of Stair, and heir to the title and estates, is in jail here. The Major came out to Canada recently with Lord and Lady Cochrane upon a trip to the Rockies and stopped at the Windsor where Lord Cochrane was obliged to pay his hotel bill. Lately he has been residing at the Balmoral and engaged a carter whom he was unable to pay. He appeared before the Recorder, was fined $3 and being unable to pay it was sent to jail.

The prosecution by the carter is known to be merely a blind as the real reason for his arrest was a capias taken out against him by a lady to whom he was materially indebted. He has been living at the best hotels and clubs on his reputation, the Metropolitan alone being out to the extent of $200. It was only to-day it was discovered that he was in jail where he had been for three days, all the proceedings having been suppressed. It was by the merest chance the fact was discovered.

The Fort Worth Sold to the U. P.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. After a conference lasting all of to-day between Charles Francis Adams, president of the Union Pacific, and Morgan Jones, President of the Denver, Texas and Fort Worth Company it was announced that the sale of the Fort Worth road to the Union Pacific had been settled but the officials were not ready to give out a detailed statement.

The First Spike Driven.

VANDREUIL, Nov. 27. The ceremony of driving the first spike on the Vandreuil and Prescott Railway was performed yesterday, and track laying is going on vigorously.

HARVEY LEARNS HIS FATE.

The Condemned Murderer Preserves His Stoical Demeanor.

GUELPH, Nov. 26.—When the news arrived this morning that the Government had refused to grant a reprieve to Harvey, Sheriff McKim broke the news to the doomed man by giving him a Toronto paper to read. After looking over the paragraph he expressed no surprise, and presented the same stoical demeanor he did during the trial.

Since his sentence he has spent the time in reading and writing, and listening to the admonition of his spiritual advisers. In a number of the city pulpits on Sunday prayers were offered for him. This morning Sheriff McKim left for Toronto to procure a scaffold, and make other arrangements for Friday morning next. In the meantime Harvey will spend the remainder of his short life arranging his worldly affairs, and taking counsel from his spiritual attendants.

The gallows on which Harvey is to be executed arrived from Toronto this morning. It is similar to the one on which Neil paid the penalty of his crime.

A LOVE TROUBLE.

Drives an 18-year-old Knox County Boy to Suicide.

WINDSOR, Nov. 26.—On Sunday, Joseph, the second son of Charles Bratt, a farmer in Malden township, took his father's shot gun went into a small outhouse and blew the top of his head off. The suicide was 18 years old. He had had some difficulty with a girl sweetheart.

VANISHED ALIBIS

THE SUSPECTS' WITNESSES MET AT EVERY POINT.

A Field Day for the State in the Cronin Trial—The Case of the People Closes—An Adjournment Until Friday.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—The first witness called in the Cronin case to-day on behalf of the State, was Bailey Dawson, who testified that on May 4, he was in the Emergency Hospital here, that he never introduced John F. Beggs to Col. Babcock, but that on the night of May 11, he was present when Mr. Gleason did so. The defence had introduced evidence that Beggs was at the Grand Pacific Hotel on the night of May 4, and that he was introduced to Col. Babcock on that occasion. Col. Babcock took the stand and corroborated Mr. Dawson's testimony.

Wm. Niemann was recalled on behalf of the State and testified that he had been introduced to James Hyland, and that he was not the tall man who came into his saloon Saturday night, May 4, or Sunday night, May 5 as Hyland swore. Niemann had given testimony that men answering the description of Coughlin, Burke and O'Sullivan had been in his saloon in earnest consultation about 10 p.m. May 4.

The State next introduced the driver and the man who rented the carriage to O'Mally the night of May 4, and these witnesses contradicted another portion of the testimony of the defence.

Robert P. Stanton and Harry L. McMahon, proprietor and foreman of the printing office where O'Sullivan's cards were printed, gave evidence contrary to that of O'Sullivan's men concerning the delivery of the cards.

Frederick Eberwold, Inspector of Police, was called. He said neither Officers Rowan nor Crowe, whom he sent out to investigate the Cronin murder, ever reported that Milkman Mertes told them he heard fighting or scuffling in the Carlton cottage.

Pat Dinan, owner of the white horse, testified that when Capt. Schaack in the presence of Coughlin asked him for a description of the man who hired the white horse the witness replied: "You can do your own describing. Coughlin knows him and saw him and can describe him to you better than I can."

Andrew B. Anderson testified that he was in Niemann's saloon two or three times on Sunday night, May 5, between 7 and 10 o'clock. There were 10 or 12 persons there on each occasion. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of the Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time and no one else was there.

Chester P. Smith testified he had examined the files of all the daily papers here and found Coughlin's name was not mentioned in connection with hiring the white horse prior to May 5. This was to contradict a witness for the defence who testified he had seen it about ten days after the murder.

Edward H. Bailey, an editor of The Lake View Record, testified he did not recollect anybody calling at his office and getting a bundle of O'Sullivan's cards as testified by O'Sullivan's employe Minehan.

State's Attorney Longenecker then announced the case of the People closed.

James Feltam was sworn in rebuttal in behalf of defendant Beggs. Feltam was secretary of the Republican ward club meeting at the Grand Pacific Hotel on the evening of May 4. The minutes did not show whether or not Bailey Dawson was there.

Mr. Forrest announced he would introduce rebuttal testimony at the next session of the Court to show the whereabouts of witness Wm. Coughlin on the night of May 4.

The Court announced that owing to the illness of the daughter of juror North the Court would adjourn until Friday.

After the adjournment there was a consultation between Court and counsel as to the order of the arguments to be made before the jury. It was decided to leave the matter to the Court. Judge McConnell will announce his decision Friday.

BURGLARY IN HIGH LIFE.

Four Brothers, All Leading Citizens, Charged with Wholesale Robbery.

READING, Pa., Nov. 27.—A series of burglaries has recently been committed within a radius of ten miles of Pine Grove. About twenty country stores, besides numerous houses, were burglarized. In Orwigsburg alone nine burglaries were committed in two weeks, in Annville about a dozen, and all the boroughs and towns suffered extensively. Citizen's committees were appointed, but they were unable to catch the perpetrators. Yesterday morning officers arrested Amos, Jacob, Charles and James Long, all brothers, and leading citizens of Pine Grove on the charge of committing some of the burglaries. Three of them were taken to jail, James Long being the only one who secured bail.

A P. E. I. SCANDAL.

Alleged Shortage in the Crown Land Commissioner's Office.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., Nov. 27.—Within the past few days serious charges of maladministration have been formulated against Crown Lands Commissioner Ferguson of Prince Edward Island, by The Patriot of this city, which paper alleges that there is a shortage of many thousand dollars in the funds of the office. The Commissioner is charged with neglect of his duty and with leaving the machine to run itself. It is also charged that the records of the office are in a deplorable state as regards the entries of receipts from the lands. It is stated that for weeks the day-book was not balanced and that the affairs of the office are in a disgraceful condition Mr. Ferguson has held the office for several years and large amounts of money passed through his hands. It is impossible to estimate the extent of the defalcations, which will not be known until an investigation is held, which alone can definitely locate the criminal who has been doing up the office. Ferguson now admits a shortage of $3000, but says that the responsibility rests with an official who cannot speak because he died a few days ago.

THE SHOE CITY IN ASHES

A TEN MILLION DOLLAR FIRE AT LYNN, MASS.

The Third Largest Conflagration in the History of New England—The Progress of the Flames Stayed Only by the Ocean.

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 26.—Lynn, the city of shoes, was to-day visited by the greatest fire in its history, and with two exceptions the conflagration is the most disastrous which ever visited New England. The exceptions are the great Boston fire of 1872, which destroyed between $100,000,000 and $200,000,000 worth of property and the Portland fire of 1866 which caused a loss of between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000. To-day's fire started at 11.55 a.m., raged over eight hours, devastated a square mile of the business section of the city, and caused a loss estimated at about $10,000,000. The greater part of Ward 4 is wiped out so far as regards the important shoe manufacturing blocks and prominent places of business.

The fire started in Mower's wooden building in Almont-street, over the boiler, and spread with such rapidity that the excellent fire department of the city was powerless to cope with it. This large wooden building was soon doomed and the flames leaped across a narrow passage way and communicated with the six-story brick block known as Mower's block. When these two buildings got well under way it was evident a terrible conflagration would result. Almost simultaneously the four-story wooden shoe factory of Bennett & Barnard on Central-avenue and their four-story building on Almont-street caught fire and soon a hurricane of flame was in progress. For eight hours the flames had full sway, the valiant efforts of the firemen and citizens seemingly being of no avail.

The burned territory is bounded by the following streets: Almont, Central-avenue at its junction with Willow, Union-street from its junction with Broad to the Boyden block on both sides. Mt. Vernon-street entire, Central-square entire, Beach-street on both sides as far down as Lee's lumberyard, Washington-street from Monroe through to Union, Railroad-avenue, all of Exchange-street, Broad-street from the engine house on both sides as far as the corner of Exchange, Spring-street entire, besides numerous dwelling houses in Suffolk, Amity, Sagamore and Beach-streets.

Aid arrived from Boston, Salem, Marblehead and surrounding towns, but the united efforts of the firemen seemed to have little effect on the raging flames. Scenes of the great Boston and Chicago fires were repeated in all their horrors. Mothers were seen fleeing with babies in their arms and express wagons loading at business and dwelling houses and transferring goods to places of safety, in many cases a second removal being necessary. After the fire had been in progress two hours everybody declared it would not stop until it reached the ocean. So it proved to be.

Four daily newspapers are burned out, The Item, Bee, Press, and News, three being afternoon and one a morning paper. Three national banks, the Central, Security and First National, with the Lynn Institute for Savings located in the First National block, are all wiped out. Twelve of the finest shoe blocks in the city are in ruins and about 25 stores. At this writing it is impossible to state how many dwelling houses are burned but they were mostly occupied by poor people in the vicinity of Beach street and the wharves.

It is impossible to give any estimated insurance but conservative definite place the loss on property at $10,000,000. There were many narrow escapes from accidents but no fatalities are reported. The high brick wall on the B. F. Spinney block served as a barrier to the progress of the flames up Union-street after the handsome structure was gutted.

The First Methodist and First Universalist Churches and several school houses have been thrown open to accommodate burned out families. Mayor Newhall has called a special meeting of the aldermen to take action and choose relief committees. S. M. Breed & Co., the largest lumber dealers in Essex County, lose everything including their handsome brick structure on the corner of Beach and Broad streets. They estimate their loss at $300,000 with insurance as about $125,000. They will open for business in the morning.

Dynamite and powder were used at frequent intervals to blow up wooden buildings but with little effect. The fire virtually burned itself out and at 7.30 was considered under control. Both companies of the Massachusetts Militia located in Lynn were called out and put on patrol duty. Several of the shoe manufacturers burned out have country factories and will transfer their business there for the present.

Thieves came in from Boston and elsewhere in large numbers and the amount of stealing was large. A house was blown with powder at Broad and Exchange-streets at 3.45 o'clock. The explosion shattered windows in all directions but the measure was effectual in stopping the progress of the flames in that direction. The streets were covered with a net work of fallen wires which somewhat impeded the progress of the firemen. The central station of the Boston and Maine Railway was burned flat and the flames leaped across Mount Vernon-street.

A. B. Martin & Co's. big brick block in Market-street was covered with carpeting from top to bottom and kept wet down. A fire boat could have done immense service in saving wharf property but none was at hand, two from Boston having got stuck on the flats. One small schooner was burned at S. N. Breed's wharf.

From the corner of Spring street on the southerly side of Exchange-street to Broad-street was a row of wooden buildings varying from two to four stories in height in which the shoe business was first conducted when the manufacturing centre began to be established in the vicinity of Central-square. The house at the extreme easterly end of Exchange-street, corner of Broad was also blown up.

A hopeful feeling prevails and there is no question but that the public-spirited citizens and shoe manufacturers will soon rally from the terrible catastrophe.

A Town Scorched.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 26.—Leechburg, a town of 800 inhabitants, 36 miles north of here, is threatened with destruction. A fire broke out in the heart of the town this afternoon and as there was a high wind blowing the flames quickly spread in every direction. There is no fire apparatus and engines have been ordered from here. Telegrams report intense excitement.

By 9 o'clock the citizens of Leechburg unaided got the fire under control. Before that however the postoffice, The Leechburg Advance building, Leechburg Bank building, Hill Bank building, Cochran's block, Squire's block and twenty to twenty-five dwellings and stores were in ruins. The loss may reach $100,000. The night is cold and many homeless ones will suffer from exposure.

The Hamilton Railroad Meeting.

HAMILTON, Nov. 27.—The citizens' mass meeting last night was largely attended. Speakers were numerous. A motion, asking, among many other things, for the employment of an expert and the running of the road down by the Grand Trunk present track was overwhelmingly defeated. A motion was then passed expressing entire confidence in the Railroad Committee of the Council.

The Ancient Capital.

QUEBEC, Nov. 27.—There is weeping and wailing among employes, actors and others of the Jacques Cartier Theatre here. It seems that one of the promoters of the scheme has suddenly levanted taking all the money with him, and leaving all the bills unpaid. The actors who came on from the States are stranded and their case has been placed in the hands of the American Consul.

Ambitious City Notes.

HAMILTON, Nov. 26.—A workman named William Rigsley fell off a scaffold at the Wentworth Presbyterian Church to-day and was rather badly hurt internally, though no bones were broken.

Chief McKinnon recognised the man giving his name as Frank Staunton, arrested for keeping a disreputable house, as one William Gilbert, who ten years ago was convicted and sent down from Belleville for a robbery in Napanee.

This morning Judge Muir appointed John T. Stokes, of Toronto, the engineer to inspect the Hamilton and Nelson road.

CANADIANS Work Too Hard!

The Result is Sleeplessness, Nervousness and a Broken-Down System, often

Ending in Insanity.

Thousands of overworked business men, worried brainworkers industrious mechanics, and tired women, in all parts of the Dominion are to-day in a terrible position. Their nerves are weak, digestion poor, head aching, and they cannot sleep, work or live in comfort. This is what fills our Insane Asylums. This is the cause of that terrible Paresis. Before it is too late, use Dr. Phelps' wonderful discovery, Paine's Celery Compound. It removes the results of overwork, restores strength, renews vitality, regulates the whole system, and tones up the overworked brain and body. Do not despair, but use this wonderful remedy, and be restored to health and happiness, the same as was Mr. John L. Brodie, of Montreal, who writes: "I have great pleasure in recommending your Paine's Celery Compound. My system was run down and I was not fit for business, could not sleep well at night and was nervous. I commenced taking Paine's Celery Compound and improved immediately. I am now able to transact my business and endure any amount of excitement without bad effect."

Paine's Celery Compound can be purchased at any druggist's for one dollar a bottle. If he should not have it on hand, order direct from WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Montreal.

THE DAIRY AND CHEESE INDUSTRY.

The importance of the Dairy and Cheese industry in this country is shown by figures contained in the review of the Cheese Board operations for the past season supplied by the secretary Mr. Taylor, and published in another column. So far cheese producing is chiefly an incidental industry, that is, farmers continue their ordinary avocations of ploughing and sowing much the same as if there were no cheese made. If, under these circumstances this county produces over $150,000 worth of cheese, what would the outcome be if more of a specialty were made of the industry? According to an estimate of Prof. Robinson, the total value of the cheese exports for this year are between eight and ten million, much more than the value of the wheat export is likely to be this year. And as yet the dairy industry is only in its infancy. For years is has been increasing and while prices have kept fairly firm, the output for export has grown greatly and the demand keeps pace with that increase. Farmers are beginning to regard this branch of industry with more favour. The more progressive have made considerable advances in methods, and year by year the mass of farmers are becoming better informed, and as a consequence more successful. If increased attention to dairying, resulted only in barely paying expenses it would imply a profit by decreasing the everlasting over cropping of our farms, which are fast deteriorating from this cause, into unremunerative barrenness. If farmers keep good stock well, the stock will keep them well.

Peterborough Cheese Industry

The Efficient Secretary Reviews the Season's Operations.

At the request of the EXAMINER Mr. Warren Taylor, the efficient Secretary of the Cheese Board, has furnished a succinct summary of the operations of the year. Mr. Taylor says:—

To the Editor of the Examiner.—

Thinking it might be of interest to the readers of the EXAMINER to review the business done through the medium of the Cheese Board, I give the following summary: In 1884 there was made in the county in 14 factories, 13 201 boxes of cheese, which sold for about $79,200.

In 1888 the make in 19 factories was 19,280 boxes worth $115 000, an increase in the interval, of 600 boxes and in cash of $35,800, over the year 1884.

The make for the present year, 1889, in 15 factories was 20,681 boxes, worth $126,009, an increase of 1400 boxes and $8,400 over 1888, and 7480 boxes and $44,880 over 1884. Not including two factories which did not sell on the cheese board this year. The make in Victoria county for present year was 4354 boxes worth $26,000.

The total make in Peterborough and Victoria counties this year, would be worth about $150,000. Your readers may say that is a vast amount of money; I would ask them what are the possibilities in the dairy business? Could the farmers of these two counties not vastly increase the returns for dairy produce if they should try? If they would sow clover freely and raise more rough grain and grass, and grow fodder, corn and store it in the silo, select and keep the best stock, provide good stabling, and keep stock comfortable, they may keep cows milking nine or ten months in the year, and thus make the land flow with milk and—money. Besides stock keeping is the way to increase the fertility of an exhausted soil; but if farmers will persist in trying to grow grain without sufficient barn room, then thresh in harvest time and put the straw in an ill-built stack to remain there through the rains of the autumn, then to freeze; and then expect the poor cow to live through the long, cold winter at the straw stack, while the grain is all taken to market, verily their profits will be small. Rather let the motto be, move forward all along the line.

Yours Truly,
WARREN TAYLOR,
Secretary.

The Mormons.

The president of the Mormon community in Utah, together with other leading members of the sect, have, it is reported, visited the Mormon settlement established in the Territory of Alberta, and have decided to remove thither. It is expected that a large number of Mormons will follow these leaders into Canada. The extraordinary exposure by apostles of the treasonable and horrible, as well as disgusting, rites practised by these people in their Endowment House at Salt Lake City, and the probable consequent scattering of the whole community in the United States, will make some change necessary. The coming elections in Utah are looked forward to with apprehension by the Mormons. Should it be found that the Mormon vote is swamped or likely soon to be swamped by that of the Gentiles, the desire to emigrate and form a more compact community somewhere else will be greatly strengthened. The question arises, How shall Canada receive them? Those who hold government land to their pioneer immigrants received the assurance that Mormons who settled in Canada would not practise polygamy. That was, of course, only the promise of individuals, and it has been already defiantly repudiated by other and equally representative individuals. Canada will not have the difficulty which the United States had about marriage laws. Our marriage laws are national and cover our whole territory. The practice of polygamy would be criminal from the start, and all that should import that wage would be liable to the penitentiary, unless they were able to circumvent the plainest law by some degrading subterfuge. But such as the Females, who are outlaws under the British flag, come to be such under the American, the fact that the Mormons have been proved to be traitors to the United States Government would not outlaw them here. In the past it has been so much the habit of governments to be oppressive that it is the usage for the traitors of one country to be protected by another. Such protection of political exiles, as refugee conspirators are called, has been all along the pride of the British and American flags. Even the Jesuits, who are conspirators against every non-papal government, have been safer under British and American rule than anywhere else in the world. It may be, and doubtless will be, difficult to find legal ground for throwing the Mormon community into outlawry and driving it off our soil, but it is evident that it is going to be a very expensive business to let them find a footing amongst us. It has been proved that the word or oath of a Mormon is of no value when dealing with the interests of the church, and that treason and assassination are parts of his creed. The least, therefore, that our Government could do would be to treat every Mormon as a suspected criminal, and to keep the members of the community under constant police oversight. It can rightly refuse to grant to the Mormons a large block, or large blocks, in close proximity of Government land and thus prevent as far as possible their forming a solid community in any district or portions of a territory. If they are scattered over the North-West in individuals or small communities amidst large numbers of other law-abiding religious peoples, their power for evil, which is based upon organization and secrecy, will be greatly diminished, if not altogether removed. Only large and comparatively solid communities could establish such institutions as the Tabernacle, the Endowment House or the Monopolistic Mercantile Establishment, used as means of coercion, which existed in Salt Lake City, and which enabled the Mormon Bishops and elders to exercise such extraordinary powers over their people.

Peculiarities of the Hair.

There are times when all persons require to pay some particular attention to the hair. To remind the life on energy of the roots is a simple matter if taken in time. Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic will do the word, it works in accordance with nature, supplys fresh nourishment to the glands keeper, the hair luxuriant and natural in shade. Be sure to get, you cannot afford to miss it. Every druggist sells it. It is money well spent. See Dorenwends advertisement in another column.

Thirty Years Ago.

OVER 30 years ago there was placed upon the market a remedy designed to relieve pain and capable of either external or internal use. From the first it has had wonderful success, and hundreds testify that Hagyard's Yellow Oil cures rheumatism, sore throat, sprains, croup, cuts, bruises and all pains and aches. 2w48d

An Awful Sore Limb

Skin Entirely Gone. Flesh a mass of disease. Leg Diminished one third in size. Condition hopeless. Cured by Cuticura Remedies in two months.

Cured by Cuticura.

For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle; the skin was entirely gone and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurable. It diminished about one third the size of the other and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the result was as follows:—After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified, and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, and to day, and for nearly two years past my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen.
S. G. AHERN, Dubois, Dodge Co., Ga.

Skin Disease 17 years.

I have been troubled with a skin and scalp disease for seventeen years. My head at times was one running sore and my body was covered with them as large as a half dollar. I tried a great many remedies without effect until I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and am thankful to state that after two months of their use I am entirely cured. I feel it my duty to you and the public to make the above case.

AN AFRICAN RAILWAY.

Strained Relations Between England and Portugal in Africa.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Capt. Lugard and George Mackenzie have arrived at Mombasa. Capt. Lugard will accompany the railway prospecting party which Mackenzie starts from Mombasa, and will lay down the route for a narrow guage railway of some 200 miles in length. It depends on Capt. Lugard's experiences during the journey whether he will resign his commission and enter the service of the British East Africa company permanently. There is one thing which Capt. Lugard would like even better than to enter the service of the company. He is greatly pleased at the action of Colonel W. H. Johnson in planting the British flag on the upper Shire region, and so solving the difficulty which existed between Portugal and England. But Capt. Lugard maintains that the matter must not rest here. Unless the new South African company at once sends an expedition to follow up Johnson's action and to co-operate with the Lakes company in taking active possession of the region nothing will come of it. Capt. Lugard himself would be glad to return to Nyassaland and do whatever is necessary to back up the steps taken by Consul Johnson. That the British foreign office thoroughly approves of what Johnson has done and means to support him is clear from the fact that at this moment one of the British gunboats is on the Zambesi, partly to establish the international character of the navigation of that river and partly to act in case of emergency.

That a step of this kind was necessary is shown by an accident that occurred quite recently when Selvas, the African hunter, went out some months ago to the cape. His first duty was to fulfil a contract he had entered into, but which he did not like. He had to lead a prospecting party up the Zambesi to a supposed rich mining district in the debatable land between the Portuguese territory and what is now British territory. Somewhere about the month of the Mazoe river he asked permission from the Portuguese officials to land the baggage of the party, which included gunpowder and rifles. Permission was granted, and the boats unloaded. No sooner was this done than the Portuguese official threw everything into the river, and compelled Selvas and his party to return whence they came at once, with scarcely anything but the clothes they wore. It seems clear that a crisis is approaching in the disputed relations between Portugal and England.

Prince Albert Victor of Wales will leave Madras on Dec. 16, and will cross the Indian ocean to Rangoon. From there he will proceed by Irrawaddy to Prome, Ava and Mandalay, and will be shown as much of Upper Burmah as may be deemed safe by the military authorities. This Burmese tour is an entire change in the original program, in accordance with which the prince would have arrived in Calcutta before Christmas. As it is he will not reach the capital city until the first week in January.

The Fire Record.

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., Nov. 26.—A conflagration occurred here early yesterday morning entailing a loss of $300,000. The fire started in the warehouse of Keller Bros'. mill and almost simultaneously flames were seen issuing from the elevator. When it fell it communicated flames to the residence and saloon of Joseph Blyakets, thence to the blacksmith shop of Philip Wenner, then to Henry Brinkman's store and a tenement, all of which were badly damaged or destroyed.

SOUDERTOWN, Pa., Nov. 26.—The postoffice, general store of P. J. Cover, dwelling of John Snyder and the dwelling and meat market of Frank Taylor were burned here last night. The fire is supposed to be incendiary. Loss $30,000.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—A fire broke out last night in the foundry of the Hecla Iron Works in Williamsburgh. The main building is 200 feet square. The flames extended to and included five one-story buildings in Berry-street and two five story buildings in North Tenth-street and North Eleventh-street. The damage to the buildings and machinery is estimated at $250,000, covered by insurance.

Pettus' Slayer Broken Down.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Mrs. Southworth, the slayer of Pettus, remains at the Tombs in a condition of physical exhaustion and mental lassitude. Her lawyer, Wm. F. Howe, said yesterday: "Mrs. Southworth will not be alive a week from now. I have watched her through two years and have seen her fade from a well rounded and handsome woman to a shadow of one. I firmly believe she is dying and even if they bring her to trial very soon she will not live to undergo it. She does not care to live. She is broken down completely."

Cast Up by the Flood.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 26.—Four bodies came to the surface of the Conemaugh river here yesterday. One is supposed to be that of John R. Day of Prospect, Ind., who with his daughter was lost from the express of the Pennsylvania Railway. So many bodies are being brought to the surface by the high water for the past few days that men will walk up both sides of the river between Johnstown and Minevah daily to look for corpses.

Sandbagged

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—An old man named Wm. Howard was found at Seventh avenue and Forty-eighth-streets Saturday night in an unconscious condition. He died at the hospital two hours after he was found without recovering his senses. There were four cuts on his person and his skull was fractured. It is believed he was the victim of sandbaggers.

A Bigamist at 17.

BUFFALO, Nov. 26.—George Reihl, a young man of but 17 years, was arrested yesterday on a charge of bigamy. His first wife, who when he married her not quite a year ago was a blooming widow of thirty odd, brings the charge. It seems Reihl soon tired of the mature charms of the widow and six months after his first marriage led a handsome miss of 16 to the altar.

"The Manly Art of Self Defence."

"Giving" blow for blow," is often more thought of, than that other "art of self defence," which consists in defending one's own system from the assaults of disease and neglect. When dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, "liver complaint," jaundice, and the like lay hold of the system, the best defence is the immediate use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets; tiny, sugar-coated Granules made from concentrated vegetable extracts; one a dose.

Hints for Winter.

WHEN attacked by a cough or cold, hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis, croup or influenza, the successful experience of thousands of families who have used it regularly for all such troubles during many years, suggests the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam—the old reliable household favorite. 2w48

Have You Thought About It?

Why suffer a single moment when you can get immediate relief from all internal or external pains by the use of Polson's Nerviline, the great pain cure. Nerviline has never been known to fail in a single case; it cannot fail, for it is a combination of the most powerful pain subduing remedies known. Try a 10 cent sample bottle of Nerviline. You will find Nerviline a sure cure for neuralgia, toothache, headache. Buy and try. Large bottles 25 cents, by all druggists. w46

A Corrupt System.

BAD blood may corrupt the entire system and cause scrofulous sores, swellings, ulcers, salt rheum, erysipelas, sore eyes and skin diseases, as shingles, tetter, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood and cleanses, tones and strengthens the entire system. 2w48d

AYER'S Sugar-Coated Cathartic PILLS.

If the Liver becomes torpid, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which I suffered from General Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.—W. T. Brightney, Henderson, W. Va.

For years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than anything else, to my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, and Dyspepsia. —G. F. Miller, Attleborough, Mass.

Regulate

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not be without them.—Morris Gates, Downsville, N. Y.

I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice, and was so dangerously ill that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor.—John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebraska.

Last spring I suffered greatly from a troublesome humor on my side. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with indigestion, and distressing pains in

The Bowels.

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured. —Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored. —Theodore Ealing, Richmond, Va.

Coughs, Colds, Croup.

Allen's Lung Balsam was introduced to the public after its merits for the positive cure of such diseases had been fully tested. It excites expectoration and causes the Lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; changes the secretions and purifies the blood; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is warranted to break up the most distressing cough in a few hours' time, if not of too long standing. It contains no opium in any form and is warranted to be perfectly harmless to the most delicate child. There is no real necessity for so many deaths by consumption when Allen's Lung Balsam will prevent it if only taken in time. For Consumption, and all diseases that lead to it, such as Coughs, neglected Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma and all diseases of the Lungs, ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the Great Modern Remedy. For Croup and Whooping Cough it is almost a specific. It is an old standard remedy, and sold universally at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. The 25-cent bottles are put up to answer the constant call for a good and reliable COUGH CURE. In buying the genuine Lung Balsam, call for a 50-cent bottle to test it.

Doran's Great Cost Sale
has been a splendid success. The low prices—below wholesale cost—have brought a veritable avalanche of customers. Town customers should as much as possible do their buying during the week. There is such a crush on Saturday that it is absolutely impossible to serve a shop full at once. The chance of securing splendid bargains is so great that it is a pity for any to miss it. 393 George street. dtf

Great Chance for the Public.
At this season of the year the public will be interested in knowing that great bargains in groceries can be obtained at Rush Bros.' grocery store. Turn to their advertisement and you will see that a great cash sale is now going on. Goods are cut down to the finest kind of price, and the goods are all of high class quality, and no better chance of securing bargains in groceries has been presented in Peterborough. Study the list of prices in Rush Bros.' advertisement. dw

Trent Valley Canal.
Attention is particularly directed to the announcement in an another place in this issue, of a special meeting of the Board of Trade to be held in the council chamber next Friday evening, Nov. 29th, to consider and discuss plans for the promotion of the Trent Valley Canal scheme, in view of the meeting of the commission next week. It is to be hoped there will be a large attendance of the public as this matter is of the last importance to Peterborough.

Take the First Chance.
J. Hackett's great cost clearing sale has been a remarkable success; the wonderful value given, has brought buyers in battalions who have eagerly sought the bargains presented. There is still a $16,000 stock of first class goods to select from. The first comer will get the best choice. The goods must be sold by the first of January, and as this is an absolute clearing sale no more will be purchased to assort the present stock. Everything goes just as it is. First class goods at cost prices. Come early and secure the best choice. duf

"The Lash—Anger vs. Prudence."
Anger does not usually take counsel with prudence. But what has that to do with "Kidd" selling a good fitting all wool overcoat for $4.95, worth $10, at 372 George street? Echo answers, What?

The Retaliatory Whipping.
It is the nature of revenge that the retaliatory act—or measure—usually goes beyond that which calls it forth. "Kidd" is now having sweet revenge on the blowhard dealers, by selling a fine worsted overcoat for $6.90, worth $14, at 372 George street, two doors south of the shoe store.

A Hint.
A good farmer is better than a poor doctor, a good horseshoer is better than a poor bishop, and "Kidd" is a greater benefactor to the working man than a high toned tailor with forty prices.

Morrow's Teas.
Try W. J. Morrow's beautiful blends of Black Tea, Fine Hysons and Japans, acknowledged to be the finest in town. California Dried Fruits, self rising Buckwheat, silver Spanish Onions, very cheap by the grate. Fine Dried Apples; and all wishing a good cup of coffee, should not fail to try our fresh ground. Wait and see you have it ground fresh.

Just, Think!
17 lbs sugar for $1.00; 8 bars electric soap for 25c., 4 lbs raisins only 25c., best roller flour, per 100 lbs., $2.50; all kinds of meals kept in stock, cheap. Everything is bought for cash, and will be sold cheap. As we are the largest dealers in teas, we can afford to sell at what others buy at, and for the next 30 days will offer 60c. tea for 50c., 50c. tea for 40c., 40c. tea for 30c., 30c. tea for 20c., and will throw in 3 lbs. for $1.00. JOHN HAGGART, d Auctioneer.

Hymeneal.
Quite an audience of spectators assembled in the Murray Street Baptist Church yesterday afternoon to witness the marriage of Mr. C. J. Taber, of the Lock Works, to Miss Kate O'Brien, daughter of Mr. John O'Brien. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. C. Parker, Mr. R. Calvert assisting the groom and the bride's sister, Miss Annie O'Brien, acting as bridesmaid. The wedding took place about half-past four o'clock, and the young couple were immediately driven to the G.T.R. station, where the train was taken for Toronto. The presents to the bride were, of course, numerous and elegant, while the popularity of the groom amongst the employees of the Lock Works was tangibly expressed in their gift of a purse of money. Mr. and Mrs. Taber have the heartiest congratulations of a large circle of friends. They will return to town in a few days.

Another Big Snap!
$5 H. LeBrun & Co. have struck another rich mine. They have bought an additional 200 Storm Overcoats for cash, to sell at FIVE dollars each. Just $5 fancy! You never could make them $5 for the money; but the man wanted $5 the money and we got the lot. They $5 are splendid value—every one of them $5 —and you needn't be afraid to $5 buy them. They're not bankrupt $5 goods. They are all well made, of $5 heavy, all-wool tweed, lined with $5 heavy wool lining and trimmed and $5 finished extra well. Good enough for $5 anybody to wear on Sunday or any $5 other day. Come and see them for $5 yourselves, and tell your neighbors they $5 are as good as we advertise. Parents, $5 bring your boys with you. No such $5 bargains have been offered in the last $5 five years!

Endeavor Society.
A large number attended the open meeting of the Charlotte street Methodist Endeavor Society last evening. The opening hymn "Onward Christian Soldiers," was sung, after which the chairman, Mr. T. Barrie, gave a very interesting address. The following programme was rendered:—

Solo—Pensive old Piano.....Miss Clarke
Reading—Impressions of Niagara Falls...Mr T Barrie
Instrumental selection.....Mr Geo Schneider
Song—The River Dee.....Miss Fawcett
Vocal duet—We're Growing old Together. The Misses Mitchell
Instrumental selection (encored).....The Misses Lumsden
Solo—Far Away.....Miss Stephens

The cosmopolitan composition competition proved a very enjoyable part of the programme. The President said that he would ask someone in the audience to name a page from a book he held in his hand, from which he would select ten words—nouns. These words the audience were to copy on slips of paper, which had been placed around among the members. They were to make use of any adjectives, adverbs, prepositions or verbs in order to complete their editorials, that they thought proper; but they were to follow in rotation. The Chairman's selections were as follows:—Subject — opinion; grave— situation; felicity—sword; discourse—politics; humanity—happiness. We give two or paragraphs among the many that were handed in to the president for reading aloud to the audience:—

"I am pleased to say that the subject in my opinion does not put us in a grave situation, nor does it disturb our natural felicity, so that we are tempted to use a sword to give emphasis to our discourse on politics as regards humanity and personal happiness. Here is another:—"The subject on which I hold a strong opinion is grave, and the situation alarming. I have experienced no felicity; and my old sword, long abandoned, I will have to take up again to decide the discourse. I fail yet to see how politics can give humanity much happiness." And still another:—"The subject under discussion was proposed by one whose opinion was worthy of consideration. The grave situation of things, on this occasion is not one of felicity, but it is "so hard" to discourse politics to humanity that I confess it is better to leave matters as they are rather than destroy the happiness of our Society." The evening entertainment was much enjoyed by everyone. At 10 p.m. the audience sang "God Save the Queen" and dispersed.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

We have had seasons of refreshing at the meetings held this week for prayer and consecration. Both the afternoon and evening services have been well attended. It has indeed proved a fitting preparation for the coming evangelistic services.

Mr. Arthur Barnes, evangelist, London, Eng., will commence his work among us on Thursday afternoon at 3.30, giving a Bible reading, and at 8 p.m. gospel talk to men. The afternoon services will be for all; evening for men. Christians will be much in prayer for the services. "According to our faith be it unto us."

The mercy of the Lord endureth forever towards us in our work. An unknown friend sent us a handsome framed motto for our rooms, with a very helpful note attached, yesterday. This morning a large package came by express from Mr. Morse, Toronto, (a great friend of every Christian word and work), containing tracts, gospel stories and illuminated Scripture texts, to be used in our work among young men. We thank them sincerely, knowing God will bless them richly, "inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of these little ones, ye have done it unto Me."

Police Court.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 27.

The man Chas. Hill, who was arrested last week for stealing three coats from a Grand Trunk train, to which he pleaded guilty when arraigned, was this morning sentenced to one year in the Central Prison at hard labor.

Five boys, of respectable parentage, were charged with disorderly conduct last Sunday. These are the boys who were raising such a disturbance in an old building on Louis street and were chased out by the Chief. The boys said they were only playing leapfrog, but the evidence of some of the neighbors went to show that they were also shouting and using foul language. The magistrate said he would have to punish the boys and make an example of them, as he had found words of warning to be insufficient. A fine of $2 was imposed on each boy, to be paid in twenty-four hours or go to gaol.

A soft-minded fellow giving the name of David Stenson was arrested yesterday as a vagrant. This morning when brought before the magistrate he whined and cried like a frightened child, and begged to be let go home to his father, who lived near Omemee. The magistrate thought it a pity for him to go home in his present condition, so he was sent up to gaol for a week to get cleaned up, after which the magistrate instructed him he was to make a bee line for his father's farm.

A Handsome Store.

Mr. W. R. Greatrex in His New Drug Store on Hunter Street—A Brief Description of the Place of Business.

One of the neatest and nobbiest drug stores between Toronto and Montreal is that of Mr. W. R. Greatrex, 144 Hunter street. Mr. Greatrex has occupied it for about a month past, but as all the projected improvements were not made at the time of his occupation, only brief mention was made of the fact. Now, however, the store is about complete, and it gives the EXAMINER pleasure to notice one of the handsomest places of business in town. Mr. Greatrex has reason to feel proud of it, and no doubt his enterprise in undertaking such a large expense in order to make his store comfortable and attractive, and supply it with a new and full stock of drugs, medicines and fancy toilet articles, will meet with its just reward in a large and lucrative patronage. Mr. Greatrex is well known in Peterborough, having for a number of years been in Mr. Walsh's drug store, and being a regularly qualified and thoroughly competent pharmaceutical chemist and druggist, can reasonably look for encouragement in his efforts to establish himself in business. His stand is well located and the handsome store is attractive in itself.

THE INTERIOR

is finished in polished mahogany, the work of Mr. A. Clegg. There are counters running down the side of the store, two of which are occupied by stylish show cases made to match the other woodwork, from Millichamp, of Toronto. The middle counter is used for serving customers. Against the wall behind the counter is the shelving, which surmounts a deep tier of labelled drawers for drugs. The shelves are filled with handsome display bottles, with inlaid labels, procured from Whitehall, Tatum & Co., New York. On the other side of the store the wall is hidden by high cup board casing, with glass doors for the better display of goods. In the middle of the fixtures against each wall, and facing each other, are large British plate mirrors, while at the end of the store is a handsome dispensary case, in which also is set a large mirror. The highly polished mahogany wood, glittering bottles and mirrors and generally clean and new appearance of everything, gives the store a bright and attractive appearance. The design of the dispensary case is taken from one of the finest drug stores in New York, and in fact every feature of the charmingly finished interior is patterned from in store architecture. The walls and ceiling are beautifully adorned with a light colored paper, which sets off the dark woodwork in striking contrast. The floor will be laid with linoleum as soon as possible. This is the only portion of the appurtenances that is not yet supplied

The store is well lighted during the day by a large plate glass front, which also gives splendid display accommodation. At night the incandescent electric light will furnish illumination.

Mr. Greatrex carries a large and complete stock of drugs and medicines, and, besides, has on hand an assortment of toilet goods and fancy articles. His perfumes cannot be beaten, and he has in stock also a full collection of Wyeth's preparations. The public will find Mr. Greatrex an affable, courteous and capable caterer to the wants of the people in his line, and his store being so elegant and his stock so complete, his prospects for doing a large business are most assuring.

A Fine Fur Business.

Fairweather & Co.'s Elegant and Commodious Premises—A Look Through the Establishment.

A visitor cannot fail to be astonished and delighted by an inspection of Fairweather & Co's fur store and manufactory at the corner of George and Simcoe streets. An EXAMINER reporter was shown through the large establishment Tuesday afternoon. The store is one of the best in Canada, and is, in fact, unsurpassed by any in the large cities. The store is filled with a rich and complete assortment of the best and most stylish manufactured goods. But Fairweather & Co. do not merely do a retail trade, but a considerable jobbing business besides. The scribe saw goods which were being shipped to leading merchants in Port Hope, Campbellford and other places. This fact indisputably proves that Fairweather & Co. are able to successfully compete against the large wholesale houses of Montreal and Toronto. They turn out the finest goods procurable, and at as low prices as they can be purchased for anywhere. All the goods they manufacture are first class. The reporter was shown a beautiful ladies' Alaska seal Newmarket, which sold for $300, fur-lined and fur overcoats and other large goods, as well as the smaller fur articles of wear. Fairweather & Co. have almost a monopoly of the popular bear boas in Peterborough. They secured a number of bear-skins last season and held them over for this season's trade. The store is full to repletion of first-class fur goods, which are all manufactured on the premises. Fairweather & Co. have for the last three years been engaged in the manufacture of furs, and at the present time their large and well-lighted work-rooms on the second flat are occupied by a staff of thirteen employees and a skilful cutter. They have also three machines running, each of which does the work of six persons. The work-room will be enlarged by the addition of another room in the third flat. Fairweather & Co. buy the raw fur direct from the trappers and import their foreign furs, and every piece of fur goods sold in the store is made by them. Quite an industry has thus sprung up in Peterborough.

Directly over the store, on the second flat, is a spacious show-room and fitting-room. It is a quiet, comfortable spot, where ladies can carefully inspect goods and fit them on. The display-room is well stocked with fancy fur goods.

The basement is used for receiving the raw furs and for shipping orders. As already stated, Fairweather & Co. buy a large quantity of raw fur, while their jobbing trade is a prominent feature of their business. The basement is an important portion of the establishment.

Altogether Fairweather & Co. can claim to have one of the largest and best equipped fur manufacturing businesses in the Dominion. They invite the public to call and inspect their goods. Satisfaction is guaranteed. dw

SHORT AND SWEET, BUT TRUTHFUL.

An Honest Offer that all can Plainly Understand, and that People can Respect and put Confidence in.

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 22nd, 1889.

GENTLEMEN:—

We want to say a few words to you just now. They will be plain and to the point; better still—they will be truthful, and therefore worth reading:—

1st.—We have a large stock of brand-new tailor-made Overcoats for Men and Boys. They are made of honest cloth, well sewed, and stylishly got up, and will fit and wear as well as if you left your measure—not the kind they make up for bankrupt stocks.

2nd.—You can have your pick of any of these Overcoats for Less Money than you can buy a similar coat that may be offered to you by any other dealer in Ontario.

3rd.—You are at liberty to look through all the stores in Town and then come to the City Clothing Store, when we will undertake to fit you Properly with a Better Overcoat, at a Less price than any bona fide offer that may have been made to you.

4th.—We will, likewise, agree to make the same offer hold good for Suits of Clothing, Coat, Pants or Vests, and include Scotch and Canadian Woollen Underwear in the bargain.

5th.—If you want to leave your Measure for a Suit or Overcoat, the same offer holds good in this department also.

6th.—This offer will stand until the middle of January, 1890, when we expect to have clothed every man and boy who intends buying clothing this winter, who is shrewd enough to know the difference between wool and shoddy. We mean business.

Respectfully yours,

H. LEBRUN & CO.

"Disturbed de Dance."

The neighborhood of Murray street, opposite the drill shed, was lurid last night. A dance was held in one of the houses, and before the midnight orgies were brought to an abrupt termination by the appearance of the police, the place became a perfect Bedlam. It was a rough and noisy affair all through, so rough indeed that some "old campaigners," who had been through the war on many other occasions, were obliged to retire from the field. There was no sleep for those living in the vicinity. About one o'clock matters came to a crisis. The police were called in by the occupants of the house, who said a party of roughs who were not admitted were tearing down the building. On the way up the officers met the fiddler of party, who was going home badly scared. He said one of the fellows had insulted a girl and she had snatched up a large butcher knife which lay convenient to her grasp and hurled it at her insulter. It fortunately missed its mark, but the weapon just glanced past the fidd'e's nose and stuck in the wall behind him. The fiddler made his escape in a hurry, and so the dancing came to an end. When the police arrived the place was in darkness. The front door of the house was lying near the side-walk. The back door was off its hinges; windows, lamps and furniture were broken. The brick chimney-tops had been torn off and some of the bricks thrown down the chimney into the house. All was dark inside save for the light of a single match held aloft by one of the young men, but the whole party were enjoying each other's company in spite of the lack of illumination. When the police appeared there was a general scampering. The back door was carried away by the rush, and the greater part of the dancers disappeared as if my magic. A lamp was, however, lighted and then it was seen that a few of the festive pleasure seekers had not allowed their enjoyment of the occasion to be interrupted by such a trivial occurrence as a raid of the police. They sat about in pairs or threes, and when requested by the officers to evacuate, they replied they "didn't know as they had to." But they had to nevertheless, and soon the house was cleared of the last of the party.

—St. Andrew's Decoration Committee will meet to night for business.

IS YOUR BAKING POWDER PURE?

Do its Manufacturers Publish all the Ingredients Used?

IS IT FREE FROM AMMONIA?

As is well known, ammonia is unhealthful in food, and dries up the bread material.

Protection to consumers of food compounds lies in their ability to choose those made from healthful substances. Unless manufacturers publish just what their baking powder is made of, do not use their goods, but buy instead

VOL. IX. NO. 125 PETERBOROUGH, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1889. PRICE TWO CENTS.

TWO WEEKS OF SPEECHES

THE OUTLOOK IN THE CRONIN MURDER TRIAL.

The State will Ascribe the Crime to the Clan and the Defence Will Claim that No Case Has Been Made Out.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Allowing for the speeches of counsel the indications are that the Cronin case will not be in the charge of the jury before Dec. 10 or 11. In the arguments on behalf of the State the alleged antagonism and bitter feeling shown by the defendants towards Dr. Cronin will be traced back to Feb. 8, on which night at a meeting of Camp 20 of the Clan na Gael, Captain O'Connor testified he stated he had heard in another camp a minority report of the committee appointed to try the old executive committee. The report stated that $100,000 of the funds of the United Brotherhood had been embezzled by the triangle, that Irish patriots had been sent from this country to England by the Executive and no attack given to the British authorities which resulted in the patriots being imprisoned, and that instead of looking for spies they had better investigate the triangle.

Mr. Foster's defense for Beggs will be unquestionably that the State has offered no proof to implicate his client in any conspiracy relative to the death of Dr. Cronin or otherwise, and that there is an inadequacy of proof to hold him. Mr. Foster has taken no exceptions to the rulings of the Court all through the case and has made no objection to any evidence given, which will place his client in a very unenviable position should the jury convict.

The counsel for the other prisoners will argue that insufficient evidence has been adduced to show their clients were implicated in the crime. In addition they will claim an alibi.

A DEAR LESSON.

But Farmer Zavitz Will Sign No More Clothes Line Certificates.

MT. THOMAS, Nov. 27. Noah Zavitz, farmer, township of Yarmouth, near Sparta, is the first Elgin farmer so far reported to have been taken in by the patent wire clothes line racket. Some days ago a stranger arrived at Mr. Zavitz' place, and proceeded to show his wire clothes line. Mr. Zavitz said he did not want any, but the agent said he was going to string some at his place anyway, so that the neighboring farmers could come around and see it for themselves. After stringing the wire the agent presented a paper for Mr. Zavitz to sign stating that it was a certificate that the wire was strung on his premises. He wanted this he said to show the farmers that when he told them the wire was there they would not think he was sending them on a fool's errand. Mr. Zavitz signed this paper, and three days after another man came along with some 200 feet of wire clothes line, which he said Mr. Zavitz had ordered. Mr. Zavitz protested that he had not ordered the wire, and would not pay for it, but the second stranger said he had, and he would leave the wire and make him pay for it, producing an order which Mr. Zavitz had signed, agreeing to purchase 200 feet of the wire per month for twelve months, at 3 cents per foot, which would make $1.50 per month or $18.00 for the whole order. The wire is said to be worth about ¼ cent per foot. Mr. Zavitz came to town and consulted a solicitor who advised him to fight the claim, but he evidently thought the easiest way out was the best and settled the claim with the wire man by paying them $18.5 in hard cash.

PROCUL ESTE, PROFANI.

Reporters Excluded from Hamilton's Railway Committee Meetings.

HAMILTON, Nov. 27. The Railway Committee's meeting to-day was productive of no solution of the difficulties that now surround the question of a right of way through the city. It was decided to ask President Van Horne and General Manager Hickson to meet the committee at an early date. Future meetings will be held in private and no reporters will be permitted to attend.

Frank Staunton was charged at the Police Court to-day with keeping a house of ill-fame. The details were horrible. Staunton rented a house and induced young girls to go there. They paid him $3 a week and half their earnings of their life of shame. It is known that there have been at least 20 girls there. Staunton was found guilty.

Leprosy Among the B. C. Celestials.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., Nov. 27.—The 1500 Chinese of New Westminster are as is their wont crowded into a space less than sufficient for 300 whites. At least one well defined case of leprosy exists among them. The most prominent symptoms are given as follows:—"Dusky red or livid tubercles of various sizes on the face, ears, and extremities; thickened state of the skin, a diminution of its sensibility, and in some cases falling off of the hair; ulceration of the surface and extreme fetor." Of all parts the face is particularly affected, and especially the nose and ears. Investigation shows that the disease is hereditary and contagious, and that poor living and lack of cleanliness intensify the disease.

Grave Robbery Near Tweed.

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 28.—On Monday night a house in Trenton occupied by Rev. Mr. Norman, an aged Methodist minister, was burned. He had a narrow escape and his wife broke her arm.

The body of S. Johnston, who was buried at Bethel near Tweed on Nov. 19, was stolen from the grave on Monday night.

Beached at the Credit.

PORT CREDIT, Nov. 28.—The schooner Annandale, from Rochester for Toronto with a cargo of coal for Elias Rogers & Co., went ashore here yesterday afternoon. A life boat was sent up from Toronto, but before its arrival the crew all got ashore. There is no insurance on the schooner.

The Gold Fever in Peru.

LIMA, Peru, Nov. 27.—The famous gold diggings and mines in the Province of Carabaya, Department of Puno, formerly worked extensively by the Spaniards and Portuguese but subsequently abandoned partly on account of attacks by savages and partly on account of revolution, are now exciting great interest. Many quartz and placer mines are being taken up. With the advance of civilization and the improvement of roads enterprise is taking rapid strides in that district where there are immense mineral and vegetable sources of wealth.

A Brazilian Delegate Withdraws.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Secretary Blaine called the International American Conference to order this afternoon and caused to be read a letter from Lafayette Rodrigues Pereira, one of the delegates from Brazil, announcing with regret that he felt unable to continue to act as a delegate owing to the changed condition of affairs in his country.

Mr Colby Sworn In.

OTTAWA, Nov. 27. Mr. C. C. Colby, M. P. for Stanstead, this afternoon was sworn into the Cabinet as President of the Council and afterwards attended the sessions of that body.

A Blaze at Cornwall.

CORNWALL, Nov. 27.—The Cornwall steamboating works were burned to the ground at 10 o'clock to-night. The cause of the fire is unknown. The loss is about $4000, insurance $1500.

AN ANCIENT PALACE.

Discovery of a Remarkable Ruin in Southern Colorado.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 27. Frederick H. Chapin and Charles O. Howard have recently returned from Southern Colorado. In Mancos Cañon and its tributaries across the explored extensive ruins of cliff dwellings, many still undiscovered, most of them being their own discovery. Among them was a palace or fortress under an overhanging cliff and above a steep incline almost inaccessible. This palace is 425 feet long, and on the ground floor 124 rooms are traceable. It is 80 feet high and would hold over a thousand people. The structure is massive work with mortar. No metal was found about the buildings. There is no evidence of what sort of people lived there or when they left, though the explorers estimate that the ruins are 600 years old or more. They brought home many photographs. The ruins in that locality were first discovered last December by Richard Wetherill, a ranchman of Mancos.

Enlisted by a Junior Partner.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. A meeting of the creditors of the failed firm of Marvin Brown & Co. was held this afternoon. The attorneys for Brown stated that Edwin Brown, son of Marvin Brown, one of the partners, had robbed the firm of $100,000 and had absconded. The attorneys for Brown also stated that Edwin Brown is the Adie-

TRANSATLANTIC NEWS.

LORD SALISBURY'S UTTERANCES AT NOTTINGHAM.

The New South Wales Parliament Favors Australian Federation—A Riot in the Hungarian Diet.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—During the proceedings in the Conservative conference at Nottingham, Lord Salisbury condemned the declaration recently made by Lord Rosebery at the Liberal meeting in Glasgow, that the reform of the House of Lords must be of a drastic character, and said the declaration was a rash one. If Lord Rosebery meant that the House of Lords ought to contain an elected element superior to the hereditary members, that necessarily involved an encroachment upon the rights and privileges of the House of Commons. Detailed criticism upon Lord Rosebery's plan, Lord Salisbury said was needless until his scheme was fully stated. Referring to the progress of the Home Rule idea to federate England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, Lord Salisbury said he considered the application of such a scheme to Great Britain as utterly chimerical.

A Tumult in the Hungarian Diet.

BUDA-PESTH, Nov. 27.—During the discussion of the Budget in the Lower House of the Diet to-day the Opposition raised a tumult. The disorder became so great that Premier Tisza, who was speaking at the time, was obliged to desist. The President of the House three times demanded order but in vain.

Roumania's Parliament Opened.

BUCHAREST, Nov. 27. Parliament was opened to-day by King Charles who in his speech affirmed Roumania's good relations with all the powers.

Prof. Bryce's Defence.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Prof. Bryce has delivered his defense in the libel suit brought against him by ex-Mayor A. Oakey Hall of New York. He justifies his course, saying he was privileged to make a fair comment, which was true in substance and in fact and necessary in the interests of historical truth. Mr. Bryce will be defended by Sir Charles Russell.

Delicate Consideration for Pedro.

LISBON, Nov. 27.—The day after Dom Pedro left Rio Janeiro the provisional government of Brazil telegraphed to the Brazilian minister here directing him upon the ex-Emperor's arrival to tender him a general reception. The Brazilian colony here think this action is dictated by a delicate consideration on the part of the provisional government towards Dom Pedro. Several of the Brazilian ministers at European courts are coming to take part in the reception to the dethroned Emperor.

Australian Federation Favored.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Nov. 27.—In reply to the Governor's speech at the opening of the Parliament both Houses adopted an address expressing trust that the present discussion of the subject of federation by the Colonies would lead to the creation of a federal Australia on the basis of mutual good will and enduring friendship.

Stanley's Future.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The Times says there is a strong probability that both Stanley and Emin Pasha will enter the service of the British East Africa company, and that Emin's companions will settle in the company's territory. The company deserves more than the passive approval of the Government. The Indian Government ought to be induced to allow natives to emigrate to Africa in order to overcome the difficulty in procuring labor.

Buying Smokeless Cartridges.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—It is estimated that by March Italy will have 40,000,000 smokeless cartridges.

Dance for the Goose, etc.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—Before the election bureau to-day M. Clemenceau contended that the revising committee was not competent to decide that Boulanger's notice of candidacy was invalid and that the Chamber had no right to decide that Joffrin was elected when he had a minority of the votes. The bureau, by 10 to 18, decided that Joffrin was not elected and favored annulling the votes cast for Boulanger.

Portugal's Claims.

LISBON, Nov. 27.—It is stated the Portuguese Government will reply immediately to Lord Salisbury's protest regarding Portugal's claim to countries north and south of the Yambesi River. Portugal justifies her possession on the ground of discovery and exploitation.

German Soldiers for Africa.

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—The invitation to the Guards regiments to volunteer for service in east and southwest Africa is being liberally responded to.

A Strong Case Against Mousa Bey.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 27.—This was the second day of the trial of Mousa Bey. The general opinion is that a strong prima facie case has been made out against him.

A Startling Rumor.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 28. It is rumored here that the Ameer of Afghanistan is dead.

To Accompany Mgr Satolli.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Father Howlett, a young Irish priest, formerly a pupil in the Academy of Nobles in Rome, will accompany Mgr. Satolli on his mission in Ireland.

To Reform Crete.

CONSTANTINOPLE Nov. 28.—It is stated that Admiral Ratib in addition to conveying the decree of amnesty to Crete carries a firman providing for administrative reform including a reduction of the numbers of deputies in the Cretan Assembly and a reduction in taxation.

A MINNESOTA WAVE.

Blizzards and Snowstorms Sweeping Down From the Northwest.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 27.—At Litchfield, Minn., a genuine blizzard set in this morning. The snow has fallen to the depth of 3 inches and is drifting badly. The weather is quite cold.

Unpleasant Indications.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Lieut. Thompson, the indication officer of the signal service bureau, said to-night the weather map resembled more closely than he has ever known before the conditions that existed on the night preceding the great blizzard a year ago last March. Out in Dakota the thermometer is already down to 14 degrees below zero and he says it will possibly go down to 25 or more to-night.

THE SCAFFOLD ERECTED.

On Which Harvey is to Die at 8 O'clock Friday Morning—Final Preparations.

GUELPH, Nov. 27.—The execution of Wm. H. Harvey for the murder of his wife and two daughters will take place in the jail yard here at 8 o'clock Friday morning. The demeanor of the condemned man has not changed in any respect since he was told that the sentence of death would be carried out. So far from dreading death he seemed to welcome it as a release from his troubles in this world. For a man but a few hours distant from his execution, he displays an extraordinary amount of nerve and hardihood. He eats with apparent relish and sleeps quite soundly. He talks incessantly about his son, in whom he seems to be literally wrapped up, but when asked about the tragedy relapses into silence merely saying, "It is all a blank to me. I remember nothing at all about it."

To-day the scaffold was placed in its position in the jail yard. Harvey's corridor looks out upon a small yard apart from the general enclosure and of course he could not see the ghastly preparations, although he knew very well what was going on. Of the four applications for the position of executioner, two from Ottawa, one from Whitby and one from Toronto, that of the Toronto man was accepted. He has had no previous experience but the apparatus will be thoroughly tested to-morrow to make sure that no bungling occurs.

The Sheriff has recommended to the Government to allow the body to be delivered to Harvey's friends and not buried in the jail yard. Harvey yesterday gave Dr. O'Reilly, inspector of prisons, the addresses of friends in England which will probably be the means of clearing up Harvey's previous history which so far has been a mystery.

Willie Harvey, son of the condemned man, arrived in the city this afternoon at 3 o'clock, accompanied by a friend, and had an affecting farewell interview with the prisoner. The most rigid surveillance is kept up over the condemned man, his every act being closely watched to prevent the possibility of suicide.

ARCHBISHOP WALSH.

RIGHT ROYALLY WELCOMED BY TORONTO'S CATHOLICS.

Rampant Hoodlums Throw Stones and Brickbats—His Grace Injured—A St. Louis Boodler Bagged.

TORONTO, Nov. 26.—Yesterday was a high and notable day in connection with Toronto Roman Catholicism. Archbishop Walsh, formerly of Toronto, late of London, had an enthusiastic reception by the bishops and laity of the Toronto diocese. It was a busy day for His Grace. The clergy of the London diocese presented him with an address and a purse of $3000 with which to purchase an archiepiscopal outfit. A banquet followed and headed by the local battalion band there was a triumphal march to the Station. The principal dignitaries of the London diocese accompanied the new Archbishop to Toronto and there were also many priests from Hamilton, St. Catharines and adjacent places. The proceedings at the Queen City consisted of a procession to St. Michael's Cathedral where there was a special service and presentation of addresses by the city and clergy to which His Grace eloquently replied. At the evening banquet the principal dignitaries of the Catholic Church in Ontario and Quebec were present. The only drawback to the satisfactory nature of the day's proceedings was the lawless behavior of a gang of ruffians who cursed the Pope and all his followers, and hurled brickbats and mud at the carriages in which were His Grace and associates. The Archbishop on alighting was struck with one of these missiles and received injury to the arm from the elbow to the wrist. In expectation of disturbance nearly the whole police force were on duty and the remarkable sequel is that not a single arrest was made.

"Gone where the woodbine twineth" is the heading in a St. Louis paper of recent date over the particulars of the flight of a young man of good family named John Wallace Jones, who was employed as ticket clerk in the office of the Missouri Pacific Railway office in that city. It is alleged that he got away with over $3000 belonging to the railway company, and about $1000 belonging to other parties. Detective Furlong, railway detective, followed Jones and found him yesterday morning at the Arlington Hotel in this city. Jones knew that he could not be extradited, and for a time he was quite independent. Furlong got a city detective, and together they visited Jones in his quiet retreat. He consented to accompany the two officers to detective headquarters. There the Canadian law was explained for the benefit of Jones. He was informed that he was in danger of spending seven years in a Canadian prison. He decided to go back and left by the afternoon train. The family of Jones want him back, and it is likely the money will be repaid.

Yesterday afternoon Judge Macdougall made an order admitting to bail Thomas Moore, Stuart White, Daniel Donohoe and Thomas Edwards, the men indicted for manslaughter by the coroner's jury in the inquest concerning the death of Henry Leach, who was killed at the Pape avenue railway crossing. Bail was fixed at $2000 for each prisoner and two sureties in $1000 each. The men were liberated a short time after the order was made. Hon. Frank Smith and Major Carlaw, of the Grand Trunk Railway, becoming bondsmen for the four. Crown Attorney Badgerow said that he had not yet made up his mind regarding what course he would pursue in the case of Charles H. Corton, agent, and Edmund Wragge, division superintendent of the Grand Trunk Railway, whom the jury recommended should be indicted on a charge of manslaughter.

Robert Pelling and John Knight and two of the latters children were poisoned by drinking cheap tea. The physicians think there was bribbane in the draught, but as there is considerable mystery connected with the affair an investigation will be held.

A young man named A. S. Jenkins, was arrested yesterday on charges of forgery and fraud. It is alleged that Jenkins is the author of many rogue orders on city merchants that have been circulated and afterwards reported to the police. Jenkins had enough watches in his possession to set him up as a pedler.

WHIPPED THE SCHOOLMASTER.

A Flogger Flogged—The Latest Sensation at Peterboro.

PETERBORO, Nov. 27.—The reigning sensation here is the cowhiding of F. C. Colbeck of the Collegiate Institute staff by J. R. McWilliams, a member of the Board of Education. The cause of the assault was a severe castigation administered by Mr. Colbeck to Mr. McWilliams' 12-year-old son Victor on Friday. The irate parent nursed his wrath until Monday when he visited the Institute armed with a heavy raw-hide riding whip and proceeded to drag down the teacher in the most approved style, the latter offering little resistance.

Later in the day Mr. Colbeck swore out an information against Mr. McWilliams for assault and the case came up for hearing before Police Magistrate Dumble yesterday morning. The defendant was not present but his counsel, Mr. W. A. Stratton, appeared and objected to the trial of the case before Mr. Dumble on the ground that the latter as chairman of the Advisory Committee of the Board of Education, was practically the prosecutor in the case. The case was finally enlarged until Monday next.

Mr. McWilliams has announced his intention of taking legal action against Mr. Colbeck for the alleged injury inflicted upon his son, who is said to be a delicate and studious lad, so that it would seem that the affair will lead to a good deal of legal proceedings. Mr. McWilliams will not go to the Police Court, but will seek to have Mr. Colbeck indicted for assault by the grand jury at the Court of Sessions which open here on Dec. 10.

CANADIANS Work Too Hard!

The Result is Sleeplessness, Nervousness and a Broken-Down System, often

Ending in Insanity.

Thousands of overworked business men, wearied brain-workers industrious mechanics, and tried women, in all parts of the Dominion are to-day in a terrible position. Their nerves are weak, digestion poor, head aching, and they cannot sleep, work or live in comfort. This is what fills our Insane Asylums. This is the cause of that terrible Parasis Before it is too late, use Dr. Phelps' wonderful discovery, Paine's Celery Compound. It removes the results of overwork, restores strength, renews vitality, regulates the whole system, and tones up the overworked brain and body. Do not despair, but use this wonderful remedy, and be restored to health and happiness, the same as was Mr. John L. Brodie, of Montreal, who writes: "I have great pleasure in recommending your Paine's Celery Compound. My system was run down and I was not fit for business, could not sleep well at night and was nervous. I commenced taking Paine's Celery Compound and improved immediately. I am now able to transact my business and endure any amount of excitement without bad effect."

Paine's Celery Compound can be purchased at any druggist's for one dollar a bottle. If he should not have it on hand, order direct from WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Montreal.

The Daily Examiner.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1889

LORD SALISBURY in a recent speech said that among other desirable things was assistance to enable workingmen to leave the country. The British premier should acquire the Canadian Government plan, it has been found to work with remarkable success.

SIR WILLIAM VERNON HARCOURT, the British statesman, is advocating the "one man one vote" principle for Great Britian. Commenting on this announcement the Globe remarks:—"One man one vote" is coming to the front in British politics. The principle was adopted by the Mowat Government four years ago, while the Dominion Franchise Bill contains every facility for the making of faggot votes.

ST. ANDREW'S UNIVERSITY, called by the London News "the oldest and most interesting and poorest of Scotch Universities," has received a legacy of £100,000 from an old graduate, John Berry, who made a fortune in Australia. In fact, John left his beautiful mother a round quarter of a million, but his generosity was tempered by his brother, to whom he gave the power of modifying the gift. Hitherto the professors of St. Andrew's have been poorly paid, and it has even been hinted—but this is probably a little humorous exaggeration—that they have been paid partly in stringy fowls. It is to be hoped that as the "plain living" improves, the "high thinking" will not suffer a decline.

THE subject of prison reform will probably engage the attention of the Ontario Legislature next session. A Prison Reform Conference was held in Toronto on Tuesday to discuss matters affecting prisons, with a view to inducing the Ontario Government to appoint a Commission to take evidence and report on the best method of reforming those committed to penal institutions and lessening the number of criminals in this Province. Some fifty delegates were in attendance, representing the different denominations and associations interested in social reform. Among the changes advocated were the establishment of a reformatory for young men on the plan of that existing in Elmira, N. Y.; the compulsory education of children; separate confinement and trial of juvenile offenders; the establishment of Industrial Schools for children neglected by their parents; the conversion of the county gaol into a place of detention only, and the separate confinement of each prisoner. An influential Committee was appointed to bring the views of the Conference before the Ontario Government.

Mr. Wiman at Kingston.

Mr. Wiman has spoken often on the question of trade relations between Canada and the United States, but his stores of material on that topic seem exhaustless. In his speech at Kingston, reported fully in Tuesday's Globe, the most thorough student of the question will find new ideas, and old ideas clothed in a new and attractive garb. Mr. Wiman showed very clearly that as the prosperity of the United States is due to the large area within which trade is free, the extension of that Free Trade area by a treaty of Reciprocity with Canada would augment the prosperity of both countries. Free Trade being accomplished, the only motive for political union vanishes. Each country has grave political difficulties to solve, and neither will gain by adding the difficulties of the other to its own. Each, on the other hand, will gain by closely watching the career of its neighbor, by avoiding its mistakes and by following its example where the example is good.

In Canada the farmer feels the bad effects of a high tariff while he has not that which compensates the American farmer for the high tariff, namely, the home market of sixty million people. The high tariff and the high price of labor prevent Canada from competing in the British market with Australia, India, and the countries of South America. The tariff will deprive him of the full advantage of the market which lies at his door. Yet that this is his natural market is plainly shown by the fact that even with the tariff wall, more than half of the exports of Canada have hitherto been taken by the United States.

Mr. Wiman thinks that the Canadian farmer cannot obtain the advantage of Reciprocity unless we consent to admit American manufactures free of duty. But Reciprocity in manufactures is not the price which the farmer will pay for Reciprocity in natural products. On the contrary, it is of itself a great additional item. The fear that Canadian manufactures would suffer from the change appears to be groundless. Canadians have emigrated to the United States in hundreds of thousands, and they have always shown themselves thoroughly capable of holding their own.

Peculiarities of the Hair.

There are times when all persons require to pay some particular attention to the hair. To rehabilate the life an energy of the roots is a simple matter if taken in time. Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic will do the work, it works in accordance with nature, supplys fresh nourishment to the glands hungry, the hair luxuriant and natural in shade. Be sure to get, you cannot afford to miss it. Every druggist sells it. It is money well spent. See Dorenwends advertisement in another column.

Found at Last.

FOR many years I suffered from croup but at last found a remedy for it in Hagyard's Yellow Oil, so that I am now free from croup entirely, and recommend Yellow Oil to all others who suffer from the same disease.

Commercial.

The amount of wheat on passage to Great Britain and the Continent decreased 350,000 bushels the past week, and the amount now is 17,776,000 bushels as compared with 24,800,000 bushels at the corresponding date of last year.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26—Wheat was strong today, also shady to local shorts covering, influenced by bullish advices from the Northwest and public cables from Europe being quiet and steady and reporting a decrease of 360,000 bush. on passage. Stocks in the United Kingdom are 6,350,000 bush. less than a year ago, and the available supply 24,000,000 less. Exports from Russia this season are 11,000,000 bush. less than for the same period last year. The Continent is reported in a similar position to England all foreshadowing a good export demand for our wheat during the winter. Some orders are in hand here close to market prices. There is considerable December still to turn over, and until this is done the market is liable to setbacks unless the news becomes so strong as to cause a stampede among larger shorts first.

When, from any cause, the digestive and secretory organs become disordered, they may be stimulated to healthy action by the use of Ayer's Cathartic Pills. These Pills are prescribed by the best physicians, and are for sale at all the drug stores.

Wealth Cannot Buy It.

HEALTH is not purchasable. The saddened, soured dyspeptic, or the bilious billionaire suffer, despite their wealth. Burdock Blood Bitters is a rational remedy for dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, scrofula, debility, etc., and every complaint arising from indigestion or bad blood. 2w48d

Irritable People.

PEOPLE are often irritable by reason of some exasperating skin disease which destroys comfort and good humor. Salt Rheum, nettle rash, erysipelas, pimples, scald head, etc., are of this nature, they arise from bad blood, and can be cured by using Burdock Blood Bitters according to directions. 2w48d

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites

Is sold all over the world. It is far superior to plain Cod Liver Oil, palatable and easily digested. Dr. Martin Miles Stanton, Bear Banks, England, says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion, and taken it myself. It is palatable, efficient, and can be tolerated by almost anyone, especially where cod liver oil itself cannot be borne. Sold by all Druggists, 20c. and $1.00. w45eod

Thirty Years Ago.

OVER 30 years ago there was placed upon the market a remedy designed to relieve pain and capable of either external or internal use. From the first it has had wonderful success, and hundreds testify that Hagyard's Yellow Oil cures rheumatism, sore throat, sprains, croup, cuts, bruises and all pains and aches. 2w48d

The well known strengthening properties of iron, combined with other tonics and a most perfect nervine, are found in Carter's Iron Pills, which strengthen the nerves and body, and improve the blood and complexion. dw

PROMPT, POTENT AND PERMANENT results always come from the use of Milburns Aromatic Quinine Wine. dw

LONDON GOSSIP.

What Edmund Yates Has to Say about Royalty and Nobility.

LONDON, Nov. 26. The Queen had a beautiful day for leaving Balmoral, and the drive to Ballater in an open carriage must have made her regret that she had to come south. She looked very well both there and at Aberdeen and Perth. She was somewhat lame, both at Perth and Windsor, where she arrived on Thursday, and walked with a stick, but looked wonderfully well and none the worse for the long journey, and Lord Salisbury and the Prince of Wales expressed, after their return from Windsor, wonder at seeing how vigorous and well she was after the journey.

The visit of the German Emperor and Empress to Constantinople has cost the Sultan from first to last at least £150,000. All the preparations for the imperial guests were on a truly oriental scale of splendor, being characterized by the most lavish extravagances in every department. Emperor William is much blamed for having allowed the Empress to accept diamonds from the Sultan which are known to have cost upwards of £25,000. The total value of the half a ship load of superb presents which were carried to Berlin is estimated to be nearly £90,000. The Sultan showed the greatest complacency towards his guests, but the Emperor left Constantinople firmly convinced that Abdul Hamid's morbid dread of assassination rendered him practically insane.

The Duke and Duchess of Connaught will visit Japan before returning to England from India.

There is a rumor at Berlin and Vienna that the recent hurried visit of Archduke Albrecht to his niece, the Queen Regent of Spain, was caused by her intention to contract a second marriage shortly, to which all her Hapsburg relatives are strongly opposed. It is whispered, moreover, that the Queen's future husband is her kinsman, Archduke John Salvador, of Hapsburg-Lorraine, who having renounced his rank and titles is known to his friends as John Orth. Archduke John, however, is constantly being talked about in this way, for a few weeks ago there was a report that he would probably marry the Archduchess Stephanie.

The Opposition intends to attack the appointment of Lord Harris to Bombay, in the House of Commons, on the ground that it is irregular to fill such a post nearly six months in advance, and that when a vacancy really occurs it is possible that Lord Salisbury may not be in office.

I hear that Gladstone consented to add payment of members to the Separatists' program, and he is very strongly urged to announce the fact in Manchester next week. Prof. Stuart is understood to have officially communicated this new advance in Mr. Gladstone's views to the London Radical Association. Both this question and that of the eight-hour working day (Mr. Gladstone being at present only open to conviction as to the latter proposal) will lead to bitter quarrels in the Separatist camp, and therefore the greatest efforts are being made to prevent the eight-hour question from being brought up at Manchester.

The silly season is evidently raging with severity when we find Vanity Fair announcing that Mr. Gladstone is to receive a peerage and the St. James Gazette's infantile ingenuousness, which at least is worthy of sympathy, actually accepting this horrid nonsense as seriousness.

I hear that Lord Randolph Churchill is rather caught by the popularity of the new social program of the Liberals, and that he contemplates paying off old scores against the Tory democracy. Lord Randolph is a disappointed politician, and like most disappointed men, is disposed to be reckless and wayward. I believe the heads of his programme are reduction in taxation, household enfranchisement and better houses for the working classes. He proposes to attain the latter object by giving large powers to town and county councils.

A new accession in the ranks of the lady orats was made last week in Glasgow, when Lady Trevelyan appeared at a meeting called for the purpose of founding a woman's Liberal association at Bridgeton, near Glasgow, her husband's constituency. Lady Trevelyan made a short but excellent speech, and, though suffering from nervousness, acquitted herself very well. One of the best, if not the best, of all the lady speakers on the Conservative side is Dowager Lady Westbury. She was one of the principal speakers at the large Conservative gathering held in honor of Lord Chancellor and Lady Salisbury at Cardiff last week. Lady Westbury spoke for nearly half an hour.

Browning's new volume of poems will be ready on Dec. 12, and the poet laureate's collection will be ready at the same time.

EDMUND YATES.

HE LOST HIS POSITION.

Became Despondent and Took His Life - A Canadian's Suicide.

DETROIT, Nov. 28.—Peter Richards about nine years ago sold his photograph gallery at Berlin, Ont., and moved to Waterloo, Ont., where he secured a position with a first-class photographer. From there he moved to Detroit in 1885 with his wife and four children and secured a position with Hargreaves Manufacturing Company as finisher on picture frames. Three more children were born making seven in all. A short time ago he lost his position and became despondent. Yesterday afternoon while down town he bought some cyanide of potassium and went back to his house 918 Seventeenth street. Bidding his wife and children good-bye, about 8 o'clock he emptied the deadly powder into a glass of water, drank it, and fell senseless to the floor. A doctor was immediately summoned, but before he arrived Richards had breathed his last.

Congressman Randall's Illness.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—A Washington special to The Commercial Advertiser says Samuel J. Randall's son stated to-day that Mr. Randall has not been able to leave his bed for a month. He said his father is very sick. In fact the family entertains grave fears that it will be impossible for him to take part in the deliberations of the session at all.

The Daily Assault.

CHATTANOOGA, Nov. 28.—The East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia passenger train No. 4 left the track west of Greenville this morning on a heavy down grade, reverse curve. Engineer Drinn was fatally hurt, the express messenger and four passengers were badly hurt. The postal car and contents were destroyed.

The U. S. Skating Association.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. The National Skating Association held its annual meeting here last night. The championship races will take place at Newburg the last week of January. The distances will be 220 yards, one mile, five miles and ten miles. The figure skating will be on VanCourtlandt Lake in the end of January. Baron de Salis, a prominent patron of skating in Holland, telegraphed that he expected the Dennshue boys to compete in the races in Holland this winter.

Speculation Made Him a Thief.

MOUNT CARROLL, Ill., Nov. 28.—Last Thursday Abraham H. Lichty boarded a train bound for Chicago and since then all trace of him has been lost. It is reported he is a defaulter for $30,000 to $50,000. Speculation.

There was a severe fall in the prices of pig iron at Glasgow Tuesday.

"The Manly Art of Self Defence."

Giving "blow for blow," is often more thought of, than that other "art of self defence," which consists in defending one's own system from the assaults of disease and neglect. When dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, "liver complaint," jaundice, and the like lay hold of the system, the best defence is the immediate use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets; tiny, sugar-coated Granules made from concentrated vegetable extracts; one a dose. b

Hints for Winter.

WHEN attacked by a cough or cold, hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis, croup or influenza, the successful experience of thousands of families who have used it regularly for all such troubles during many years, suggests the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam—the old reliable household favorite. 2w484

Have You Thought About It?

Why suffer a single moment when you can get immediate relief from all internal or external pains by the use of Polson's Nerviline, the great pain cure. Nerviline has never been known to fail in a single case; it cannot fail, for it is a combination of the most powerful pain subduing remedies known. Try a 10 cent sample bottle of Nerviline. You will find Nerviline a sure cure for neuralgia, toothache, headache. Buy and try. Large bottles 25 cents, by all druggists. w48

A Corrupt System.

BAD blood may corrupt the entire system and cause scrofulous sores, swellings, ulcers, salt rheum, erysipelas, sore eyes and skin diseases, as shingles, tetter, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood and cleanses, tones and strengthens the entire system. 2w49d

AYER'S PILLS.

Sugar-Coated Cathartic

If the Liver becomes torpid, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which I suffered from General Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.—W. T. Brightney, Henderson, W. Va.

For years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than anything else, to my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, and Dyspepsia.—G. F. Miller, Attleborough, Mass.

Regulate

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not be without them.—Morris Gates, Downsville, N. Y.

I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice, and was so dangerously ill that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor.—John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebraska.

Last spring I suffered greatly from a troublesome humor on my side. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with Indigestion, and distressing pains in

The Bowels.

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured.—Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored.—Theodore Ealing, Richmond, Va.

SPLENDID BUILDING SITES

Have placed on the market

That Desirable and Well Situated Property

in the western part of the Town, just east of it lots as per plan annexed. This affords a splendid opportunity to secure a location for your home in a rapidly growing and in every respect the best part of the town. Two powerful cars are situated on Cedar and Hudson streets, only within a stone's throw of the West Ward School and a short distance of the post Church and the Hamilton Cars, Water st.

"ERIN COTTAGE," into the residence of Mr. Elias Thompson, is situated in the centre of the block. This property is for sale or rent to suit as a bargain. It is a desirable suburban residence.

The lots have good frontages on streets of the standard width and are splendidly located. From the upper lots is obtained one of the best views of the town with ample facilities for drainage.

Several fine dwellings are already contracted for to be built on these lots during this season.

Tradesmen and mechanics should inspect this property as it offers the best sites available and convenient to the business part of the town.

Clean Things.
Only those who make clean money and do clean things, win success. "Kidd" is prepared to supply you with ready made clothing, cheaper than any other dealer in Peterborough.

A Hint.
A good farmer is better than a poor doctor, a good horseshoer is better than a poor bishop, and "Kidd" is a greater benefactor to the working man than a high toned tailor with forty prices.

Correction.
It was incorrectly stated in yesterday's report of the result of the case tried at Cornwall re the beating of a Barnardo Home girl, that the case was dismissed "with costs." It should have read "without costs."

Making the Appointments.
The Committee on Appointments of the School Board meets to-night to make selections from the large number of applicants for positions on the teaching staff of the public schools. Inspector Tilley will confer with the committee in making the appointments.

The Retaliatory Whipping.
It is the nature of revenge that the retaliatory act—or measure—usually goes beyond that which calls it forth. "Kidd" is now having sweet revenge on the blow-hard dealers, by selling a fine worsted overcoat for $6.90, worth $14, at 372 George street, two doors south of the shoe store.

If you Want to Get a Piano Cheap.
Mr. J. W. Crosby will in a few days be prepared to rent or sell about one dozen good upright pianos nearly new. Also a choice lot of new pianos by the best makers, will be sold cheap for cash or on the instalment plan—covering four years. Great Chance for the Public.
At this season of the year the public will be interested in knowing that great bargains in groceries can be obtained at Rush Bros.' grocery store. Turn to their advertisement and you will see that a great cash sale is now going on. Goods are cut down to the finest kind of price, and the goods are all of high class quality, and no better chance of securing bargains in groceries has been presented in Peterborough. Trent Valley Canal.
Attention is particularly directed to the announcement in an another place in this issue, of a special meeting of the Board of Trade to be held in the council chamber next Friday evening, Nov. 29th, to consider and discuss plans for the promotion of the Trent Valley Canal scheme, in view of the meeting of the commission next week. It is to be hoped there will be a large attendance of the public on this matter is of the last importance to Peterborough.

Going Under.
The Monetary Times has the following as indicating the state of trade during the past week:—Upwards of two dozen Ontario traders are in financial difficulties this week. This is a much larger number than we have been called on to chronicle in one week for some time. It is certainly fair to regard this as some indication of the prevailing dullness in trade, due to the slow movement of grain and produce, low prices for such commodities, and the lack of cold and seasonable weather. It would, on the other hand, be unfair to leave out of the question the lack of the elements of success in the business outfit of some of the unfortunate ones, which would have resulted in failure sooner or later under more favorable circumstances.

The Bridge Goes Without Repairs.
At this week's session of Hastings County Council, that body was asked for a grant of $50 to supplement a like amount voted by Peterborough county council, to repair a bridge over Deer creek, between the two counties, on condition that Hastings "saw" Peterborough in the matter. The grant was not made.

Body Snatching at Tweed.
At Bethel, near Tweed, the body of Mr. Conger Johnston, who was buried on Nov. 18th, was taken from the grave on the night of the 24th by persons unknown. The parties who took the body must have kept themselves well posted, for the grave was watched until Monday night, when it was robbed.

Hymeneal.
Bobcaygeon's social circles were excited yesterday over a matrimonial event. Miss L. Bottum, daughter of the estimable Reeve of the village, Capt. Bottum, was wedded to Mr. John Irwin, of Belleville, a former resident of Peterborough. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father. Mr. and Mr. Irwin passed through Peterborough yesterday on their honeymoon trip to Montreal.

Take the First Chance.
J. Hackett's great cost clearing sale has been a remarkable success; the wonderful value given, has brought buyers in battalions who have eagerly sought the bargains presented. There is still a $16,000 stock of first class goods to select from. The first comer will get the best choice. The goods must be sold by the first of January, and as this is an absolute clearing sale no more will be purchased to assort the present stock. Everything goes just as it is. First class goods at cost prices. Come early and secure the best choice. dtf

Startling News.
We are informed that owing to dull times, and the scarcity of money, Mr. P. D. Doran has decided to sell the whole of his stock of Dry Goods and Clothing, amounting to about $10,000, at less than first cost, as he must have cash at once. The sale commenced Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, and will continue till the whole stock is disposed of—at 393 George street. Parties from the country who cannot come to town during the week are requested to come early on Saturday morning, to insure being served. The rush was so great last Saturday that the staff was unable to serve a large number of customers. Come early or come through the week. w47

James Dickson, the burglar whose depredations at Keene and Hastings caused such excitement last week, has a number of other crimes laid at his door. Wm. Bouter, a Marmora constable, was in town yesterday to identify Dickson as the man who stole a suit of clothes from McWilliam's hotel in Marmora previous to his Keene and Hastings exploits. The constable felt positive from the description of the clothing that the suit Dickson wore when arrested was the very one stolen at Marmora. A man will arrive from Marmora to-night to confirm the identification. It is said also that Dickson is guilty of two or three heavy robberies which were committed in Marmora not long ago.

Another Big Snap!
$5 H. LeBrun & Co. have struck another rich mine. They have bought an additional 200 Storm Overcoats for cash, to sell at FIVE dollars each. Just fancy! You never could make them for the price; but the man wanted the money and we got the lot. They are splendid value—every one of them $5 —and you needn't be afraid to buy them. They're not bankrupt goods. They are all well made, of $5 heavy, all-wool tweed, lined with heavy wool lining and trimmed and $5 finished extra well. Good enough for anybody to wear on Sunday or any other day. Come and see them for $5 yourselves, and tell your neighbors they $5 are as good as we advertise. Parents, $5 bring your boys with you. No such bargains have been offered in the last $5 five years!

A Reminder for the Seats.
This morning the EXAMINER's printer's "devil" came down to the sanctum with a smeaking pride on his face and a piece of manuscript in his hand. He explained that his grandmother "came over" in 1834 with a Scotch family, and that by this tie he had a warm interest in Scotchmen, and he therefore tendered the subjoined appeal to Scotchmen for publication—he thought it might bring about an invitation to the supper—he would like (poor deluded "devil") to taste haggis. The following is the "poem:"

Some of the brether,
Next Friday night,
Come all together
Regardless of weather—
Remardin nae whether
Your business cares bother,
You loyally ay tight,
Comes hammer the day
In a leal lusty way.

Suspension of the English Master—The Supposed Cause of Suspension Stated.

The EXAMINER has been requested to publish the subjoined letter:

THE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE,
PETERBOROUGH, Ont., Nov. 23, 1889.

MR. EARLE.—I am instructed by the Chairman of the Advisory Committee to inform you that you are suspended until the meeting of the Board on the evening of Tuesday next.

I have to ask you therefore to leave the Institute at once.

J. H. LONG.

The rumour of difficulty between Mr. Earle and the Principal on Wednesday has been current. Mr. Earle being asked, on the occasion of his calling at the EXAMINER office this morning, stated that, so far as he was able to learn the cause of his suspension is due to his (Mr. Earle's) attitude in the McWilliams-Colbeck affair. It appears, however, that Mr Earle's resignation had been handed to the secretary of the Board, before he had received any intimation of his suspension, and it has for some time been a matter of public report and, known to the Chairman and other members of the Board, as well as the principal, that Mr. Earle contemplated resigning, in view of accepting a position in Toronto, whose duties he will assume at the beginning of the year.

A Ratepayer's Grumbling.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—Will you allow me a small space in your valuable paper to say a few things? The first is, where is our Town Street Inspector? For I do not think he has paid a visit lately along Aylmer street, for I think, if he had, things might look a little better. I would ask any of the councilmen or any other man of good judgment to call around and take a look at the corner of Aylmer and Murray streets and see a sight enough to make a saint weep. We had our sidewalk torn up some time last April or May to accommodate a party to build a house. Well, so far as I can see, it is not, nor has been, necessary to have it torn up for at least two months, but still it is there, a gap about twelve feet long, and the street filled up with broken brick, lumber, old trees, and then last but not least, there is a well half dug, just against the sidewalk, with dirt, boards, etc., around it—a disgrace to any street. Now, is this thing to last all month? for if it is not repaired soon, how is the snow plough to get around? and are all residents along this street to wade through the snow all winter to accommodate one man? We pay taxes and would like this attended to. And now, seeing that the snow is coming, why cannot our town council do as other towns much smaller than this, pass a snow by-law, that everybody must have all the snow in front of their property cleared by 10 a.m., and, if not taken off, send some person to do it, and then charge it up in their taxes, and then I think we will have some decent walks to walk on. But the way it is done now is a disgrace to a town the size of ours, which is aspiring to become a city. Let some one make a move in the matter right away.

RATEPAYER.

Personal.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor and Rev. Father Dube, Peterborough, attended the installation of Archbishop Walsh, at Toronto yesterday.

A few days ago Mr. Barton Earle concluded negotiations, which have been pending some months, with a Toronto firm and has accepted a situation in that city. Mr. Earle has been connected with the Collegiate Institute for about sixteen years, during fourteen of which he has filled the position of English Master. He has been regarded as a capable and successful teacher in this branch. Mr. Earle enters upon his duties in Toronto the beginning of the year, but his family will remain some months in Peterborough.

The New York Society Journal, an insurance publication, has the following reference in its personal column to a former well known citizen of Peterborough:—

"GEORGE A. MORRISON.—Mr. George A. Morrison, of Peterborough, Canada, who is a genuine life insurance representative, and a right good fellow, has been appointed general manager of the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association for the State of Washington, and left for Tacoma about the middle of the present month. Mr. M. was formerly an agent of the Reserve Association, in Ontario, and latterly was district manager of the Manufacturers' Life Insurance Co., of Canada, which position he has resigned in order to renew his connection with the Mutual Reserve. We predict for Mr. M. a successful career, and a hearty welcome from the people of the new State among whom he is about to cast in his lot." Mr. Morrison's reputation as a life insurance man, as well as a thoroughly good fellow, follows him wherever he goes.

Live Stock Markets.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—The supplies that have arrived to-day are excessive; our markets are all overstocked, and prices are weaker. American steers of prime quality are occasionally fetching 6d per pound as quite an outside price; the average is 5½d for good, and 5d per pound for secondary kinds (estimated dead weight).

MONTREAL, Nov. 25.—There was a fair supply of cattle on the market to day, but none were nearly so good as some of those offered last Thursday, as that though prices were comparatively higher than on that day yet they were actually not so high.

About half a dozen of the best cattle were sold at 4c per lb; these weighed from 900 lbs to a little over 1,200 lbs, and a pretty good two-year-old heifer, weighing 900 lbs, was sold at 3½c per lb; common dry cows of medium size sold as from $20 to $25 each, and the larger ones up to $32, or from 2½ to 3½c per lb; lean stock sold at from $16 to TORONTO, Nov. 26.—Wheat quiet but fairly steady, 80 to 85c.; barley, improved, 37 to 47c.; oats, 32 to 33c.; peas, 55 to 55½c.; potatoes, 55c. a bag; hogs $6 to $6 50; hay $13 to $15 for timothy, and $8 to $11 for rough; butter and eggs scarce, with rolls at 20 and 22c. and fresh eggs at 22 and 23c.

SHORT AND SWEET, BUT TRUTHFUL.

An Honest Offer that all can Plainly Understand, and that People can Respect and put Confidence in.

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 22nd, 1889.

GENTLEMEN:—

We want to say a few words to you just now. They will be plain and to the point; better still—they will be truthful, and therefore worth reading:—

1st.—We have a large stock of brand-new tailor-made Overcoats for Men and Boys. They are made of honest cloth, well sewed, and stylishly got up, and will fit and wear as well as if you left your measure—not the kind they make up for bankrupt stocks.

2nd.—You can have your pick of any of these Overcoats for Less Money than you can buy a similar coat that may be offered to you by any other dealer in Ontario.

3rd.—You are at liberty to look through all the stores in Town and then come to the City Clothing Store, when we will undertake to Fit you Properly with a Better Overcoat, at a Less price than any bona fide cut that may have been made to you.

4th.—We will, likewise, agree to make the same offer hold good for Suits of Clothing, Coat, Pants or Vests, and include Scotch and Canadian Woollen Underwear in the bargain.

5th.—If you want to leave your Measure for a Suit or Overcoat, the same offer holds good in this department also.

6th.—This offer will stand until the middle of January, 1890, when we expect to have clothed every man and boy who intends buying clothing this winter, who is shrewd enough to know the difference between wool and shoddy. We mean business.

Respectfully yours,
M. LeBRUN & CO.

FURS! FURS! FURS! FURS!

FIFTY YEARS IN THE FUR TRADE.

During the twenty-nine seasons since the establishment of our firm in Peterborough, we have always shown Furs of a superior kind, both in quality and workmanship, by which our success in business has been achieved.

We offer goods in all the leading styles, from the most costly down to the cheaper grades of furs. We are the only firm in town that manufacture their whole stock of Furs, notwithstanding any assertion to the contrary; and numerous are the letters of acknowledgement which we receive from customers from a distance, as the following ones can testify:

MESSRS WM. LECH & SONS, PETERBOROUGH:—Gents,—Enclosed find $20 (twenty dollars) balance due on fur coat. Upon examination find it to my entire satisfaction, and rest assured anything I can say or do will be cheerfully given in your behalf. Please acknowledge receipt, and oblige, respectfully yours,

VOL. IX. NO. 126 PETERBOROUGH, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1889. PRICE TWO CENTS.

HARVEY'S LAST NIGHT.

THE MURDERER'S HAPPIEST DAY ON EARTH.

His Spiritual Adviser Constantly at His Side—The Gallows Tested—A Farewell Letter to the Sheriff.

GUELPH, Nov 28. Harvey slept well last night and ate heartily this morning. He appears to realize his position more keenly as his last hour approaches. Physically he is subdued and is disposed to offer no suggestions but to let things take their course.

Archdeacon Dixon visited him three times to-day to offer spiritual consolation and to assist in preparing the condemned man for death. The last communion was administered this morning. As the Archdeacon left him Harvey exclaimed, "This is the happiest day of all my life."

The hangman arrived from Toronto this morning. This afternoon an experiment was made with the scaffold. A bag weighed to the extent of 230 pounds was put in the position Harvey is to occupy. The apparatus worked perfectly, and there is no fear of any hitch in the execution.

To-night two guards are on duty with the condemned man.

Ven. Archdeacon Dixon visited the condemned man this evening and remained with him till a late hour. The clergyman then retired for a short sleep in the jail building, and will be with Harvey early in the morning and remain with him until the last.

It would be useless for those whose tastes would prompt them to make endeavors to see the execution from the high roofs surrounding the jail yard, to do so, as the scaffold is placed in one of the angles of the jail yard, shielded by an eighteen-foot wall, so that it will be impossible for anyone to see the execution from the top of the highest building surrounding. In fact the only place where it can be observed will be from the roof of the Court House, and no one will be permitted there. Outside of jail officials, the spiritual adviser of the condemned man, an intimate friend or two, and representatives of the press, no one will be admitted.

The Sheriff visited the condemned man this afternoon when he expressed himself as ready for the end, even if the Sheriff had come for him then. He also handed him a letter, which is very neatly written, and is as follows:

GUELPH, Nov. 28, 1889.

DEAR SIR,—It having come to my knowledge that it is being stated outside that the guard, E. Owens, was personally objectionable to me and that you persist in keeping him on notwithstanding my protests, I think it right to state that the true facts are exactly contrary to the above. Neil was on the whole the most satisfactory to me of all the guards, and though rough in exterior he has a warm heart, and always considers my comfort and desires before his own, and on more than one occasion I have expressed to you a hope that his services would be retained to the end. In fact you have always promptly and kindly complied with any and every wish I have expressed in this regard. Permit me to take this opportunity of thanking you with all my heart for your invariable courtesy and kindness to both myself and my boy.

Most gratefully yours,
W. H. HARVEY.

This will be the fifth occasion on which the extreme penalty of the law has been carried out at Guelph jail. All were for murder. The first execution was of Charles Coghlin, July 1, 1847; second, Joseph Faris, June 23, 1848; third, Geo. Harris (colored), Dec. 21, 1860; fourth, Henry White (colored), Dec. 21, 1875.

A DOUBLE PITCH-IN.

Bad Freight Smash on the Grand Trunk Near Winona

WINONA, Nov. 28.—In the midst of the sleet and rain storm of last night there was a bad smash up of freight trains on the Grand Trunk, at a point between Winona station and Stony Creek village. Luckily no trainmen were hurt, but the loss on rolling stock will be exceedingly heavy.

About 10.30 a freight train was coming west in charge of Conductor Butler, and shortly after passing Winona, the van and several freight cars became detached from the rest of the train and stopped, while the remainder of the train pursued its way for some distance, the driver not having noticed the loss of the cars. Conductor Butler sent a brakeman to flag on coming trains, but either he did not go back far enough or the next freight was following too fast, and it ran into the van before coming to a standstill. Not much damage was done by this collision.

Conductor F. Smith of London had charge of the second freight, No. 33, and he sent back a brakeman to protect the rear of his train. The man, he said, was away about half an hour, when the headlight of another train came in view through the mist and rain, bearing down upon them at a good rate of speed, and in another moment it crashed into the rear of No. 33 with all the momentum furnished by fifteen loaded coal cars behind it. A terrible wreck ensued. The engine of the third train was twisted on its frame and everything breakable about it broken. About a dozen freight cars were demolished and the van of the second train was burned. The third train that did all the damage was in charge of Conductor Gibson of the Falls. Engineer Pat Peckham and Fireman McFadden jumped off their engine and escaped. The track was blocked until about 9 o'clock this morning. A large gang of men were at work throwing the wrecked cars off the track. The train due here at 8.30 and the two fast morning trains went round by Paris. The accommodation from the Bridge this morning was not delayed much.

Mr. Larmour arrived to-day to investigate the matter and find out who is to blame.

DRUGGED TO SIMULATE DEATH.

A Plot to Defraud an Insurance Company Drives a Man Crazy.

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y., Nov. 28.—Three years ago George Reddington, a young news paper man of this village, married a highly connected young girl and soon afterward started for the West to establish a home. Less than a year later a message was received by his mother, Mrs. Ida A. Slater, stating that he had been instantly killed by a fall from a house which he was building at Lakin, Kan. Up to that time the wife and mother had received cheering letters from Reddington. The young wife had joyfully anticipated the time when she would join her husband in his Western home. She was not then told of his death, but the mother was, and she telegraphed to friends in Lakin to send her son's body at once to Canandaigua. They replied that the body had already been interred, and when she sent another despatch directing its exhumation and shipment she received a reply that the grave had been robbed.

As soon as she was able to make the journey she went to Lakin to investigate the strange circumstances. There she was assured by two young men, who had been Reddington's partners in real estate transactions, that he had died under the circumstances related by wire, and many citizens asserted that they saw the body in the coffin. Mrs. Slater returned home after engaging a detective to make a thorough investigation.

Soon after Reddington's partners made application to the Mutual Life Insurance Company for the payment of a $5000 policy on his life. Mrs. Slater's suspicions of foul play were confirmed by this and she went again to Lakin. Evidence was procured which was deemed sufficient to hold the surviving partners on a charge of fraud, and they were arrested. They forfeited their bail and disappeared.

Mrs. Slater returned home again thoroughly broken in mind and body. She believed her son was not dead, and a detective was retained. He worked patiently for two years, and now, as the result of Mrs. Slater's conviction and the detective's work, Mrs. Reddington discards her widow's weeds. Reddington has just been found by the detective in a Western insane asylum. A powerful drug, administered at the time of his reported death to give him the appearance of a corpse, and the effect of unbalancing his mind. For a long time he led a roving life, and finally landed in an asylum, where he has almost completely recovered his mind. Conclusive evidence is furnished to show that Reddington's partners drugged him and placed him in a coffin long enough to convince some of the neighbors that he was dead, and then arrested him to secure the money on the life insurance policy, which had been made payable to them. Reddington is expected home in a few days.

AGGRESSION AND ANGER.

VARIOUS CAUSES OF IRRITATION IN EUROPE.

The Nations Smarting at Each Others' Heels—Frightful Colliery Disaster—Lisbon Papers Condemn Salisbury.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The concessions granted to Italy in regard to Trentino have pacified the irredentists for a while, but the most clamorous of them already boldly proclaim that nothing will satisfy them but assurances of the ultimate rendition of the Italian Tyrol and Trieste.

It is quite probable that Francis Joseph will meet King Humbert at Florence, as announced, but the members of the old Austrian aristocracy, who are furious at what they consider the surrender of their country's rights to a people whom they held in partial slavery for so many years, are unanimous in begging the Emperor to insist upon King Humbert's coming to Vienna if he wishes for a conference. They detest and distrust Crispi and above all Bismarck, the man with whom the former will be in constant communication by telegraph during any meeting in Italy.

At Vienna the proceedings could be kept under some sort of surveillance and a pressure brought to bear upon Francis Joseph to prevent any manifestations of the obstinacy and petulance with his ministers which have characterised him since the death of Crown Prince Rudolph. The Austrian monarch is in worse health than is generally known, and his great desire is to end his days in peace. The Hungarian troops are dissatisfied and socialism is making thousands of converts among them. What with these troubles and her constant fear concerning her Galician frontier, Austria has worry enough, which the coming of winter only partially relieves.

In addition to the increased cordiality of the relations between Turkey and the allied powers, there are renewed assertions of the gravity of the diversion proposed for Russia's entertainment on her far eastern frontier. The Mongols there are protesting against the constant aggressions on small protects, or no pretext at all, more firmly than ever, and they have certainly acquired improved firearms. The inhabitants of the Northwest frontier are of different stamp from the coolies who emigrate from the treaty ports. They are hardy and brave, have been drilled for some time by German officers, and when well led will prove no contemptible foes for the Czar's forces.

The London bakers are exulting over the success of their strike, but the poor who are not fortunate enough to be bakers are rueful over the advanced price of bread. In the meantime the bread union has acquired nearly 300 bakery businesses, besides several flour mills. The bakers have an exaggerated idea of the power of the county council, and are protesting to it in no moderate language against such a "monopoly" being allowed.

A Letter From Emin.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 28.—Emin Pasha has sent to the Belgian Anti-slavery Society a communication in which he thanks the society for its sympathy and expresses regret for the loss of the equatorial provinces. He says notwithstanding his unfortunate experience he still hopes to be able to do effective work against the slave trade.

Angry Talk at Lisbon.

LISBON, Nov. 28.—The newspapers here of all parties concur in denouncing Lord Salisbury's despatch regarding Portuguese claims in Africa. The papers insist that the Government support Portuguese rights to the whole of the Zambesi territory including the land claimed by the British South Africa Company. The accusations to the effect that Portugal has protected the slave traders are denied and documents have been sent to the Anti-slavery Conference at Brussels showing that Portugal was the first European power to abolish slavery.

Dom Pedro Ill When He Left Rio.

LISBON, Nov. 23.—A private despatch from Rio Janeiro says Dom Pedro was ill when he left Brazil and he was accompanied by his physician, Dr. Mattamaria. It is doubtful whether Dom Pedro will land here. The provisional government instructed the Brazilian ministers here that if the Emperor desired to proceed to another port another steamer should be chartered to convey him as the Alagoas returns to Rio Janeiro immediately.

Trade Paralyzed by a Strike.

To Oppose Hon G. W. Ross.

STRATHROY, Nov. 28.—A convention was held at Mount Brydges to-day in the interests of the Conservative party to select a candidate to contest the riding for the Ontario Assembly in opposition to Hon. G. W. Ross. Notwithstanding the bad condition of the roads a full delegation was present. A number of local men were nominated and addressed the meeting, all declining except John Morgan of Adelaide, who was made the unanimous choice of the convention. A resolution of confidence in Mr Meredith, leader of the opposition, was carried unanimously, as was also a resolution expressive of regret at the death of the late Col. John English who for many years occupied the position of president of the West Middlesex Association."

HALIFAX, Nov. 28.—An extraordinary case of cruelty is reported from Preston road, an old man named Kennedy, 70 years of age, being accused of making his eleven-year-old son live in the woods night and day during the past three winters. Yesterday the poor little lad entered his father's house during the latter's absence and took a piece of bread. This morning his father came to the city and swore out a warrant for the child's arrest for theft. It is said the boy has been sleeping in barns and outhouses and has had his limbs frozen several times. His mother is dead, his brothers and sisters left their father some time ago. The old man is in comfortable circumstances.

A SCORCHER AT THE HUB

THE MODERN ATHENS SWEPT BY FIERY FLAMES.

Boston Celebrates Thanksgiving Day With a $10,000,000 Blaze—Firemen Hanged and Roasted—200 Firms Burnt Out.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 28. — The most disastrous fire from which Boston has suffered since 1872 and which in property loss more than rivals the great conflagration at Lynn, broke out at 8.30 this morning in the six-story granite building owned by Jordan, Marsh & Co. and occupied by Brown, Durrell & Co., dealers in dry goods, in Bedford-street, corner of Kingston. The great fire of 1872 broke out at the corner of Kingston and Summer-streets and the alarm to-day was rung in from the same box which did similar duty at the fire of 1872. The first alarm to-day was immediately followed by the first general alarm in Boston since 1872.

To-day's conflagration raged for six hours, burned over two acres of territory, covered by magnificent structures and entailed a loss now estimated at $10,000,000.

The fire was discovered by a letter carrier who noticed the flames bursting from the top of the Brown building over the elevator shaft in which it evidently originated. The carrier notified a policeman who rang in the first alarm. As soon as Chief Worster of the Protective Department arrived it became apparent that a long, hard fight was before the department and a general alarm was sent out. This was soon followed by calls upon all the neighboring cities and towns for assistance.

The flames were soon pouring from all the windows and the roof of the Brown-Durrell building. At 8.45 they had spread to the Shoe and Leather Exchange building, another large granite structure adjoining Brown, Durrell & Co.'s on Bedford-street. From both buildings the flames swept in great masses across Bedford-street to the opposite corner thence across Kingston-street, along Bedford to Chauncey-street, where the fire was stopped in the store of Farley, Harvey & Co., the upper stories of which were burned. Three stores along Chauncey-street toward Summer were burned.

On the south side of Bedford-street the flames jumped across Kingston-street from the hot blaze from Brown, Durrell & Co.'s to a big sandstone building owned by F. L. Ames and occupied by Taylor Bros. and this was consumed. The great gigantic building known as Nevin's block at the corner of Chauncey-street was the next victim for the flames and the entire block clear around Rome-place at Kingston-street was consumed. Crossing Chauncey-street the fire soon had a good hold of all the stores which are enclosed in Exeter-place, a small street running from Harrison-avenue to Chauncey-street. Here the firemen got control. At Rome-place the fire was partially checked from going toward Essex-street but quickly moved toward the opposite side to the immense Allan and Larrabee buildings occupying the square between Bedford-street, Harrison-avenue extension and Exeter-place, at which point their further progress was checked.

The burned district begins at Columbia-street on the east and extends two blocks westward along Bedford-street to Chauncey street on the west; on the south side of Bedford-street the fire consumed the entire block bounded by Bedford, Kingston, Essex and Columbia-streets; westward of this the entire block bounded by Bedford, Kingston and Chauncey-streets and Rome-place and westward of this the buildings on Chauncey-street from Bedford to Exeter-place. It also badly damaged the buildings on the southeast corner of Bedford and Columbia-streets. North of Bedford-street it consumed the buildings on both the northeast and northwest corners of Bedford and Kingston-streets and damaged the block at the corner of Bedford and Chauncey-streets.

There are about 200 firms burned out and 100 agents of New York and Western firms have had their headquarters destroyed.

According to the figures given by agents of insurance companies having risks in the burned district the insurances will aggregate about $2,700,000. Of this the Liverpool, London and Globe hold nearly $300,000. The Royal is in for $184,000, Commercial Union of London for $90,000, Phœnix of London $52,000, Imperial $45,000, Guardian $40,000, North British and Mercantile $40,000, City of London, $35,000, Western of Toronto $35,000, North American $30,000, London Assurance $27,000. The London and Lancashire also has a small amount. The total loss according to the latest conservative estimate will reach $4,000,000.

This fire, coming as it does on top of the great blaze at Lynn, is a crushing blow to many of the smaller insurance companies and it is not at all unlikely that it will cause the suspension of some of them.

Two firemen of ladder No. 8, Daniel Buckley, unmarried, and Frank P. Loker, who has a wife and child, have been missing since early this morning. They were last seen in the Brown-Durrell building and their bodies are believed to be in the ruins of that structure. Several firemen who saw them in the building report an explosion of hot air and their own narrow escape and believe the missing men were overcome.

Probably seventy-five steamers threw water on the flames. Out-of-town fire apparatus dashed in, their horses reeking with foam adding to the wild excitement. The firemen were aided by pouring rain which lasted from early last evening until just about the time they got the fire under control at noon. Otherwise there is little doubt that other fires would have been started by the storm of embers, some of them as large as half a brick, which fell in all directions. The soaked condition of the roofs however and the rain finished them before they could do any damage.

A strong inshore wind was blowing all the morning. There is little doubt that but for the deluge from the clouds the fire would have swept through to the common.

While a small army of firemen were striving to save Chauncey-street the hot air generated by the fire raging in the rear blew out the entire glass front of Wright Brothers' store. Firemen in the building were literally blown out into Chauncey-street, one named Manning being cut and torn beyond all recognition. His eyes were cut out of his head.

ENGLAND ELECTED.

The Conservative Candidate Carries Brome by 197 Majority.

MONTREAL, Nov. 28.—The election in Brome to-day to fill the vacancy in the Legislative Assembly caused by the elevation of Hon. W. W. Lynch (Con.) to a judgeship, resulted in the return of Mr. England, (Con.) by 197 majority over Mr. Duffy (Lib.) At the last general election for the Province Mr. Lynch was returned by a majority of 307, and a few months later Mr. Fisher, a Liberal, was elected by a majority of 379 to represent the constituency in the Commons.

THE ALBERTA AGROUND.

She Strikes on a Bar at Owen Sound While Leaving for Her Last Trip.

OWEN SOUND, Nov. 28.—Last night while the steamer Alberta was leaving the harbor on her last trip to Port Arthur she struck on a sandbar opposite the dummy light. She is still on. A heavy northwest gale is blowing and a blinding snow storm is raging. In all probability she will be off by daylight. The water in the harbor fell two feet yesterday but is rising again.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Another Schooner Ashore—A Suit Against Detectives for False Arrest.

TORONTO, Nov. 29.—The schooner Glennifer, owned by G T Matthews & Co., coming from Oswego with coal for the Ontario Coal Co., ran aground late Wednesday night near Long Branch. Captain Morgan, of the propeller Niagara, went out a rescue crew yesterday morning and took the men safely ashore. The mainmast was blown out of the schooner, but she was not otherwise badly damaged, so far as is known.

The Countreau arrests in connection with the alleged pilferings in the Bon Marche have caused another action for damages, in which the city is practically one of the defendants. Yesterday morning there was handed the City Solicitor a writ for $5000 damages issued at the instance of Charles E. Turner against F. X. Countreau, Sergeant Detective Henry Reburn and Detective Alfred Caddy, for damages for trespass, assault, false arrest and false imprisonment. This is the second case of a similar nature arising out of the Countreau business.

Mr. T. D. Craig of Port Hope, M. L. A. for East Durham, who is in California, will return shortly after New Year's and will take up his residence in Toronto.

Archbishop Walsh, Archbishop Cleary, Archbishop Fabre and Bishop O'Connor yesterday visited St. Michael's College.

IMPORTANT!

Remarkable Restoration to Health of Well Known Canadians whose Cases were Given up as Incurable.

From the few of the hundreds of letters we have received from those who have been restored to health and strength by the use of that wonderful discovery, Paine's Celery Compound, we make a few extracts. We hope that the thousands of Canadian men and women who are suffering from nervous and wasting diseases, will profit by these true and plain statements of facts.

D. S. Davidson, of Montreal, suffered for years with nervous dyspepsia, pain in his back, and sleeplessness. He tried doctors without relief, was losing flesh rapidly, and had about given up heart when he commenced the use of Paine's Celery Compound. "Now," he says, "I am a new man. I sleep well and my food does not hurt me."

Mr. Jas. Johnson, 302 St. Charles Borromee Street, Montreal, was weak and nervous, had no appetite, and could not rest at night. His nerves were soothed and strengthened by Paine's Celery Compound, and he soon became well and strong.

Annie Gourley, of River Beaudette, P. Q., found the Compound a certain cure for weakness, and now feels as well as she ever did.

A customer of Harrison Bros., druggist, Hamilton, Ont., told them that he was entirely cured of nervous weakness by the use of two bottles of the Compound, after everything else has failed.

The little child of Mrs. G. E. Meredith, 76 D'Arcy St., Toronto, was cured of St. Vitus' Dance by Paine's Celery Compound.

Bonusing.

Belleville has the bonus fever. A burnt child dreads the fire, but Belleville is no child, therefore its bonus experience is no deterrent. Here is what the Montreal Witness gets off in the matter of bonusing, Belleville being taken as a text: An attempt is now being made to induce or coerce the people of Belleville to grant a bonus to a rolling mill. A circular has been issued by the "Joint Industrial Committee," in which the citizens are requested to vote for this bonus because their "city is commercially depressed," "vacant houses can be seen on nearly every street," "real estate is far below its par value," and so forth and so on until it is hard to believe that this circular is not a National Policy campaign sheet of 1878, instead of a bonus campaign sheet of 1889. When Sir Charles Tupper induced the House of Commons to lessen the duties on iron and steel, he declared that smelting works and rolling mills would spring up in all parts of the country as a result. This Belleville rolling mill, which is the first offshoot we have of the iron works that has issued from the embryo stage into a mature, requires not merely a bonus from the people of Canada in the shape of enormous protection, but an extra one from the citizens of Belleville. If it is to exist at all, it is to be as not only a national but a municipal pauper. If, however Belleville is in the condition outlined in this circular there must be something wrong about the National Policy, for that boasted system of making rich by taxing ourselves was to do away with all commercial depressions. The last clause of the circular reads:—"The cause of the above unfortunate condition of our city is not high taxes, but the little business. Therefore the remedy is more business, and that remedy is required at once." May it not be possible that the little business is the result of the way business is throttled by our taxation system? And would it not be preferable for the people of Belleville to cure a present evil by making an effort to set business free from the death grip of the extortionists. If you wish to increase the volume of trade, is it not reasonable that the first step should be to remove the obstructions that prevent its natural flow. Every business in Belleville could set up an equally well founded claim for a bonus, especially any that may be on the point of dying out. This process of bonusing can go on indefinitely; but no community, either national or municipal, can grow very fat by sucking its own thumbs. All the older establishments, which probably find it hard enough to get along under such circumstances, will be further hindred by taxations if this by-law is carried.

Over Twelve Years Established.

A live and well established grocery and provision business for sale. R. H. Grees, on account of continued ill-health, has decided to sell his entire stock of groceries, provisions, &c., en bloc, at a bargain, to a suitable purchaser. The goods are nearly all new, well assorted and bought at the lowest possible wholesale prices. The stock, furnishings, horse, rigging, &c., will amount to about twelve hundred dollars, but will be reduced considerably within the next few weeks (if I don't meet with a wholesale purchaser in the meantime), as I purpose commencing on Saturday next, the 23rd inst., to retail them at a great sacrifice. Parties wishing good fresh groceries, provisions, &c., for the holiday season will find it to their advantage to call before buying elsewhere, as decided bargains will be given. The goods must be sold. R. H. GREES, corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets, Peterborough. w471tf

Great Chance for the Public.

At this season of the year the public will be interested in knowing that great bargains in groceries can be obtained at Rush Bros.' grocery store. Turn to their advertisement and you will see that a great cash sale is now going on. Goods are cut down to the finest kind of prices, and the goods are all of high class quality, and no better chance of securing bargains in groceries has been presented in Peterborough. Study the list of prices in Rush Bros.' advertisement. dw

Peculiarities of the Hair.

There are times when all persons require to pay some particular attention to the hair. To maintain the life on energy of the roots is a simple matter if taken in time. Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic will do the word, it works in accordance with nature, supplys fresh nourishment to the glands, keeps the hair luxuriant and natural in shade. Be sure to get, you cannot afford to miss it. Every druggist sells it. It is money well spent. See Dorenwends advertisement in another column.

Thirty Years Ago.

OVER 30 years ago there was placed upon the market a remedy designed to relieve pain and capable of either external or internal use. From the first it has had wonderful success, and hundreds testify that Hagyard's Yellow Oil cures rheumatism, sore throat, sprains, croup, cuts, bruises and all pains and aches. 2w48d

PETERBOROUGH. This immense collection of Merchandise comprises a Selection not Surpassed by any concern in America. Every particle offered for sale is entirely New, and Manufactured for this Fall and Winter's Trade. Our Mammoth Assortment consists of every conceivable Pattern and Style that Ingenuity can suggest or Money can procure. "'Tis an ill wind that blows no body good." While it is our misfortune to pocket a loss of hundreds of dollars, it is an opportunity offered once in a life-time, for the people of Canada to buy in mid-season, the Finest Goods to be procured, at prices usually named for the most ordinary qualities. Bear in mind, cheap as we have bought we will not look for profit during this Great Sale. The Success of our One Hour Sales were Phenomenal. No Clothing Establishment in Canada can boast of ever having served one-fifth of the Customers. No other Institution, no matter what line, no matter what Inducements, can truthfully say, they were COMPELLED TO LOCK THEIR DOORS, and deny admission to three times the amount of trade they could accommodate. Such was Goughs' experience on Saturday. Nothwithstanding this Great Business, there is still Thousands of Dollars worth of Goods that must be sold before the 15th of December.

Grand Trunk Employes Charged with Manslaughter—Safe Crackers in Knox.

TORONTO, Nov. 27. The inquest on E. Leech, who was killed at the railway crossing in Pape-avenue Nov. 8, was continued by Coroner Pickering at the Police Court last night. After an hour's deliberation, the jury returned this verdict. That the deceased, Henry Leech, came to his death by a Grand Trunk Railway engine. That there was culpable negligence on the part of Thomas Mosen (fireman), Stuart White (engineer), Thomas Edwards (yardsman) and Daniel Donahue, and that they are guilty of manslaughter. We recommend that the County Crown Attorney also indict Edmund Wragge, local agent, and Charles Hollingsworth, agent at the Don station, for manslaughter in connection with the above named employes. The jury also recommend the city authorities to compel the railway companies to place gates at every railway crossing within the city limits. Coroner Pickering has issued warrants for the arrest of Moses, White, Edwards and Donahue.

Notice has been received at Police Headquarters from Buffalo that three safe cracking experts have started from there to operate on jewelry stores and banking concerns of Toronto.

Sir Daniel Wilson, president of the Toronto University, has received a cable message from Hamburg announcing the gift of $1000 from Julius Rosen, a graduate of 1864.

James T. Russell, advertising agent for The Mail, died yesterday at his residence, 10 Cawthra-avenue, of inflammation of the bowels.

Messrs. White & Petter, wholesale lace dealers, 7 Wellington street west, assigned to Townsend & Stephens yesterday afternoon. The direct liabilities, to European houses exclusively, amount to $50,000 and notes under discount at the Imperial Bank amount to another $50,000. All direct or indirect liabilities foot up to about $100,000. No statement of assets is available. A meeting of creditors will be called at once in Toronto and an adjourned meeting will be called in London, Eng., about a month hence.

THE FLOUR OUTPUT.

A Falling off in the Minneapolis Output—The Market Weak.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 27.—The Northwestern Miller says: The flour output fell off last week owing to the shortage of waterpower. The aggregate output of the twenty mills was 153,575 barrels against 164,900 barrels the week before and 119,400 barrels for the corresponding time in 1888. The output for the week gives promise of not exceeding 150,000 barrels. "Inactive and weak" was the way a leading miller summed up the condition of the flour market a day and the majority of others approached gave almost as pessimistic opinions. Early in the week there was some little enquiry but this largely disappeared later. Sales for the week have been light and much under the current output. Prices are about 10 cents lower. Export trade is especially light with prices tending downward. The direct exports for the week were 47,670 barrels against 60,760 barrels the preceding week.

FLAME-SWEPT LYNN.

To Be Rebuilt at Once—Waiting for the Bricks to Cool.

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 27.—Every train brings hundreds of visitors to view the ruins. Nearly all the leading business men are waiting for the bricks to cool and specifications for new buildings are in order. On the site of the principal business offices may be seen small wooden structures with their signs out. The Lynn Daily Item was the first to erect its little 7-by-9 office on the site of its former office with a sign: "Daily Item Office. All Ready for Business."

The early trains from Boston brought many insurance adjusters. None expressed surprise at the conflagration as it had been a common prophecy among them that a city of so many wooden structures must burn some time. Many insurance companies have refused to write policies on mercantile property in Lynn because of the great hazard, and such companies as do, do so with a greater or less degree of care. The aggregate loss of the insurance companies as estimated by the adjusters is $2,774,052. Several companies have not yet reported and in some cases there will be slight salvage.

All on Board Lost.

SEABRIGHT, N. J. Nov. 27.—A large sup posed to be the Bessefactor from Philadelphia for New London, Conn., was abandoned and sunk off here to-day, and all on board were probably lost.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The crew of the Norwegian bark Elverhol, Captain Reinertsen, from Brunswick, Ga., for Hamburg, which was wrecked at Nieuwe Diep, are supposed to have been drowned.

SANDY HOOK, Nov. 27. The vessel wrecked at Long Branch is not a steamer but a German bark laden with empty oil barrels, and rags. Eleven of the crew were drowned. Four were saved. The name of the bark has not yet been learned.

Virginia Farmers Discouraged.

HARRISONBURG, Va., Nov. 27.—The wet weather in this section so long continued has utterly discouraged farmers. The corn is rotting in the fields and the ground is so wet the grain cannot be hauled out. The country roads are almost impassable. It is still raining and the streams are still rising.

A Million Apiece.

FAIRBAULT, Minn., Nov. 27.—Joseph Thompson of this city, and J. W. Thompson of Forest, Ill., have received notice of the death of an uncle in Birmingham, Eng., whose estate is worth $4,000,000, to which the Messrs Thompson and two sisters are the only heirs.

A New York Raze.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Charles Schmitt, a rag dealer here, went home drunk early this morning and with a baling wrench beat his wife over the head and shoulders unmercifully breaking her skull and the bones of her face and shoulder and leaving her unconscious. She will die. Schmitt was arrested.

Wisconsin Bons Raided.

ASHLAND, Wis., Nov. 27.—Six houses of ill-fame were raided at Hurley last night. Eight officers accomplished the work and brought twenty-six inmates to Ashland this morning. Some paid $50 fines and others are in jail. Every disreputable house in Hurley was raided. Many inmates in the panic jumped from second-story windows.

THE JESUITS V. THE MAIL

The Court of Appeal at Montreal Dismisses the Appeal.

MONTREAL, Nov. 27.—The judgment of the Court of Appeal in the Jesuit-Mail libel case was rendered this afternoon. The appeal was taken from the judgment of Mr. Justice Lavergne striking out certain portions of the plea of The Mail in the libel suit for $50,000 which the Society of Jesus has instituted against that paper. Three portions of the plea were held by the court below to be free vague. The Mail contended on appeal that the portions were simply a fuller exposition of the parts retained in the plea. Chief Justice Sir A. A. Dorion rendering judgment for the majority of the Court of Appeal dismissed the appeal of The Mail. Justices Baby, Bosse and Taschereau concurred, and Justices Cross and Church dissented.

Hoopskirts Again May come into style, but it is hoped not. The transformation which will bring back that style of crinolines ought to be indefinitely postponed. Transformation in the health of thousands of women throughout the country have taken place during the past few years. Pale, haggard and dispirited, they have become bright-eyed and healthy. The secret? Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which cures all those chronic "weaknesses" and distressing ailments peculiar to women. c

Hints for Winter.

WHEN attacked by a cough or cold, hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis, croup or influenza, the successful experience of thousands of families who have used it regularly for all such troubles during many years, suggests the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam—the old reliable household favorite. 2w48

Have You Thought About It?

Why suffer a single moment when you can get immediate relief from all internal or external pains by the use of Polson's Nerviline, the great pain cure. Nerviline has never been known to fail in a single case; it cannot fail, for it is a combination of the most powerful pain subduing remedies known. Try a 10 cent sample bottle of Nerviline. You will find Nerviline a sure cure for neuralgia, toothache, headache. Buy and try. Large bottles 25 cents, by all druggists. w48

AYER'S Sugar-Coated Cathartic PILLS.

If the Liver becomes torpid, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which I suffered from General Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.—W. T. Brightney, Henderson, W. Va.

For years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than anything else, to my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, and Dyspepsia. G. F. Miller, Attleborough, Mass.

Regulate

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not be without them.—Morris Gates, Downsville, N. Y.

I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice, and was so dangerously ill that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor.—John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebraska.

Last spring I suffered greatly from a troublesome humor on my side. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with indigestion, and distressing pains in

The Bowels.

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured. Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored. —Theodore Ellug, Richmond, Va.

Fresh Oysters.
Fresh Oysters at the C.P.R. restaurant.

Piano Tuning.
Mr. G. Gumpricht is in town. Orders may be left at Messrs. Taylor & Macdonald's or Mr. A. L. Davis' store. d

Why is M. R. Kidd like J. B. McWilliams? Because Kidd puts out good Tea and McWilliams good Tea(chers).

Still they Drop.
18 lbs. Bright Sugar for $1; 5 lbs. New Currants for 25 cents—and other groceries at lowest prices. See the stock at ALEX. ELLIOTT'S, Palace Grocery. d

The Curling Season.
Excellent beds have been prepared for the several rinks, and if frosty weather holds, splendid curling ice will be made by the middle of next week.

Classy Things.
Only those who make clean money and do clean things, win success. "Kidd" is prepared to supply you with ready made clothing, cheaper than any other dealer in Peterborough.

A Hint.
A good farmer is better than a poor doctor, a good horseshoer is better than a poor bishop, and "Kidd" is a greater benefactor to the working man than a high toned tailor with forty prints.

Bargains in Pianos.
J. W. Crosby, 423 and 422 George street, Peterborough, purchased 100 pianos from the last makers, to be sold in twelve months, cheap for cash, or on the instalment plan, covering one, two, three and four years. A call is solicited. Pianos and organs rented, tuned and repaired. d

Wedding Anniversary.
The forty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. Haskill, Port Hope, was celebrated Wednesday. The old couple was presented with an address and a pair of easy chairs by a large assembly of their friends. Mr. A. Haskill, of Peterborough, with his wife and children, attended the anniversary of his parents.

The Retaliatory Whipping.
It is the nature of revenge that the retaliatory act—or measure—usually goes beyond that which calls it forth. "Kidd" is now having sweet revenge on the blowhard dealers, by selling a fine worsted overcoat for $6.95, worth $14, at 372 George street, two doors south of the shoe store.

Scotchmen, Rally!
Every loyal Scotchman in town is expected to report at St. Andrew's Hall to-night. If he fail, he does not deserve to be included in the toast of "The day and a' who honour it." To-night will be the best celebration of the series. The Scotchmen are not exclusive, either, for all nationalities are privileged to join them in their annual supper and festivities to night.

Morrow's Teas.
Try W. J. Morrow's beautiful blends of Black Tea, Fine Hysons and Japans, acknowledged to be the finest in town. California Dried Fruits, self rising Buckwheat, silver Spanish Onions, very cheap by the grate. Fine Dried Apples; and all wishing a good cup of coffee, should not fail to try our fresh ground. Wait and see you have it ground fresh.

A Local Photographer's Bar.
It is stated that there seems to be no limit to the powers of photography, a running horse, a flash of lightning, or a bullet in flight being caught by the sensitive plate. But a local photographer is willing to bet that no photographic device on earth can catch the look of delight on a lady's face when she is sipping a cup of hawley bros'. splendid tea or coffee. Full lines of both at the most reasonable prices at hawley bros'. tea store, 370 George street.

No Appointments Made.
The Committee on Appointments of the School Board met last night for the purpose of conferring with Inspector Tilley regarding the appointments to the schools. Mr. Tilley announced that he would not be ready till next Tuesday night, and the committee adjourned till that evening. However, they decided on recommending the Board to appoint Mr. W. H. Walkie to the headmastership of the North Ward school, and Mr. James Smith, of Lindsay, (a brother of Mr. Wm. Smith) to Mr. Walkie's vacancy in the Central school.

Rousing Value.
10 lbs. bright sugar and 4 lbs. of fine tea for $2. Everyone who has tried our teas say they never have had such value as we are giving. Why? Because we buy in large quantities and pay the cash. We are bound to sell and will sell at close profits. Flour and all kind of meal kept in stock and will be sold cheap. Make no mistake, this is the store to deal in. The wholesale and retail trade supplied on short notice, at the Red Tea Store, 321 George street.

A "Well-Wisher" and the Y.M.C.A.
The EXAMINER has received a letter from a correspondent, criticising some remarks made by Mr. Colville at the anniversary meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Whatever justice there may be in these criticisms, it seems to us to be an inopportune time to present them to the public. Nor does it seem that their publication would serve to promote the advancement of the good work which the Young Men's Christian Association is now carrying on with so much success, nor strengthen the hands of the hard-working and energetic secretary; therefore the EXAMINER feels justified in withholding the letter referred to from publication.

We regret to learn that there is no improvement in the condition of the health of Mr. John Hackett.

TEACHER in the Institute may not please everybody, but for us A No. 1 Tea(cher) call on M. R. KIDD. 5 lbs. for a $1. d

A Doctor's Advice.
Sleep eight hours out of the twenty four, eat three meals a day, walk on the sunny side of the road, buy your clothing from "Kidd" and you will enjoy good health and save money.

THAT broken pointer! Well, there is one pointer still left, and that keeps pointing to M. R. KIDD'S splendid tea. d

"The Lamb—Anger vs. Prudence."
Anger does not usually take counsell with prudence. But what has that to do with "Kidd" selling a good fitting all wool overcoat for $4.95, worth $10, at 372 George street? Echo answers, What?

The Best Yet.
The Auction Sale of Crockery, China, Glassware, Lamps, &c., in the store on Water street, next to Jas. Stevenson's office on Saturday, Nov. 30th, will be the best yet. Some very fine goods will be sold as well as a full assortment of useful and first class Crockery, China, Glassware, Hanging Lamps, Dinner Sets, Tea Sets, Breakfast and Chamber Sets. Do not miss it.

W. R. Binns. 1d

A Pleasing Event.
On Tuesday evening, Dec. 10th, 1889, in the George Street Methodist Church, will be held an entertainment which cannot fail to please the most critical. The entire programme is to be given by two ladies who have already won their reputations as public entertainers. Miss Jessie Alexander, of Toronto, elocutionist, a favorite all across the ocean, gives half the evening's programme: Miss Annie Howden, of Port Hope, soloist, gives the balance. Remember the date, Tuesday, Dec. 10th, 1889. Admission, 25c. 1d

Special Service at St. John's.
In the Church of England and its various branches in Canada, Australia and other parts of the Empire, the eve of St. Andrew's Day is set apart as a day of intercession for the divine blessing on missionary work. There will be service this evening as usual at St. John's at 7.30, but the customary intercession on behalf of practical needs will be replaced on this occasion by a special service of prayer on behalf of missions. At such an important service there ought to be a large congregation.

Hi! Scotchmen!
"Hoo's a' wi' ye"? "Brawly, ah?" But ye'll dae mair brawly still, if ye're wise enauch to come awa doon to Clairke & Gesbecca, Hunter street, toon, and tak' a squint at the grey fine gear in the shape o' Scotch guids. It's wall mak' yer een water to glower at the gran' lot o' Scotch peeble guids, set in sterlin' siller, sic as claymores, dirks, braidswords, and St. Andrew's cross and croon, an' a muckle variety o' chairms, etc. Ye'll be amaz, gaft if ye dinna ca' and when ye dae ca' and speer the price—ye'll be dumbfoondered wi' delight. Heeh, mon, but ye should hae ane o' these chairms for St. Andrew's day. d

There's Money in the Country.
To hear some people talk one would think that money was a scarce article, but bless you, there is always money fourthcoming when the proper inducements are offered. Take the great sale of dry goods now going on at Hackett's store. The stock must be cleared and business wound up by the 1st of January. Everyone knows this; they know that the bargains offered are genuine. Despite the large quantity sold there is a big lot yet to go. The store is 125 feet deep and was crammed with this season's new goods. Here's your chance. Everything being sacrificed to clear. Store crowded with buyers who recognize that this is a chance that occurs only once in ten years. All accounts must be settled by January 1st and the business wound up. Come and buy. d126-w48tf

Canadian Trotters and Pacers.
The Canadian Sportsman (established in 1870,) Toronto, will issue early in January next, in book form, a list of all horses that have trotted or paced in Canada in 2.45 or better, which will prove a valuable addition to the turf literature of the country. A similar list was compiled two years ago by the same publishers, and though it had a large sale there was no profit in it for the publisher, but the great progress made on the trotting turf since that time makes such a work an absolute necessity, and it will likely have a large sale. In addition to this valuable list, the book will also contain the running and trotting rules, records at all distances on the turf, and other useful information for horsemen. As only a limited number will be printed, orders should be sent without delay to the office of publication, 102 King street west, Toronto, Ont. The price of the book will be 50 cents, mailed free.

Another Big Snap!
$5 H. LeBrun & Co. have struck another rich mine. They have bought an additional 200 Storm Overcoats for cash, to sell at FIVE dollars each. Just fancy! You never could make them for the price; but the man wanted the money and we got the lot. They are splendid value—every one of them $5 —and you needn't be afraid to buy them. They are all well made, of $5 heavy, all-wool tweed, lined with heavy wool lining and trimmed and $5 finished extra well. Good enough for anybody to wear on Sunday or any other day. Come and see them for yourselves, and tell your neighbors they $5 are as good as we advertise. Parents, bring your boys with you, as our $5 stock of Boys' and Youths' Overcoats bangs anything you have ever heard of. $5 All sizes and we can fit your boy to perfection. No such bargains have been offered in the last five years!

A Fancy Good Opening.
Mrs. Ross' handsome store was thronged with ladies last evening on the occasion of the annual opening. Special preparations had been made for the reception of visitors, and the store was thrown open to all customers, who were not asked to buy but merely to inspect the numerous pretty and useful fancy articles so attractively displayed. Mrs. Ross and her assistant, Miss Melville, were kept busy till after ten o'clock showing goods to their lady patrons. The interior of the store presented a beautiful scene. The gay colors glistening silks and bright ornaments reflected a softened brilliance beneath the rays of gaslight, and the visitors' tour of inspection along the counters was a continued delight. The eye met with pleasant surprises at every turn. There were elegant silk draperies, table drapes, hand-painted mantel cloths, toilet articles, bric-a-brac of all sorts, and full and varied stock of goods such as is kept in a first class store. The opening was a splendid success, and a quantity of goods was put away for customers, and no doubt an after effect will be noticed in a visible improvement in business.

Delayed Tax Notices.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Please allow me space in your valuable columns to intimate to the public that there is one thing about our tax business that has gone down pretty fine. I find at the bottom of the notice there words in fine print:—"The collector will be found at his office every lawful business day after the first of October, 1889, from ten o'clock a.m. to three o'clock p.m." Now, if the time to pay taxes begins on the first of October, why are the notices so long in being sent out? If it is necessary to send them out at all, why not have them all out before the first of October? I claim that, according to the way the notice reads, a person is entitled to two months after they receive their notice to pay their taxes.

Yours, &c.,

HARVEY HANGED TO-DAY.

He Meets his Doom at Eight O'clock this Morning.

The Execution Horribly Bungled—Death By Slow Torture.

(Special Telegram to the Examiner.)

GUELPH, Nov. 29th.—The last act in the Harvey tragedy was performed here this morning at 8 o'clock. Last night Archdeacon Dixon spent several hours with the doomed man, imparting spiritual comfort. This morning the Archdeacon again visited the prisoner who bade the gaol officials good-bye, and spent his few remaining moments in spiritual conversation. Harvey slept well and ATE A HEARTY BREAKFAST.

About 7.55 the hangman entered the doomed man's cell and pinioned the prisoner. Then the sad procession to the scaffold was formed, headed by Archdeacon Dixon, and composed of him, the prisoner, the sheriff and the executioner. As the procession slowly passed along Harvey, the central figure, wore a dejected air, only looking up once as he neared the gallows. While the clergyman was at prayers, the hangman having adjusted the rope and the black cap, the rope was cut and Harvey was swinging between heaven and earth. The hanging was ever witnessed. The weight which was employed to lift the body was not heavy enough and the scaffold not high enough to give sufficient rebound to break the neck, and the struggles and contortions were horrible to behold, as he was slowly strangled to death. As if to add to the horror of the occasion, the knot slipped in front of the ear and the gurgling sounds in the tortured man's throat could be heard outside the gaol walls.

In New Quarters.

Minore's Biscuit and Confectionery Works Removed—Making up for Lost Time

For the past two weeks the work of removal of Mr. W. J. Minore's biscuit and confectionery works into the new premises has necessitated the closing down of operations, but the factory was started again to-day under improved conditions. The new building erected alongside of, and attached to, the old premises on Simcoe street is more commodious and the plant more compactly arranged than it was before, and with the increased facilities Mr. Minore hopes to soon catch up with the eight hundred dollars worth of orders which accumulated during the past two weeks of enforced idleness. Though not yet well settled Mr. Minore has put every energy to the effort to and to day the hum of machinery was heard for the first time in the new place. This delay in filling orders Mr. Minore hopes to make up to his patrons by the excellency of his goods and invariable promptitude in future.

The new building is about the same size as the one just vacated, of red brick, 24x100 feet in dimension, and three stories in height. On the front ground floor is the office and wareroom, and behind these the bake-shop. The power which drives the machinery is afforded by a shaft from the Lock Works adjoining. Upstairs is the confectionery department, and the third flat is used as a packing room. Mr. Minore employs twelve hands in the manufacture of his superior goods, and as the demand for his biscuits and confectionery is constantly increasing, the probability is that in a few years it will be a much larger establishment. His custom extends throughout the

WHOLE MIDLAND DISTRICT,

Mr. Minore manufactures all kinds of biscuits and confectionery, and an idea of the extent of his business may be gleaned from the fact that in the baking shop about half a ton of flour is used every day.

Mr. Minore's many friends will wish him continued success as a just reward for enterprise and industry, and hope to see his biscuit and confectionery works advance among the foremost industries of Peterborough.

The building vacated is being fitted up for the Lock Works Company, who will occupy it as soon as possible.

Dickson Gets His Deserts.

Sentenced to Two Years, Less One Day, in the Central Prison—Convicted of Three Charges.

James Dickson, the Keene burglar, was this morning finally disposed of by Police Magistrates Dumble and Edmison. It will be remembered that at the preliminary hearing last Monday he pleaded guilty to two charges, namely, the burglary of Spellman's hotel in Roseneath and theft in Keene, and not guilty to a charge of burglarizing Campbell & McNeil's store. His trial for stealing a watch from Jas. Cunningham in Cavanagh's hotel, Peterborough, Nov. 18th, was adjourned till to-day, when he was also to receive sentence for his other acknowledged crimes.

Mr. R. E. Wood, C.C.A., conducted the prosecution. Dickson elected to be tried summarily, and when asked to plead guilty or not guilty to the charge of larceny of a watch, would no neither thing, but, instead, asked to make an explanation. He said he and Cunningham were in the Cavanagh house together, and being old friends, they began trading watches. They were under the influence of liquor, and Dickson denied any intent to defraud. He took the watch out to compare its time with the town clock, and being intoxicated he supposed he forgot to come back and took it to Keene with him. He intended to send it back to Cunningham, and after he was arrested gave it to a young man to give to him. He denied any intention to dispose of the watch.

Jas. Cunningham gave his evidence, which was about as Dickson stated it, but the witness was not sure whether Dickson took it out of his handker bie pocket. Anyway he never saw the watch again until after the prisoner was arrested. He identified the watch (produced in court) as his. The prisoner was given the privilege of asking the witness questions, but his remarks were unimportant.

Jos. Wedlock, of Keene, said the prisoner gave him the watch to give to Cunningham when he came to Peterborough.

Wm. Huffman, who was with the two men when the watch was taken, gave damaging evidence.

The magistrate found the prisoner guilty and sentenced him to two years, less one day (1 year and 364 days) in the Central Prison.

The Keene cases were then disposed of by P. M. Edmison. The charge of burglarizing Campbell & McNeil's store was not pushed, but on each of the other two, to which he had pleaded guilty, he was sentenced to the same term of imprisonment as that imposed by F. M. Dumble, the sentences to run concurrently. The effect of this judgment is that the one term satisfies the three convictions.

MARMORA BURGLARIES

Dickson is not likely to escape so lightly, however. As stated in the EXAMINER before, he is wanted for burglaries in Marmora. Constable Bonsby and Mr. McWilliams, proprietor of a hosiery in Marmora, were in court this morning, and the latter positively identified the suit of clothes worn by Dickson as having been stolen from his house. Dickson, it appears, was in the neighborhood of Marmora the beginning of November, and from the 3rd to the 15th it is said was implicated in several heavy robberies. In one place four hundred dollars worth of dry goods, boots and shoes, etc., were stolen, and it is estimated that the thieves carried away altogether between six and seven hundred dollars in money and goods from stores. Dickson it is said had accomplices, and he was suspected from the start, but as he lived in the woods during the day he could not be caught. There has as trace been discovered of the stolen goods.

The Marmora authorities intend to prosecute Dickson in the Hastings court.

Y.M.C.A. Evangelistic Services

So largely were the meetings of young men attended during the week of prayer, and so great was the spirit of revival and the desire for service manifested amongst them that it was thought advisable, if at all possible, to continue these meetings. The postponement of their November entertainment seemed to providentially open up the way for this and Mr. Arthur Burson, late of Exeter Hall, London, England, an old soldier and experienced Christian worker, was invited to conduct a series of services here, which were commenced at the Association Hall yesterday.

Unpropitious though the weather was, there was a good attendance at both the afternoon and evening meetings, which were greatly enjoyed by those present. Mr. Burson, who is said to especially excel in Bible readings, in the afternoon took for his subject the Epistle to the Galatians, showing by a variety of selections the mistake the "foolish Galatians" had made in trying to add their doings to the finished work of Christ. In the evening 1 John, 1, was read and very clearly expounded, followed by a most earnest Gospel address from the word "wash" as used in the narrative of Naaman the Syrian. The necessity for and the simplicity and effectiveness of the Gospel plan was very clearly exemplified.

The audience was mainly composed of young men, almost all of whom remained to the after meeting, when several made profession of their acceptance of Christ. Mr. Burson is one of those men who look on Christianity not as a gloomy matter but as a source of joy and happiness, and his style and illustrations are affected by this spirit. The meetings are to be continued, mixed meetings for Bible readings every afternoon at half past three o'clock, and men's meetings every evening at eight o'clock. No collections.

A Young Minister Favored.

Mr. E. A. Pearson Remembered by His Congregation—A Pleasing Presentation.

The following from the Cannington Gleaner, with reference to Mr. E. A. Pearson, son of Rev. M. L. Pearson, who is now spending a few days at his home here, will be read with interest and pleasure by "Ed's" many friends in town:—

A very pleasing event took place at the "Settlement" Church on the evening of the 22nd, inst. The Rev. E. A. Pearson B.A., the popular junior minister on the circuit, was made the recipient of a valuable watch guard, dressing case and the following address:—

Rev. E. A. Pearson, B.A.:—

DEAR BRO.—We the congregations of North Brook and Zion Churches take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of you. It is with feelings of the deepest pleasure that we meet here this evening and bring you words of encouragement and endearment. You have not been long with us, yet during that time, by your affection and faithfulness to duty, you have merited the highest esteem of all. This has been a time of great rejoicing to us, and we sincerely hope that your labors in endeavoring to lead us into higher and nobler paths, have been as enjoyable to you as they have been to us, and now that you may not forget us, amongst whom you have been laboring, we ask you to accept this present, a watch, guard, and a dressing case, as a slight token of our high regard for you, hoping that you will prize it highly, not for its intrinsic value, but as a memento of the happy times spent with us. May God abundantly bless you in the glorious work to which He has called you, and may you ever show that genuine piety and that noble Christian character exemplified in you whilst here, and we come praying that you may have a long life, that will be spent in glorifying God and working for His cause, and when the Master comes to number up His jewels, may your crown be resplendent with many bright gems, and may the joyful sentence be pronounced upon you, "Come up higher."

Signed on behalf of the congregations,
SARAH KING.
MAGGIE E. SHIER,
A. H. WEST.

Mr. Pearson in replying to the address, though seemingly taken by surprise, spoke most appropriately. He referred in feeling terms to the kindness which had been invariably shown him, and said that was probably the third happiest moment of his life; the first being the moment of his conversion, and the second that of his being instrumental in winning a soul for Christ. He concluded by saying that it was his supreme object to make all things serve the one great purpose of his life—the winning of precious and immortal souls for his Master.

GENTLEMEN:—

We want to say a few words to you just now. They will be plain and to the point; better still—they will be truthful, and therefore worth reading:—

1st.—We have a large stock of brand-new tailor-made Overcoats for Men and Boys. They are made of honest cloth, well sewed, and stylishly got up, and will fit and wear as well as if you left your measure—not the kind they make up for bankrupt stocks.

2nd.—You can have your pick of any of these Overcoats for Less Money than you can buy a similar coat that may be offered to you by any other dealer in Ontario.

3rd.—You are at liberty to look through all the stores in Town and then come to the City Clothing Store, when we will undertake to fit you Properly with a Better Overcoat, at a Less price than any bona fide offer that may have been made to you.

4th.—We will, likewise, agree to make the same offer hold good for Suits of Clothing, Coat, Pants or Vests, and include Scotch and Canadian Woollen Underwear in the bargain.

5th.—If you want to leave your Measure for a Suit or Overcoat, the same offer holds good in this department also.

6th.—This offer will stand until the middle of January, 1890, when we expect to have clothed every man and boy who intends buying clothing this winter, who is shrewd enough to know the difference between wool and shoddy. We mean business.

Respectfully yours,
M. LeBRUN & CO.

VOL. IX. NO. 127 PETERBOROUGH, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1889. PRICE TWO CENTS.

COUGHLIN'S FATE SEALED.

STARTLING EVIDENCE AGAINST THE EX-DETECTIVE.

Two of Dr Cronin's Knives Were Found on Him When He Was Arrested - The State's Attorney's Speech.

CHICAGO, Nov 29.—At the opening of the Cronin trial this morning the State called Bernard F. Carberry in rebuttal. He testified that he was in Matt Quinlan's saloon on the night of May 4, and that he did not see the defendant Burke there as testified to on behalf of the defence.

At the conclusion of the examination of this witness the sur-rebuttal on behalf of the defendants was begun. A number of witnesses were called to the stand to strengthen the alibi for Burke, and all gave testimony in regard to O'Malley's attendance at the opening of the saloon on the West Side on May 4. M. J. Dwyer, John Fleming, Pat Rouse, C. F. Regan, and Wm. Fortune testified in the same strain.

The last witness, a nephew of Peter Fortune, the brewer, had not been long on the stand when it became evident that he was greatly interested. His answers were incoherent, and could not be heard. He admitted that he was pretty drunk on the night of May 4. He was followed by George Fleming, who substantiated the testimony of the other witnesses.

After recess a number of other keepers and frequenters of saloons were examined in regard to the opening of a certain saloon on the night of the murder. Then the defence rested and State's Attorney Longenecker said:

"If the court pleases, we have some evidence that has come to our knowledge about 10 o'clock or a little before 10, which we have not had time to look into. Of course it would be evidence in chief probably, but not having come to our knowledge until this morning we feel like asking the court to let us introduce the evidence at this late hour."

The Court: "By how many witnesses do you expect to put that evidence in?"

The State's Attorney: "By two really, and one who has had the custody of the article."

"The court: "Does the State's Attorney regard it as important?"

The State's Attorney: "I regard it as an important matter and feel it my duty to present it."

The court: "Some slight intimation was given to me this morning and I assume it is not corroborative or cumulative, else I shall not admit it."

Mr. Forrest: "We object to their re-opening the case at the end of the sur-rebuttal."

The State's Attorney: "I suppose the Court has a right at this time to let it come in under its discretion."

Mr. Forrest: "If that be true then we may never end the case. We may have to ask for time to meet it."

The Court: "The Court is anxious to close the case and I do not want to prolong it."

The State's Attorney: "So are we, Your Honor, but we feel it is our duty to present this evidence, not that we think it is absolutely necessary to the case or anything of the kind, but it is an important piece of evidence and ought to go into the case. This morning we felt like insisting on having it go in and it ought to have been drawn to our attention some time ago."

The Court then called the State's Attorney to a private consultation, at the close of which Judge McConnell said:

"I take it that the evidence which the State suggests should go into the case. I have considered whether I ought to admit it and have decided to do so. I do not think it will delay the opening of the case to the jury. If I allow it to go in I do not see that it need interfere with the opening of the address to the jury and if you, Mr. Forrest, desire time to answer it I will give you the time. It is a simple matter which can be disposed of at any time."

Police Officer Bartholomew Flynn then testified as follows: When Daniel Coughlin was arrested I was ordered by Lieut. Elliott to take him to the Harrison-street station, which I did. When we got there I searched him in Capt. Bartram's office. Three two knives which I have in my hand I found in his possession. I took the knives and a revolver from Coughlin, took them back to headquarters, went upstairs to Lieut. Elliott's office and then took them down to my box in headquarters and locked them up. They were there until Sept. 16 or 17, when I took them over to the Fidelity vault where they have since remained. Last night I called the attention of Capt. Schuettler to them at East Chicago-avenue station. I took them to him. I did not disclose the fact that I had them to any one prosecuting the case. Ex-Capt Bartram knew that I had the knives, but up to last evening I did not call the attention of any one else to them.

This closed the direct examination and Mr. Forrest moved to exclude the evidence on the ground that the knives had been in the possession of the State ever since Coughlin's arrest.

The motion was overruled.

In the cross-examination the witness said he did not tell the Chief of Police about the knives because it did not occur to him that it was a matter of any consequence. The witness had asked Assistant State's Attorney Elliott for permission to put them in the safe but Mr. Elliott told him he had better take care of them himself, as he was personally responsible for them."

J. Conklin, the man whom Dr. Cronin lived with, was called. He identified the knives as having been carried by Dr. Cronin when alive. The smaller one the witness had himself carried for two years and he then gave it to Dr. Cronin. The larger one the witness said he had found in the street. If they were not Dr. Cronin's knives they looked exactly like them. Dr. Cronin carried the smaller knife in his vest pocket. The witness saw Dr. Cronin use a knife like the smaller one within a week before he was taken away, and probably with in two or three weeks before he saw him have the other on the table where he was writing or sharpening his pencil.

The knives were then admitted in evidence.

Two more witnesses were examined as to matters connected with the saloon opening on the night of May 4. This ended the evidence and the State's Attorney began his address to the jury. Mr. Longenecker said:

GENTLEMEN OF THE JURY,—I want to talk to you in this case about the evidence that you have been hearing from the witnesses. I have no doubt that you twelve men are competent to render such a verdict in this case as will meet the demands of the law. I have no doubt that you are prepared on this evidence to render such a verdict as the evidence warrants you in rendering. What I say to you in this case will be said with the view solely of getting a truthful verdict and nothing else. I have no feeling against these men or their personally. We do not desire that these men shall be given dignity, we do not desire that they shall be convicted upon anything except the law and the evidence. Whether your verdict be to acquit the defendants or convict them, with that verdict the people must be contented. It is possible that in going over the evidence and trusting to memory I may not repeat it just as it is, but I hope you will not charge that I am trying to take advantage of those men who are now on trial for their lives.

We contend that the murder of Dr. Patrick Henry Cronin was brought about by a conspiracy. We claim it was executed and executed and that these men on trial are parties to the conspiracy with others who are not on trial. We further claim that it was a cold-blooded conspiracy, a conspiracy that is without parallel, cold, deliberate, planned, a conspiracy that would chill the blood in the warmest heart, a conspiracy most terrible in its effects. If this is a conspiracy, then it had been planned for weeks before its execution, and if that be true then, gentlemen, you must notice the line of evidence in the case in order to come to a correct conclusion. We claim that this evidence in itself, without showing the connecting point, of itself shows that a conspiracy was executed by those defendants on trial.

It is proven here that the Ghan-na-tieni organization had a Camp 20 named Columbia Club and there was another camp and they both met at Turner Hall and that at the date of which I now intend to speak there had been a contention or split in this organization, different factions had arisen and the two factions had divided. On the recommendation of these two organizations a trial committee was appointed to try the executive body of this organization, the highest power in the order. They were to be tried by a committee selected by the convention that met in the city last year in the month of June. This committee was appointed. On that trial committee Dr. Cronin acted for one faction. It was shown that there were three men called the "triangles" who were being tried by the committee.

Now we will go on to this Camp 20 on Feb. 8. Beginning with the secretary's testimony the State's Attorney told at great length the evidence of the ten witnesses as to the row in Camp 20 growing out of a speech by Cronin's friend Capt. Thomas F. O'Connor and resulting in the appointment of a committee of three to find out how Cronin's camp got information ahead of other camps as to the proceedings at Buffalo.

The State's Attorney claimed that Coughlin, having moved the appointment of the committee, must have been according to usual parliamentary practice made a member and chairman of the committee.

Mr. Longenecker also drew attention to the disclosures of LeCaron, then being made in London, having entered into the camp's discussion with talk of other spies still at work in the order, and that it had been shown the defendant O'Sullivan had expressed a belief that Cronin as a Clan-na-Gael organizer was taking "Deputies" (anti-Catholics) into the order.

The admission of "Deputies" and the premature reading of the Buffalo minority report in Cronin's camp were adverted to by the State's Attorney, as having by direction of the camp been referred by defendant Beggs to the highest officer in the district, Spellman of Peoria. Having narrated the testimony as to this meeting of Feb. 8, the State's Attorney declared: "On that night is when the conspiracy began."

The State's Attorney continued: They all knew that Dr. Cronin was on that Buffalo committee, that he had protested against the report of the majority, that he had a minority report, that he had condemned this ex-executive body and charged upon them the fraud it was reported they had perpetrated. It was Daniel Coughlin who was an enemy of this camp of Dr. Cronin's, who despised and hated Dr. Cronin, who moved that a secret committee be appointed to find out just what they all knew at the time that it had been read by Dr. Cronin in his camp.

The learned counsel contends there was no trial and that we cannot prove there ever was a trial committee appointed. We do not contend that this secret committee was appointed to try Dr. Cronin. Try Dr. Cronin, who thought of contending that they went through the formalities of a trial? We did not, but that that committee was appointed and that it acted and that it settled the whole matter amicably for the ex-executive body we have no doubt. The motion made by Coughlin was that a secret committee of three be appointed to inquire into and investigate the rumors regarding the trial of the ex-executive body. That motion was carried. When we get further into the evidence you will see conclusively what the gist of that matter was.

Remember that it was on Feb. 8 that this committee was ordered. A motion was made by an avowed enemy of Cronin for a secret committee to try him and the records show Martin Burke, Patrick Cooney, John F. Beggs and all these defendants except Patrick O'Sullivan and Kunze were there. Remember—because I want to include defendant Kunze in this case—that if a conspiracy has been formed to commit a crime whoever thereafter joins that conspiracy becomes a party to it and is bound by the acts which have gone before his joining it. On Feb. 8 we had Burke, Coughlin and Beggs at this meeting and on that day Burke was appointed a committee to pass upon the qualification of Matt Danahy's bartender who swears to the alibi that same night. They were getting their friends in then, gentlemen.

Feb. 16 Beggs, the senior guardian of this camp, wrote a letter to Edward Spellman, the district member. On Feb. 17 Spellman answered that letter in which he says he does not know of any authority in the constitution that authorizes him to inflict a penalty. Recollect, gentlemen, they are now talking about penalties. In this letter of Beggs to Spellman the senior guardian directs his attention to Cronin's camp, showing conclusively he knew where that report was read and where it emanated from. Feb. 18 Beggs writes to Spellman that he does not know of any authority under the written law. Feb. 18 Simonds appears and rents the flat at 111 South Clark-street. The furniture is bought and on the 20th the carpet is laid in the Clark-street room. On the night of Feb. 2 Dan Coughlin tells Henry Owen O'Connor that there is an enemy in the camp and that he has it on good authority that it is Dr. Cronin and he is a spy among them. O'Connor would not hear any more and left him.

Take all these letters and if that committee was appointed to find why Dr. Cronin had read that report then there was nothing to make a fuss about, but if these men there believed him to be a spy and a traitor and they wanted to kill him then there is lots in it.

The correspondence between Beggs and Spellman was read in full by the State's Attorney. Continuing he said: When Beggs writes to the district officer he writes about Cronin's camp and Cronin. What is it that moves this senior guardian to say in his letter that those men continually stirring up agitation would find that a day would come to them of punishment? What does Spellman mean when he writes that he hoped there would be unity, that he hoped for better results but that he was greatly disappointed and disgusted and thanked God that his time would expire at the end of the month? Why is it that Beggs stated a majority of the members believed the ex-executive innocent of the charges? Does it not show that Spellman and Beggs in these letters had talked about Cronin and had talked about this whole matter?

Beggs said to have the charges against these men made continually creates bitterness and all feeling and that the men making the charges are not friends of Irish unity. What means this talk about inflicting a penalty on Cronin who had continually and persistently charged that these men were thieves robbers and murderers by sending Irish patriots from this country to English prisons.

An Old Dodge Played Successfully on a Brooklyn Bank

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The cashier of the National City Bank, of Brooklyn, was called to the telephone shortly after 12 o'clock yesterday in answer to a request, said to come from Clapp Brothers, grocers, of No. 972 Fulton street. He was informed that they had despatched a district messenger to the bank with a check for $750, and they hoped he would give the boy the cash. In due time the messenger arrived and the money was handed to him, and he started up town on a Fulton street car,

About half an hour afterward the messenger ran into Clapp Brothers' store and asked if they had drawn a check for $750 on the National City Bank. They had not, and mutual explanations followed. The boy had been sent from the telegraph office in response to a call from a drug store near Clapp Brothers' store. He was met at the drug store by a well dressed young man who handed him the check and told him to bring back the money. On the messenger's return from the bank he met the young man about a block from the drug store and handed him the money. His suspicions were aroused when the stranger started off in a contrary direction from Clapp's store.

On notifying the bank and comparing checks and stubs it was found that the bank had been victimized to the amount of $1200 on checks purporting to have been issued by Clapp Brothers.

The Anti-Slavery Conference.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 29.—The Anti-Slavery Conference is discussing a proposal to establish military stations in the interior of Africa with sufficient forces to overcome slave hunters. The British delegate advocated that war-ships of all the powers represented in the conference shall have the right of search, but limited his motion to dhows and other native craft.

AN AWFUL ATONEMENT

HOW THE EXECUTION OF HARVEY WAS BUNGLED.

The Murderer's Dying Words and Deeds—Firm to the Last—The Price of Blood—The Inquest and Interment.

GUELPH, Nov. 30.—Harvey the murderer has expiated his crime. But in the sentence "to be hanged by the neck till you are dead," there is no contemplation of a slow process of strangulation. This, however, was Harvey's fate at Guelph yesterday. A fearful blunder was committed. Not only was the method of execution new, but the hangman was untried, inexperienced, nervous and incompetent. The result was a "fearsome sight."

And the hideous tragedy came about this wise. When well-nigh two years ago the convict Neil was hanged for the murder of a Central Prison guard at Toronto, a new style of scaffold neither patented nor improved was adopted. It was an experiment and was not a success. Neil was strangulated in pretty quick time but his neck was not dislocated. Sheriff McKim, the commander-in-chief over yesterday's operations, which went agley, adopted "the hoist" plan and had the self-same scaffold brought into operation that was used at the Neil execution in Toronto jail.

And the bungling and blundering of 1887 were repeated and intensified yesterday. The hangman was fresh, the noose too large, the rope too taut, the fall of the weight too short, the pinioning deficient, the culprit too big for the small yet "dismal dark-frowning gallows-tree."

The ghastly result was that Harvey's neck was not broken, that he suffered agonies unspeakable, that contortions, spasms, convulsions and deep groans for fully ten minutes horrified the three score spectators.

At last, after repeated testing of the pulse and examination of the neck, the doctor certified that Harvey was dead, and the livid and purple corpse stiffened in the frosty air and the still keener vice of Death.

Harvey slept soundly from 10.30 till a little after midnight. Then he anxiously asked what time it was, and being answered replied: "Is that all, I have had a nice little sleep." Then tired nature re-asserted herself and he slept for another hour and a half, and so in snatches of slumber his last night on earth was spent.

At 4.45 he voluntarily arose, said he felt refreshed and had enjoyed a good night's rest. He directed the presents for his son and the Archdeacon with a perfectly steady hand. This done he knelt in audible prayer for 40 minutes, again inquired the time, and read his bible until he heard the hour of 6 strike. He then went into the wash-room and spent five minutes in his morning's ablutions which had usually occupied twenty-five. He cordially shook hands with the guard, said "good-bye; try and think well of me."

At 6.30 Sheriff McKim reached the jail. The condemned man said to him: "I have disposed of everything I have, except two scraps of writing which I highly value and will never part with while I've life." Producing them, he got Sheriff McKim's permission to keep them in his right hand secured thereto with a tight elastic band. The incident was a touching one and tears bedewed good-hearted Mac's face when told the one was from "my boy, saying he forgives his poor father," and the other "the last letter written me by one of my dear girls, sending her best love to dear father." True, one touch of nature makes the whole world kind, though the brand of Cain be on the brow!

Archdeacon Dixon and Rev. G. B. Cooke of Acton arrived precisely at 7 o'clock. They remained with the condemned man until the fatal hour. The touching Church of England burial service was read in the cell at Harvey's request. He said, "I want as little outside ceremony as possible." This well-known service over a living man, to which the one about to die audibly responded, being ended, the prisoner knelt in the corner of his cell for several minutes in private prayer. Said both the Archdeacon and Mr. Cooke, "We believe him to be truly penitent and prepared to meet his God." He was gently reminded that he had made no "confession" as to the murders, to which he replied that "the whole matter is to me a blank."

As the last stroke of 8 sounded the procession emerged into the jail yard, more than ankle deep in snow. Rev. G. B. Cooke led the van, the Archdeacon in his white surplice and black skull cap immediately following; then came the pinioned prisoner arm-in-arm with the tear-stained sheriff and a posse of officials and visitors as the rearguard.

Said Mr. Sheriff: "Harvey, have you any statement to make?"

"None whatever, sir," was the calm response.

The amateur hangman (whose only practic in his new profession had been "the hanging" of a bag of cinders the day before) then produced the ominous black cap, and he being like Zaccheus of old, short of stature and the condemned man tall, there was more delay in the adjustment of the cap. Meanwhile in a voice broken with pity and charged with pathos the Archdeacon prayed. The Benediction was then pronounced; the prisoner's legs secured together by a leather strap above the knees; the recitation of the Lord's Prayer commenced: "Our Father, Who art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name; Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth——"

Here Jack Ketch, John Doe, Richard Roe, whatever be his name, severed with a sharp chisel the connecting strip of rope (which had kept the 380 pound weight suspended a yard from the ground) and with a thud it struck the frozen ground and up shot the body of Harvey, whilst a thrill of horror passed over all.

Harvey's hands were lone another mistake and blunder on the hangman's part; and these worked convulsively. The ankles were not pinioned as they should have been, and the legs were drawn up and out as far as the higher strap would allow in fearful style. Groans as those of a wild animal in dire distress came from the choking wretch. Dr. Herod announced that death terminated the sufferings at the end of ten minutes.

Jack Ketch received $50 for his services and disappeared.

The jury returned the usual verdict with a rider to the effect that the government be requested to appoint an official expert executioner.

The only one given to the Harvey defence [illegible] and was interred by the side of the [illegible] in the cemetery [illegible] church.

THE LADIES!

A New and Distinct Form of Disease which is Afflicting Canadian Women.

How some of Them Regained Fresh Complexion, Perfect Health and Superb Physical Beauty.

A great London Physician says that he notes a new and distinct form of nervous disease produced in Canadian women by worry about servants and overwork in caring for the home. This is only too true. It is why we see so many ladies pale, weak, languid, and suffering from headaches and innumerable weaknesses. They cannot stand the strain upon their nervous system. Many of them have found the means to sustain their failing strength, to give color to the cheeks, and new life and vigor to the body, in Paine's Celery Compound. This pure and scientific remedy is especially adapted to the needs of woman, and is daily making the most remarkable cures. Mrs. W. E. Cooper, 360 St. Hypolite St., Montreal, was for a long time troubled with nervous headaches, loss of appetite, low spirits, etc. After using the Compound, her headaches disappeared, appetite was good, and her spirits revived.

Annie Gourley, of River Beaudette, P.Q., found the Compound a certain cure for weakness, and now feels as well as she ever did.

Many a Canadian lady has the same reason to be grateful.

Paine's Celery Compound can be purchased at any druggist's for one dollar a bottle. If he should not have it on hand, order direct from WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., MONTREAL.

The Trent Valley Canal.

The Scheme Being Urged Upon the Government--Steps Taken to Place Evidence Before the Commission--A Few Facts in Support of the Canal.

The public meeting of the Board of Trade and citizens in the council chamber room Friday evening was not largely attended. There were present, besides the President, Mr. Geo. Hilliard, who occupied the chair, and Mr. J. Hampden Burnham, Secretary, the following:—Messrs. Jas. Stevenson, Geo. A. Cox, Jno. Carnegie, J. M. Irwin, T. G. Hazlitt, T. Cahill, H. T. Strickland, D. W. Dumble, R. B. Rogers, Wm. Manson, R. Innes, Thos. A. Hay, D. Belleghem, E. Fair, J. W. Bennett, Geo. Pope, R. Lindsay, F. H. Dobbin, J. E. Belcher, A. J. Belcher, E. H. D. Hall and others.

OPENING THE SUBJECT.

The CHAIRMAN, in opening, announced the object of the meeting to be the discussion of ways and means of laying evidence before the Trent Valley Canal Commission, and urged upon the meeting the necessity of interesting the people at large and pointing out that it was of greater importance than was generally supposed.

Mr. CARNEGIE said they all knew the Commission was to meet here next week to take evidence, and the question was, who was prepared to give evidence? Hard facts were wanted to induce the Government to continue the work. He understood the Commission intended to sit also at Lindsay, Barrie, Orillia, Trenton and other places. Another question open to consideration was whether they should not make an attack upon the estimates of the cost of the work. For instance the Government estimate for the work between Lakefield and Peterborough is put down at $1,400,000, whereas Mr. Rubidge estimates the cost at $1,200,000. He supposed other items were equally open to question. Mr. Carnegie pointed out that the section affected by the canal from here to Lakefield produced last year five million bushels of grain, and the question was, what advantage would that be to this vicinity in the grain trade, to say nothing of minerals and other products?

Mr. H. T. STRICKLAND, referring to Mr. Carnegie's comparison of figures regarding the estimate for removing a portion of the railway near Nassau to make room for the canal, showed that the proposed estimate of removal was five times the cost of original construction, an altogether exorbitant estimate he considered.

Mr. J. M. IRWIN said it appeared to him to be more important that they should gain the interest and information of representative men rather than picking at the figures of the cost. He was told that Mr. Dalton McCarthy supported the scheme. It was also important to decide what link of the canal should be completed first. He considered it best for the Board of Trade to invite some representative men to hold a conference as to what steps should be taken.

MEN OF INFORMATION.

Mr. HILLIARD said there should be no rivalry regarding the sectional completion of the work. He believed in letting the Government proceed as it liked, but if the Peterborough section was completed first, he had no doubt the whole canal would be finished, as it was the central portion. To begin at either end would create rivalry between the north and south. Mr. Hilliard mentioned a couple of gentlemen as being able to give valuable information, Messrs. J. A. Aylmer and A. J. Belcher, engineers.

Mr. IRWIN mentioned Mr. Thos. Munro, Chief Engineer of the Welland Canal.

Mr. DUMBLE said he was in possession of no facts. He understood what they wanted, and said he had always based the need of the canal upon the grain trade of the west. He had strong impressions upon this point once, but the rail and waterways had made such recent rapid advances that his impressions were diminished. It involved a tremendous cost and the government should be careful before undertaking it. Unless the result of the Commission showed the expenditure to be justifiable the government would not be justified in proceeding. He would, of course, like to see the locks built from here to Lakefield as a part of the canal, but did not believe any local interest would justify its being built.

Mr. HILLIARD thought the canal would be a remedy against pools and combines on railway lines, and as to the improved waterway, a route of this kind could successfully compete with the lake traffic. This was the crisp in the canal scheme, as if the Commission did not report favorably the government would be only too glad to get out of it.

A MOTION.

It was moved by Mr. Irwin, seconded by Mr. Stevenson, that this Board of Trade in view of the early sitting of the Commission in connection with the construction of the Trent Valley Canal, do recommend a committee to invite some representative men from Barrie, Orillia, Trenton, Campbellford, Bobcaygeon and Lindsay to meet here and unite on a policy in regard to the class of evidence to be brought before the Commission, and also unite in recommending where the next appropriation for the construction of the canal should be spent, the expenses of the visitors to be paid.

Mr. STEVENSON said the evidence so far placed before the Commission was not such as they had expected. They were not restrained as they should have been according to promise. Even in town their efforts were disheartening, and the Montreal men who had promised support were now against them. They say the vessels which would pass through the Trent Valley Canal could not compete with those of Welland or Sault Canals. There were also other schemes afloat. For instance, the Mayor of Trenton had been at Ottawa trying to get a charter for a railway line from the front to Georgian Bay in order to do away with the canal—and the charter was granted. They take no interest in the canal—they say it is altogether a Peterborough matter. He had also a member of conversations with Chief Engineer Page, who suggested, if we wished anything done, that we deal with it from a local point of view. If the division from Lakefield to Peterborough was built he considered we could prove to the government that it was of immense local benefit. Do not depend on foreign trade, he said, but entirely on local. Regarding the Lakefield branch, Mr. Stevenson said he spoke to Mr. Page of Mr. Stark's plan to dam the river and build the locks at the foot of the dams, and thereby reducing the expense. Mr. Page did not agree with Mr. Stark. The expense would not be in the building of the dams, but in maintaining them, and they would give great trouble afterwards. Then Mr. Page did not think the government should sanction such a plan, but considered they were committed to a certain extent to the completion of the Lakefield branch. Mr. Stevenson urged that every effort should be made to place proper evidence before the Commission, more especially of for he believed if the Lakefield division was built it would lead to the ultimate completion of the whole route. He was assured that two of the Commissioners were favorable to the scheme, and if any solid evidence could be put before them they would, no doubt, report that way.

Mr. HILLIARD enquired if the matter was taken up from a local stand point, would not the government throw the whole scheme on the local government.

Mr. STEVENSON said he did not think so; no such intimation had been made.

Mr. CAHILL proposed that the names of gentlemen whom it was proposed to bring here be made out to night. He also enquired if there was a fund to pay the expenses of these men.

Mr. STEVENSON said there was a fund in connection with the Association.

Mr. STRICKLAND said that even since the Trent Valley Canal had been proposed trade had been developed which was not expected. He mentioned the fact that stone was now being shipped from Stony Lake to Toronto, and if it could be brought to Peterborough and the competition of two lines of railway secured, there was no telling what advantage would result.

THE COMMISSION'S POWER.

There was some discussion as to what powers the Commission had in bringing witnesses before them. The Secretary stated that Judge Weller, a member of the Commission, told him the Commission had power to subpœna witnesses to appear before them, and were willing to use their privilege if requested to.

It was proposed to bring Mr. Stark, of Montreal, before the commission. Mr. Dumble didn't see what was the need of it, but Mr. Irwin pointed out it might be well to have him to explain the difference of 40 per cent between his estimate and that of Mr. Rudidge. He said there was an evident tendency on the part of Mr. Rudidge to exaggerate figures, as he had it from Mr. Goodwin that he was prepared to tender for the contract for the local branch, and he promised his figures would be within the million.

A COMMITTEE APPOINTED.

There was some discussion as to the best plan to procure evidence to place before the commission, and finally on Mr. Cahill's suggestion the chairman named a committee consisting of Messrs. Stevenson, Irwin and John Barnham, to act with Mr. John Carnegie, Secretary, for the purpose of mapping out a plan of campaign and inviting the conference of representative men suggested in Mr. Irwin's resolution.

Mr. IRWIN withdrew his resolution, it being considered that the one just passed covered the point.

Mr. STEVENSON pointed out that in the course of a few years the wood supply will fail and soft coal would be largely used in factories along the line of the canal, and it could be brought in far cheaper direct by boat from Cleveland than by rail. In ten years he believed ten thousand tons of coal would be used in this valley.

The meeting then dispersed.

Ashburnham Brevities.

The snow plough made its first round Thursday, and truly it's a boon to those who are unfortunate enough to have to turn out through the snow these days. It would be an improvement if there were two of those p'oughs, as the streets then could be cleared earlier in the morning.

A hint to some is sufficient. Any one met on the street for the next four weeks, wearing a smile from ear to ear, may be spotted as a candidate for municipal honors.

There is no very good reason why there should not be a high school on this side the river. The necessary accommodation could be obtained. The old school could be easily made to suit all the purposes. Whoever condemned this building for school purposes must have been bonused by some interested parties, as it is now a good deal better than many school buildings in some larger towns. There are some twenty-five pupils eligible for attending a high school in this village, and there would be many more if a high school were located here. Hastings county has four high schools and next year it will have five. If a county whose dues not possess anything like the wealth this county does, maintains five high schools, then surely three could be maintained here.

OLD HUTCH BOOSTS CORN.

A CORNER IN THE NOVEMBER OPTION AT CHICAGO.

Expected to Reach the Dollar Mark—Other Months Stimulated—The Business Outlook—The Week's Failures.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—After a long interval of comparative neglect the corn market today commanded once more a position interesting to speculators. A corner in the present month's delivery quickly developed itself but did not at first give token of the amount of force which lay behind it. So unprepared were the keen scalpers that one of them sold 10,000 bushels for November delivery at 85⅝ cents, "just for a scalp," as he said when he made the sale. A few minutes later he paid 41 cents to get it back. The opening price of November was 83⅛ and about the same time sales were made at from 84 to 84⅜. The price quickly advanced amid great excitement to 85, 86⅛, 89⅛, then off to 88, then upward once more reaching on the second stretch 90 cents.

Influences outside of the corner were ignored and the December delivery received some stimulus from the fact that the parties said to be the principal holders of seller-the-month contracts had been heavy purchasers of December. There is only about 550,000 bushels of No. 2 and No. 3 yellow corn in store here now, so the cornering of this month's delivery is no difficult matter seeing that to-morrow is the last day for delivery. There was a fair amount of activity in the other features and an advance all around was in the end established, November closing at 85 bid.

There were all sorts of rumors about the deal. Some people thought it was run by Jack Cudahy while others had it that it was the work of Eastern traders and still others thought certain wealthy men were back of it. Quite a number claimed Hutchinson was short 400,000 bushels of corn but others were confident he was running the deal. This was the way he sprang his great wheat corner last year and it was regarded as a significant fact that he paid 81 cents for car lots of cash No. 2 corn this morning just after some had been sold for 55. It is predicted the price will be up to $1 to-morrow.

THE PULSE OF TRADE.

Bradstreet's Review of the Week's Business—The Chicago Corn Corner.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's indicate the continuance of a fairly active movement of general merchandise, though the intervention of a holiday and unfavorable weather tended to restrict the volume of trade. Hogs are lower on heavy receipts at the west, but pork and lard under a fair demand have been firm at moderate advances. Eastern Texas mills are shipping lumber to Central and South America.

Stock speculation is disturbed and prices depressed by the prominence of financial and currency questions among the probabilities of the coming Congress. A judicial decision against the validity of the Chicago Gas Trust causes depression in the trusts and weakens the general market. Money at New York is firm and inactive at 6 to 7 per cent. on call. Foreign exchange is quiet, demand sterling $4.84⅝ to $4.85.

Iron and steel markets maintain their strength without noteworthy changes. The output is very heavy, there are practically no stocks in the hands of producers and consumers, with moderate supplies for near wants, are watching the course of the markets. Rolling and structural iron mills, bridge iron and pipe establishments are rushed with work. Copper is quite strong, at late advances some cash sales being recorded at 13⅞ to 14¼c.

The exports of wheat (including flour) from both coasts show a further decrease this week, being 1,706,782 bushels against 1,989,462 bushels last week and, 788,811 bushels in the last week of Nov., 1888. The total shipped abroad, July 1 to date, is 42,534,513 bushels against 45,717,811 bushels in a like portion of 1888 and 65,000,000 bushels in 1887. Depression in breadstuffs continues. Flour is off 5 to 15c. per barrel on heavy receipts and offerings. Wheat at the close of inland water navigation has also been hurried forward, but on light export demand is ¼ to ½c. lower. Offerings of Indian corn have been so free that the improved demand did not prevent a decline of ⅛ to ¼c. A speculative twist at Chicago ran the price from 83⅛c to 62. Demand for oats is light and prices are ¼c lower.

A falling off in arrivals of raw sugar, stimulating advices from Europe, urgent requirements on the part of refiners and only moderate offerings by holders hardened prices ⅛ to ¼c. Some extensive contracts of refined ran ahead of production, and prices advanced ⅛c. Speculative prices of coffee remain about steady.

Business failures reported to Bradstreet's number 205 in the United States this week against 220 last week and 188 this week last year. Canada had 36 this week against 34 last week. The total of failures in the United States Jan. 1 to date is 10,372 against 9160 in 1888.

Dun-Wiman's Review.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Dun Wiman & Co's weekly review of trade will say: Two heavy fires with aggregate losses estimated at $15,000,000 or more may have an influence upon several branches of trade which cannot yet be estimated. Prior to the Boston fire the boot and shoe trade there had been quite paralyzed by the fire at Lynn and as to the leather trade little advance was anticipated, while here it was by many expected that temporary withdrawal of demand would cause some fall in leather. The Boston fire of Thursday destroyed heavy stocks of goods and will doubtless affect the demand. In both cities will arise a sudden demand for Rebuilding materials and labor. Heavy concurrent loses may shake some in surance companies and affect the finances of firms burned out, but the general prosperity and the large accumulation of available capital will probably render the influence of these disasters comparatively narrow and brief. In other respects the situation is quite as encouraging as it has been for some weeks past. The volume of business is unimproved and the pressure in money markets though not ended here has seemed to be abating elsewhere.

AYER'S PILLS Sugar-Coated Cathartic

If the Liver becomes torpid, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which I suffered from General Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.—W. T. Brightney, Henderson, W. Va.

For years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than anything else, to my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, and Dyspepsia. G. F. Miller, Attleborough, Mass.

Regulate

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not be without them.—Morris Gates, Downsville, N. Y.

I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice, and was so dangerously ill that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor.—John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebraska.

Last spring I suffered greatly from a troublesome humor on my side. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with Indigestion, and distressing pains in

The Bowels.

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured.—Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored.—Theodore Ealing, Richmond, Va.

An Awful Sore Limb

Skin Entirely Gone. Flesh a mass of disease. Leg Diminished one third in size. Condition hopeless. Cured by Cuticura Remedies in two months.

Cured by Cuticura.

For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle; the skin was entirely gone and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians prononced it incurable. It diminished about one third the size of the other and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the result was as follows:—After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified, and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh formed to over, and to day, and for nearly two years past my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen. S. G. AHERN, Dubois, Dodge Co., Ga.

Skin Disease 17 years.

I have been troubled with a skin and scalp disease for seventeen years. My head at times was one running sore and my body was covered with boils as large as a half dollar. I tried a great many remedies without effect until I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and am thankful to state that after two months of their use I am entirely cured. I feel it my duty to you and the public to make the above statement.

How to Lace Your Shoes.

Not one person in a thousand laces his shoes correctly. The correct way is to put your foot when you are about to lace your shoe as much as possible in the heel of the shoe. You can do this best by lacing your shoes with the heel of your shoe resting in a chair standing in front of the one you are seated on. Over the instep the laces should be drawn as tightly as possible. This will hold your foot back in the shoe, giving the toes freedom and preventing their being cramped. Lace about the ankle to suit your comfort.—New York Truth.

Coughs, Colds, Croup.

Allen's Lung Balsam was introduced to the public after its merits for the positive cure of such diseases had been fully tested. It excites expectoration and causes the Lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; changes the secretions and purifies the blood; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is warranted to break up the most distressing cough in a few hours' time, if not of too long standing. It contains no opium in any form and is warranted to be perfectly harmless to the most delicate child. There is no real necessity for so many deaths by consumption when Allen's Lung Balsam will prevent it if only taken in time. For Consumption, and all diseases that lead to it, such as Coughs, neglected Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma and all diseases of the Lungs ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the Great Modern Remedy. For Croup and Whooping Cough it is almost a specific. It is an old standard remedy, and sold universally at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. The 25 cent bottles are put out to answer the constant call for a Good and Low-Priced COUGH CURE. If you have not tried the Balsam, call for a 25-cent bottle to test it.

A Bad Fall.

Mr. Herbert Dix, a bricklayer employed on the new market building, this morning fell from the principals on the roof to the joists of the second floor, a distance of 23 feet. He was taken to his home on Albert street, where Dr. Pigeon is attending. It is thought no bones are broken, but serious bruises have resulted.

A Railway Accident.

Mr. Val Karl, a young man living on Sherbrooke street, had his right leg broken Friday afternoon. He was working on the C.P.R. at Agincourt, where some steel rails were being laid, and in moving some rails off the lorry a couple of them fell against his leg, fracturing it below the knee. He was brought to his home here and placed under medical treatment.

Miss Anna Howden's reputation as a soloist is too well established in Peterborough to need any comment. These two ladies are to give an entertainment in the George street Methodist church, Tuesday evening, December 10th, 1889. Admission only 25 cents. Proceeds in aid of the Sunday school. 1d

The Rumor Incorrect.

A reporter of the EXAMINER met Mr. J. B. McWilliams this morning when the following conversation took place:—

"Mr. McWilliams, it is reported that you or some of your friends for you have been making overtures to Mr. Colbeck or his solicitor with a view to an amicable settlement of the difficulty between you?"

"There is not a word of truth in it," was Mr. McWilliams' emphatic reply.

"I suppose you have no objection to my publishing that statement?"

"None whatever."

SONS OF THE HEATHER.

Celebration of St. Andrew's Day.

The Thirtieth Annual Supper a Signal Success—Spread in Their Ain Ha'—A Hundred Scotchmen Foregather—The Ladies Grace the Occasion—The Banquet—The Toasts, Songs and Speeches.

To-day Scotchmen can look back on their celebration of St. Andrew's Day this year with satisfaction and pride. It is no exaggeration to describe their last annual supper as the best of the series of thirty that have been held under the auspices of the local St. Andrew's Society. One pleasing feature was the fact that it was held in their own new and handsome hall, which was filled with over a hundred enthusiastic Scotchmen, with many of their wives and children—another new and important departure.

The hall had been beautifully decorated—bravely bushit, for the occasion; the adornments included a lavish display of evergreens and well arranged festoons of tartans. Over the arch, dividing the hall in two parts was, on one side the motto "Bonnie Scotland, the Land we Love," and on the other "The Day an' a' wha Honour it." While the guests were taking their places the venerable piper Donald McDonald delighted them with selections on the pipe.

THE BANQUET.

At 8.30 the company sat down to the splendid spread prepared and served by Mr. Harry Long, and after a blessing had been pronounced by Rev. Mr. Torrance, the Chaplain of the Society, the guests fell to and many and well deserved were the words of praise bestowed upon the excellence and variety of the viands, and the tasteful manner in which the tables were laid, the presence of blooming flowers and other adornments being very pleasant features. The play of knife and fork did not prevent the flow of social intercourse. Every tongue took on a broader burr and many were the reminiscences of the auld land exchanged, showing, as Burns expresses it in his Holy Fair, that all were "in famous tune for cracks that day." Of course the haggis,

"Great chieftain of the puddin' race," steamed "warm-reekin'" on the festive board, and natives to the manor born as they partook of it with reverent gusto, pronounced it "vera guid"—a meed of praise which the good lady who prepared it, Mrs. Hendry, wife of the 1st Vice-President, can well appreciate.

During the supper the Fire Brigade Orchestra rendered in excellent style several selections, including medleies of Scotch airs, etc., which were highly appreciated.

THE FEAST OF REASON.

After the removal of the cloth, the toast list was entered upon. The re-elected President, Mr. Cameron, proposed in a few neat and loyal remarks the toast of "The Queen," which was right royally honored. This was followed by the toast proposed by the President of "The Governor-General and Houses of Parliament."

Mr. J. R. STRATTON, M.P.P., in rising to respond was warmly received. After referring to the several representatives of Her Majesty sent to Canada, he paid a warm tribute to those of Scotch birth, particularly insisting upon the good qualities of the Marquis of Lorne. Adverting to the representative portion of the toast, after paying a high tribute to the sterling qualities of the Scotch national character, the speaker pointed out that the head of the Dominion Government as well as of the Ontario Government were Scotchmen and they seemed to have both the faculty of winning and retaining the confidence of the people. The Scotch element in the Local Legislature was a most important one. The members of the local house the speaker, thought, no matter how ardent party men they might be elsewhere, when in the house had, as a general rule the interests of the province at heart, and laboured honestly for the promotion of those interests. The speaker closed his remarks with a humorous reference to the presence of the ladies, and to the domestic virtues of Scotch representatives of the gentler sex.

Mr. J. Hendry, first vice-president, in an eulogistic address proposed the toast of the "Army, Navy and Volunteers." Song—"Rule Britannia."

Capt. DENNISTOUN, in replying, deprecated the complaining of croakers as to the inutility and great expense of the British military establishment. He showed that a formidable standing army was the best guarantee of peace. The necessity of the Army to Britain carrying out her schemes of conquest and the spread of the principles of civilization and all the benefits that followed the British flag—the abolition of slavery and the replacement of barbarism by the highest type of civilization and civil liberty were dealt with in eloquent terms. A warm tribute was paid to Canadian volunteers, their gallant deeds in the defence of Canada from 1812 to 1885, particular praise being given to the noble 5000 which in 1885 took part in suppressing the rebellion in the Northwest. Capt. Dennistoun concluded a neat and patriotic speech amidst hearty applause.

PRESIDENT CAMERON in introducing the toast of toasts, "The Day an' a' wha Honour it", paid a warm tribute to Scotia's patron Saint, and read a poetical greeting from a member of the Hamilton St. Andrew's Society. Of course this toast was received with all the honours. Mrs. VanEvery sang in a very pleasing manner the stirring song "The March of the Cameron Men," which was greeted with loud applause.

At this point Mayor Stevenson entered and was warmly received.

Mr. G. M. ROGER in responding to this, pointed out that he must indeed be a renegade Scotchman, who, unmindful of the glories of his native land, was ashamed to acknowledge it in his adopted home. The sterling qualities of the Scotch character in all the walks of life, were eloquently detailed, the speaker summing up his eulogy in the beautiful apostrophe: "last in the list of crime, first in the list of fame." Scotchmen held the leading positions in politics, the learned professions and commerce. Their indomitible energy and patient thrift overcame all obstacles. He indicated as the secret of Scotch success the prominent place given the Bible in the Scottish home, and the mighty moral influences that sprang from it. After referring to the high qualities that had distinguished their forefathers, the speaker concluded by saying that it was a high ambition for Scotchmen to be as good men as their fathers were.

Mr. WM. TELFORD, the Bard, being called on for his annual poem, prefaced the reading of "Thirty Years Ago" by remarking that this was his thirtieth St. Andrew's supper, and he mentioned it as a coincidence that the gentleman who brought him to the first St. Andrew's supper was the same that so ably filled the President's chair to night. The poem was of unusual merit, and will be published in an early issue of the EXAMINER.

Mr. G. Noble proposed in well set terms, the toast "The Land We Live in." Song—"Maple Leaf," lead by Miss Sophie Cameron, who also sang very sweetly "Coming Through the Rye," and in response to a recall gave with great pathos, "Robin Adair."

Mr. J. H. LONG responded to the toast in a capital speech, captially delivered. He eulogised the Scotch, and pointed out the distinction they had achieved—their military prowess—their high position in song and art and statesmanship. These qualities had been developed under adverse circumstances of climate, soil, and were chiefly traceable to the deep religious feeling—in its widest sense,—this begetting a high sense of duty, and this in turn begetting patriotism. These qualities were such as were needed in Canada — Toleration in its broadest sense—a recognition of the fact that one may differ from you and still be right—healthy national sentiment—a healthy patriotism were also Canadian needs. Mr. Long concluded his address amidst loud applause.

Mr. BENDRY proposed the ladies in very gallant terms. Mr. Wm. Mercer sang the eqropos ballad, "Green Grow the Rashes, O," and Mr. R. E. Hall responded on behalf the ladies in so gallant and complimentary a vein, that a full report would imperil the integrity of his bachelor status. Mr. Bard Telford also read a special poem in praise of the ladies.

Capt. DENNISTOUN, proposed the Mayor and Corporation, to which Mayor Stevenson responded. He believed the municipal representatives did their best for the interests of the town. In compliment to the race he described Scotland as the back-bone of the British Empire. With the remarks respecting the religious nature of the Scotch in his mind the Mayor referred to the deplorable fact the German Italian and French were displacing Englishmen from the great cities. These classes ignored the claims of religion, and as a consequence these cities were undergoing a lamentable moral degeneration, in contrast to the moral condition of Scotland. A plea was made for Canada keeping her present condition and patiently working out her great destiny.

Mr. Ex President Cumming proposed the "Learned Professions." Mrs. VanEvery contributed a patriotic song "Canada," and being very warmly encored gave in good style "Chatter in the Air." Mr. G. M. Roger acknowledged the toast in fitting terms.

Mr. Secretary Menzies gave the toast of "Our Guests", followed by a capital song by Mr. Hendry. The toast was acknowledged by Mr W. P. Beebanan, of Montreal, and others.

Mr. John Ballantyne gave a very humorous Scooch reading.

"The Tinker's Wedding," was the title of a song by Mr. W. Breckenridge, which brought him an encore.

The toast of the "Press" brought to their feet Mr. Stratton, of the EXAMINER, and Mr. McKay, of the Review.

This concluded the toast list, and thus concluded, perhaps the most successful of the St. Andrew's Society supper.

NOTES.

The Committee, as well as the whole company, felt themselves greatly indebted to Mrs. Wm. VanEvery and Miss Sophie Cameron for their valuable services during the evening. Both ladies, as is well known, have carefully cultivated voices, and have already won a local reputation, but their singing seemed to grow even more rich and mellow as they sang the grand old songs so dear to Scotchmen's hearth.

The bard seemed as young as he used to be some "thirty" years ago. He was in fine trim and spoke and read his two poems with the distinctness and effect of an elocutionist.

A notable feature of the gathering was the presence of several veterans, whose "frosty pows" gave a pathetic dignity to the assemblage. It is said that there were three gentlemen present whose ages averaged 90 years,—Mr. Piper Donald McDonald, Mr. Wm. Learmouth and Mr. Archibald Haggart. But last night they were, in the enjoyment of the occasion, as young as the youngest.

The Decoration Committee were very proud of the two principal mottoes which adorned both sides of the arch, and which extended the full breadth of the hall. They were: "Bonnie Scotland, the Land we Love," and "The Day and a' wha Honor It." Credit is due to Mr. Thomas Gillespie, the chairman of this committee, who had the idea carried out. They were painted on wood in ornamental letters of bright colours and varnished, and were the handiwork of Mr. Roadhouse, in P. Hamilton's agricultural works.

Mr. John Watson also contributed to the interior decorations of the hall by executing two squares in ornamental paper decoration on the ceiling, which were admired by all.

President Cameron and all the officers of the Society were present and showed that they had good Scotch tongues in their heads. Each one was heard from during the evening and acquitted himself with credit.

A Pastoral Presentation.

A Surprise Party at the George Street Church Parsonage—A Pleasant Meeting between Pastor and People.

Last evening the residence of the Rev. M. L. Pearson was the scene of a very pleasant event. Mr. and Mrs. Pearson had been very adroitly induced to leave the parsonage during the afternoon, and possession was immediately taken by a large number of ladeis and gentlemen. At 6 30 p.m. when tables had been served and all preparations made, the Rev. gentleman and wife were brought in, and a thoroughly genuine surprise seemed to be theirs. The audience arose and sang "Praise God from Whom all Blessings Flow," after which the Rev. G. H. Davis led in prayer. From this until nine o'clock the time was occupied partaking of the good things which existed in great abundance. When the inner man had been satisfied and tables cleared, the Rev. Mr. Pearson and wife were called forward and presented with an address, which was read by the chairman, P. D. Goldsmith, M. D., on behalf of their many friends, who wished to express at this particular time, feelings of affection and regard. Following is a copy of the address:—

To Rev. M. L. Pearson, Pastor of the George Street Methodist Church, Peterborough:

REV. AND DEAR SIR,—The presence here this evening of a large number of the members of your congregation no doubt surprises you, but we are desirous of giving you some evidence of the esteem in which you are held by us. We have sat under your ministrations since you came to this church in July, 1888, and have been edified by your discourses, encouraged by your able exposition of Christian truth, and benefitted by your counsel and advice. We have recognized that you have laboured for the advancement of the interests of the congregation, and for the spiritual benefit of its members, and we are pleased to be able to assure you that your labors have, under the blessing of God, not been in vain, but have met with success.

While we know that you look to Him whose minister you are for approval of your work, we hope you will accept these expressions of our esteem for you as a clergyman of the Methodist Church and minister of the Gospel of Christ, and that you will also accept, as a further token of that esteem, this chair, which we hope will remind you of the many firm friends you have in Peterborough. We would also ask Mrs. Pearson to kindly accept the accompanying chair, as a slight token of our friendship for her.

Our earnest prayer is that you may be given strength for many years to come to preach the Gospel that you love, and to work, as you have done during a long and successful ministerial career, for the advancement of the kingdom of God, and at the same time we assure you of our good wishes for the welfare of yourself and family.

Signed on behalf of the committee,

J. W. Doxsee,	H. C. Winch.

Accompanying this address were two most handsome chairs, one a swinging chair, for Mrs. Pearson, the other a large study chair, for the pastor. Mr. Pearson spoke in reply most feelingly, and yet very appropriately. He stated that such kindness had never been shown him, and that his feelings at this time were such as could not find words for expression. He pardoned the friends for their forcible entrance upon his premises, and thanked them all for the invariable kindness which had ever been shown himself and partner. In concluding Mr. Pearson expressed the hope that when the friendships of earth were severed they might all meet together around the throne of God in heaven, where no misunderstanding will arise, and peace and good-will shall ever reign.

Until a late hour speeches and songs were the orders of the evening. The musical part of the programme was principally furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Daly, who more than delighted the audience with their singing. Speeches were made by the Revs. Davis, Parker, Shorey, Wilson, Leitch, Messrs. Hartley, Rutherford and others. Between the hours of 11 and 12 the large gathering broke up, and retired, expressing the unanimous feeling that such a pleasant evening is rarely spent, and the hopes that their pastor and his wife and family might long live to enjoy the blessings and friendship of life.

The Pupils' Presentation.

Mr. F. C. Colbeck Presented with a Case By His Pupils—Copy of the Address.

Friday afternoon about four o'clock the pupils of the Collegiate Institute gathered together in one room and called in Mr. F. C. Colbeck, B.A., Language Master. The following address was read by Mr. J. McCann:—

Mr. F. C. COLBECK, B.A.:—

DEAR FRIEND AND TEACHER,—We the undersigned having enjoyed the advantages of your tuition while you have been a teacher in the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, knowing, that your are about to leave our school, desire to express our gratitude to you for the active interest you have always taken in our welfare and the zeal you have shown in endeavoring to make us careful and thoughtful students. Although sometimes inattentive we fully appreciate your efforts in our behalf. We feel we cannot allow you to leave us without some expression of our confidence and esteem for you both as a competent teacher and an honorable Christian gentleman, and we would ask you to accept this small token of our regard for you.

In your new field of labor we hope that you may enjoy all the pleasures and as few as possible of the annoyances attending a teacher's calling.

Wishing you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, we are,

Your respectful pupils,

The address was signed by the pupils of the School.

The gift referred to was a handsome gold headed cane, with Mr. Colbeck's name engraved on the head. Miss Bessie Burt made the presentation.

Afterwards Mr. Colbeck made a suitable and feeling reply, and Mr. J. H. Long, Principal, and Mr. Fife, Science Master, delivered short addresses.

SHORT AND SWEET, BUT TRUTHFUL.

An Honest Offer that all can Plainly Understand, and that People can Respect and put Confidence in.

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 22nd, 1889.

GENTLEMEN:—

We want to say a few words to you just now. They will be plain and to the point; better still—they will be truthful, and therefore worth reading:—

1st.—We have a large stock of bran new tailor-made Overcoats for Men and Boys. They are made of honest cloth, well sewed, and stylishly got up, and will fit and wear as well as if you left your measure—not the kind they make up for bankrupt stocks.

2nd.—You can have your pick of any of these Overcoats for Less Money than you can buy a similar coat that may be offered to you by any other dealer in Ontario.

3rd.—You are at liberty to look through all the stores in Town and then come to the City Clothing Store, when we will undertake to fit you Properly with a Better Overcoat, at a Less price than any bona fide offer that may have been made to you.

4th.—We will, likewise, agree to make the same offer hold good for Suits of Clothing, Coat, Pants or Vests, and include Scotch and Canadian Woollen Underwear in the bargain.

5th.—If you want to leave your Measure for a Suit or Overcoat, the same offer holds good in this department also.

6th.—This offer will stand until the middle of January, 1890, when we expect to have clothed every man and boy who intends buying clothing this winter, who is shrewd enough to know the difference between wool and shoddy. We mean business.

Respectfully yours,

M. LeBRUN & CO.

To the Public.

Our aim has been and will continue to be to give the consumer the highest grade of goods consistent with prices charged. We do not manufacture so-called cheap cigars; fine goods are our specialty. Purchasing only the best of tobaccos, irrespective of price, we are in a position to manufacture as fine a class of goods as can be obtained anywhere: Havana not excepted. Insist upon having our well known brands, "Cable," "El Padre" "Mungo," and "Madre E Hijo," and thereby obtain full value for your money. The immense sums expended in introducing our goods, the exceptionally fine quality of tobacco used in their manufacture, and the labor of nearly half a century should convince the most skeptical that the quality of same will not be allowed to deteriorate. ms

Clean Things.

Only those who make clean money and do clean things, win success. "Kidd" is prepared to supply you with ready made clothing, cheaper than any other dealer in Peterborough.

FURS! FURS! FURS!

FIFTY YEARS IN THE FUR TRADE.

During the twenty-nine seasons since the establishment of our firm in Peterborough, we have always shown Furs of a superior kind, both in quality and workmanship, by which our success in business has been achieved.

We offer goods in all the leading styles, from the most costly down to the cheaper grades of furs. We are the only firm in town that manufacture their whole stock of Furs, notwithstanding any assertion to the contrary; and numerous are the letters of acknowledgement which we receive from customers from a distance, as the following ones can testify:

MESSRS WM. LECH & SONS, PETERBOROUGH:—Gents,—Enclosed find $20 (twenty dollars) balance due on fur coat. Upon examination find it to my entire satisfaction, and rest assured anything I can say or do will be cheerfully given in your behalf. Please acknowledge receipt, and oblige, respectfully yours, R. CURTIS.

THE STORY IS RE-TOLD

CRONIN'S FOUL MURDER DESCRIBED BY THE STATE ATTORNEY.

Strong Words Relate a Violent Crime—Connecting the Prisoners Still More Closely Under the Tragedy.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—At the opening of the Cronin trial yesterday morning the correspondence between Beggs and Spellman was read in full by the State's Attorney. Continuing his address to the jury he said:

"I want to call your attention to what was said and done at the meeting on Feb 22. It is the reunion, you will remember, that Beggs spoke of in his letter to Spellman—that he said not to forget their reunion. At that meeting speeches were made by different parties, and among them Patrick McGarry made a speech and John F. Beggs, Senior Guardian of Camp 20, answered that speech. This is what McGarry said: 'I was called on, there were three other gentlemen that made speeches before me. One had referred to the unity that ought to exist among the members and among the Irish generally, particularly, and altogether. It was about the time that Le Caron had testified before the forgery commission in England and the other gentlemen had referred to spies getting into the organization. Mark that, gentlemen. The other gentleman had referred to spies getting into the the organization on the 8th day of this same month. On the occasion of moving the appointment of the committee you will remember that Foy talked of spies in the organization. McGarry further says:

"'And how Irishmen coming to this country and becoming American citizens ought to educate their children.' That was good. 'Educate them also to have a love for their fathers' and mothers' and their forefathers' homes. There was nothing in the Irish race or Irish history that Irishmen ought to be ashamed of in America.' That is true. 'I said I agreed with what all very well to talk of unity and that I myself wanted to see unity among the Irish people, but that there could not be unity while the members of this organization were meeting in back alleys and on dark corners and villifying and abusing a man that had the courage to stand up and attack the treachery and robbery of the Triangle. I told them they ought to be about getting members into the organization, that I had been inquiring into Le Caron's record and I said now that there were men in this organization that were worse than Le Caron. I said that the man who got Le Caron his credentials, that got him into the convention, was a worse scoundrel than Le Caron ever pretended to be.' Now did Beggs make a speech following this? Yes. What did he say? Hear McGarry's testimony.

I remember that Alexander Sullivan's name had not been mentioned. The Triangle had not been mentioned. Beggs said that visiting members were coming in there and they would speak. It wasn't right, he said, it wasn't fair, and I wanted to interrupt him, and the chairman at that time would not allow me. I wanted to interrupt him when he used the word "cowardly." He said they came in there talking about Alexander Sullivan, and it was cowardly, he said, to talk about a man behind his back. Why didn't they say it to his face? and then he slapped his breast and said Alexander Sullivan had plenty of friends and he was one of them."

"Then you find that on Feb. 22 this same Senior Guardian was called upon to appoint a secret committee to investigate the action of Dr. Cronin in charging Alexander Sullivan with embezzlement of funds of the Order, or rather the executive, better known as the Triangle, with that offense. The Triangle had been guilty of embezzling the funds of the Order and putting men into English prisons, yet without having mentioned his name in his speech McGarry merely repeated the charge, and this man Beggs said he would not submit to it, that it was cowardly for him to make an attack on a man in his absence. Now, gentlemen, remember that this was on Feb. 22, two days after the carpet had been nailed down in that flat in 117 Clark-street, five days after the notorious letter that the Senior Guardian had written to Spellman under the pretext of finding out something he knew all about. We learn that in the following meeting on March 1—it is in evidence from Henry Owen O'Conner—that he was leaving the hall Daniel Coughlin, chairman of the committee, followed him into the ante-room and said to Henry Owen O'Conner that there was a other Le Caron there.

"Singular, is it not, that on Feb. 8 the motion was made for the committee in Camp 20? On Feb. 19 Senior Guardian Beggs is writing about the matter to Edward Spellman; on the 10th the flat is rented at No. 117 Clark-street; on the 20th the carpet was nailed down; on Feb. 22 Beggs defends the Triangle, and on March 1 Coughlin denounces Dr. Cronin as a spy; on April 29, as testified to by Beggs's friend Spellman, the district member, it is conclusively shown to what this committee had reference, which was to report to Beggs about. What did Beggs say on that date? He said to Spellman: 'That matter has all been amicably settled.' How settled? Gentlemen at the hour he spoke the cottage had been rented; at the hour he spoke the final arrangements had been made; at the hour he spoke the sentence had been fixed. [Sensation.] Tell me when it was 'amicably settled.' What had been done in the Camp? What steps had been taken to investigate the matter? No one knows except the Senior Guardian and his committee as to just what they did say."

The State's Attorney then read the law of conspiracy as developed in the Spies case. He took, in simple language and with telling force again traced every move in the conspiracy from the proceedings of Camp 20, step by step, to the renting of the Clark street flat, the Carlson cottage, and the luring of the victim there. Speaking of Burke's renting the cottage, he asked:

"What explanation is there to give for the renting of that cottage? If Burke was working at the Stock Yards, why go out to Lake View to keep house? Well, we will see if we cannot find a reason for that. The evidence in the case will give you a good reason for Burke's keeping house. My opinion is that he ought to be compelled to live there the days of his life. That he ought to be compelled to wallow in the blood that was drawn from the veins of Dr. Cronin." [Sensation.]

Going back to what was done in the Clark street flat the State's Attorney said: "There is the statement that we first see at 117 South Clark-street—painting.—Kunze, the little German, and Burke, the Irishman. Kunze has been sleeping there.

The defendant Kunze—(excitedly)—"I never did; that's a lie."

The State's Attorney—"As I say, Kunze has been sleeping there. Now, Burke was hoping to move the furniture with another team. There is no contention here that Kunze ever assisted to move the furniture. Nobody would even contend that he would lift any fair piano."

At this point Kunze made a gesticulation in connection with a cigar which he held in his hand, but he was checked by counsel.

And Lawrence, a material witness in the matter of the crime, dwelling upon the facts looking to the chain of evidence which connected the prisoners with the crime, Mr. Ronan declared that he would lift any Irishman's hand to convict Coughlin, known at Lawrence's residence as the driving away to the Carlson cottage the part the different prisoners bore in the tragedy enacted there, with the subsequent disposition of the body. Continuing, the speaker said:

"Dr. Cronin's last words as he drove away on his errand of mercy, when Frank Scanlan asked him when he would be back, were, 'God knows, God knows when I will get back.' Well, God did not tell him when he would get back, nor did he know whence he was going; yet the God above stands ready to-day to direct this prosecution aright and to see that the men who destroyed the life of that man shall be punished for this terrible crime. On the morning of May 5, at about 7 o'clock, the man Steib, or Theel, and two others who were out on that morning, found a trunk which was full of blood, as though a hog had been stuck and incarcerated in the trunk. Then you remember this man Coughlin—this cold-blooded, heartless wretch.——"

Mr. Donahue interrupting—"except to these remarks."

The State's Attorney—"I speak from the evidence. If this evidence does not make him such, then I have no right to say it, but, gentlemen, if you believe that this evidence nails him to the cross in this case, then he is a cold-blooded, heartless wretch. Now what does he do during that search? He goes out and almost stands on the catch basin where the body lies, hunting, mind you, for the body that was taken away in that trunk and deposited in that catch basin."

The speaker then dwelt upon the evidence which showed the commission of the crime in the Carlson cottage. The next point taken up was the expert evidence concerning the specimens of blood and hair found in the trunk and cottage, and Mr. Longenecker argued the absurdity of supposing that it was other than human blood. The evidence, he said, all tends to show that it was human blood; not only that it was human blood, but that it was the blood of Dr. Cronin.

"If you want to get at this case, if you want to hold it down, if you want to write the history of the case, you will write: 'I contract for the medical services of Dr. Cronin—Patrick O'Sullivan'; 'I contract for a cottage—Martin Burke,'; 'I contract for a horse and buggy for my friend—Daniel Coughlin.' Draw your line now and write: 'Committee of three,' and write again: 'I contract for your life—Partack O'Sullivan'; 'I contract for a horse and buggy to drive you to death—Daniel Coughlin', 'I rent a cottage in which to strike out your life—Martin Burke.' Write again 'The committee reports to the Senior Guardian—John F. Beggs.'"

The State's Attorney closed as follows:

"When you come to consider the verdict, think of the 4th of May; think of that man gathering his little valise and his instruments; think of him clasping to his bosom the cotton with which to relieve the suffering of the wounded; think of the splints in the box; think of his rushing out to the buggy; think of the crowded seat; think of him rushing north to relieve the suffering man; think of him in the cottage—and when you think of him there, may there reverberate in your ears the death-cries of this man who, in his last moments, called upon his God and his Jesus [sensation], think of these men, who, without giving him time to pronounce the other Trinity name, felled him to the floor with their death-blows. Think of the wounds in his head; think of the grave in which he was placed; think of all this in making up your verdict, and in the end there will be such a verdict as, when His Honor pronounces his judgment upon it, that he, having his heart and eye to God, may say: 'May the Lord have mercy on your souls!'"

Judge Wing then addressed the jury on behalf of the defence. He began with Dan Coughlin's defense. He referred to the vast amount and the numerous kinds of evidences produced in the case, and all of it circumstantial. He explained the different light in which such evidence must be considered from that accorded to evidence. A mass of mere suspicion must not be taken as proof, but each circumstance must be weighed separately. The speaker told the jury of the celebrated Dr. Hull case in New York, citing the sharply incriminating circumstances which pointed to Dr. Hull as the murderer of his wife; yet a negro murdered her for robbery. The circumstances, he said, must have a known and visible connection with the crime. He said:

"If I was on trial for my life, no juror who values his future peace of mind dare use against me the fact that in the neighborhood of the homicide some hours before, or some days after, unknown men were seen. A juror that would do that violates his oath because there is no known and visible connection between the two. After the question is settled that there is a connection between the circumstances and the fact that you are looking into and trying to find out without a doubt, then you are to still inquire if that circumstance may not be true, and yet the the man be innocent. That is the great test."

Judge Wing then dwelt upon the necessity that the jurors should put aside their natural prejudice against these men on account of their nationality and religion, and remember that it was natural for them to love the home of their birth.

The court then adjourned till Monday.

THE DEPOSED EMPEROR.

Dom Pedro and Party Arrived at St. Vincent, Cape De Verde Islands.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—The Portuguese steamer Alagoas, with ex-Emperor Dom Pedro on board, arrived at St. Vincent, Cape DeVerde Islands, yesterday. All the members of the party are well. Upon the arrival of the Alagoas at St. Vincent an attempt was made to interview Dom Pedro concerning the events that had led to his deposition and exile. He declined, however, to enter into any discussion relative to the revolution, but stated that he had been treated with the utmost kindness throughout. The Alagoas proceeded for Lisbon to-day.

When the steamer arrived at St. Vincent he was flying the new flag of the United States of Brazil. The flag remained flying until the Brazilian Vice-Consul boarded her and informed the captain that the provisional government had given instructions that the old flag was to be hoisted at St. Vincent and Lisbon. The officers of the steamer, not having direct orders from Rio Janeiro, declined to make the change. They, however, immediately sent a cable dispatch to Rio Janeiro asking for orders relative to the flag, pending the arrival of which the Alagoas had no flag at all. The Alagoas was conveyed by days from Rio Janeiro by a Brizilian man-of-war. The war ship was much slower than the Alagoas, and the latter's passage was consequently much longer than it would otherwise have been. Fine weather was experienced all the way from Janiero to St. Vincent.

Hamburg firms receive cipher dispatches freely from Rio Janiero. Open dispatches, in spite of the assurance of the provisional government, appear to be subjected to censorship the cipher dispatch reports that in a row in the streets of Rio Janiero, after a public meeting, there were cries of "Down with the republic," "Long live Dom Pedro," etc., and revolvers were actively used, several persons being killed and many wounded.

Lost Both Legs.

CHATHAM, Dec. 1.—Last night about 6 o'clock E. Cowan, aged 25, employed on the Canadian Pacific Railway engineering staff, was run over by the Grand Trunk local east. The railway physicians amputated both legs above the knee. It is hoped he will pull through.

THE BIG BLIZZARD

Vessels Ashore on Anticosti—A Man Frozen to Death at Charlevois.

QUEBEC, Dec. 1.—Numerous disasters in this vicinity are reported from the effects of Thursday's big blizzard, which raged all night and yesterday morning. The Maire Ann of Fort Esquimaux went ashore on Anticosti and her crew of three men were drowned. The captain and his wife were saved. The steamer Electrician, the last one of the St. Lawrence this season, went ashore on Crown Island, but floated off at high water. The hurricane yesterday blew down the 130-foot tower of the Quebec Electric Light Company, and the city will be in darkness for a week. Two fishing vessels are ashore at Anticosti and the crews are supposed to be lost. Navasse Flavel of Charlevois was found frozen to death in a snow bank yesterday only a few rods from his house. At Sydney, C. B., the storm is still raging furiously. The steamer Vega is full of water, and the steamer Orleans and Druid are sinking.

Bobbe's Man Trap.

BERLIN, Dec. 2.—For some time past the Berlin police have been mystified by the occurrence of several murders, or rather the disappearance of several persons supposed to have been murdered. The victim were all traced to a certain locality and there all knowledge of them ended despite the watch kept over the neighborhood. Finally suspicion was directed to a shop of a tobacconist named Bobbe and yesterday his house was searched with the result of finding a man trap in the floor covering a deep excavation, in which were found the bodies of the missing men. Bobbe was arrested, but has made no confession.

The Worst He Ever Saw.

HALIFAX, Dec. 1.—The American schooner Knight Templar arrived here to-day with 400 feet of her cable gone, having broken from such rage Thursday night on the banks in the worst storm the captain ever experienced. An application was made for permission to repair damages, and the customs authorities have telegraphed to Ottawa for instructions.

Con O'Leary Acquitted.

WHITBY, Dec. 1.—Judge Burnham acquitted Con O'Leary of Toronto yesterday on the charge of complicity with Jarvis in the robbery of Cornasek's stationery store during fair time

OTTAWA, Nov. 29.—An explanation of the alleged mysterious happenings at the house of the Daggs family, Clarendon Front, Pontiac County, is given by one of the most prominent residents of the county. He says that the Daggs girl is a ventriloquist and that she has been practising her art with the idea of frightening away a neighbor named Mrs. Wallace who is in law with the Daggs about the ownership of property.

GLADSTONE AT FIGURES.

THE G. O. M. COMPUTES A LIBERAL MAJORITY AT NEXT ELECTION.

From 80 to 116 he Says—He also gives a Push at The House of Lords—Its conflict with the Commons Hopeless and Disastrous

LONDON, Dec. 2.—Mr. Gladstone is again busy with arthmetical gymnastics, choosing The Nineteenth Century for December as the arena for these interesting performances. They delight his admirers, but they do not absolutely confound his enemies. His adroit manipulation of figures—nothing is more adroit than his "Electoral Facts of To-day"—conducts him by easy steps into the region of prophecy. From the dizzy altitude of his mathematical trapeze he beholds clearly and proclaims loudly the certain triuphh of Home Rule at the next general election, with a majority, in the House of Commons of 80 or 110 according as you adjust the diversify the calculations. But if you believe one Tory organ Mr. Gladstone's wish is father to his political equations and his fancies have got the better of some of the most elementary principles of arithmetic. He counts his gains twice over and his figures are a juggle, cries another while a third describes the article as consist exclusively of assertations and assumptions. It is astonishing enough, observes The Times, that even Mr. Gladstone's ingenuity should be able to find in the simple fact that his party have gained eleven seats during three years material to fill eleven pages in a monthly review. Perhaps it is. But he and his article also fill more than eleven columns of editorials in Friday morning's papers They do not accept his facts and figures. His own organ is the one exception. Much the most interesting sentence in Mr. Gladstone's rather beguildering paper is his veiled menace to the House of Lords. "There is," he says, "already in view force enough and to spare to carry the next House of commons. But the longer it is allowed to continue its growth, the more able it will be to deal also with the House of Lords, or the more likely it will be, let us rather hope, to beget within that House itself the sagacious temper which eschews a hopeless and disastrous conflict." So perhaps there will be a blast from the Gladstonian trumpet against the House of Lords at Manchester this week. The National Liberal Federation hold a great meeting there, and Mr. Gladstone either will or will not explain what House Rule now means.

THE FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS

Forecast of the Business of the Season Which Opens To-day.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The fifty-first Congress will assemble at noon to-morrow with a prospect of an orderly and uneventful organization. In view, however, of the necessary consumption of practically an entire day it organizing the new House, the President's annual message will not be sent to Congress until Tuesday. The annual report of the Secretary of the Treasury will be transmitted at noon Wednesday.

Among other matters of foreign interest which will come before the Senate for action the most important will be the consideration of the tripartete treaty with Great Britain and Germany respecting the control and direction of affairs in Samoa. There are, however, the fisheries and seal questions, which were up for consideration last season, which are likely to appear again. Also the proposed scheme to promote commercial union with Canada with a view to its ultimate annexation, the settlement of Mexican and Alaskan bankers by the appointment of commissioners or by treaty and the declaration of the United States with respect to foreign control of inter-oceanic canals on the American continent.

The general expectation is that very little business will be completed before the holiday's. A good part of the time of the Senate up to the Christmas recess will be consumed in executive session, discussing and disposing of the long list of recess nominations that the President has to send in for confirmation or rejection.

£10,000,000 FOR IRISH LAND.

A Proposal that is Being Discussed by the Imperial Government.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—A protracted meeting of the Cabinet was held to-day, at which was considered a proposal for a £10,000,000 land purchase scheme to apply to the disaffected portions of Ireland. It is understood that there was not the degree of unanimity with regard to the measure that should characterise the consideration of so vital an issue, and it is not unlikely that the scheme is launched upon the sea of legislation it will be open to the same objection to many Tories that will be raised against it by the Liberals and Nationalist; that it discriminates against a very considerable part of the people of Ireland who are entitled to all the benefits that the measure may bestow. Indeed, it is now quite plain that the question of land purchase is not the only one upon which there is adversity of views in the Conservative ranks, and the Government will have no easy task to steer clear of breakers next session.

THE MARRIAGE WAS VALID.

Decision in a Noted Case—The Fire at 'Truth' Other Toronto News.

TORONTO, Dec. 1—Chancellor Boyd gave judgment at Osgoode Hall on Saturday in the action brought by George Lawless against his wife, nee Miss Chamberlain, to set aside the marriage on the ground of duress and the minority of the plaintiff. The marriage took place at Aylmer, Que., said to have been forced by Miss Chamberlain's father at the point of the pistol as reparation for wrong done his daughter by the plaintiff in the action. The trial took place before Chancellor Boyd at Ottawa and judgment was reserved. The Chancellor found that the plaintiff had entered into the marriage intelligently and deliberately. He had acquiesed in it but had misrepresented his age as being 22 when the license was obtained. The court could not allow advantage being taken of such misrepresentation and the finding was that the marriage was binding.

In the Mock Parliament conducted by the Young Men's Liberal and Conservative Club a government measure to be brought forward will recommend the enlarging and deepening of canals so as to admit of sea-faring vessels passing up the St. Lawrence to the Northern Lakes.

St. Andrew's Day was celebrated in royal style on Saturday. A banquet was held at the Queen's Hotel, in which the leading Scottish citizens took part. Sermons were preached in the Presbyterian Churches to-day with special reference to Scotland's patron saint.

Damage done to "Truth" building and stock by the fire on Friday night amounted to between $15,000 and $20,000. It is about covered by insurance, Terrific Explosion of Nitro-Glycerine.

OIL CITY, Pa., Nov. 30.—The most terrible explosion of nitro-glycerine for years occurred in the suburbs of this place at 2 p. m. to-day in which two brothers, sons of a widow named Fisher, James aged 18, and Charles aged 16, and Ed Hoffman aged 26, lost their lives. Five tons of glycerine owned by the torpedo company was in a boat near Fair's ice house, and was being unloaded and placed in the magazine. While the men were away the boys, who were hunting, were seen to approach the boat, and it is supposed one of the party fell and caused the accident. The shock was a tremendous one. Farm houses and barns near by were shattered and blown to pieces. The ice house, a building 300 feet square, was reduced to kindling wood. Windows in the postoffice and depot, two miles away, were shattered by the shock. The bodies of James and Ed. Hoffman have been found.

Held on the Charge of Murder.

READING Pa., Dec. 1.—At Pottstown yesterday morning the coroner's jury in the case of John Chana, said to have become a helpless paralytic as a result of blasphemy, and who was found Thursday morning in his room hanging on a rope fastened to a bed post, returned a verdict that death resulted from strangulation at the hands of his wife's paramour, John Kindarosch, and that Mrs. Chana was an accessory to the crime. Kindarosch and Mrs Chana were committed to prison to answer to the charge of murder.

CANADIANS Work Too Hard!

The Result is Sleeplessness, Nervousness and a Broken-Down System, often

Ending in Insanity.

Thousands of overworked business men, wearied brainworkers industrious mechanics, and tried women, in all parts of the Dominion are to-day in a terrible position. Their nerves are weak, digestion poor, head aching, and they cannot sleep, work or live in comfort. This is what fills our Insane Asylums. This is the cause of that terrible Paresis Before it is too late, use Dr. Phelps' wonderful discovery, Paine's Celery Compound. It removes the results of overwork, restores strength, renews vitality, regulates the whole system, and tones up the overworked brain and body. Do not despair, but use this wonderful remedy, and be restored to health and happiness, the same as was Mr. John L. Brodie, of Montreal, who writes: "I have great pleasure in recommending your Paine's Celery Compound. My system was run down and I was not fit for business, could not sleep well at night and was nervous. I commenced taking Paine's Celery Compound and improved immediately. I am now able to transact my business and endure any amount of excitement without bad effect."

Paine's Celery Compound can be purchased at any druggist's for one dollar a bottle. If he should not have it on hand, order direct from WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Montreal.

The Daily Examiner.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1889

THE popular idea is that the Scott Act was wiped out utterly in the cyclone of last fall. But it still survives in Fredericton, New Brunswick, and seems to be very tenacious of life. On Thursday the repeal of the Act was voted on with the result of sustaining it by the majority of 68. This is the third vote that has been taken on repeal. The Act was adopted in 1878 by a majority of 200. In 1882 the repeal was defeated by a majority of 41; in 1885 by a majority of 13 and on Thursday by majority of 68.

LOOKERS ON are credited with seeing most of the game, yet Bystander doesn't from his neutral viewpoint, see more than any honest citizen sees when it says in reference to the Dominion Government:—"When, on the eve of a general election, a Prime Minister assembles the representatives of a particular commercial interest in the parlors of a hotel, takes from them subscriptions for his election fund, and virtually pledges to them in return the commercial policy of the country, corruption assumes its most dangerous and noxious form. The most novel and startling point in Sir Richard Cartwright's indictment was that relating to the corruption of the press. It would be difficult to substantiate the charge by proving the motives with which advertisements and printing patronage are given; but when a Government such as ours spends two or three hundred thousand dollars a year on the journals, we may be sure that a sinister influence is exercised, and that poison, to use Sir Richard's apt metaphor, is cast into the well of public truth."

Take it Back.

To the Editor of the Examiner:—

SIR,—I was at the St. Andrew's supper on Friday night and heard a remark from ex-President Camming which must be corrected. He stated, while proposing the toast of "The Learned Profession," that for years past he had "always been advocating the presence of the ladies at our annual gatherings, but had always been opposed." Our respected ex-President should retract this. All the old members have been as anxious as our friend was for the presence of the ladies with us on St. Andrew's night, but they had scruples about asking them to come out for want of a suitable place of our own in which to hold our celebrations. Besides, most of us know that Mr. Camming has a houseful of ladies at home, and yet he was noticed to pass into the hall on Friday night without a single lady on his arm!

Respectfully yours,
A MEMBER.

Peterborough, Nov. 30th, 1889.

SHORT AND SWEET, BUT TRUTHFUL.

An Honest Offer that all can Plainly Understand, and that People can Respect and put Confidence in.

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 22nd, 1889.

GENTLEMEN:—

We want to say a few words to you just now. They will be plain and to the point; better still—they will be truthful, and therefore worth reading:—

1st.—We have a large stock of bran-new tailor-made Overcoats for Men and Boys. They are made of honest cloth, well sewed, and stylishly got up, and will fit and wear as well as if you left your measure—not the kind they make up for bankrupt stocks.

2nd.—You can have your pick of any of these Overcoats for Less Money than you can buy a similar coat that may be offered to you by any other dealer in Ontario.

3rd.—You are at liberty to look through all the stores in Town and then come to the City Clothing Store, when we will undertake to fit you Properly with a Better Overcoat, at a Less price than any bona fide offer that may have been made to you.

4th.—We will, likewise, agree to make the same offer hold good for Suits of Clothing, Coat, Pants or Vests, and include Scotch and Canadian Woollen Underwear in the bargain.

5th.—If you want to leave your Measure for a Suit or Overcoat, the same offer holds good in this department also.

6th.—This offer will stand until the middle of January, 1890, when we expect to have clothed every man and boy who intends buying clothing this winter, who is shrewd enough to know the difference between wool and sheddy. We mean business.

Respectfully yours,
M. LeBRUN & CO.

To the Public.

Our aim has been and will continue to be to give the consumer the highest grade of goods consistent with prices charged. We do not manufacture so-called cheap cigars; fine goods are our specialty. Purchasing only the best of tobaccos, irrespective of price, we are in a position to manufacture as fine a class of goods as can be obtained anywhere; Havana not excepted. Based upon having our well known brands, "Cable," "El Padre" "Munga," and "Madre E Hijo," and thereby obtain full value for your money. The immense sums expended in introducing our goods, the exceptionally fine quality of tobacco used in their manufacture, and the labor of nearly half a century should convince the most skeptical that the quality of same will not be allowed to deteriorate. ms

A Local Photographer's Bet.

It is stated that there seems to be no limit to the powers of photography, a running horse, a flash of lightning, or a bullet in flight being caught by the sensitive plate. But a local photographer is willing to bet that no photographic device on earth can catch the look of delight on a lady's face when she is sipping a cup of hawley bros', splendid tea or coffee. Full lines of both at the most reasonable prices at hawley bros', tea store, 320 George street.

Peculiarities of the Hair.

There are times when all persons require to pay some particular attention to the hair. To rekindle the life or energy of the roots is a simple matter if taken in time. Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic will do the word, it works in accordance with nature, supplys fresh nourishment to the glands keeper, the hair luxuriant and natural in shade. Be sure to get, you cannot afford to miss it. Every druggist sells it. It is money well spent. See Dorenwends advertisement in another column.

Wealth Cannot Buy It.

HEALTH is not purchasable. The saddened, soured dyspeptic, or the bilious billionaire suffer, despite their wealth. Burdock Blood Bitters is a rational remedy for dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, scrofula, debility, etc., and every complaint arising from indigestion or bad blood. 2w48d

Irritable People.

PEOPLE are often irritable by reason of some exasperating skin disease which destroys comfort and good humor. Salt Rheum, nettle rash, eruptions, pimples, scald head, &c., are of this nature, they arise from bad blood, and can be cured by using Burdock Blood Bitters according to directions. 2w48d

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites

Is sold all over the world. It is far superior to plain Cod Liver Oil, palatable and easily digested. Dr. Martin Miles Stanton, Bury Bucks, England, says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion, and taken it myself. It is palatable, efficient, and can be tolerated by almost anyone, especially where cod liver oil itself cannot be borne. Sold by all Druggists, 20c. and $1.00, w46eod

FIREBUGS AT SIMCOE.

Another Incendiary Blaze—Flour Mills Burnt. $1000 Reward Offered.

SIMCOE, Nov. 28.—Another has been added to the long line of incendiary fires that for six months past have disgraced this town. At about 3 o'clock this morning Wm. Sutton's flouring mills situated in the extreme north of the town was discovered to be in flames and the circumstances surrounding the affair have no doubt as to the incendiary origin of the fire. By extraordinary efforts on the part of the firemen, the heavy running gear and expensive machine in the basement were saved.

The mill is a comparatively new one, having been built by Mr. Sutton to replace the one destroyed by fire seven years ago. It was valued at $10,000 and was insured for $5000, in the millers' and manufacturers' company. In addition to building between 6000 and 7000 bushels of wheat and a quantity of other grain. Mr. Sutton estimates his loss on this to be at least $4000 more on which he has an insurance of $3000.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held this afternoon, at which a reward of $1000 was authorized to be offered for the conviction of the fire bugs. A special committee was also appointed to take what action they might deem necessary in the way to employment of detectives, etc. A vigilance committee of citizens was formed to-day for better protection.

A LIBIDINOUS BRUTE.

Charged with Enticing Children of Tender Years.

MILTON, Nov. 29. A sensation was created here yesterday by the arrest of W. J. Stern, a married man 40 years of age, on a charge of enticing into his shop and criminally assaulting a little girl 11 years of age, named Bowman. The girl states that the offences were frequent. He gave her small sums of money, and it was the fact of her having this in her possession that led to inquiries being made.

The Bowman girl says that some of her companions were similarly treated by Stern, who was about twelve years ago charged with a similar offence. He was taken before Mayor Dice and Squire Austin Wilmott, who committed him for trial.

Stern is a tinsmith, and apart from these charges has always borne a good character and been looked upon as a first rate citizen.

DEATH OF M. F. TUPPER.

The Noted English Author Passes Away in His Eightieth Year.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Martin Farquhar Tupper, the author, is dead.

[Martin Farquhar Tupper was born in London July 17, 1810; graduated at Oxford in 1833, admitted to the bar in 1835 but never practiced. His "Proverbial Philosophy" (1838) brought him into immediate popularity and in spite of much contemptuous criticism has passed through numerous editions and been translated into several languages. His numerous succeeding works, in prose and verse, cover almost every department of literature. Among the latest was "Our Canadian Dominion; Half a Dozen Ballads about a King for Canada" (1886). Mr. Tupper's life was spent principally in retirement at his maternal estate, in the parish of Albany, near Guildford, Surrey.]

PAULINE'S PLIGHT.

A Young Toronto Wife Delivered of a Child in a Detroit Police Station.

DETROIT, Nov. 29.—There was a birth at the police station this morning. Last evening a well dressed young woman giving her name as Pauline Rogers wandered into Woodbridge-street station, where she was delivered of a child at 11 this morning. She claims to have come from Toronto yesterday accompanied by her husband, who deserted her immediately upon arrival bearing her wholly without funds. She has been removed from the station to Harper Hospital.

Kingston Tobacconists Raided.

KINGSTON, Nov. 30.—Early in the spring Inland Revenue officers visited the stores in the city in which tobacco was sold and explained the regulations with reference to the opening of packages and exhibiting the contents for sale. Yesterday Inspector McCoy of the Inland Revenue Department unexpectedly visited a number of stores and seized a large quantity of tobacco, the rules laid down it is alleged not having been complied with by the sellers.

Wisconsin Lynchers Arrested.

WHITEHALL, Nov. 29.—Eighteen men and boys connected with the Olsen lynching have been arrested on a charge of riot. They are out on bonds. Six have left the state and six others it is thought will be arrested. Many of the best families in the town of Preston are concerned. Four boys in jail here have made a confession detailing all the incidents of the hanging, and making public the names of all concerned in the affair.

Brazil Readopts the Old Flag.

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 29.—The Government has readopted the old flag. This has caused some annoyance. The Minister of Finance has convened a meeting of bankers and brokers with the object of rendering assistance in commercial transactions when necessary. France has recognized the Republic.

BERLIN, Nov. 29.—A number of factory hands at Luckenwalde have struck. The strike threatens to lead to riot. The mills are guarded by gendarmes.

Heavy Snow at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Nov. 28.—The storm which struck this locality 24 hours ago is still raging with full force. Fifteen inches of snow have fallen, but the wind now seems to be abating. All the incoming mails are delayed and the railway service is badly interfered with. The local transportation companies are coping with the storm efficiently and the interference with business in not material.

Hodgson-White, at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Nov. 28.—Miss Jeanie McIntyre White, daughter of Mr. Richard White of The Montreal Gazette, was married at St. George's Church this morning to Mr. Charles J. Hodgson, son of Mr. Jonathan Hodgson, the ceremony being performed by the Dean of Montreal. The marriage was private.

A Collingwood Sailor Drowned.

SARNIA, Nov. 28.—The schooner Brock arrived here this morning from Parry Sound with her flag flying half-past. On Tuesday night, while off Cove Island, Sandy Mitchell, a young man about 30 years old, was washed overboard and lost. He hailed from Collingwood.

The Stanstead Election.

AYER'S Sugar-Coated Cathartic PILLS.

If the Liver becomes torpid, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which I suffered from General Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.—W. T. Brightney, Henderson, W. Va.

For years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than anything else, to my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, and Dyspepsia. —G. F. Miller, Attleborough, Mass.

Regulate

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not be without them.—Morris Gates, Downsville, N. Y.

I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice, and was so dangerously ill that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor.—John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebraska.

Last spring I suffered greatly from a troublesome humor on my side. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with Indigestion, and distressing pains in

The Bowels.

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured. —Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored. —Theodore Ealing, Richmond, Va.

COLBECK VS. McWILLIAMS.

Preliminary Hearing in the Police Court.

The Objections of the Defence—Resume of the Evidence—The Trial Creates Great Interest—The Defendant Committed for Trial.

The case of Colbeck vs. McWilliams came up for trial in the police court this morning. The deep interest that is felt in the matter by the public was manifest by the large crowd of spectators that gathered. The court room was crowded to overflowing. Police Magistrate Dumble presided. Mr. J. B. McWilliams, the defendant, and his solicitor, Mr. W. A. Stratton, were present. Mr. E. B. Edwards, counsel for the plaintiff, was on hand, but Mr. Colbeck, the plaintiff, was absent. Mr. Edwards explained that Mr. Colbeck was out of town yesterday (in Dundas) and had missed the train. He would arrive at 11.30.

Before the case was called Mr. Stratton handed in a document to the court, stating that these objections were made by the defence and they intended to act according to them.

THE OBJECTIONS.

To D. W. DUMBLE Esq., Police Magistrate:—

In the matter of the information and complaint of Mr. F. C. Colbeck against Mr. J. B. McWilliams for assault and battery now pending before you, the defendant respectfully and formally objects to your taking any part as a Police Magistrate or otherwise either in the preliminary hearing and investigation or in the final adjudicating upon such information and complaint, upon the following among other grounds:

That the complainant Colbeck, as you are well aware, is an employee of the Board of Education for the town of Peterborough, being a teacher in the Collegiate Institute at Peterborough, and was such an employee and teacher before and at the time of the alleged offence charged in such information; and the complainant further says that the alleged offence was inflicted on him in open school in such Collegiate Institute.

That you were at the time of the alleged offence so charged and are a member of such Board of Education, and at the time and still are chairman of the committee thereof on appointments, were and are most directly and intimately concerned in the appointment and dismissal of all teachers in such Collegiate Institute and in the government, management, oversight and conduct of such Collegiate Institute and the teachers thereof.

That in substance, and in fact you are in the relation of an employer of the said Colbeck and in the legal status of master and servant.

That it is contrary to the spirit of British law and to the commonest dictates of justice that any magistrate should try or should take any part in trying or adjudicating upon any case in which he had an interest, even though the interest should be remote and not as in this case, real, tangible and self-apparent.

As you are well aware, and as is publicly notorious, you were primarily instrumental and ultimately were mainly instrumental in procuring the appointment of the complainant to his present position as such teacher as aforesaid, and while working to procure such appointment you spoke to members of the School Board warmly and enthusiastically in the complainant's behalf, and that since his appointment you have at all times championed the complainant in school matters and otherwise.

That as the human mind is constituted it is impossible for any man, however fair and honorable, to define the motives and feelings which sway the intellect and lead the mind into a settled conclusion or judgment in any matter of dispute, and to cast aside those motives and feelings which are unworthy and retain only those which are pure.

That under the Summary Convictions Act, chap. 178, sec. 73, it is most clear that you have jurisdiction—were you disqualified by interest or bias—to summarily try this complaint despite any protests and objections of the defendant and without his consent.

That even should you receive not to summarily try the complaint, the defendant objects that even in preliminarily investigating the complaint you have to exercise the functions of a judge in taking down the evidence in ruling as to the admissibility and rejection of evidence, in weighing the evidence submitted and passing judgment thereon; and the defendant submits that he has the right to plead in the first instance before a disinterested and unprejudiced court, and not have his case and his cause prejudiced before any higher tribunal.

The defendant submits that among other questions that will come before you at the preliminary investigation one of the most important will be, was the alleged assault and battery justified, and to that end it will be necessary to cross-examine the witnesses produced not only as to the rules and regulations of the Department of Education and the by-laws of the Board of Education for this town thereunder as to the punishment of pupils and manner thereof (which by-laws are sanctioned by you yourself as one of such Board), and the reasonableness and legality thereof, but also the general conduct of such school, and particularly the conduct of the complainant as a teacher of such school, his action therein, whether such conduct and actions were sanctioned by you as one of such Board, his malice towards defendant's son, the brutality and malafides of the complainant's whipping of defendant's son, the motives and purpose of revenge he had in view, and a mass of other evidence which may tend not only to entirely discredit the complainant but to censure the said Board for the criminal neglect of their duty in not dismissing the complainant long since, and of yourself among the members; and upon which it neither meet nor proper you should have the sole discretion to pronounce.

That the defendant is credibly informed and believes that you have before hearing any evidence in this matter expressed your opinion of the guilt of the defendant in respect of the alleged offence charged as aforesaid, and that the complainant spent with you at your residence the greater part of the day on which he complains he received the alleged assault and battery complained of by him, and that the present proceedings were instituted by your advice and at your instigation, and that at the time of the suit of Dumble vs. McWilliams, only lately settled, you publicly asserted that you would have satisfaction upon the defendant at the first opportunity.

The defendant further submits that in the case of Regina vs. Justices of Hartford, 6 Q. B., 753, on a motion to quash a conviction on the ground of interest, it is laid down as law that the court reviewing the conviction will not enter into the extent of the influence exerted.

In Paley on Convictions, it is also laid down that if a justice of the peace had such an interest in a case as might give him a bias in the matter, he should not only take the part in the decision which would render it void, but should entirely withdraw from the whole case.

In the same authority it is laid down that an attachment has been granted against Justices for trying causes in which they were interested, even though the interest was remote.

In Regina vs. Summons, 1 Pugsley, 158, it was decided that even though a Justice was so remotely interested in the prosecution as when he was a member of the Sons of Temperance, by one of whom a prosecution for selling liquor was carried on, he is incompetent to try the case.

In the Mayor of Hartfords, two Lord Raymond's cases, it was stated "not only should justices interested take no part in the case, but should voluntarily withdraw from the court."

In Regina vs. Hammond, 12 W.R. 208, it is laid down that a magistrate, who is a shareholder in a railway, should not take any part in enforcing its by-laws.

In Cokes-Littleton, 144b, it is said no magistrate, however duly authorized otherwise, can act judicially in a case wherein he is himself a party or interested in any manner therein.

The defendant therefore having objected heretofore to you acting in this case, again protests against being tried, or of any investigation taking place, before you, or of you taking any part in any manner in this case.

That the defendant makes these objections at this stage of the proceedings, not through disrespect or contempt of this court, but because it is necessary according to the authorities to raise such objections as to interest or bias when known, before submitting further to the orders of the court

NOT GUILTY.

The charge was then read to Mr. McWilliams, assaulting and beating Francis C. Colbeck, and the defendant pleaded "not guilty, subject to those objections just handed in."

Mr. EDWARDS said he did not feel called upon to reply to any of the objections. They had brought the complaint before the magistrate who had sole jurisdiction in the town and he left it before him for final adjudication. If there was any reason why this could not be done, the court in its discretion may send the case where it can be dealt with.

Mr. DUMBLE—"As I intimated to Mr. Stratton at the previous sitting, I will not try this case against his wishes. Evidently the prisoner does not wish to be tried by me. The law provides in cases of this kind that the magistrate may find the defendant a fit subject for indictment I shall find under the circumstances he is a fit subject for indictment, if there is any evidence to warrant it. I shall not adjudicate upon it. I state this so that the objecting party may have no hesitation in going on with the case. If not content with that I will try it summarily."

Mr. EDWARDS asked for an adjournment till the arrival of the train with his client.

Mr. DUMBLE replied if there was any evidence that could be given with justice to the case there was no reason why it should not be taken down.

The counsel for the plaintiff then began

THE EVIDENCE.

Mr. J. H. LONG, Principal of the Collegiate Institute, was the first witness. Mr. Long testified he was at the Institute a week ago Monday, and saw the defendant in the first form room. Mr. Colbeck was in charge of the room teaching a class in pursuance of his duty as teacher. Witness did not see Mr. McWilliams go in the room, and his attention was first drawn by the sound of some blows being struck. He thought Mr. Colbeck was whipping a boy. The sounds ceased, but there was no confusion. He went into the room a few minutes afterwards. Mr. McWilliams and Mr. Colbeck were standing by the desk, and the former struck the latter with a whip or rawhide. Mr. McWilliams struck several blows, possibly eight or ten, after he (Mr. Long) came into the room. He did not think Mr. McWilliams struck with all his force, but they were tolerably hard blows. Mr. Colbeck did not resist, but received the blows without flinching. Mr. Colbeck did not offer to strike Mr. McWilliams. Mr. Long did not interfere, first, because he did not see the beginning of it; secondly, because Mr. Colbeck did not resist, and as he (the witness) thought Mr. Colbeck considered non-resistance the better policy, he did not deem it wise to interfere; and third because he saw from the determined look in Mr. McWilliam's face he was determined to go on with it. Then his attention was diverted by pupils coming in from other rooms, and he went to close the door to shut them out, and as the whole thing took only a minute, it was over when he came back. He heard Mr. McWilliams say "I'll teach you to punish a little boy who is just out of his sick bed, in that way," or words to that effect; also, "if you were a man, or a larger man, (could not exactly recall the words) I would smash your face." Mr. Long's impression was, Mr. McWilliams further said he "had evidence enough," but couldn't swear he heard it then or afterwards. He met Mr. McWilliams as he was going down stairs, and the defendant said "he would not have his boy punished like that," and further "that Mr. Dumble and Mr. Colbeck were not going to run the school, and they were not going to put him (Mr. Long) out." He said something to the effect that his (Mr. Long's) being a Conservative would not prejudice him in his mind, he didn't care what politics a teacher had. While in the room Mr. McWilliams said to Mr. Colbeck, "if you were a man you would have come and seen me and made this matter right," or something of the sort. Mr. Colbeck said once or twice, "But, Mr. McWilliams—" as though he wished to explain, but Mr. McWilliams did not give him an opportunity. The blows were falling at the time, and Mr. McWilliams then said those words previously credited to him. Those expressions were interjected during pauses between the blows. The witness could not say for certain whether there were girls present at the time or not.

Mr. Stratton had retired while Mr. Long was being examined. Mr. Dumble enquired if the defence wished to ask any questions, and Mr. McWilliams rose and stated they intended to ask not a single question of any of the witnesses in view of the course they had mapped out.

MAYOR STEVENSON, Chairman of the Board of Education, gave evidence as to Mr. McWilliams' position on the Appointment Committee of the School Board and the Advisory Committee. Mr. Colbeck's appointment was made by the former committee. Mr. McWilliams had spoken to him previous to the thrashing, and complained about his son being whipped severely and said he intended thrashing the teacher. The witness tried to dissuade him and thought Mr. McWilliams would not do it. But he understood the assault was committed on Monday. Mr. McWilliams spoke to him the Saturday before. Mr. McWilliams at first seemed to be very much annoyed. I remonstrated with him for taking the law into his own hands, and he replied that if I had a boy just from a sick bed so beaten that he required medical attendance, I would feel as he did. I suggested that the Board deal with the matter. Don't remember his reply. After mentioning the matter to me he said he would give the teacher a thrashing. I thought he was cooler when he went out of my place than when he came in. Shortly after the assault on Monday he told me he had given Mr. Colbeck a whipping. His threat to give a whipping referred to Mr. Colbeck. When he told me of the whipping he was cool. He felt, I suppose, that he had done his duty.

W. H. HILL, am a member of the Board. I had a conversation with Mr. McWilliams the day before the whipping took place (Sunday, 24th Nov). Mr. McWilliams called me into his house as I was passing. He said Mr. Colbeck had whipped one of his boys. He took me up into a room and showed me the marks (Mr. Edwards—he showed you the boy—yes.) He said he would horsewhip Mr Colbeck next morning. I advised him against such a course. I was pretty sure he intended to do it. I told him it was a serious matter to chastise a teacher in the school room. He adhered to his intention—he thought the teacher deserved all he would get, on account of the way he had beaten his boy. I said if he must thrash him, he should do it in the street. He said he intended to thrash the teacher in the same room in which the boy was beaten and before the same class. I understood he wished to humiliate Mr. Colbeck — his punishment would be greater than if he were thrashed on the street. I strongly advised Mr. McWilliams against such a course —it would look all the worse on account of his being a member of the School Board. He asked me not to say anything about the conversation which I regarded as private. I said nothing about it. There was no more conversation, he simply showed me the boy—

WALTER ENGLISH, a pupil of the Collegiate Institute, was in Mr. Colbeck's room on Monday, Nov. 25th; it was the second hour of the first form. The girls were down at drill at that hour; they are not there on Mondays or Wednesdays at that hour. Saw Mr. McWilliams came into the room with his son Victor. Mr. Colbeck was at his desk, not at that moment engaged in teaching. Mr. McWilliams took a position at the desk, the son in front of the desk. Mr. McWilliams had a paper parcel, and pulled out the broken pointer. Mr. Colbeck said he would explain. Mr. McWilliams said he wanted no explanation, as he had investigated the thing thoroughly. Mr. McWilliams had a rawhide in his hand.

He said something I do not recollect, and then laid the whip on Mr. Colbeck. He struck him three blows across the shoulders, and the rest were on the legs. Mr. McWilliams appeared to be angry. Don't think Mr McWilliams laid on the blows as hard as he could. I thought the blows were severe. Don't think he gave him more than 10 blows. The whipping lasted about 3 minutes. During the blows Mr. McWilliams said if he (Mr. Colbeck,) was a man, he would smash his face. As Mr. McWilliams was leaving the school he said, if ever Mr. Colbeck whipped one of his boys again he would know about it, or words to that effect. I think Mr. Colbeck tried to explain twice. He made no resistance; he made no attempt to strike Mr. McWilliams. Mr Colbeck stood still while the blows were being given. Mr. McWilliams son was standing in front of the desk; the lad had not been to the school before, that day. Mr. McWilliams said he wished his son, Victor, was large enough to smash Mr. Colbeck's mouth.

GEORGE MCINTOSH, a pupil of the Institute, Was there on Monday last in Mr. Colbeck's room. Saw Mr. McWilliams and his son Victor enter the room Mr. McWilliams produced a stick and then a whip. He asked Mr. Colbeck if that was the stick he whipped his boy with. I don't recollect the answer. Something was said, I don't recollect what. Mr. McWilliams struck Mr. Colbeck a couple of blows over the shoulder, the rest went about his legs. Mr. Colbeck did not strike back, he only moved out from the desk. Think there were about ten or twelve blows struck. Thought they were severe. Mr. Colbeck stood still.

THOS. BURNHAM, another Institute pupil, gave evidence simply corroborating the evidence of former witnesses. The blows given Mr. Colbeck were struck angrily. Mr. McWilliams raised his hand as high as his shoulder when giving the blows. Mr. McWilliams declined to accept any explanation from Mr. Colbeck. The boy Victor picked up the stick (the pointer) and gave it to his father as the latter was leaving the room; and then went to his seat.

ROBERT ANDERSON, a pupil of the Collegiate Institute, gave similar evidence to the foregoing. This witness thought the blows given to Mr. Mr. Colbeck by Mr. McWilliams were pretty hard. When Mr. Colbeck offered to explain Mr. McWilliams said the stick (the pointer) was explanation enough. Mr. Colbeck said the lad, Victor, had kicked him. Mr. McWilliams said he wished the boy had been big enough to smash his (Mr. Colbeck's) nose. The stick (pointer) which had been handed to Victor was by him handed to his father as he went out.

MARK BURNHAM, a pupil of the Collegiate Institute, gave similar evidence to the foregoing. When Mr. McWilliams asked Mr. Colbeck if that were the stick he thrashed his son with, Mr. Colbeck replied that she stick was "brackish." Mr. McWilliams said he had waited two days for Mr. Colbeck to come and explain the matter to him. During the assault Mr. Colbeck made no resistance.

WILLIAM STUBBS, a pupil of the Collegiate Institute, gave almost identical evidence with the foregoing, adding that Mr. McWilliams remarked on leaving the room that if he (Mr. Colbeck) ever whipped one of his sons again he would not let him go away with a foot to stand on.

MR. COLBECK, modern language master in the Collegiate Institute: Was there on Monday the 25th November in performance of my duties. Saw Mr. McWilliams entering the door. He had a parcel. He came up to the desk where I was standing, opened parcel and asked me if I had used "that stick" in punishing his son and if I thought that a proper instrument of punishment. I replied it was very brashy. He said something about waiting two days for an explanation and none had come and now he wouldn't have any; he had already thoroughly examined the case. I asked him if he had done so without seeing me. He would not hear any explanation. He took out what I think teamsters call a black snake whip—there was a lash to it. He struck me about twelve times more or less. I think the blows were struck with all Mr. McWilliams' might. There were traces of the blows left. My leg was discoloured for some distance between the knee and the thigh. Did not wince nor resist—just looked the gentleman in the face and stood still. Did not resist in any way—either in offence or defence. During the assault, I think he said if I laid a finger on a lad of his again, he wouldn't leave me a leg to stand on. When I spoke of the boy kicking me, Mr. McWilliams said he wished his boy had been big enough to break my face. I bade the gentleman "good morning" as he was going out. Had not seen Mr. McWilliams between the assault and the punishment of the boy.

To Mr. McWilliams—I have been a teacher in the Institute nearly two years.

Mr. McWilliams asked Mr Colbeck if he had seen any trustee before he had come to the school?

Mr. EDWARDS objected to the question, and Mr. McWilliams continuing said that he held he had a right to show animous on the part of Mr. Colbeck, and he asked Mr. Colbeck if was aware that Mr. Dumble was a member of the Committee of Appointments, when Police Magistrate Dumble objected to having that matter flone into, he (Mr. Dumble) was not trying the case—he was only taking the evidence.

Mr. MCWILLIAMS contended that he could show malice—that that malice accounted for the undue punishment of his boy. He only wanted justice. Resuming his examination of Mr. Colbeck, the latter said that the boy Victor McWilliams had been in his form two years, and that he was a very restless lad. He did not know that the boy had been sometimes sent home from illness by the Principal. He (Mr. Colbeck) did not know that according to the regulations the Principal only had authority to punish pupils. Did not know what instrument was prescribed for the punishment of pupils. Here Mr. McWilliams produced the broken pointer alleged to have been used in the punishment of Victor McWilliams and asked witness if he knew that instrument? Mr. Colbeck said he could not identify it.

Mr. McWilliams asked witness if he called a piece of wood brash, a splinter of which could be tied in a knot? Witness said he adhered to the statement that the pointer was a brash piece of wood.

[Here Mr. McWilliams pulled off a splinter from the pointer, tied in a knot, and showed it to Mr. Colbeck.]

The whip with which the whipping of Mr. Colbeck was alleged to have been done, was produced by Mr. McWilliams and witness asked if that were a "black snake" whip? He replied that that was his impression.

Continuing, Mr. Colbeck said there were severe marks on my person from the whipping They were visible 24 hours before. Didn't see Mr. Dumble before I visited him with the Chief in the evening. Had not heard of the boy's injuries from the whipping.

On Mr. MCWILLIAMS asking at whose suggestion Mr. Colbeck went to Mr. Edwards for legal advice, Mr. Dumble said he was unwell at the time, at his house, and would not have anything to do with the case. When Mr. Colbeck asked to see him (Mr. Dumble) he declined to see him and sent him a note recommending him to go to Mr. Edwards.

Mr. COLBECK said he might as well say that he sent up Mrs. Colbeck to see Mr. Dumble, although he had not seen Mr. Dumble himself. He had had no previous acquaintance with Mr. Edwards.

Mr. MCWILLIAMS, after asking other questions which were objected to said he wished to show that Mr. Colbeck was prejudiced against him (Mr. McWilliams) because of the course latter had taken in the school board in sustaining Mr. Long in the position of principal, and that for that reason he had shown his malice against the boy. He said he would not allow Mr. Colbeck and Mr. Dumble to use him as a politician, to remove Mr. Long, (a Conservate) from the school. He wished to show the course of school matters that led up to this position. He said that he wanted to show that there was not only malice on the part of Mr. Colbeck, but of the Magistrate sitting on the case, and he was willing to have the case tried by any other Magistrate in the County of Peterborough. He began to say something in reference to Mr. Dumble's personal knowledge of Mr. Colbeck before his appointment, when Mr. Dumble interrupted and said that Mr. McWilliams was taking advantage of his position to utter an insult, and he added that he had liberty to dispose of case, but that he should give no ground to have improper motives imputed to him. He thought that the case was of sufficient gravity to warrant it being sent up to court, and he therefore committed the defendant, Mr. McWilliams, for trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction. Defendant was admitted to bail, his personal recognizance of $100 being accepted.

The case will therefore come up at the next County Court, December 10th.

Mr. Burson, the evangelist, took the services in the Murray Street Baptist Church Sunday morning.

—A couple of girls came out of the Salvation Army barracks Saturday night to settle a dispute, and it was effectually settled by one of the female "bruisers" knocking the other down and pummelling her until she fainted. A couple of men who were passing rescued the beaten girl and took her into a neighbouring house.

There's Money in the Country.
To hear some people talk one would think that money was a scarce article, but bless you, there is always money fourthcoming when the proper inducements are offered. Take the great sale of dry goods now going on at Hackett's store. The stock must be cleared and business wound up by the 1st of January. Everyone knows this; they know that the bargains offered are genuine. Despite the large quantity sold there is a big lot yet to go. The store is 125 feet deep and was crammed with this season's new goods. Here's your chance. Everything being sacrificed to clear. Store crowded with buyers who recognize that this is a chance that occurs only once in ten years. All accounts must be settled by January 1st and the business wound up. Come and buy. d126-w48tf

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER
THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

LT.-GOV. ROYAL'S TROUBLE

A DEADLOCK IN THE GOVERNMENT OF THE NORTHWEST

The Governor's Council Want to Spend More Money Than the Governor Thinks is Right—Sir John Macdonald and Lord Stanley to Consider the Matter.

OTTAWA, Dec. 2.—Lt.-Governor Royal the Northwest Territories arrived in the city to-day. Mr. Royal had previously made arrangements to meet Sir John Macdonald at Earnscliffe and Lord Stanley at Rideau Hall to discuss with the Premier and Governor-General the strange deadlock in the North-West Government. In accordance with the programme Mr. Royal proceeded to Earnscliffe immediately after his arrival in the capital. The case that Mr. Royal has come to lay before the Imperial and Federal authorities is a constitutional one of an unusually interesting character. Mr. Royal appointed an advisory Council of four to assist him in governing the territories. A question arose as to the jurisdiction of this council in regard to the finances. Mr. Royal limited their authority to the revenue raised in the country, only $15,000 a year, and the assembly insisted that their jurisdiction extended to the Dominion subsidy, the sole right to administer which the Lieut.-Governor claimed for himself. Hence a complete deadlock. Mr. Royal is here for advice and instruction how to proceed.

RAILWAY RUMORS

Running Wild in Their Native Jungle—Other Ambitious City News.

HAMILTON, Dec. 2.—The Herald to-night in its second edition says: The C.P.R. are negotiating for the purchase of the H. & D. Railway. A meeting will be held in Dundas to-night, and if the C.P.R. can get what they want from the town they will buy the railway. Mr B.B. Osler is understood to be negotiating the deal.

It is said that the T.,H.&B. people have backed out and that the reason is that the Canadian Pacific have offered to give the Michigan Central running rights over their line, when built, to Toronto. Mr. Miller, one of the directors of the T. H.&B. was seen in reference to the rumor and he said he knew nothing about it. "When Mr Helm returns," says The Spectator, "he will be in a position to show the credential committee whether he holds an ace full or if he was bluffing on a bob-tail flush.

Samuel Lavis, who stopped the career of the negro George Murray as the latter was running amuck in the Bowery, New York, on Thanksgiving Day and thereby saved at least two lives, is a Hamilton boy.

The exports to the United States for November were $105,442. Inland Revenue returns $37,113, a decrease of $863. Customs returns $68,329, a decrease of $480.

John Garrett got back all but $2.50 of the $42 stolen from him at Mr. Spence's boarding house and Charles Allen will spend a year at the Central Prison for the larceny thereof.

The Prince of Wales Never Enjoyed Better Health Than Now.

DETROIT, Dec. 3.—The widest circulation has been given to the statement that the Prince of Wales was a sufferer from Bright's disease. Dr. A. J. B. Jenner, Bishop Commissioner of the Anglican Free Church in this city, addressed the Prince a letter Oct. 23 to tender him the assurance that if His Royal Highness was really a sufferer from the disease in question he might find comfort from the fact that the disease in not incurable. The Bishop said that as he had once been laid of service to His Highness in a critical time, he was again ready to be commanded.

Under date of Nov. 16 the Controller of the Royal Household wrote from Marlboro House in Pall Mall to the Bishop thanking him for his letter and saying: "So far from suffering from Bright's disease His Royal Highness has never known better health than he is now enjoying.

WINE WASTED.

Fire Destroys Le Boeuf's Property Opposite Belle Isle in Detroit River.

DETROIT, Dec. 2.—This morning Louis Ferirch, and employe of Eugene Le Boeuf, whose wine house is situated on the Canadian shore, opposite the upper end of Belle Isle, discovered fire and alarmed the people in the house, but so rapidly did the flames spread that Le Boeuf and his family had barely time to escape. Le Boeuf had 23,000 gallons of wine in casks in his wine house. Everything was burned out clear to the ground. Le Boeuf estimates his loss at $44,000, as follows: $37,000 on the wine, some of which was five years old, $3000 on building, $3000 on dwelling, $900 on piano and $3000 on household goods and wearing apparel. He is insured for $25,000 in the Ontario Loan and Debenture Association of London. The origin of the fire is unknown.

TREASURE TROVE AT ST. KITTS.

A Box Unearthed Containing $8300 in New Worthless Bills.

ST CATHERINES, Dec. 3.—As Henry Smith was digging up the earth around the mineral bath pipes in the rear of the Welland House on Saturday evening, he unearthed a tin cash box closely bound with wire. It bore the initials V. R., and underneath was an inscription which was almost eaten away with rust. The date, however was quite distinct—1858. The box was found to contain $4,500 in bills of the now defunct Zimmerman Bank, and $3 in lawful coin of the realm. The bills, silver and copper were worn and rusted. It is supposed to have been the property of a Col. Victor Reynolds, who boarded at the Welland House over thirty years ago, when Zimmerman money was as good as gold. The Colonel afterwards disappeared and nothing more was heard of him. He no doubt passed away with thousands of others in the bloody civil war in the United States.

THE EX-TORONTO MANAGER.

Why Cushman Left Toronto and his Reason for Going to Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 3.—Manager Cushman of the Milwaukee base-ball club, started last evening for his home in Philadelphia, where it is expected he will remain until spring. "We signed Cushman," said Mr. McGuire to-day, "because we believe him to be a man who can give us a far superior management and consequently a stronger club than we have had before. Everything pertaining to club matters is now in his hands, so that until his return there will be actually nothing done.

[There is little doubt but that had Cushman desired he would have remained in Toronto another season. President McConnell was favorable to him, but the Philadelphian no doubt received an offer from Milwaukee that policy prevented him from declining.]

WILLOUGHBY THEIR CHOICE.

The East Northumberland Conservative Convention at Warkworth.

WARKWORTH, Dec. 3.—The convention held here to-day for the purpose of selecting a candidate to contest East Northumberland in the Conservative interest for the Ontario Assembly was unusually attended by representatives from all parts of the riding. Dr. W. A. Willoughby, M.L.A., was the unanimous choice as candidate, and speeches were delivered by Colonel Cochrane, M.P., and Dr. W. A. Willoughby, M.L.A.

France's Attitude Towards Brazil.

PARIS, Dec. 2.—In the Chamber of Deputies M. Hubbard asked for information regarding the attitude of France toward the new Brazilian Government.

M. Spuller, Minister of Foreign Affairs, replied that despatches from the French Charge d' Affaires at Rio de Janeiro showed order had not been disturbed and that the provisional government persisted to protect all interests and to respect all engagements entered into by the Empire. M. Spuller said he had instructed the French agent to continue the same good relations with the Republic that had been maintained with the Empire. No official notification had as yet been made on either side. The new Government was probably awaiting the assembling of the Chamber before officially notifying foreign powers of the establishment of the Republic.

Land Sales Growing—Furs Fewer

LONDON, Dec. 2.—The Hudson Bay Company's report states that the total qualities of furs returned by the current outfit are somewhat smaller than those of last year, owing chiefly to the mortality and distress among the Indians. The land sales for the seven months ending with October show a marked improvement on last year. The latter statement fully agrees with the general tone of advices received there, favorably influencing Northwest stocks generally.

WHOSE KNIFE WAS IT?

ANOTHER DAY IN THE CRONIN MURDER CASE.

Mr. Forrest Submits Some Evidence—Jake Loewenstein Swears the Knife Was Coughlin—Judge Wing Proceeds With the Defence.

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—In the Cronin trial to-day M. Forrest, for the defence, announced that he was prepared to introduce some evidence in rebuttal, as had been stipulated he might do before the argument is begun.

August Loewenstein, a clothing dealer, testified that he sold to Coughlin on April 27 last, the week before the murder, a pair of pants which Coughlin then and there put on. In doing so he took off the old pair which he wore and emptied the pockets, placing the contents on a chair. Among these things were two knives. The knives taken from Coughlin by Detective Flynn at the time of his arrest and on Friday last identified by Mr. Conklin as having been carried by Dr. Cronin, were shown to witness. He could not say positively that they were the same knives as those which he saw Coughlin take out of his pockets, but they looked something like them.

The cross-examination brought out the fact that witness is a brother of ex-Detective Jake Loewenstein, Coughlin's partner.

The next witness was Jake Loewenstein. He testified that he had seen one of Coughlin's knives quite often and the other he had himself carried. When shown the knives in evidence he said: "This one (the large one) is Dan Coughlin's. I know from the way it is ground, from the color of the handle and from the general appearances. It had been ground to a point on the grindstone at the station. As to the other I know he had one just like it."

Judge Wing, for the defence, then resumed his argument.

DOINGS IN THE CAPITAL.

Social and Political News—Ontario Timber for Quebec.

OTTAWA Dec. 3.—Hon. Jas. Royal, Lieut. Governor of the North West Territories, arrived here to-day.

Hon. J. A. Chapleau has gone to New York to see off his wife and her mother, Mrs. King, who will winter in Bermuda.

Mr. Catellier, the newly appointed Under-Secretary of State, has been presented with a congratulatory address by his fellow clerks.

The Quebec Government's forest rangers for Ottawa district met at Hull on Saturday when it was announced that the increase in the revenue in the district in timber dues reached $230,000.

Owing to the close of navigation the C. P. R. is transporting from boats to cars at Pres-cott Ont. 25,000 bushels of American wheat destined for the Montreal markets.

Mr. Alonzo Wright, M. P., has been seriously unwell for sometime past.

Mr. E. Prout, of the Emery Lumber Co. of Wabuipate Ont., is here arranging with Mr. G. A. Reaston district general freight agent of the C.P.R. for the transportion of a large quantity of square timber from Sudbury to Papineauville. The shipments to that point every year by C.P.R. reach 2,000,000 feet of pine timber. The timber is placed on the Ottawa River at Papineauville, whence it is rafted to Quebec.

Hon. William McDougall has received an invitation from Rev. Principal Grant of Queen's University, Kingston, to attend the semi-centennial celebration of the establishment of the University, which is to be held in Kingston on the 19th of December.

Captain J. L. Murphy and Mr. O. Sills, of the Upper Ottawa Towing Company, Pembroke, and Captain Goulet of Aylmer are in the city negotiating with the recently incorporated Ottawa improvement company to the latter. The Upper Ottawa Towing Company own seven steamers and Captain Goulet owns two it is likely that all these will be transferred to the improvement company, of which Mr. G. B. Greene is the General Manager, and which is authorized by Parliament to construct or purchase piers, booms, slides, dams, etc., on any part of the Ottawa River between the heads of Chats Rapids and the Quinze Rapids for the purpose of facilitating the transmission of timber or saw logs.

The outlook for the coming social season is unusually bright. Lady Stanley will continue her usual weekly receptions at Government House, while there will be Saturday skating and tobogganing parties.

It is stated that all the negotiations between England and the United States as affecting Canada have narrowed down to a correspondence in regard to Behring Sea and Alaska boundary question. Hopes of a satisfactory settlement before next session are anticipated.

The motion for an immediate hearing of the Haldimand election case in the Supreme Court will come up on Thursday.

A CONTRACTOR CAPSIASED.

The Senior Member of McFarlane & Co., Toronto, Arrested in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Dec. 3.—Some sensation was caused to-day by the report that Macfarlane & Son, the well-known contractors of Toronto, had assigned. Mr. MacFarlane came to Montreal on Saturday and was arrested on a capias at the instance of Cooper & Fairman, merchants of this city, for the sum of $17,879. He was immediately released on 19,000 bail. The principal creditors of the estate are understood to be the Ontario Bank $105,000, Cooper & Fairman $17,800, Eastern Township Bank $12,000, McFarlane Milling Company Sherbrooke $2300, R. B. Buchanan & Co. Montreal $3000, a client of Blake, Kerr, Lash & Cassels of Toronto, $10,000 a loan company of Hartford, $12,000 loss. The report of the firm's assignment was not correct but the reports that had been set afloat would in all probability have the effect of leading to an assignment. On enquiry at the Court House it was learned that there had been no assignment made up to the close of the court.

UNITED STATES NEWS.

George Brougham, a Chicago meat packer, will manage for an English syndicate with a capital of £1,000,000 a big meat packing and beef extract concern to be started at Buenos Ayres.

Twenty men and two women are now under arrest for the Santa Fe train robbery.

The jury in the Navasea case found George F. Key guilty of murder in the first degree; Moses Williams, alias Dakota, not guilty, and not agreed as to the other sixteen prisoners. This verdict does not release the sixteen from trial on other indictments. Key has appealed.

The First Train.

KINGSTON, Dec. 4.—The first train from Tweed via the Napanee and Tamworth and Kingston and Pembroke Railway tracks arrived here to-day.

SARNIA, Dec. 3.—To-day Lena Higgerman and Kate Higgerman, were examined before the Mayor, on a charge of stealing goods from the Bob hamber House, and Mary Higgerman on a charge of receiving the stolen goods. The three are sisters and were sent up for trial. Lena and Kate worked at the hotel laundry and a search of the house where the three lived, rethieved about two hundred dollars worth of stolen sheets, pillow slips, towels, spreads &c. The hotel had lost several hundred dollars worth of goods.

THE G.O.M. AND HIS POLICY

GLADSTONE READY TO DEAL WITH CURRENT QUESTIONS.

The Great Political Gathering at Manchester—Land and Labor Will Probably be Discussed—About Prince Albert Victor's House.

LONDON, Dec. 2.—Arnold Morley, partly in consequence of Schnadhorst, the Liberal caucus king, has gone to Manchester in connection with arrangements for the great meeting of the National Liberal federation, which takes place in that city on Wednesday and Thursday. Gladstone is constantly receiving expressions of the strong desire of many Liberals that the "platform" of the party should be comprehensive. The Liberal leader, with his ever-marvelous energy, exhibits no unwillingness to deal so far as possible with the manifold topics suggested. Indeed, he has already done so incidentally in various recent speeches. Points connected with the land question, with rating and with the housing of the working classes, and questions specially affecting the people of London are urged upon his attention. Of course, in these communications Ireland continues to hold the chief place, but there is no desire to do more at the present moment than assert the principles which Mr. Gladstone has held foremost, and not until the days of the parliament are literally numbered will the Liberal leader feel called upon to formulate in any greater detail the proposals which the prospect of official responsibility may then be expected to produce.

A determined attempt is being made to introduce the eight-hour question into the National Liberal federation meeting. The endeavor is by no means confined to London, though it has had its most active expression here. The council of the London Liberal and Radical union has been asked to formerly resolve as an instruction to the federation "that the time has arrived for declaring that no government or municipal employe shall be required to work more than eight hours a day or to receive less than the standard rate of wages, and that such employes shall in future be allowed the free and unrestricted right of combination for their own interests."

An amendment "that it is injudicious to insist upon conditions which the trade unions congress has not yet demanded," will be moved, and the fate of the resolution is hardly in doubt. It will be defeated. Nevertheless, the fact that it is to be discussed is noteworthy.

The statement that a special application will be made to parliament for money to arrange a home for Prince Albert Victor in St. James' palace is incorrect. In the ordinary estimates of next year there will be in the vote one provision, without any reference to the prince, for the repair and decoration of the house so long occupied by the late Duchess of Cambridge. The front windows look out upon Cleveland Row, and the back upon the ambassadors' court of the palace, also called because it includes the doors by which those having the entree are admitted to the throne-room at levees. This is one of the eight houses in the gift of the Queen, all forming part of St. James' palace, and all maintained by the taxpayers. One is occupied by Sir A. West, whose wife was a maid of honor; another by the widow of an equerry of her majesty, and so on.

ONLY THREE ABSENTEES

The United States Congress Opens With a Full Attendance.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—The clerk called the House to order at noon, 372 members answering the roll call. For speaker Thomas B. Reed (Rep. Me.) and John G. Carlisle (Dem., Ky.) were nominated. Mr. Reed was elected, escorted to the chair and took the oath of office.

Increases in Canal Traffic.

BUFFALO, Dec. 3.—The Erie Canal closed Saturday night. The season lasted an even seven months, the canal having been opened on May 1st. The increase in traffic in all kinds of grain eastward amounts to 3,841,167 bushels. There was a decrease of about 300,000 bushels in wheat and an increase of 800,000 bushels in corn a decrease of 500,000 bushels of oats, an increase of three quarters of a million in barley, and nearly a million bushels of rye, over last year. The clearances by canal this year numbered 6,896, an increase of 815 as compared with last year. Freights have been pretty well maintained and on the whole fairly remunerative.

The Millers' Case.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—At a mixed meeting of farmers and millers here to-day the differential duties on wheat and flour were discussed, the concurrent opinion being they were very unfair to the Canadian miller and against the interests of the Ontario farmer. The meeting adjourned to meet again in this city on Wednesday the 18th December, the farmer's institute meeting at that date. David Plewes, Secretary of the Dominion Millers' Association, is invited to address the institution on that date on the millers' association and their difficulties under the present unfair duties on wheat and flour.

Sudden Death

EAST SAGINAW, Mich., Dec. 2.—Wednesday the wife of Adam Summers died supposedly from inflammation of the bowels and was buried Friday. From statements made by her and also from suspicious circumstances attending death, the body was exhumed and an inquest will be held to-morrow. Authorities state they have a strong case against her husband who is now jailed pending investigation.

No Marine Commission.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The International Marine Conference met to-day after a recess of several days. The Committee on the establishment of a permanent International Marine Commission reported that such a commission was not practicable and feasible at present. The Committee also reported that it is not possible to create an International tribunal to try questions of collisions between subjects of different Nationalities.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The British warships Cleopatra, Swallow and Flamings have been signalled off Monte Video. The Admiralty considers that reinforcements are not needed on the Brazilian station.

CONFERRING THE SILK.

Fifty New Queen's Counsel—The Queen City Bar Liberally Recognized.

TORONTO, Dec. 3.—The Dominion Government has just passed around with a lavish hand the much-prized silk of Q. C.'s. The Toronto bar has been quite liberally dealt with in conferring the silk. Some of the gentlemen who have been "recognized" at last are known to have been "expecting it" for fully five years; to others it comes as a surprise. Hon. Senator Gowan of Barrie, who is now in Ireland, only two weeks ago had the distinction conferred upon him, by the Chief Justice of that land of eminent jurists and lawyers, of being called to the Irish bar. Now he is made a Q. C. by a friendly government at home. With the exception of a couple or so of names the gentlemen honored are all of the Ontario bar; it is now several years since the Banner Province of the Dominion has been honored in this respect. Here is the full list, as published in the Gazette of Saturday:

How to Lace Your Shoes.

Not one person in a thousand laces his shoes correctly. The correct way is to put your foot when you are about to lace your shoe as much as possible in the heel of the shoe. You can do this best by lacing your shoes with the heel of your shoe resting in a chair standing in front of the one you are seated on. Over the instep the lacing should be drawn as tightly as possible. This will hold your foot back in the shoe, giving the toes freedom and preventing their being cramped. Lace about the ankle to suit your comfort.—New York Truth.

THE LADIES!

A New and Startling Form of Disease which is afflicting Canadian Women.

How scraps of Worn, Digested Fresh Complexion, Perfect Health and Superb Physical Beauty.

A great London Physician says that he notes a new and distinct form of nervous disease produced in Canadian women by worry about servants and overwork in caring for the home. This is only too true. It is why we see so many ladies pale, weak, languid, and suffering from headaches and innumerable weaknesses. They cannot stand the strain upon their nervous system. Many of them have found the means to sustain their failing strength, to give color to the cheeks, and new life and vigor to the body, in Paine's Celery Compound. This pure and scientific remedy is especially adapted to the needs of women, and is daily making the most remarkable cures. Mrs. W. E. Cooper, 60 St. Dominique St., Montreal, was for a long time troubled with nervous headaches, loss of appetite, low spirits, etc. After using the Compound, her headaches disappeared, appetite was good, and her spirits revived.

Annie Gourley, of River Beaudette, P.Q., found the Compound a certain cure for weakness, and now feels as well as she ever did.

Many a Canadian lady has the same reason to be grateful.

Paine's Celery Compound can be purchased at any druggist's for one dollar a bottle. If he should not have it on hand, order direct from WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., MONTREAL.

Ashburnham Brevities.

Mr. James Stewart, who has been a resident of this town for a number of years, moved Monday to Young's Point, where he purposes opening out in the stand now occupied by Mr. Young. Mr. Stewart leaves a host of well-wishing friends behind him.

The regular meeting of the School Board will be held this evening in the Council Chamber.

Rev. Jeffrey Hill, of Chatham, will give an illustrated lecture in St. Luke's school room on Saturday evening, 7th inst. The lecture is specially adapted to children, but is very instructive and amusing for both old and young. Admission is free, and it is expected a large audience will be out to hear the reverend gentleman.

The question of securing a second snow plow should be discussed at the council meeting to-night. Since the matter was mentioned in the EXAMINER a number of people have spoken in favor of the second plough. The only additional expense would be the plough, which would be a very small matter compared with the great advantages which would be derived from this addition. At present it takes three men a whole day to clear all the streets in the village, and, of course, it can be easily understood that many parts do not receive attention as early as they should. If the streets are to be scraped at all, they should be done so as to be of some good. If they are not got over early in the day, the usefulness of the plough is very much retarded, as the streets must necessarily be tramped down by those who are forced to turn out early. If there were enough ploughs, one could clear the main streets in the north and another in the south in time for those who are obliged to go to their different places of business in the morning, while the less travelled streets could be done later in the day. Money spent in clearing the sidewalks of snow is certainly money well spent, and it is to be hoped that the council will take steps to have the work done in such a way that the people in all parts of the village will have efficient service.

Domestic Infelicity.

Smarting Under a Wife's Wrongs, Lawyer David Smart, of Port Hope, Seeks to Recover His Children by Legal Process.

The Cobourg World says:—An extraordinary case of domestic infelicity has come to light in an action tried last week in the Court of Chancery, in which Mr. David Smart, the well-known Port Hope lawyer, asks the court for a decree absolute giving him possession of his children. Mrs. Emma Aridelia Smart, the defendant, is a daughter of the late Mr. Worts, the wealthy Toronto distiller. She was married to the plaintiff in 1873. Three children have been born of the marriage, viz., Isabel Beatrice Smart, aged nine years; Lillian Constance Smart, aged twelve years; and David Worts Smart, aged fifteen years.

Until July, 1883, Mr. and Mrs. Smart lived together in harmony at Port Hope, so far as the outside world knew, and moved upon the very upper crust of society. In July her husband alleges his wife left him without cause and went to Toronto, where she continued to reside until May, 1884. Between July, 1883, and May, 1884, friends and relatives of the parties made every effort to effect a reconciliation, the wife meanwhile refusing to return to her husband and charging him with shocking immorality and gross drunkenness. She finally consented to return to his bed and board, providing that he would keep straight, and in the event of his again breaking out stipulating that the children should be given into her custody. After the agreement was signed, the husband alleges that they lived peacefully together until September, 1885, at which date the family were all in the State of California on a trip for the benefit of the wife's health. There again, it is alleged, the wife left Smart, and with the children removed to Toronto. Again, in November, 1885, an agreement was entered into whereby the wife was to have the custody of the children, allowing the husband to see them once a week, and husband and wife were to live apart. Up to this time not a word had been said against the good name of the wife nor against the husband, except that he was too fond of liquor. A few days ago, however the husband commenced a suit to gain control of the children, and in his statement of claim he set forth a most horrible list of charges against his wife. The trial was held secretly and lasted six days, the press being carefully excluded. His Lordship Mr. Justice Ferguson, in stating that he would reserve his judgment for three weeks, said on Thursday:—"This is the most horrible case which has ever darkened the pages of the law journals of any civilized court." Although Mr. Smart was addicted to the excessive use of intoxicating liquors a few years ago, we can say that as to his drinking habits he is a reformed and respected man to-day. Last winter he was the active president of the Scott Act Association in Port Hope.

Church Chimes.

Rev. S. J. Shorey preached anniversary sermons in Orillia Sunday. His pulpit was occupied in the morning by Mr. E. J. Colville and in the evening by Rev. D. S. Hoech of Bridgenorth.

Second Dominion Regiment—1st Battalion, Cantons Kingston, Belleville and Ottawa; 2nd Battalion, Cantons Peterborough and Bowmanville; 3rd Battalion Cantons Mt. Royal, Listour (N. B.) and Winnipeg.

Peculiarities of the Hair.

There are times when all persons require to pay some particular attention to the hair. To rekindle the life on energy at the roots is a simple matter if taken in time. Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic will do the work, it works in accordance with nature, supplys fresh nourishment to the glands keeper, the hair luxuriant and natural in shade. Be sure to get, you cannot afford to miss it. Every druggist sells it. It is money well spent. See Dorenwends advertisement in another column.

Irritable People.

PEOPLE are often irritable by reason of some exasperating skin disease which destroys comfort and good humor. Salt Rheum, nettle rash, erysipelas, pimples, scald head, etc., are of this nature, they arise from bad blood, and can be cured by using Burdock Blood Bitters according to directions. 2w48d

Thirty Years Ago.

OVER 30 years ago there was placed upon the market a remedy designed to relieve pain and capable of either external or internal use. From the first it has had wonderful success, and hundreds testify that Hagyard's Yellow Oil cures rheumatism, sore throat, sprains, croup, cuts, bruises and all pains and aches. 2w48d

ANGLO-SAXONS IN EGYPT.

UNCLE SAM SUPPORTS ENGLAND'S POLICE IN PHARAOH'S LAND.

Other International Relations—The Times declares The Behring Sea Trouble to be a Traders' Dispute—Permanent Misunderstanding Impossible.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Mr. G. W. Smalley cables The Tribune from London: Mr Eugene Schuyler's speech to the Khedive on his reception as American Consul-General in Egypt has excited remark. He is reported to have said: "If the co-operation of the United States be thought useful for completing the powers of the mixed tribunals, lightening the financial burdens or aiding the development of Egypt Your Highness may be assured that such co-operation will never by lacking." That is interpreted by the English to mean that English authority and policy in Egypt will be backed up by the United States. Support from the State Department at Washington while Mr Blaine was Secretary of State would once have surprised the English Foreign Office; but they are beginning to understand Mr Blaine better. There can be no question as to the wisdom of the policy which he has now announced in Egypt, where all real authority is and must continue to be English, in whose rules lies the only hope of prosperity for that country

Nor is Egypt the only country where an Anglo-American policy will bear good fruit both to England and the United States. The Times of Thursday publishes a long letter from Mr. Stavely Hill on the North Pacific and fisheries, which is an interesting account of this industry from the Canadian point of view of Mr. Hill, who is a lawyer holding a brief for the Canadian trailers. The letter is chiefly important because it appears where it does, and because of The Times' comments. This journal in one sentence declares that the dispute when carefully sifted, is one between rival trailers, and in another that a grave question of international law is raised by the American claims to close Behring Sea against Canadian fishers. The question does not admit of doubt, cries the leading journal, and it throws over Selden, the greatest lawyer of his day, as coolly as it does Mr. Stavely Hill, who certainly is not the greatest of his. Mr. Hill's letter is angry. The Times, though positive that Mr. Blaine is wrong, keeps cool, and rejects the possibility of any permanent misunderstanding on such a matter between England and America.

A DIPLOMATIC FAILURE.

Bismarck's Ambitious Projects Coming to Nought—Charges Against Austria.

BERLIN, Dec. 1.—The Foreign Office here has ample reason to accuse the Australians of having broken faith regarding the recent Kalnoky-Bismarck compact. Within the present week the leading point of the cabinet has been set aside. Emperor Francis Joseph has annuled the decision giving autonomy to Trentino, and Count Kalnoky has authorized the Bourse to give quotations of the Bulgarian loan and has permitted the Austrian Consul at Sofia to renew his ostentatious intimacy with Prince Ferdinand. The check upon Prince Bismarck's diplomacy is absolute, and has been the subject of constant communication between the city and Vienna. Kalnoky is reported to have offered in explanation of the action taken, the statement that he was forced to depart from the Friedrichsruhe arrangement, even at the risk of precipitating a conflict with Russia. He found that both the Austrian and the Hungarian Ministers were averse to the terms of conciliation offered by Russia, and the opposition at Pesth was becoming so strong that it threatened to overturn the Tisza Ministry. Premier Tisza demanded as the condition of his remaining in office that the foreign police be strengthened on the old lines.

Regarding Trentino, Emperor Francis Joseph, finding that the concession of autonomy was considered a diplomatic victory and that Premier Crispi was preparing the way for annexation to Italy, decided to disenchant the Italians. Count von Taafe and his colleagues in the Austrian ministry were unanimous against Emperor Francis Joseph's hasty assent to autonomy and supported a reversal of that action. Count von Taafe sent to the Diet at Innsbruck an intimation that their vote granting Trentino a separate administration was vetoed.

Emperor William and Prince Bismarck received the explanations in sullen silence. Count Herbert Bismarck has written to Count Kalnoky that the Triple Alliance must submit to a removal of the dangers of the old position, aggravated by the proofs of irresolution of the Austrian policy. Premier Crispi, in a dispatch to the Chancellor, comments upon the increased irritation of the Italians over the Trentino affair. The Irridentist party has been strengthened by the conduct of Austria.

MORMONS NOT ELIGIBLE.

Judge Anderson's Decision in the Salt Lake Citizenship Case.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Dec. 2.—Judge Anderson yesterday in an elaborate and carefully prepared opinion denied the applications for citizenship made by Mormons who had taken the Endowment House oaths in the Mormon Church. The Judge states the ground of his opposition to the admission of such applicants to be that the Mormon Church is, and always has been, a treasonable organization in its teachings, and in its practices hostile to the Government of the United States, disobedient to its laws and seeking to overthrow, and that the oath administered to its members in the Endowment House binds them under penalty of death to implicit obedience in all things temporal as well as spiritual to the priesthood, and to avenge the death of the prophets Joseph and Hiram Smith upon the Government and the people of the United States. The court reviewed the evidence and said it was established beyond any reasonable doubt that the Endowment ceremonies were inconsistent with the oath of citizenship

THE BOLD BANK ROBBER.

Gets Away With $500 in the Union Bank of Lower Canada.

MONTREAL, Dec. 1.—On Saturday a young man named Roberts, an employe of the Canadian Express Company, was sent to the Union Bank of Lower Canada in Notre Dame-street to draw out the usual weekly pay for the employees, amounting to $4800. As he was counting it a stranger pushed in and grabbed a handful of bills amounting to $500 and fled. The case was given to Detective Barrett, who made a tour of the city with Mr. Roberts. A man was arrested as the guilty party, but he proved a satisfactory alibi and was liberated.

Hints for Winter.

WHEN attacked by a cough or cold, hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis, croup or influenza, the successful experience of thousands of families who have used it regularly for all such troubles during many years, suggests the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam—the old reliable household favorite. 2w48

Have You Thought About It?

Why suffer a single moment when you can get immediate relief from all internal or external pains by the use of Polson's Nerviline, the great pain cure. Nerviline has never been known to fail in a single case; it cannot fail, for it is a combination of the most powerful pain subduing remedies known. Try a 10 cent sample bottle of Nerviline. You will find Nerviline a sure cure for neuralgia, toothache, headache. Buy and try. Large bottles 25 cents, by all druggists. w48

A Corrupt System.

BAD blood may corrupt the entire system and cause scrofulous sores, swellings, ulcers, salt rheum, erysipelas, sore eyes and skin diseases, as shingles, tetter, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood and cleanses, tones and strengthens the entire system. 2w48d

Day and Night

During an acute attack of Bronchitis, a ceaseless tickling in the throat, and an exhausting, dry, hacking cough, afflict the sufferer. Sleep is banished, and great prostration follows. This disease is also attended with Hoarseness, and sometimes Loss of Voice. It is liable to become chronic, involve the lungs, and terminate fatally. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral affords speedy relief and cure in cases of Bronchitis. It controls the disposition to cough, and induces refreshing sleep.

I have been a practicing physician for twenty-four years, and, for the past twelve, have suffered from annual attacks of Bronchitis. After exhausting all the usual remedies

Without Relief,

I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It helped me immediately, and effected a speedy cure.—G. Stoveall, M.D., Carrollton, Miss.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is decidedly the best remedy, within my knowledge, for chronic Bronchitis, and all lung diseases. —M. A. Rust, M. D., South Paris, Me.

I was attacked, last winter, with a severe Cold, which, from exposure, grew worse and finally settled on my Lungs. By night sweats I was reduced almost to a skeleton. My Cough was incessant, and I frequently spit blood. My physician told me to give up business, or I would not live a month. After taking various remedies without relief, I was finally two bottles of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I am now in perfect health, and able to resume business, after having been pronounced incurable with consumption.—S. F. Henderson, Sandsburgh, Penn.

Cured By Using

For years I was in a decline. I had weak lungs, and suffered from Bronchitis and Catarrh. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral restored me to health, and I have been for a long time comparatively vigorous. In case of a sudden cold I always resort to the Pectoral, and find speedy relief.—Edward E. Curtis, Rutland, Vt.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Bronchitis. The physician attending me became fearful that the disease would terminate in Pneumonia. After trying various medicines, without benefit, he finally prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved me at once. I continued to take this medicine a short time, and was cured. —Ernest Colton, Logansport, Ind.

THAT broken pointer! Well, there is one pointer still left, and that keeps pointing to M. E. KIDD'S splendid tea. d

A Prosperous Paper.
The Bobcaygeon Independent, one of the most popular and ably edited journals of the Midland district, appears this week in a new dress of type which makes it still more readable. The power of the press is made manifest in the Independent. Brother Smiff keeps abreast with the procession both typographically and literarily.

Morrow's Teas.
Try W. J. Morrow's beautiful blends of Black Tea, Fine Hysons and Japans, acknowledged to be the finest in town. California Dried Fruits, self rising Buckwheat, silver Spanish Onions, very cheap by the grain. Fine Dried Apples; and all wishing a good cup of coffee, should not fail to try our fresh ground. Wait and see you have it ground fresh.

Our Increasing Population.
According to the last month's registration of births, deaths and marriages, Peterborough's population shows a cheering rate of increase. Just note—24 births to 5 deaths—nearly five to one, and, to five deaths, ten marriages, with all their population probabilities. This rate of increase is nothing to the popularity of hawley bros'. superb teas and fragrant coffees. The finest brands grown, freshly imported, at the lowest prices. dw

THIS cold weather makes one think of heavier clothing. While this thought is occupying your mind, think of KIDD'S great sacrifice of winter overcoats at 372 George street. dw

Hunters Return.
Messrs. Prentice and Anderson returned from their ten days hunting trip in Muskoka Saturday, and report having had a good time despite the unfavorable weather. The forest abounded with deer, and Messrs. Prentice and Anderson secured seven, though had the weather been better they would have bagged more. Muskoka is a poor partridge country, and but few birds were brought down.

"Dr. McIntyre, of Chicago, is the finest speaker on this continent." Reserve your seats for his greatest lecture "Wyandotte Cave," at the Peterborough Bookstore.

Great Chance for the Public.
At this season of the year the public will be interested in knowing that great bargains in groceries can be obtained at Rush Bros.' grocery store. Turn to their advertisement and you will see that a great cash sale is now going on. Goods are cut down to the finest kind of price, and the goods are all of high class quality, and no better chance of securing bargains in groceries has been presented in Peterborough. Study the list of prices in Rush Bros.' advertisement. dw

The Feast of Days.
An entertainment, under this title, will be held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church, in the premises formerly occupied by Munro's biscuit works, kindly loaned for the occasion by Mr. Brooks, on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 13th and 14th. This novelty in the form of an entertainment will be sure to be very attractive to the public. Dinner and tea will be served both days and articles suitable for Xmas presents will be on sale both days. d

ONE coats, odd vests and odd pants are now being sold for what they will bring at KIDD'S, 372 George street. dw

Rousing Value.
19 lbs. bright sugar and 4 lbs. of fine tea for $2. Everyone who has tried our teas say they never have had such value as we are giving. Why? Because we buy in large quantities and pay the cash. We are bound to sell and will sell at close profits. Flour and all kind of meal kept in stock and will be sold cheap. Make no mistake, this is the store to deal in. The wholesale and retail trade supplied on short notice, at the Red Tea Store, 321 George street.

"I use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral freely in my practice, and recommend it in cases of Whooping Cough among children, having found it more certain to cure that troublesome disease than any other medicine I know of."—So says Dr. Bartlett, of Concord, Mass.

"Dr. McIntyre's 'Wyandotte Cave' fairly made one's blood stand still." Plan of hall for this great lecture now open at Peterborough Bookstore.

Board of Trade.
To-night in the council chamber the Quarterly Meeting of the Board of Trade will be held. This is a most important meeting and every member is urged to be present. Matters of the utmost moment to the town will be up for discussion.

Zera Semon.
Mr. Ed. H. Barnstead, jr., agent, is in town to-day making arrangements for the appearance in Bradburn's Opera House, for a season of one week—beginning on Dec. 9th. The same first class show with new features. At every performance 100 costly and elegant gifts given away. Zera Semon comes to town with a reputation for keeping his engagement.

South Ward Reboot.
Mr. L. Spry's new stove and tin store on Stewart street is a very convenient and neatly fitted up place of business. He is converting his former shop into a dwelling house, which will be well laid out, warm and comfortable. Mr. Spry will move into it himself in a few weeks, and rent the brick house on the corner which he now lives in. "Lewis'" head is level, and where he sees a chance to make an honest dollar he's got the push to do it.

Endeavor Society Fraternize.
The regular meeting of the Endeavor Society of St. Paul's church last night was of a special nature. The friends of the Baptist church Endeavor Society were invited over, and about fifty of them were present. Mr. A. McCallum read the report of the delegates to the Convention in Toronto, in the course of which it was announced that St. Paul's church had the second largest Society of the kind in Ontario. Rev. P. C. Parker, Rev. E. F. Torrance and Mr. R. J. Colville also delivered short addresses.

EVERY overcoat must be sold before the 1st of January, regardless of cost, at KIDD'S, 372 George street. dw of Crockery, China, Glassware, Lamps, Dinner sets &c., on Wednesday evening Dec. 3rd, in the store on Water street, next Jas. Stevenson's office. A lot of very handsome goods will be sold, consisting of Dinner, Tea, Breakfast and Chamber sets, Lamps Silverware &c., as well as a full line of small goods in the above lines. Sale at 7 o'clock.

Remember the Sale
JOHN HAGGART.
d Auctioneer,

Obituary.
One of the old residents of the town passed away this morning in the person of Mrs. Wm. Hickey. She died at the residence of her son William, 70 Weller street. The deceased lady was a native of County Limerick, Ireland. She came to this country in 1851. About 42 years ago she was married to the late Wm. Hickey, who died about twelve years ago. Of the marriage were born three sons, one died in infancy, one, Michael, about eight years since, and one, William still survives. The deceased lady was highly respected. The funeral takes place on Thursday at 9 o'clock to the R. C. cemetery.

Reclaiming Drowned Land.
Mayor Stevenson and Messrs. E H. D. Hall and R. S. Davidson, who were appointed to visit Ottawa and interview the government with reference to a strip of land along the river front, leave for the Capital to-morrow on their mission. It is proposed to reclaim the low land lying between the C.P.R. track and the west bank of the river and convert it into a market place or utilize it for other corporation purposes. The land of course belongs to the government as it is part of the river bed, but if the town gets hold of it the property can be made valuable.

Farewell Presentation.
A few friends of Mrs. Ritchie, Stewart street, assembled at her residence, Stewart street, Friday evening and presented her with a handsome breakfast and dinner set, bought at China Hall. Those present took occasion to wish Mrs. Ritchie every happiness in her new home in Kansas City, Mo., where she is going to live with her sons, and at the same time to express their regret at her departure. Mrs. Ritchie was taken quite by surprise, but said she was pleased to find her friends had not forgotten her. She desires to thank all those who so kindly and delicately remembered her, and especially the merchants on George street, who needed but a hint of what was going on.

Probably the Greatest Word Painter Living.
An American paper says of the eloquent Chicago divine who lectures in Bradburn's Hall on Tuesday evening, Dec. 17th, "Above the greatest word painters on both sides of the sea we set Dr. McIntyre, of Chicago." Plan of hall now open at Stratten's Bookstore.

Pumpkin Pie Social.
The recently organized Young People's Christian Association of the Bridgenorth Methodist church, held a pumpkin pie social last night, which was a splendid success. The large number present were regaled with pumpkin pie of all known varieties and makes, and the pastry left over was auctioned off at five cents per plate. An entertainment followed the social, at which the following programme was rendered:—

There's Money in the Country.
To hear some people talk one would think that money was a scarce article, but bless you, there is always money fourthcoming when the proper inducements are offered. Take the great sale of dry goods now going on at Hackett's store. The stock must be cleared and business wound up by the 1st of January. Everyone knows this; they know that the bargains offered are genuine. Despite the large quantity sold there is a big lot yet to go. The store is 125 feet deep and was crammed with this season's new goods. Here's your chance. Everything being sacrificed to clear. Store crowded with buyers who recognise that this is a chance that occurs only once in ten years. All accounts must be settled by January 1st and the business wound up. Come and buy.

Over Twelve Years Established.
A live and well established grocery and provision business for sale. R. H. Green, on account of continued ill-health, has decided to sell his entire stock of groceries, provisions, &c., en bloc, at a bargain, to a suitable purchaser. The goods are nearly all new, well assorted and bought at the lowest possible wholesale prices. The stock, farmakings, horses, rigging, &c., will amount to about twelve hundred dollars, but will be reduced considerably within the next few weeks (if I don't meet with a wholesale purchaser in the meantime), as I am now retailing them at a great sacrifice. Parties wanting good fresh groceries, provisions, &c., for the holiday season will find it to their advantage to call before buying elsewhere, as decided bargains will be given. The goods must be sold. R. H. GREEN, corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets, Peterborough. Dec. 3rd. w47tnf

Another Big Snap!
$5 H. LeBrun & Co. have struck another rich mine. They have bought an additional 200 Seven Overcoats for cash, to sell at FIVE dollars each. Just fancy! You never could make them for the price; but the man wanted the money and we got the lot. They are splendid value—every one of them—and you needn't be afraid to buy them. They are all well made, of heavy, all-wool tweed, lined with heavy wool lining and trimmed and finished extra well. Good enough for anybody to wear on Sunday or any other day. Come and see them for yourselves, and tell your neighbors they are as good as we advertise. Parents, bring your boys with you, as our stock of Boys' and Youths' Overcoats bangs anything you have ever heard of. All sizes and we can fit your boy to perfection. No such bargains have been offered in the last five years!

AN INDUSTRY IN VIEW.

The Town After an Electric Carbon Works.

Regular Meeting of the Civic Council—The Butchers Ask for Equal Rights—Miscellaneous Municipal Matters.

Every member was in his chair at last night's meeting of the town council.

The following communication was read:—

To the Mayor and Council of the town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN.—We the undersigned beg to call your attention to the fact that an industry for the manufacture of electric light carbons is at present seeking for a place to locate in Canada.

The said industry can, if suitable inducements be offered, be induced to locate in Peterborough.

The business will give employment to 50 or 60 hands, with a prospect of doubling that number in a very short time.

We would respectfully, therefore, ask you to grant to the said industry exemption from taxation and assistance by way of bonus to the amount of twelve hundred dollars per annum for ten years.

J. W. TAYLOR,
THOS. BROOKS,
J. BRADEN,
GEO. STEVENSON.

SABBATH DESECRATION.

The Secretary of the W. C. T. U. asked the council to instruct the police to take steps to prevent Sunday desecration by young men in the south end of the town. The Chief of Police was instructed to enforce observance of the Sabbath.

The following appeals against tax assessments were received:—Geo. Dunsford, James McGuire, Enos Evans, Mrs. Sarah Drake, Rev. G. H. Davis, Mrs. Jos. Thibeau, Lyman H. Terrill, Mrs. Maria Burrits, Timothy Giroux, J. G. W. Ray, John B. Ducatt, Jas. O'Brien and A. Murtry. The communications were referred to the Court of Revision, excepting that of Rev. Mr. Davis, which was granted.

A petition from Gabriel Learmouth asked for the extension of a drain on Park street.—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

H. E. Moffatt, Secretary of the World's Fair Committee, asked the council to recommend that the exhibition be held at Chicago next year, in preference to New York. Chicago received 7 votes and New York 3, so Chicago gets the fair.

The Protestant Home authorities asked the council for aid in supporting Rose Malone and Daniel Burgess.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

EQUAL RIGHTS FOR BUTCHERS.

Mr. THOS. HOWDEN, on behalf of the butchers who had erected slaughter houses in the south end of the town, asked that they be given the same privileges as other butchers and a by-law passed allowing them to continue to operate till spring, and new regulations then made to cover all the butchers.—Referred to the Health Committee.

FINANCIAL.

Mr. DAVIDSON presented the report of the Finance Committee, recommending payment of the following accounts:—Peterborough Gas Co., $83.85; Geo. Stethem, $15; B. Shortly, $9.30; Rathbun Co., $162.50; P. Connal & Co., $15.50; Salisbury Bros., $10.93; D Bellegham, $14.50; Nicholls Hospital, $297.48; Times Printing Co., $5.90; Geo. I. Rossel, 55c; J. R. Stratton, $49.15; Review Printing Co., $88.59; P. Heffernan, $3.60; John Adlam, $5; Dr. Clarke, $9.

The Committee also recommended that a grant of two hundred dollars be given to the West Riding Agricultural Society.

Mr. RUTHERFORD objected to the latter clause and moved it be struck out, but there being no seconder the motion fell through. The report was then adopted.

CHARITY EXPENDITURE.

Mr. A. HALL presented the report of the Charity Committee, showing the expenditure of the Charity Committee for November to be $84.85, as follows:—No. One Ward, $9; No. Two Ward, $75.85; Nos. 3 and 4 Wards had not reported. The report was adopted.

Mr. LANGFORD, Chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee, stated that the Committee were taking steps to have traps placed on the sewers on George street and hoped to soon have them supplied.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

A by-law to appoint polling places and deputy returning of officers for the municipal and school trustees elections was passed, providing as follows:—No. One Ward, mission school, Jos. Lundy, returning officer; No. Two, old music hall, Chas. Cameron; No. Three, Metheral's shop, Jno. Irwin; No. Four, Wm. Lee's shop, Wm. Lee.

DISCUSSING THE INDUSTRY.

The communication regarding the establishment of an electric light carbon factory in Peterborough was taken up. Mayor Stevenson said the stock of the old Stove Works Co. was dead, and that Mr. Brooks and some others were endeavoring to establish a new industry in the building. Some outside gentlemen were coming in to investigate and he thought Peterborough should have the industry. There was at present no factory of the kind in Canada, and last year some $80,000 worth of carbons were imported into Canada on which a duty of 25 per cent. was paid. The importance of such an industry was apparent.

Messrs. Brooks, Braden and Stevenson were in the council chamber. Mr. BRADEN spoke briefly and stated that this industry was seeking an opening in Canada and Mr. Brooks was convinced there was money in it. Some Chicago and Cleveland men were coming to Canada this week to seek a location, and there are places which are willing to give them strong inducements. Mr. Brooks thought Peterborough should have the industry, and so they had applied to the council.

Mr. E. H. D. HALL urged the council to act promptly if the industry was to be secured, and advocated the most liberal inducements. He suggested the council meet again in a few days to consider the matter, as, no doubt, these gentlemen would want to close negotiations right away.

Mr. KENDRY advocated the same course. There were other industries also in sight and the same course should be followed with them.

Other councillors spoke on the subject and on motion the matter was referred to a committee of the whole council.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mr. Langford moved, seconded by Mr. Kendry,—That the Chairman of the Property Committee be empowered to have the necessary alterations made in the town stables at once.—Carried.

Mr. KENDRY stated that Mr. Deane claims the jut of land at the corner of Smith and George street which extends into the street, and he moved, seconded by Mr. Langford,—That the Street and Bridge Committee be empowered to employ a surveyor to settle the question of proprietorship.—Carried.

Mr. Hall moved, seconded by Mr. Kelly, that two new snow plows be purchased—one for Auburn and the other for the north end of the town.—Carried.

Mr. Kelly moved, seconded by Mr. Winch that the Mayor, E. H. D. Hall and R. S. Davidson be a deputation to proceed to Ottawa with reference to the application for a grant of land between the C. P. R. track and the bank of the Otonabee river.—Carried.

Mr. A. Hall moved, seconded by Mr. Kelly, that the P. P. Home be paid $2 per week for the board of Richard Cox from the 1st of November 1889 to 1st July, 1890.—Carried.

Mr. A. Hall moved, seconded by Mr. Kelly, that the town advertise for 100 cords of dry soft wood and 50 cords of green soft wood.—Carried.

The council then adjourned and immediately met in committee of the whole to consider the communication of Mr. Brooks and others.

SHORT AND SWEET, BUT TRUTHFUL.

An Honest Offer that all can Plainly Understand and that People can Respect and put Confidence in.

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 22nd, 1889.

GENTLEMEN:—

We want to say a few words to you just now. They will be plain and to the point; better still—they will be truthful, and therefore worth reading:—

1st.—We have a large stock of bran-new tailor-made Overcoats for Men and Boys. They are made of honest cloth, well sewed, and stylishly got up, and will fit and wear as well as if you left your measure—not the kind they make up for bankrupt stocks.

2nd.—You can have your pick of any of these Overcoats for Less Money than you can buy a similar cost that may be offered to you by any other dealer in Ontario.

3rd.—You are at liberty to look through all the stores in town and then come to the City Clothing Store, when we will undertake to Fit you Properly with a Better Overcoat, at a Less price than any bona fide offer that may have been made to you.

4th.—We will, likewise, agree to make the same offer hold good for Suits of Clothing, Coat, Pants or Vests, and include Scotch and Canadian Woollen Underwear in the bargain.

5th.—If you want to leave your Measure for a Suit or Overcoat, the same offer holds good in this department also.

6th.—This offer will stand until the middle of January, 1890, when we expect to have clothed every man and boy who intends buying clothing this winter, who is shrewd enough to know the difference between wool and shoddy. We mean business.

Respectfully yours,
H. LeBRUN & CO.

—A Sabbath school convention of the County of Peterborough begins at Lakefield this afternoon, and will continue till Wednesday night. Meetings will be held in the Methodist and Presbyterian churches.

—Ratepayers are reminded of the fact that all taxes remaining unpaid by December 5th will be increased 5 per cent. Mr. Collector Cummings is kept busy receiving tax money, but still half the taxes are unpaid. Thursday is the last day before the 5 per cent addition comes in force.

—This morning Mr. E. Elcome, taxidermist, delivered to Mr. T. Fitzgerald a beautifully set-up deer. It is an aged buck, weighing when shot 248 lbs. A shot from the veteran Nimrod laid the buck low on the morning of the first day of the open season. It is a trophy of which both the taxidermist and the owner may justly feel proud.

A Distinguished Choir.
Referring to the performance of the Balmoral Choir, who appear in Bradburn's Opera House, Peterborough, Wednesday evening, 4th inst., the Montreal Gazette of Nov. 29th says in its report of the St. Andrew's Society's celebration at Richmond, Que.:—The "crowning festival of the day" was the concert in the town hall during the evening by the now world renowned Balmoral Choir of Glasgow, Scotland, under the auspices of the Caledonian Society of Richmond and Melbourne, of which Dr. Jno. H. Graham, of Richmond, is chief. The hall was literally packed on floor and in gallery—no standing room ever being left. For two hours the choir perfectly delighted the audience with a rich and varied programme of the best of Scottish, English and Irish songs, madrigals, glees, part-songs, etc., etc., the assembly being now hushed into breathless stillness, anon rousing to the greatest enthusiasm and applause, and now convulsed with laughter by humourous recitations and songs. At the close of the concert the large audience enthusiastically testified its approval of the remarks of chief, Dr. Graham, that the entertainment had demonstrated that the Balmoral Choir was well entitled to the appellation so happily applied to it of being "the most distinguished choir of the present day."

Doings at the Lodge.
The regular of Otonabee Lodge of Oddfellows last night was particularly interesting. From the reports of the committees it is evident that the anniversary concert Friday night will be a gratifying success. A short programme was rendered, Messrs. Thos. Workman, W. J. Miller and W. C. Springer giving readings, the "goats" furnishing songs, and Grand Master Bell and Bro. Davis, of Toronto, short addresses. The Grand Master's address dealt with his recent experiences in his official capacity. Resolutions were also passed congratulating Bro. C. J. Taber, secretary of the lodge, on his recent marriage; and also Bro. David Hunter, who was married a few days ago to Mrs. Savigny. There was a large attendance of the brethren and the proceedings of Monday night's meeting were most interesting. Meetings of the committees and whole lodge will be held every evening this week to prepare for the concert.

Epworth League.
Mark Street Methodist Church, Ashburnham, succeeded last night in completing its organization of the "Epworth League." The object of this league is to promote an earnest, intelligent, practical and loyal spiritual life in the young people of the Methodist Church to aid them in constant growth in grace and in the attainment of purity of heart. The league is designed to be a connecting link between the Sabbath school and the church. It is provided with a reading course. The league started in the above church Monday night with a membership of fifty, and will meet in the church every Thursday at 7.30 p.m. Mr. Hiram Armstrong is the president, S. McPhadyen the secretary, and Mr. Agnew treasurer. The pastor is ex-officio an active member of the League. Arrangements were made Monday evening for their first public meeting. It is to be held on Thursday evening, Dec. 12th, and will consist of vocal and instrumental music, and a lecture on "The Philosophy of Courtship," by the pastor of the church.

The Pastor's Treat.
The Young People's Christian Association of the George street Methodist church met last night and held a consecration meeting. Miss Lily Pearson also sang a solo. At the invitation of the pastor, Rev. M. L. Pearson, the young people to the number of about seventy-five then adjourned to the parsonage, where a jolly evening was spent in social intercourse and the discussion of the ample refreshments placed before them.

VOL. IX. NO. 130 PETERBOROUGH, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1889. PRICE TWO CENTS.

HIS WORDS TO CONGRESS.

PRESIDENT HARRISON SENDS HIS FIRST MESSAGE.

The Pan-American Commercial Arrangements—Questions of Taxation—A New Extradition Treaty—The Fisheries Difficulty—Our Water Boundary.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Harrison's first message to Congress was read to-day. Referring with gratification to the convening of the Pan-American Congress, the President says:

While the commercial results which it is hoped will follow the conference are worthy of present and of the great interest they have excited, it is believed that the crowning benefit will be found in the better securities which may be devised for the maintenance of peace among all American nations and the settlement of all contentions by methods that a Christian civilization can approve.

He then discusses the report of the Secretary of the Treasury, and says the estimated receipts for the current year are $385,000,000 and the expenditures $241,381,717, leaving an estimated surplus of $43,987,863. The surplus for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1891, is estimated at $44,969,552. The President adds:

The existence of so large an actual and anticipated surplus should have the immediate attention of Congress with a view to reducing the receipts of the Treasury to the needs of the Government as closely as may be.

The questions which have arisen during the past few years between Great Britain and the United States are in always or in course of amicable adjustment.

On the part of the Government of Canada an effort has been apparent to administer the laws and regulations applicable to the fisheries with as little occasion for friction as was possible. It is trusted that the attainment of our just rights under the existing treaties and in virtue of concurrent legislation of the contiguous countries will not be long deferred.

A just and acceptable enlargement of the list of offences for which extradition may be claimed and granted is most desirable between this country and Great Britain. The territory of neither should become a secure harbor for the evil-doers of the other through any avoidable shortcoming in this regard. A new treaty on this subject between the two Powers has been recently negotiated and will soon be laid before the Senate.

I recommended a revision of our tariff law both in its administrative features and in the schedules. The need of the former is generally conceded, and an agreement upon the evils and inconveniences to be remedied, and the best methods for their correction will probably not be difficult. Uniformity of valuation at all our ports is essential, and effective measures should be taken to secure it. It is equally desirable that question affecting rates and classification should be promptly decided. The preparation of a new schedule of customs duties is a matter of great delicacy because of its direct effect upon the business of the country, and of great difficulty by reason of the wide divergence of opinion as to the object that may properly be promoted by such legislation. Some disturbance of legislation may perhaps result from the consideration of this subject by Congress. But this, temporary in effect, will be relegated to the minimum by prompt action, and by the assurance which the country already enjoys, that any necessary change will be so made as not to impair the just and reasonable protection of our home industries. The inequalities of the laws should be adjusted, but the protective principle should be maintained, and fairly applied to the products of our farms, as well as our shops.

These duties necessarily have relation to other things beside the public revenue. We cannot limit their objects by fixing our eyes on the public treasury alone. They have a direct relation to home production, to work, to wages, and to the commercial independence of our country, and the wise and patriotic legislator should enlarge the field of his wisdom to include all these. The necessary reduction in our public revenues can, I am sure, be made without making the small burden more onerous than the larger, by reason of the disabilities and limitations which the process of reduction puts upon both capital and labor. The free list can very safely be extended by placing thereon articles that do not offer injurious competition to such domestic products as our home labor can supply. The removal of the internal tax upon tobacco would relieve an important agricultural product from a burden which was imposed only because our revenue from customs duties was insufficient for the public needs. If safe provision against fraud can be devised, the removal of the tax upon spirits used in the arts and manufactures would also offer a method of reducing the surplus.

The President recommends that provision be made by international agreement for visibly marking the water boundary between the United States and Canada in the narrow channels that join the great lakes. The conventional line thereon traced by the north-western boundary survey a year ago is not in all cases readily ascertained for the settlement of jurisdictional questions.

London Newspaper Comments.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—The News says: President Harrison's prognosis for the reduction of the surplus can be only palliative measures. It warns English authors and publishers not to expect too much from the copyright agitation. It regards the reference to the fisheries as the most satisfying part of the message.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—The Morning Post:—"If President Harrison carries out in practice the peaceful and progressive principles indicated in his message the whole world will be gainers thereby."

MOWAT SPEAKS AT WOODSTOCK.

The Premier Discusses Questions of the Day Before His Constituents.

WOODSTOCK, Dec. 3.—Hon. Oliver Mowat addressed a meeting of his constituents in the Court House this evening. Warden Anderson occupied the chair, and the speaker was introduced by Mr. John Douglas, president of the local Reform Association. There was a good attendance.

The Premier opened with a reference to the anti-papery cry. He argued that his opponents, having failed in everything else, had taken this as a last resort. They had first tried the papery dodge, then the more papery dodge, but failing in this they turned to no-papery. Both cries were equally foundationless. In the matter of patronage he said that Catholics did not share in proportion to their population; that the Government had endeavored to deal squarely with all.

He next took up the school question. He summarized the objections that opponents of the Government had raised; all to be amendments of the Separate School Act, and not to the Government's dealing with the French schools. He pointed out with reference to the first that the amendments complained of had been law for many years before any complaint was made and it was not until the no-papery cry had entered into politics that the objections were made.

With regard to the French schools he quoted from the Minister of the Council of Instruction for Ontario to show that it was the policy of the late Dr Ryerson to interfere as little as possible with the teaching of French by French teachers. He argued, therefore, that it was Dr Ryerson, not Mr. Ross, who was responsible for the state of affairs complained of by the opponents of the Government.

He argued further that Mr Ross took advantage of the very first opportunity to bring about a change in favor of the introduction of the English language, and that he had been proceeding on that line cautiously and prudently, but with as great expedition as wisdom would dictate.

He quoted extensively from the report of the commissioner appointed in reference to the French schools to substantiate his statements, and argued that the recommendations made in their report were being carried out as fully and as promptly as it was possible to do.

A congratulatory resolution was adopted, after which the meeting adjourned.

Tramps Break out of Jail.

WILMINGTON, Dec. 3.—Eleven tramps escaped from New Castle jail early this morning. They tunneled beneath the foundations of the building, and once outside they were soon out of sight. Eighteen of the "tourists" were confined in one cell and seven of them deemed it best to remain. Sheriff Allen is looking for the escaped convicts. This is the second tramp delivery from New Castle jail within a few weeks, and in the time over thirty of the short term prisoners have gained liberty.

JUDGE WING IN DEFENSE

CONTINUATION OF THE CARLSTON COTTAGE CASE.

Ingham Replies to Judge Wing—Another Review of the Circumstances—"God Knows That I'm Innocent."

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—Judge Wing resumed his argument in the Cronin trial to-day. He took up the question of the cause of death, stating that the law to be that the cause must be proved in accordance with the terms of the indictment, else a conviction could not follow. It was charged that Dr. Cronin died from the effects of wounds and contusions on the head. The speaker argued this was not proved and the experts could not say that the nature of the wounds on Dr. Cronin's head and face were such as to necessarily cause death. Judge Wing next took up the question as to whether the blood found in the cottage was human blood. The prosecution talked as if the floor and the walls of the cottage had been deluged in blood, but none of this blood had been shown. Experts had testified to having microscopically examined 56 corpuscles, an amount invisible to the naked eye, for a single drop of blood contained many millions of corpuscles. The prosecution had brought in large sections of flooring covered with footmarks made by paint but no blood-stains. It was safe to assume there were no such things or they would have been shown. There was not a cottage in the city in which it would be impossible to find fully as much blood as was examined by the experts, and the best evidence they could give in this case was that it was the blood of some animal. Judge Wing also attacked the testimony given by Microscopist Tallman.

Mr. Ingham then took up the argument on behalf of the prosecution. After a brilliant exordium, in which he described the killing of Dr. Cronin, and the disposal of the body, Mr. Ingham illustrated the application of the law of conspiracy. He added: "If these defendants conspired together either by themselves or with others at present unknown, and if some one of those conspirators in that cottage on the night of May 4 did the deed, then all are guilty." The speaker then replied to Judge Wing. He quoted legal opinions to the effect that circumstantial evidence may be stronger than and direct evidence. In this case he said each incriminating circumstance was explainable upon the theory of innocence, but combined the conclusion to which they pointed was irresistible. The circumstances from the time of meeting in Camp 20 to that of finding of the clothes of Dr. Cronin in the sewer showed an intelligent design. It had its origin in hate, its foundation in the charge that Cronin was a spy and its end in the butchery in the Carlson cottage and the burial in the sewer.

Mr. Ingham touched upon the alibi testimony and showed it was all by friends of the accused, while the incriminating evidence was by impartial witnesses. He then took up the evidence against Kunze and in the course of his remarks said impressively: "It was said by this man Kunze to a man on the South Side that he expected to be arrested on this Cronin business. Why? Why?"

Defendant Kunze: "Why, because he told me that."

Mr. Ingham (resuming): "Because he knew the brethren."

Kunze: "God knows I am innocent, sir."

Mr. Ingham then proceeded to trace the connection between Coughlin, Kunze and O'Sullivan. He reviewed the fight between Cronin and the triangle as the moving cause of the murder and closed with an appeal for conviction.

TRANSATLANTIC GOSSIP.

Edmund Yates Talks About English Political Questions.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—I hear that Mr. Gladstone is greatly annoyed at what he is said to have described as the heedless folly of his wire-pullers in arranging that his Manchester speech should be delivered next on the very day before the Balfour demonstration at Edinburgh. There seems to be no doubt that one of the schemes to be brought forward by the government this year will be the bill for providing assisted education. The surplus that the Chancellor of the Exchequer will have to dispose of is so large that there seems to be a certainty that the same provisions will be at once made to England as was made for Scotland. The Gladstonians and the Liberal-Unionists are frantic. The money required will be about £1,500,000, and they see that if the question is treated in the same way as the Scotch one was they will be in a real predicament. The Liberationists will denounce it as a subsidy to the Church of England, but they will be face to face with the fact that the principle has already been acted on in Scotland with the consent of their leaders, and that the government will have the support of the Irish members. In Scotland the boarding schools do five-sixths of the elementary educational work; in England they only do one-third, and out of £1,800,000 earned in fees they get about £600,000. These figures are what agitate the Liberationists so much, and the Chancellor of the Exchequer's proposals will be most hotly contested. The assistance of the whole will be given to denominations as well as to boarding schools, and the proposal, therefore, will be offensive in the eyes of the fiercer and more intolerant dissenters. They look with dislike and jealousy on anything that may strengthen the church, and the departure of the Government on the subject of education will, I believe, be resisted by more violent Nonconformists.

Lord Egmont has sold the whole of his property in the south of Ireland to his tenants for £250,000 and at fifteen years' purchase. His having done so has infuriated his neighbors, who now find it impossible to get a larger price for their land, and they cannot afford to sell at that price. Indeed, some of Lord Egmont's property only fetched thirteen years purchase.

The Government's scheme of land purchase finds much more favor in the eyes of Irish landlords since Lord Salisbury announced that it wasn't to be compulsory. In fact, a vast majority of Irish properties are so heavily mortgaged that the owners, if obliged to sell, would be about ruined, and at this moment, after a good harvest, with the price of cattle keeping up, they are able to make a better thing out of their land than they would of any possible surplus they might get after a compulsory sale.

Stanley is expected to spend Christmas either at Zanzibar or Mombazi, where he will be welcomed by Col. Evans Smith and George Mackenzie. Sir Wm. Mackinnon believes he will reach London during the third week in January.

Fortieth Session of the Grand Division of Ontario.

KINGSTON, Dec. 4.—This afternoon the fortieth session of the Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance of Ontario opened here with a fair attendance of delegates. Grand Worthy Patriarch Webster of Brantford presented his report. He sketched the progress of olden days and the work done. Grand Scribe Rowell reported the membership at 12,000. During the year 36 new divisions were organized, 10 dormant were reanimated and two sections of cadets instituted. Grand Treasurer Rose submitted his statements. The year's income was $2,201 and disbursements $2077. The cash on hand amounts to $486.

Dempsey and Mccarthy Matched.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—Jack Dempsey and Billy McCarthy of Australia signed articles last night and posted a forfeit of $250 to weigh in at 154 lbs. on the night of their fight in the latter part of January, the date to be hereafter fixed. The fight will be for $1000 and world's middleweight championship.

IN THE DRYGOODS CITY.

GLADSTONE INDICATES WHAT THE LIBERAL POLICY WILL BE.

The Chief Plank "Relief for Ireland"—He Chooses Dissident Liberals—Being Chained to a Wheel the Curse of Their Destiny—A Resolution.

MANCHESTER, Dec. 3.—At the meeting of the Liberal Federation to-day a resolution was adopted urging the necessity for a prompt settlement of the question of the disestablishment of the church in Wales and free education. Resolutions were adopted condemning any land purchase bill for Ireland which entail a burden on the British taxpayers, protesting against the use of British funds to endow sectarian colleges in Ireland and approving international arbitration. It was also declared as the sense of the meeting that the British policy ought to be to avoid any entanglement in Continental quarrels.

Mr. Gladstone inspired great enthusiasm by his definite expression of the Liberal Policy. He said Ireland is the leading question of the day and the Tories would have been converted to the Liberal view of the subject by this time but for the dissident Liberals. The split in the Liberal party, he said, would not have occurred except for the personal ambitions of some Tories and their allies, who desired more to form a national party than to do political justice. He severely arraigned the Unionist leaders on this point and said the plan of campaign was a necessary consequence of the Government's refusal to grant proper relief to Ireland. There was less crime in Ireland than in England. He was of opinion that the country had already expressed the desire that there should be a change in the administration of Ireland, and the Liberals might look to the future with confidence.

Mr. Gladstone quoted the recent speeches of Lord Salisbury and the Marquis of Hartington as evidence that the Unionist party is now forming plans in anticipation of a decisive defeat when the time shall come for a general appeal to the nation. The only reason for the existence of the dissidents as a party is an anti-Irish feeling. It was the curse of their destiny that they were chained to a wheel. They must revolve or stop with it, and could not determine things for themselves. They had done much harm which was perhaps unintentional, and in addition to the unintentional harm they had done some unintentional good. They had promoted the aspiring of Scotland and Wales to definite national recognition. Furthermore, they had caused an enormous increase in the radicalism of the Liberal party. They had advanced in political position. It behooved them to consider well their position in the light of the knowledge that with the settlement of the Irish question they will be extinct as a party.

He concluded by giving his warmest thanks to the crowds who had stood by him in a time of adversity amounting to disconfiture, having got a big pot of their confidence in a noble effort on behalf of a noble and generous people.

Sale of a Phosphate Mine—Sir John's New Private Secretary.

OTTAWA, Dec. 3.—To-day the printers at the printing bureau found notices posted up to the effect that work would be commenced in the future at 8 a.m. and that there would be no half-holiday on Saturday. After some consultation a deputation waited on Mr. Seneca and stated that they preferred working along in the old way and securing a Saturday half-holiday. Mr. Seneca consented and the notices were taken down.

It is reported that Robert Blackburn of Ottawa has disposed of his phosphate mine in the township of Templeton for $180,000 to an English syndicate.

Mr. Frank Beard has been appointed private secretary to Sir John Macdonald, vice Mr. Pope promoted. The new private secretary is a son-in-law of Mr. Justice Taschereau of the Supreme Court.

Rear Admiral Hennage, commander-in-chief of the Pacific station, has been promoted to a vice-admiral.

Sir Adolphe Caron denies the report that 10,000 militia will be massed at Kingston for 10 days' drill next summer.

The secretary of the Gladstone branch of the National League has just forwarded to Dr. O'Reilly, care of T. P. O'Connor, M.P., $1275 subscribed towards the Parnell defence fund. This closes the subscription from Ottawa. Over $4000 altogether have been collected and forwarded.

The receipts of the Rideau Canal this season were $48,818, against $36,546 last season.

Talk on Canadian History.

DUNNVILLE, Dec. 4.—Rev. Mr. Fessenden's lecture upon U. E. loyalists delivered here last night was a masterly effort. His audience gave frequent manifestations of their pleasure in loud applause. Mr. Boyle, M.P., spoke briefly and in terms complimentary of the lecture. He looked forward to great Canadian progress and a stronger cementing of our varied elements. The lecturer was introduced by Dr. Montague, of Haldimand, who briefly referred to the settlements of loyalists in the Province and to the beginning of Parliamentary Government in our midst. Referring to the first meeting of the Upper Canadian Assembly at the historic village of Niagara nearly a hundred years ago, he urged that on the 17th of Sept. 1892 the people of the Province should hold a great celebration of the centennial anniversary of that event.

Barbers in Conclave.

DETROIT, Dec. 3.—The second annual Convention of the Journeymen Barbers' International Union was called to order this morning at Hotel Benedict by President H. G. Hoch, of Muskegon. Over 25 knights of the lather and shave persuasion were present. The morning was spent in organizing. The principal business will be adoption of rigid apprenticeship rules similar to those of other trades unions, the formation of national system of mutual benefits and the establishment of a weekly or monthly journal to be published in the interest of the trade. Questions of Sunday closing and shorter hours will also be agitated.

Dom Pedro Sails from St. Vincent.

LISBON, Dec. 4.—A despatch from St. Vincent states that the Alergues with Dom Pedro sailed for Lisbon to-day flying the old flag of the Brazilian Empire in compliance with instructions called by the provisional Government. Dom Pedro was much gratified by his reception by the Portuguese at St. Vincent. He maintained his reserve, however, and his physicians required that all persons received in audience should abstain from any reference to the Brazilian revolution.

COLD IN HEAD | THE 4 STAGES | CONSUMPTION
CATARRH | | DEATH.

There is positive danger to health and life in neglecting a case of Cold in the Head or Catarrh, and at this season with its changeable weather, unusually sudden changes from heat to cold, there is peculiar liability to cold in the head. A neglected case of Cold in the Head rapidly developes into Catarrh, and neglected Catarrh just as certainly developes into Consumption and leads to premature Death. Medical testimony proves conclusively that a large percentage of all the deaths occurring from Consumption had their origin in a neglected Cold, which, by gradual stages developed into Catarrh, and then into Consumption, that dread disease [illegible] science is as yet unable to cope successfully. If you are suffering from Cold in the Head, or any of the numerous symptoms of Catarrh, such as bad breath, dull [illegible] from the head into the throat, hawking and spitting, occasional [illegible] of smell, or taste becoming dull, hacking cough, general feeling of debility, [illegible] wheezing or cracking sound in your chest when breathing, a feeling of dizziness, particularly when stooping, a feeling of tiredness and indisposition to exertion, a feeling of nausea in the morning when attempting to dislodge accumulations from the throat. Do not neglect them. Get a few of the many symptoms of Catarrh, and if you experience any, BE WARNED IN TIME. Do not permit them to run under the mistaken impression that the disease will eventually wear away. It will not, but on the contrary will wear you away as it has thousands before. Procure at once a bottle of NASAL BALM, the only certain and speedy cure discovered the public for Cold in the Head and Catarrh. This is no idle assertion, but an undeniable fact, which is verified by the thousands of testimonials in our possession telling of marvellous cures. These testimonials we have received from all parts of the Dominion, and we append a few, selected at random, as a fair sample of the whole:—

Mr. Alex. Burns, of Sudbury, Ont., says: "Gentlemen,—I may state that I have been afflicted with Catarrh for seven or eight years, and I was attacked with consumption [illegible] at last consulted a physician, who told me that I was in the second stage of the disease. My throat, [illegible] spitting, and I was rapidly losing flesh and strength. I used your NASAL BALM according to directions, and [illegible] I have used three bottles and am entirely cured. I have not since had any symptoms of hearing, and not once since. Results [illegible] use have I had pain in the head. [illegible] In my opinion that is careful and [illegible] of the 'Balm' will effect a cure in the worst case of catarrh."

James H. McLean, Mink River Road, N.B., says:—"I have tried [illegible] remedies for Catarrh, but received little [illegible] good from them. Your NASAL BALM [illegible] I certainly the BEST REMEDY I have tried, and all you claim for it. In fact, best [illegible] and convenient to use, adds greatly to [illegible] feel, in short worth ten times the [illegible] CURE for that unpleasant disease—Catarrh."

W. Chas. Manley, [illegible], writes:—"I submit the following to you, that any one may be sufficiently [illegible] gifted by the name remedy. Two bottles of your NASAL BALM has RESTORED to PERFECT HEALTH a four year old child of ours, suffering from Catarrh."

Henrietta Blackwell, Parker, Ont., says:—"Your NASAL BALM is the BEST REMEDY I have yet used for Catarrh. I can breathe more freely than before and my breath has regained its sweetness. I consider NASAL BALM a boon to the suffering."

Mr. A. Schlenzig, [illegible], Ohio, says:—"For a number of years my wife has been badly troubled with Catarrh. Dr [illegible] was recommended to cure her. [illegible] other making his remedy for six months, [illegible] I found that I had spent $30 for [illegible] treatment that did me no good. My wife then began to use your NASAL BALM, and [illegible] improved very rapidly, and [illegible] entirely cured. I [illegible] my family to the best in the market and you can use this as testimony."

Emilie Pelletier, Grenville, says:—"I earnestly feel unable to tell how much I have [illegible] your NASAL BALM. Its effects in my case have been wonderful."

Alpha H. Dales, Tarbert, Ont., writes:—"Your NASAL BALM has made a new man of me. I have never used a remedy so satisfactory."

A CAUTION:—Beware of imitations. If your dealer has not NASAL BALM in stock do not let him persuade you to take any other remedy which he may say is just as good, but send direct to the undersigned and it will be sent you on receipt of price—50 cents and $1.00 a bottle.

THE LADIES!

A New and Distinct Form of Disease which is Afflicting Canadian Women.

How some of Them Regained Fresh Complexion, Perfect Health and Superb Physical Beauty.

A great London Physician says that he notes a new and distinct form of nervous disease prevalent in Canadian women by worry about servants and overwork in caring for the home. This is only too true. It is why we see so many ladies pale, weak, languid, and suffering from headaches and innumerable weaknesses. They cannot stand the strain upon their nervous system. Many of them have found the means to sustain their failing strength, to give color to the cheeks, and new life and vigor to the body, in Paine's Celery Compound. This pure and scientific remedy is especially adapted to the needs of women, and is daily making the most remarkable cures. Mrs. W. E. Cooper, 60 St. Hyacinthe St., Montreal, was for a long time troubled with nervous headaches, loss of appetite, low spirits, etc. After using the Compound, her headaches disappeared, appetite was good, and her spirits revived.

Annie Gourley, of River Beaudette, P.Q., found the Compound a certain cure for weakness, and now feels as well as she ever did.

Many a Canadian lady has the same reason to be grateful.

Paine's Celery Compound can be purchased at any druggist's for one dollar a bottle. If he doesn't not have it on hand, order direct from WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., MONTREAL.

OFF THE TENTER HOOKS.

The Applicants Now Know Their Fate.

Teachers Appointed to Fill the Vacancies —A Number of Resignations Accepted —The Question of Fees Introduced— To Avoid Trouble, Teachers Must Sign Contracts—Other Business of the School Board.

Previous to the meeting of the School Board Tuesday night, the Committee on Appointments, comprising the whole Board, met and considered the large number of applications made for positions and promotions on the teaching staff of the schools. This report was presented later.

The members present were Mr. James Stevenson, Chairman, and Messrs. O'Meara, Barnham, Boucher, Hendry, Dr. Weir, Wright, McWilliams, Dr. Sutherland, Dr. Hall and Dumble.

Before taking up the consideration of the report, Mr. Dennis remarked that the drill teacher did not fulfil his duties, as he left the school during noon hours with the result that the boys had full swing to cut up their pranks. He thought the drill master should be around until after the pupils were gone home to dinner and before they returned.

RESIGNATIONS.

The resignation of Mr. R. G. McConachie as teacher of the Collegiate Institute was received and filed. Accompanying Mr. McConachie's resignation was a petition of [illegible] for the reinstatement of Mr. F. C. Colling, who left as follows:—"Having been offered the headmastership of another school, I tender my resignation (to take effect at New Year's) of the position I hold as Classical Master in the Collegiate Institute." The resignation was accepted.

The following letter was read from Mr. B. Earle, English Master in the Institute:—"In order that there may be no misunderstanding as to what I intend by my notice of resignation, previously handed to the Secretary, I take the liberty of withdrawing that notice, and asking the Board to release from my engagement at the close of the present year."—Received.

Miss Josie Ellsworth also tender her resignation as teacher in the public school at the end of the present year—Accepted.

MONEY WANTED.

Sergt-Major Randle, in view of his increased duties and the fact that he had to attend the gymnasium from 8:30 a.m. till 4:30 p.m., asked an increase of salary to $460 per annum.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. W. S. Ellis, of Cobourg, late of Peterborough Collegiate Institute, asked the Board to consider the matter of paying the remainder of his salary, $54—Paid.

APPLICATIONS.

Mr. JOHN JEFFRIES, of Port Perry, offered himself for a position on the staff of the Collegiate Institute. His letter enclosed statement of qualifications and testimonials.

Mr. JOHN STERLING, headmaster of the South Ward school, applied for promotion to the position of English Master in the Collegiate Institute at the present salary, $900, for which he was legally qualified. Both applications were left over for consideration later.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

The following reports of school attendance were read:—

	No. on Roll	Ave. Att.
Collegiate Institute	—	126
Central School	620	540
South Ward School	391	284
West Ward School	192	156

The fees collected at the public school in November amounted to $4.

The government grant of $785 was reported received.

SAYING FAREWELL.

Mr. EARLE addressed the Board, thanking the Board for former kindness, and asking them to let bygones be bygones and accept his resignation without discussion.

The subject of Mr. Earle's suspension was brought up, and incidentally the powers of the Principal were discussed.

Mr. HENDRY thought Mr. Long should have power to govern the teachers absolutely without the advice of three or four members of the Board.

Mr. DUMBLE said the Advisory Committee was appointed to consult with Mr. Long instead of having him apply to the whole Board for direction.

The CHAIRMAN stated it was not the intention to have Mr. Earle teach any more, and a motion was passed accepting his resignation and relieving him from further duty.

AGAIN DEFERRED.

The appointment of a new English Master for the Collegiate Institute then came up.

After some discussion the matter was referred to the Committee on Appointments, with the understanding that the committee should decide the matter that night.

THE LIST OF TEACHERS.

Mr. DUMBLE read the report of the Committee on Appointments as follows:—

The Committee on Appointments beg to report that they recommend the following as the appointments for the ensuing year:—

SOUTH WARD.

1 Principal, Mr Stirling	$ 620
2 Miss MacLeod	360
3 Miss Sim	300
4 Miss McDonald	275
5 Miss Martin	250

NORTH WARD.

1 Principal, Mr Watkis	$ 600
2 Miss Rowland	375
3 Miss McClelland	300

WEST WARD.

1 Principal, Mr McCarthy	$ 600
2 Miss Richardson	360
3 Miss Aldridge	275
4 Miss Rutherford	230

CENTRAL SCHOOL.

1 Principal, Mr Smith	$ 600
2 J C Smith	500
3 Miss Nicholls	400
4 Miss Jenkins	360
5 Miss Hall	320
7 Miss Graham	300
8 Miss Davidson	275
9 Miss Blackwell	275
10 Miss Peters	250

The committee recommend that the following committee be authorized to select a teacher for the lower room of the South Ward school, namely Dr. Burnham, Messrs. Dennis, Dumble and Hendry.

The report was adopted.

A BILL OF REPAIR.

Mr. ENGLISH, chairman of the Property Committee, presented a report of the amount of repairs put upon the Collegiate Institute, placing the total repairs at $1,372.46.—Received.

THE ADVISORY COMMITTEE.

Dr. BURNHAM presented the report of the Advisory Committee, reporting that on Nov. 15th they met Mr. Principal Long in order to talk over and enquire into the affairs of the Science Department. Owing to the sudden departure of Mr. McConachie, that department was left unprovided for, which was likely to cause serious difficulty. Your committee would suggest the employment of Mr. G. S. Bean to fill the position until the Christmas vacation, and, in the meantime, recommend the Board to consult with the Educational Department with a view to obtaining permanently the services of a thoroughly qualified man to fill the position of Science Master.

Your Committee further suggest that in future the men that all teachers employed by the Board should be obliged to sign a written contract whereby they should be compelled to give a reasonable notice before leaving, should the vacancy occur, and that the notice should be the case of the Principal be three months and subordinate teachers two months; and in order that the Board may have the power in their own hands of enforcing this rule, your Committee would suggest that in the case of subordinate teachers, one month's salary should be withheld until the agreement is terminated in a regular way.

On the evening of the 27th your Committee met Mr. Long for the purpose of enquiring into the [illegible] which arose between the Principal and the English Master and after giving the matter very careful consideration we found Mr. Long, in the hasty action of the Institute, to recommend the Principal to suspend Mr. Earle until the meeting of the Board to be held on Tuesday evening.

The report was adopted.

TEACHERS TO SIGN CONTRACTS.

Mr. Dumble moved, seconded by Mr. Dennis, that Messrs. Boucher and O'Meara and the mover be a committee to prepare a form of contract to be signed by all teachers who may be employed by this Board.—Carried.

FEES TOO HIGH.

Dr. BURNHAM brought up what he said was an important matter. He considered the Institute fees charged county pupils were altogether too high. Mr. Long informed him that now there were only about 20 outside pupils, while a few years ago when the fee was only $1 there were 70 or 80. The speaker moved that on and after January the fees of pupils attending the Collegiate Institute be as follows:—town pupils, 50 cents; county pupils boarding in town, $1.00; outsiders, $150.

The matter was left as a notice of motion.

INSPECTOR TILLEY asked permission to give the school teachers a holiday at the end of the present inspection.

Mr. DUMBLE explained this was to give the teachers an opportunity of investigating different modes of teaching.

The motion was carried.

AN APPOINTMENT MADE.

The Board then resolved itself into committee of the whole to consider the appointment of a Science Master for the Collegiate Institute.

After discussing the two applications it was decided to appoint Mr. Jeffers at a salary of $800, provided satisfactory recommendations were received from Inspector Hodgens.

The Board then adjourned.

Coughs, Colds, Croup.

Allen's Lung Balsam was introduced to the public after its merits for the positive cure of such diseases had been fully tested. It excites expectoration and causes the Lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; changes the secretions and purifies the blood; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is warranted to break up the most distressing cough in a few hours' time, if not of too long standing. It contains no opium in any form and is warranted to be perfectly harmless to the most delicate child. There is no real necessity for so many deaths by consumption when Allen's Lung Balsam will prevent it if only taken in time. For Consumption, and all diseases that lead to it, such as Coughs, neglected Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma and all diseases of the Lungs, ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the Great Modern Remedy. For Croup and Whooping Cough it is almost a specific. It is an old standard remedy, and sold universally at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. The 25-cent bottles are put out to answer the constant call for a Good and Low-Priced COUGH CURE. If you have not tried the Balsam, call for a 25-cent bottle to test it.

Baby one Solid Rash

Ugly, painful, blotched malformation—no rest by day, no peace by night—doctors and all remedies failed—Tried Cuticura—Effect marvellous—Saved his life

Cured by Cuticura.

Our oldest child, now six years of age, when an infant six months old was attacked with a virulent and frightful skin disease. All ordinary remedies failing, we called our family physician, who attempted to cure it; but it spread with almost incredible rapidity, until the lower portion of the little fellow's person, from the middle of his back down to his knees was one solid rash, ugly, painful, blotched, and malicious. We had no rest at night, no peace by day. Finally we were advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. The effect was simply marvellous. In three or four weeks a complete cure was wrought leaving the little fellow's person as white and healthy as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion, your valuable remedies saved his life, and to-day he is a strong healthy child, perfectly well, no repetition of the disease having ever occurred.

Boy Covered with Scabs.

My boy, aged nine years, has been troubled all his life with a very bad humor, which appeared all over his body in small red blotches, with a dry white scab on them. Last year he was worse than ever, being covered with scabs from the top of his head to his feet, and continually growing worse, although he had been treated by two physicians. As a last resort, I determined to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and am happy to say they did all that I could wish. Using them according to directions, the humor rapidly disappeared, leaving the skin fair and smooth, and performing a thorough cure. The CUTICURA REMEDIES are all you claim for them. They are worth their weight in gold.

Thirty Years Ago.

Lines Written for the St. Andrew's Society, Nov. 30th, 1889.

Is looking back for thirty years, forsooth how short it seems;
Like swift shadows it has fled, or phantoms of our dreams.
The wheel of time revolves apace although we mark it not,
Events and seasons, times and things, remembered or forgot.
A stranger—yes, in a strange land I daily fe l the smart.
Anxious I longed for brither Scots, to soothe my lov sick mark.
In time your President I met, true kindness he did show,
He read the first I wrote for you—just thirty years ago.

Fresh on my memory still remains the joy it did afford.
The first time I was present at your annual festive board
It heaved the wounds of parting from my friends and comrades true,
And calmed my troubled thoughts of home, while mingling Scots, with you.
The welcome smiles, the friendly grasp, how grand the said Scotch sound.
It thrilled my very soul each time St. Andrew's night came round.
It welds a link in friendships chain, loves hammer strikes the bow.
Each year but stronger links the ties formed thirty years ago.

Through all those years you honoured me with being your humble bard,
If I have pleased I only ask your thanks as my reward.
If I have penned one line to raise your good Society's name,
And Scotia's glorious worth uphold I have achieved my aim.
True your Society had its trials through all these changing years—
Prosperity, adversity, man's praises and their sneers.
At times you had abundant funds, at other times quite low,
Enough to help a needy Scot, since thirty years ago.

Now, Mr. President, I look on your familiar face,
But, sir, I have seen twenty eight fill that high honoured place;
But of that number only three are present with us now,
While three I loved, alas, to night the grave conceals their brow.
Time whitens hair, and furrows brow, removes the human race;
In homes and in socities, too, leave many a vacant place.
While looking round this board to-night in truth I find it so.
How few I see that sat with us—just thirty years ago

Near forty years have glided past since I left Scotia's shore,
My inborn love has never waned, my old home I adore;
I love this my adopted home—with all its scenes so fair,
But search my heart and you will find, Scotia still ruling there.
You, Mr. President, may well sit there with modest pride
You fill the highest place one more, and I stand by car side;
To you I make but one remark, that brither Scot s may know
You are the man brought me to light, just thirty years years ago.

Since then, till now, I found a source my long-ing heart to cheer,
In this meeting with my brither Scots in friend-ship once a year.
Renewing acquaintance fostering love, joy, mirth and pleasure share,
Uniting hearts with a rougher bonds than can be done elsewhere.
St. Andrew's night seems by its power to bridge the Atlantic sea,
And set us by the auld fireside, where we oft sat in glee.
The old time adage must be wrong, that says the Scotch are slow—
I've felt at ho e once every year, since thirty years ago.

I speak not in a boasting tone, I say this with delight:
For thirty years I met with Scots, on each St. Andrew's night.
There seemed some magnetism power, that could not restrain;
The reeking haggis smelled so grand it drew me back again.
St. Andrew's sons, both young and auld, preserve your honoured name!
True love and charity extend, uphold Auld Scotia's fame.
For your society, home and here, for brither Scots also,
My love is just as strong to-night, as thirty years ago.

A by-law was passed to fix polling places and appoint deputy returning officers as follows :—

NORTH WARD. — McGregor's store; deputy-returning officer, Mr. John Stevenson.

SOUTH WARD.—Town Hall; Mr. A. H. Peck, deputy returning officer.

Mr. Marshall enquired if any satisfaction had been got respecting the old drill shed. It was of no use.

The Reeve—It might be useful in case of invasion.

Mr. Marshall—Invasion! I think it's a case of evasion. (Laughter.)

Mr. Reeve Burnham stated that he had been in correspondence with the Government. Col. Rogers was endeavoring to get the Government to dispose of the drill sheds at Hastings, Norwood and Ashburnham.

Council adjourned to Dec 16th.

Firebugs in Glamorgan.

During the past two years a battle feud has existed among several farmers in the township of Glamorgan, down in the county of Haliburton, and it has resulted in incendiarism and the arrest of two of the supposed firebugs. Archibald McCall, a well-known farmer of Glamorgan, has not lived at peace with his neighbors during the time mentioned. It is said that politics and religious disputes are at the bottom of the ill-feeling exhibited against McCall. On the night of Oct. 10 last his barns with their contents were entirely consumed by fire. The matter was brought to the attention of the Attorney-General, and Government Detective John Murray was assigned to work the case up. Officer Murray has succeeded in arresting and having committed for trial, on strong circumstantial evidence, two of the suspected parties. They are Alexander Riley and John Duval, the latter being a constable.—World.

Lindsay Libel Suit.

The newspaper war still continues at Lindsay, and the matter will likely be dragged into the courts. The Warder has three or four actions on its hands, entered by Messrs. J. D. McMurchy and Jos. Cooper, of the Watchman, and though the editor of the Warder has apologized, has retraction has not been accepted and the suits are to be pressed. Now the editor of the Post has entered an action for libel against the Warder. The Warder announces this week that if the cases are pushed it will reinstate with counter suits against both the Watchman and Post. Lively times are looked for in Lindsay. Some people are mean enough to insinuate that the whole thing is a scheme on the part of the newspapers to bring a little notoriety to Lindsay in order to counteract the business stagnation which is ruining the town. Anything for excitement, they say.

Found at Last.

FOR many years I suffered from croup but at last found a remedy for it in Hagyard's Yellow Oil, so that I am now free from croup entirely, and recommend Yellow Oil to all others who suffer from the same disease.

MAGGIE McLEOD.
Seven Bridge, Ont

Thirty Years Ago.

OVER 30 years ago there was placed upon the market a remedy designed to relieve pain and capable of either external or internal use. From the first it has had wonderful success, and hundreds testify that Hagyard's Yellow Oil cures rheumatism, sore throat, sprains, croup, cuts, bruises and all pains and aches. 2w48d

"I use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral freely in my practice, and recommend it in cases of Whooping Cough among children, having found it more certain to cure that troublesome disease than any other medicine I know of."—So says Dr. Bartlett, of Concord, Mass.

SICK HEADACHE caused by excess of bile or a disordered stomach is promptly relieved by using National Pills. dw

An Offensive Breath

Is most distressing, not only to the person afflicted if he have any pride, but to those with whom he comes in contact. It is a delicate matter to speak of, but it has parted not only friends but lovers. Bad breath and catarrh are inseparable. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases as thousands can testify. b

Hints for Winter.

WHEN attacked by a cough or cold, hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis, croup or influenza, the successful experience of thousands of families who have used it regularly for all such troubles during many years, suggests the use of Haggard's Pectoral Balsam—the old reliable household favorite. 2w48d

Nerviline. What is it?

Nerviline is a combination of the most powerful pain relieving substances known. Nerviline is not a nostrum, but preparation which has received from members of the medical profession, clergymen, the press, and others most enthusiastic endorsation. If suffering from pain of any kind, external or local, give Nerviline a trial. Nerviline cures toothache, cramps, neuralgia, and almost instantly. Trial bottles 10 cents, large bottles 25 cents, at druggists and dealers everywhere 6dw49

A Corrupt System.

BAD blood may corrupt the entire system and cause scrofulous sores, swellings, ulcers, salt rheum, erysipelas, sore eyes and skin diseases, as shingles, tetter, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood and cleanses, tones and strengthens the entire system. 2w48d

Probably the Greatest Word Painter Living.

An American paper says of the eloquent Chicago divine who lectures in Bradburn's Hall on Tuesday evening, Dec. 17th, "Above the greatest word painters on both sides of the sea we set Dr. McIntyre, of Chicago." Plan of hall now open at Stratton's Bookstore.

Peculiarities of the Hair.

There are times when all persons require to pay some particular attention to the hair. To rekindle the life on energy of the roots is a simple matter if taken in time. Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic will do the word, it works in accordance with nature, supplys fresh nourishment to the glands keeper, the hair luxuriant and natural in shade. Be sure to get, you cannot afford to miss it. Every druggist sells it. It is money well spent. See Dorenwends advertisment in another column.

Irritable People.

PEOPLE are often irritable by reason of some exasperating skin disease which destroys comfort and good humor. Salt Rheum, nettle rash, erysipelas, pimples, scald head, etc., are of this nature, they arise from bad blood, and can be cured by using Burdock Blood Bitters according to directions. 2w48d

This cold weather makes one think of heavier clothing. While this thought is occupying your mind, think of Kidd's great sacrifice of winter overcoats at 372 George street. dw

There is no one article in the line of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. dw

Wealth Cannot Buy It.

HEALTH is not purchasable. The saddened, soured dyspeptic, or the bilious billionaire suffer, despite their wealth. Burdock Blood Bitters is a rational remedy for dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, scrofula, debility, etc., and every complaint arising from indigestion or bad blood. 2w48d

AS A TONIC and relief to sufferers from neuralgia, dyspepsia, loss of appetite and general debility, Dyer's Quinine and Iron Wine is highly recommended. W. A. Dyer & Co., Montreal. 6d122

TO THE DEAF—A person cured of deafness and noises in the head of 23 years' standing by a simple remedy, will send a description of it free to any person who applies to NICHOLSON, 39 St. John st., Montreal. dw

PROMPT, POTENT AND PERMANENT results always come from the use of Milburns Aromatic Quinine Wine. dw

Day and Night

During an acute attack of Bronchitis, a, ceaseless tickling in the throat, and an exhausting, dry, hacking cough, afflict the sufferer. Sleep is banished, and great prostration follows. This disease is also attended with Hoarseness, and sometimes Loss of Voice. It is liable to become chronic, involve the lungs, and terminate fatally. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral affords speedy relief and cure in cases of Bronchitis. It controls the disposition to cough, and induces refreshing sleep.

I have been a practicing physician for twenty-four years, and, for the past twelve, have suffered from annual attacks of Bronchitis. After exhausting all the usual remedies

Without Relief,

I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It helped me immediately, and effected a speedy cure.—G. Stovall, M. D., Carrollton, Miss.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is decidedly the best remedy, within my knowledge, for chronic Bronchitis, and all lung diseases. —M. A. Rust, M. D., South Paris, Me.

I was attacked, last winter, with a severe Cold, which, from exposure, grew worse and finally settled on my Lungs. By night sweats I was reduced almost to a skeleton. My Cough was incessant, and I frequently spit blood. My physician told me to give up business, or I would not live a month. After taking various remedies without relief, I was finally two bottles of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I am now in perfect health, and able to resume business, after having been pronounced incurable with Consumption.—S. F. Henderson, Saulsburgh, Penn.

For years I was in a decline. I had weak lungs, and suffered from Bronchitis and Catarrh. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral restored me to health, and I have been for a long time comparatively vigorous. In case of a sudden cold I always resort to the Pectoral, and find speedy relief. Edward E. Curtis, Rutland, Vt.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Bronchitis. The physician attending me became fearful that the disease would terminate in Pneumonia. After trying various medicines, without benefit, he finally prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved me at once. I continued to take this medicine a short time, and was cured. —Ernest Colton, Logansport, Ind.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

At present there are room for only four of the corporation horses at the fire hall, the other two being stabled on Queen street. It is proposed now to have the six horses always at hand when needed. The chairman of the Property Committee, Mr. J. J. Hartley, will begin the work at once.

The T. V. Commission.

To morrow the Trent Valley Canal Commission begins its series of sittings for the taking of evidence concerning the canal. The Commission will meet in the council chamber, Peterborough, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, commencing each day at ten o'clock in the forenoon. After the Commission concludes here they will probably also hold sittings at Trenton, Barrie, Orillia and other places.

The fountain of perpetual youth was one of the dreams of antiquity. It has been well nigh realized in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which purifies the blood, gives vitality to all the bodily functions, and thus restores to age much of the vigor and freshness of youth.

Our Increasing Population.

According to the last month's registration of births, deaths and marriages, Peterborough's population shows a cheering rate of increase. Just note—24 births to 5 deaths—nearly five to one, and, to five deaths, ten marriages, with all their population probabilities. This rate of increase is nothing to the popularity of hawley bros'. superb teas and fragrant coffees. The finest brands grown, freshly imported, at the lowest prices. dw

The New Industry.

The committee of the whole council Monday night conferred with the promoters of the electric light carbon factory scheme, and it was decided to take prompt and practical steps to secure the location of the industry here. Extensive references to the matter was made in the report of the council proceedings Monday night. Several gentlemen from Chicago and Cleveland are expected here on Friday, when it is expected the council will be able to meet them with definite and substantial inducements. The committee will report at a special council meeting to be called shortly.

CHOIR

There's Money in the Country.

To hear some people talk one would think that money was a scarce article, but bless you, there is always money fourthcoming when the proper inducements are offered. Take the great sale of dry goods now going on at Hackett's store. The stock must be cleared and business wound up by the 1st of January. Everyone knows this; they know that the bargains offered are genuine. Despite the huge quantity sold there is a big lot yet to go. The store is 125 feet deep and was crammed with this season's new goods. Here's your chance. Everything being sacrificed to clear. Store crowded with buyers who recognize that this is a chance that occurs only once in ten years. All accounts must be settled by January 1st and the business wound up. Come and buy. d126-w48tf

True Blue's Officers.

At the regular meeting of King William Lodge of True Blues last night the officers were elected for next year, and installed by Master Sloan. A pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation to the lodge of a handsome banner, by Miss Minnie Jamieson. After the meeting the Blues attended a "spread" at John Craig's restaurant. Following are the officers elected, the Master being re-elected by acclamation:—

George Sloan	Master

Another Big Snap!

$5 R. LeBrun & Co. have struck another rich mine. They have bought an additional 200 Scorm Overcoats for cash, to sell at FIVE dollars each. Just $5 fancy! You never could make them for the price; but the man wanted the money and we got the lot. They are splendid value—every one of them $5 —and you needn't be afraid to buy them. They are all well made, of $5 heavy, all-wool tweed, lined with heavy wool lining and trimmed and finished extra well. Good enough for $5 anybody to wear on Sunday or any other day. Come and see them for $5 yourselves, and tell your neighbors they $5 are as good as we advertise. Parents, bring your boys with you, as our $5 stock of Boys' and Youths' Overcoats bangs anything you have ever heard of. $5 All sizes and we can fit your boy to $5 perfection. No such bargains have $5 been offered in the last five years!

The Dance in Court.

The police court room was this morning crowded to the doors, and as much interest was manifested in the proceedings as the celebrated case which occupied the attention of the court on Monday. The Murray street dance was ventilated, and the evidence was of a most amusing nature. Chas. Cresswell, the man who held the reception for a few of his friends, was the complainant, and there were some fifteen young men implicated in the charge of disorderly conduct, and nine other witnesses were summoned. Mr. W. A. Scratton conducted the case for the defendants. Mr. Cresswell and his wife told of the invasion of their domicile by a lot of "gentlemen who were not invited," who kicked in the door, pulled the chimney down, used vile language and altogether "behaved most ridiculous and inhuman." Mr. Cresswell had invited fifteen or twenty of his friends to the ball, each "gent" to bring a lady and contribute 60c. to pay the piper. The dance went merrily on until the house was taken by storm by the outsiders, who broke in and took possession of the place. Five of the young men, four hailing from Ashburnham, were identified as ringleaders in the disturbance and were each fined $5. Three of the defendants were called as witnesses and did their best to help their comrades out, but the magistrate unhesitatingly said he didn't believe their stories. Out of respect to their parents the names of the parties connected with the disgraceful affair are withheld from publication. Two of those fined for disorderly conduct will appear before the magistrate to-morrow to answer to a further complaint of doing malicious injury to property.

OPERA HOUSE

A SCHOOL BOARD "SCRAP."

Messrs. Dumble and McWilliams Have it Out

And the Other Trustees Take a Hand In—Hard Words Handled About—A Lively Incident at the Board Of Education Meeting.

A bit of excitement, not down on the order of business, took place at the meeting of the School Board last night.

After the reports of Committees had been read Mr. D. W. Dumble rose from his chair, unfolded a newspaper which he held in his hand, and in a calm, determined voice began an address which caused a small sensation as it developed. He said, taking the newspaper as his authority, that Mr McWilliams had made a statement which the Board could not allow to go uncontradicted. It was stated he (Mr. McWilliams had been canvassed by a member of this Board to use his influence to remove Mr. Long from the Collegiate Institute because he was a Conservative and put Mr. Colbeck in his place. Mr. Dumble said it was unworthy in any member of this Board to do such a thing, and he called upon Mr. McWilliams to correct the statement, if it had not been correctly reported, or if it was true, to name the man, so the matter could be investigated. Such a charge made without naming the man, leaves every member of this Board subject to it, and the blame should be put on the right man. He wished to give Mr. McWilliams an opportunity to do himself and the Board justice.

Mr. McWILLIAMS—That report is not correct. I didn't say I was canvassed by any member of this Board. I said I was canvassed by a man outside of the Board, but I think perhaps a member of this Board was responsible for it.

Mr. DUMBLE—Name him.

Mr. McWILLIAMS—I am not going to name him. I think the man who did it is heartily ashamed of his position.

Mr. DUMBLE—The insinuation is more cowardly than I thought Mr. McWilliams was capable of. He insinuates that some member of the Board has done such a thing. That is a cowardly, mean insinuation, and unless he has grounds for it he should take it back.

Mr. McWILLIAMS—The grounds I give are these—The matter appeared in a letter in a newspaper on 7th February and was followed by the words used by you the meeting afterwards. I know who was the writer of that letter.

Mr. DUMBLE—I say I never wrote any letter. I know nothing of any letter. I say this and I say it openly—if Mr. McWilliams refers to the letter written by Paterfamilias, then I say he put his name to it and had it published himself.

Mr. McWILLIAMS—No I didn't.

Mr. DUMBLE—I give that as an open assertion and repeat it.

Mr. McWILLIAMS—I didn't do any such thing.

Mr. DUMBLE—Coward!

Mr. McWILLIAMS—I didn't do it.

Mr. DUMBLE—Coward! You did do it.

Mr. McWILLIAMS—You are not on the bench now, Mr. Dumble. Who acted the coward yesterday? A bigger coward never lived.

Mr. KENDRY—I call Mr. McWilliams to order.

Mr. McWILLIAMS—I'm not going to have Mr. Dumble say anthing like that of me.

Mr. DUMBLE—You had that letter published—

Mr. McWILLIAMS—Never!

Mr. DUMBLE—You did. You can't deny it.

Mr. McWILLIAMS—I didn't. I neither wrote nor published any letter in connection with the school.

Mr. DUMBLE—You did.

The CHAIRMAN—Come, come, gentlemen.

ADVOCATING PROSECUTION.

Mr. KENDRY rose in the midst of the tumult and moved the resolution:—

That this Board take legal proceedings against J. B. McWilliams for wilfully disturbing and interrupting the order and work of the school on the morning of the 25th November last.

He said he did so without any malice to Mr. McWilliams, but any member of the Board acting as he had done should get all the law could give him. Mr. Kendry produced a copy of the school law, and pointed out that on page 81 there was a provision against disturbance of public schools. What Mr. McWilliams had done, Mr. Kendry said, was caused the Institute great harm. No man would have done it, and this Board should prosecute him. The Board was there to keep order and not permit bullies to come into the school and use rawhides and fists. It was a nice example to set the children, and the thing had been spread all over the country.

Mr. McWILLIAMS asked to make an explanation. He told how his boy had been ill for the past few months so that he could scarcely attend school, but on that Friday had coaxed his mother to let him go. Just before that Mr. Colbeck had received information of his new appointment, and he took the opportunity to vent his spleen upon the boy, and beat him till he broke the stick, and the boy had been ill ever since and black and blue from the effects of it to this day. Mr. McWilliams continued, "I knew I could not get any justice from the police magistrate of this town—"

The CHAIRMAN—Order, order.

Mr. McWILLIAMS—I waited from Friday till Monday, expecting, if he was a man, he would come and see me about it. Then I went and publicly horsewhipped him, and I think he deserved what he got. I don't regret what I have done. There is no man on this Board, if placed in my position, would not have acted the same. There is not a teacher in the school over had to punish him before. I say it was nothing but malice made Mr. Colbeck do it.

Mr. RUTHERFORD rose to second Mr. Kendry's motion, and endorsed that gentleman's remarks. He considered Mr. McWilliams took a wrong course, particularly as he was a member of the Board. Any other person doing it, he said, would have been in gaol in an hour.

Mr. DENNE thought Mr. Kendry was justified in entering his motion, but, at the same time, as the case was before the court, it was scarcely proper to punish. He thought Mr. McWilliams did wrong. If done in the heat of the moment, on meeting Mr. Colbeck on the street, it would not have been so bad, but after two day's consideration, and going to church twice on Sunday—(smiles around the Board)—he should not have done as he did.

Mr. HAMILTON moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. DENNE.—that as this matter is now before the courts, this Board take no farther action.

A VOTE OF CENSURE.

Dr. BOUCHER said that if they were to be true to the ratepayers the Board should place on record its disapproval of Mr. McWilliams' conduct. The circumstances were no doubt aggravating, but instead of appealing to the Board, as he should have done, he chose to take the law into his own hands. Dr. Boucher thought a vote of censure should be passed.

Mr. KENDRY—I press my motion.

Mr. McWILLIAMS—If you want the $20 you can have it any time.

Mr. KENDRY—We don't want $20, but I press my motion.

Mr. O'MEARA then rose and moved in amendment to the amendment, that this Board desires to place on record its sentiments of regret with regard to Mr. McWilliams, a member of this Board, who so far forgot himself as to be guilty of rude and indecent behavior to one of the teachers, in contravention of the school law.

Dr. Boucher seconded the motion.

Mr. McWILLIAMS said he was ready to let that pass and fight the whole matter out. He had a good deal to contend against, with the police magistrate and others on the Board against him, but he intended to fight it out.

Mr. O'MEARA said he wished to vindicate his position as trustee of the people, and he could not too strongly express his disapproval of Mr. McWilliam's action. The offence was aggravated by the position he held. Mr. O'Meara considered proceedings in the court inadequate to meet the case, and the Board should put on record its sentiments of censure. No doubt Mr. McWilliams' boy had been hurt, but to go in before a school and disgrace the pupils and the town as he had done, it was most deplorable. It would appear as if the Board was developing into a lot of pugilists. No resolution of this kind, he said, could affect the case in court, and it was due the Board and the people that some such resolution as the amended be passed. By dropping the matter it left it open to be said that the Board sympathized with Mr. McWilliams. He did not wish Mr. McWilliams to think he was ruffe-ating in him otherwise than as regarded the position he occupied, and the time and character of his offence.

Mr. McWILLIAMS—There is no use of my saying anything. I know two or three members of this Board. I know there is something behind all this; I know the whole little game, and it will all come out one of these days.

The Chairman rapped the Board to order and put Mr. O'Meara's amendment to vote. It was carried on a vote of 6 to 4. Mr. Kendry demanded the yeas and nays, which were taken as follows:—

YEAS—Messrs. Dumble, Boucher, Rutherford, Kendry, Burnham and O'Meara.

NAYS—Messrs. Hamilton, Weir, Wrighton and Denne.

Messrs. Hamilton and Denne remarked that they thought no action should be taken while the matter was before the courts.

Mr. McWILLIAMS—I would like to know if it is any bigger disgrace for a man to horsewhip a teacher than for a trustee to stagger drunk about the streets—I am rather pleased to have a vote of censure come from such a source.

The Chairman called, "Order, order," as there was then nothing before the Board. Other business was then taken up and the matter rested.

Board of Trade.

A Good Attendance—The Carbon Factory—The Manufacturers' Committee Urged to "Get to Work"—Railway Extension Discussed—The Railway Committee to Meet.

The quarterly meeting of the Peterborough Board of Trade was held in the committee room of the Council Chamber on Tuesday evening. Owing to the indefatigable exertions of the secretary there was a large attendance.

There were present, Mr. E. Innes, Vice-President, in the chair, and Messrs. J. H. Barnham, secretary, W. Manson, R. Fair, C. N. Brown, John Carnegie, G. W. Ramsey, F. H. Dobbin, F. J. Lewis, R. McWhinnie, H. S. McDonald, R. J. Lee, W. Brundrette, A. E. Sherwood, R. J. Kingan, Macfarlane Wilson, Thomas Kelly, W. H. Meldrum, T. G. Hazlitt, T. Cahill, T. A. Hay, Wm. Hamilton and C. Wynn.

After routine,

The SECRETARY reported the visit of a Mr. Myers, of St. Marys, who was seeking a site for a woollen mill. The Secretary had driven him about the town and he was very favourably impressed with the advantages it presented.

The SECRETARY reported that the Manufacturers' Committee had not met, and a motion was adopted instructing the Secretary to call another meeting of the committee to elect a chairman and "get to work."

THE PROPOSED CARBON FACTORY.

The matter of the proposed Carbon Factory was informally introduced, and Mr. Kelly and Mr. Cahill explained the present position of the Town Council in relation to the matter. It was proposed to advance the company $6,000, a second mortgage being taken on the Stove Works premises which it was proposed by the company to purchase for $20,000, the company giving a first mortgage for $12,000. The company was bound to keep employed 50 men for the period of ten years. It was proposed to carry on other branches of manufacture in addition to the specific work of the factory. Skilled labour would be required.

The motion by Mr. Meldrum, seconded by Mr. Lee, was adopted, approving the action of the Town Council in their proposition to submit a by law to grant assistance to the Electric Carbon Company, seeking establishment here.

Mr. CAHILL, on behalf of the council, thanked the Board of Trade for strengthening their hands.

RAILWAY PROBABILITIES.

The proposed projection of a spur of the C. P. R. from Pontypool to Lindsay originated a conversational discussion as to the probability of the extension of the Chemong Valley Railway to Bobcaygeon, and thence north to Kinmount and possibly farther.

Mr. W. H. MELDRUM moved, seconded by Mr. T. KELLY,—That the Railway Committee be requested to hold a meeting at an early date, to consider the matter of the extension of the Chemong Valley Railway northward, the committee to report to the Town Council.—Carried.

[A meeting of the committee was fixed for next Tuesday evening at the council chamber.

SHORT AND SWEET, BUT TRUTHFUL.

An Honest Offer that all can Plainly Understand, and that People can Respect and put Confidence in.

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 22nd, 1889.

GENTLEMEN:—

We want to say a few words to you just now. They will be plain and to the point; better still—they will be truthful, and therefore worth reading:—

1st.—We have a large stock of bran new tailor-made Overcoats for Men and Boys. They are made of honest cloth, well sewed, and stylishly got up, and will fit and wear as well as if you left your measure—not the kind they make up for bankrupt stocks.

2nd.—You can have your pick of any of these Overcoats for Less Money than you can buy a similar coat that may be offered to you by any other dealer in Ontario.

3rd.—You are at liberty to look through all the stores in Town and then come to the City Clothing Store, when we will undertake to fit you Properly with a Better Overcoat, at a Less price than any bona fide offer that may have been made to you.

4th.—We will, likewise, agree to make the same offer hold good for Suits of Clothing, Coat, Pants or Vests, and include Scotch and Canadian Woollen Underwear in the bargain.

5th.—If you want to leave your Measure for a Suit or Overcoat, the same offer holds good in this department also.

6th.—This offer will stand until the middle of January, 1890, when we expect to have clothed every man and boy who intends buying clothing this winter, who is shrewd enough to know the difference between wool and shoddy. We mean business.

Respectfully yours,

H. LeBRUN & CO.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, chemically pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

A False Alarm.

Both Miss Jessie Alexander of Toronto and Miss Annie Howden of Port Hope, have been heard from this week and are to be in the Geo. St. Methodist church, on Tuesday evening Dec. 10th 1889, to give one of the select entertainments of the season. The report that they were not coming is therefore incorrect and all who have "course tickets" should remember that this is the second evening in the series. Single tickets for that night only 25c. The Montreal Witness in speaking of Miss Alexander, as a reader says her voice is as clear as a bell and her articulation is perfect. The Ottawa Free Press says "Miss Alexander is a clever and talented, elocutionist and gives her readings with great taste." Miss Howden's career in the Toronto Conservatory of Music speaks for itself. Her success was too marked to need any comment. Besides her reputation is already established in Peterborough. With two such talented "stars" to give an entire programme surely the success of the evening is guaranteed. A copy of the programme will be published in a day or two. Watch for it and remember the date, December 10th 1889. Admission only 25c.

The Snow Shoe Club.

A very enthusiastic meeting was held last evening and general business transacted. The prospects of having a large membership are good. The election of officers, etc., takes place Thursday evening, and everybody at all interested in snowshoeing is cordially invited to be present. Keep in mind that the meeting takes place Thursday evening at 7.30 in the old post office block.

STANLEY'S GREAT TRAMP

CRYSTAL SNOW WATER AND BLACK BERRIES FOR FARE

Hedged In by a Divinity—A Wealth of Geographical Lore—The Camp in Excellent Health except from Starvation—Led By German Soldiers.

London, Dec. 4. The Stanley expedition arrived at Mboki on Dec. 1. All the Europeans were well with the exception of Commissioner Stevens, who was sick and had fever. The whole camp was in a state of perfect discipline. A party of German soldiers under Lieut Schmidt precede the main body and choose a camp ground for each night. Stanley and his companions praise very highly the kind reception they have met with from the Germans.

New York, Dec. 4. In a letter to The Herald dated Mpwah, Nov. 30, Henry M. Stanley says: "I am in perfect health and feel like a laborer of a Sunday evening returning home with his week's work done, his week's wages in his pocket and glad that tomorrow is the Sabbath. Looking back over what has been accomplished I see no reason for any heart's discontent. Over and above the happy ending of our appointed duties we have not been unfortunate in geographical discoveries. Stanley recounts some of those glories already made known and says:

"And right under the burning equator we have fed on blackberries and billberries and quenched our thirst with crystal water fresh from snow beds. I always suspected that in the central regions between the equatorial lakes something worth seeing would be found but I was not prepared for such a new fact. This has certainly been the most extraordinary expedition I have ever led into Africa. A veritable divinity seems to have hedged us while we journeyed. It has impelled us whither it would, effected its own will but nevertheless guided and protected us."

The explorer then relates how the rear column disobeyed his orders to march from Yambuya, Aug. 17, 1887, the result being that three-fourths of them died of slow poison, their commander was murdered, their second officer died of sickness and grief while another, wasted to a skeleton, returned home.

The wildest kind of rumors concerning a tragedy at Barnum's show were current in London yesterday afternoon and appeared in the afternoon newspapers. One story was that ten performing elephants had rushed out of the ring and run amuck in the audience. Another was that all the keepers had been killed and the elephants were in possession of the Olympia. The mildest tale of all was that Newman, the chief trainer, had been killed by the elephants, and that it required the efforts of all the other keepers and their pitchforks to recover his body. An army of reporters at once headed for Kensington. The real facts proved to be that one man was killed by an accident. He was a stable cleaner, and was working behind the elephants while Newman was away. Ten or a dozen elephants were standing in line at the Olympia, the big one at one end of the line and the small ones at the other. The big elephant next to the small ones is Mandarin, the father of the youngest baby elephant. Next to him stands Nick, the clown elephant. Mandarin yesterday struck Nick while the stable cleaner was at work behind the small elephant, and knocked him over. Nick fell on the man's chest and killed him at once. The dead man was George Stevens. He is the son of a farmer at Millerton, in Duchess county, N. Y., and was thirty two years of age. He had been with the show for five years. Barnum & Bailey will give him a respectable burial, and all the employes of the show will attend the funeral on Thursday. Mandarin is one of the best elephants in the show, and Nick is also quiet and peaceable. Both elephants gave their usual performance yesterday afternoon and evening.

The Kaiser's Sympathies.

Berlin, Dec. 4—The Kaiser has telegraphed to Emin Pasha and Stanley the expression of his sympathy for their hardships and perils. He congratulates them upon the fortunate ending of their journey and welcomes them to civilization and home.

MONTREAL MATTERS.

A Romance in Real Life—C.P.R. Receipts —Other News.

Montreal, Dec. 4.—J. T. Torrance of this city is suing Messrs Allen, Stirling & Co., New York, for $5,000 an alleged balance of the proceeds of a partnership under the style of "The Dominion Safety Boiler Co," which is now dissolved.

The traffic returns of the C. P. R. for the week ending Nov. 30, amount to $412,000 being an increase of $21,000 over the corresponding week of 1888.

Thirty years ago a Mr. Hutton, who was then a poor mechanic, left this city to try his luck in the Cariboo gold mines. When he did become rich he moved to Montana and invested his capital in ranch property, swelling it to about half a million. He then came east to look for his wife, of whom he had not heard in 30 years. Through a detective's effort it was found that shortly after her husband left she gave birth to a baby girl, and that being obliged to work for a living, she moved to Holyoke, Mass., as soon as the child was old enough. The girl grew up and was married some 10 years ago to a livery stable keeper from Boston, where the Montana man has since gone to visit her. The mother, however died about 2 years ago.

Jno. Burns plumber and gas fitter, Craig street has assigned at the instance of M. W. Rolston & Co., with $9,971 liabilities.

The estate of the late Sir Geo. Etienne Cartier in this city has been sold, to Mr Adolphe Roy for the sum of $72,000.

AMBITIOUS CITY NEWS.

The Victims of the Merriton Accident Progressing Favorably.

Hamilton, Dec. 4. Thomas McKeough, Wm. Hyland and Martin Allen, the three men injured in the collision near Merriton yesterday are progressing favorably. The injuries to the two first named, though painful, are not serious. Allen had his left leg broken and is injured internally.

Thomas Fowler, dry-goods dealer of King William street disappeared rather mysteriously almost a month ago and his wife believes he committed suicide. He has acted strangely for some time before his disappearance.

The S.P.C.A. looked after 32 cases last month, all being disposed of without the magistrate's intervention.

Mr. Bentley of 330 Hughson-street has fallen heir to $20,000 by the death of a relative in England.

The Hospital committee to-day exonerated Dr. Corbmite, the resident physician, charged with neglect of John Hannah, a patient who died last month.

One Million for Defences.

Washington, Dec. 4. Senator Dolph today introduced a bill providing for the fortification and other sea coast defences as recommended by the Board appointed by President Cleveland. The bill also authorizes the secretary of War to erect on the Pacific coast a gun factory for manufacturing the most approved patterns of gun and gun carriages for the army at a cost not to exceed $1,000,000.

THE RIMOUSKI ELECTION!

Tessier Defeats Asselin for the Assembly by 90 Majority.

Rimouski, Dec. 4.—The polling to-day to fill the vacant seat in the Assembly for Rimouski, lately held by Mr. Martin, resulted in the election of Mr Tessier (Lib.) by an majority over Mr Asselin (Con). There are 11 poll houses in the county, about ten town and 20 parishes. Mr. Vales (Con.) defeated by the returning officer's tie vote in a local election some years ago. His opponent was the presiding Judge of the Sessions. Later on Sir Hector Langevin was defeated by Dr. Fiset (Lib.) by about 500 votes, and Mr. Martin defeated Mr. Asselin by 60 votes.

Protests too Much.

Lisbon, Dec. 4.—In response to the protest which the British Minister here was instructed to make against the Portuguese claim to ownership of Mashonaland, there are made now vigorous Portuguese protests. The Lusitanian Colonial Society has protested against the action of the English authorities in supplying the Lobengula with rifles for the purpose of enslaving the natives of Mashonaland and demands that energetic measures be immediately taken for the protection of the natives. This protest, it will be seen, accuses the British Government of being concerned in the slave trade. The society also protests against the action of the British consul at Mozambique [illegible]

Total Liabilities Will Reach $100,000—A Ten Lottery Scheme Before the Courts—W. J. Johnston Denies Charges Against Him—Other Toronto Topics.

Toronto, Dec. 4.—Timothy Connors, a middle-aging Milesian, was brought before the Magistrate to-day on a charge of drunkenness, when an officer explained that Tim had been on an unusually protracted spree. Both his eyes were blackened and his face looked as if he had met in collision with a battering ram. It appears that while he was going up Ontario street he met a citizen and assaulted him without provocation, and afterwards when Constable Carlyle arrested him he hit the officer in the hand. When placed in the cell at No. 4 Police station he became frantic and battered his head against the wall in a most furious manner. He was finally restrained, and upon hearing the circumstances the Magistrate fined him $20 and costs or sixty days' imprisonment.

Mr. Nicholas Murphy, Q.C., obtained a writ of habeas corpus this afternoon to bring Wm. Spellman from Kingston Penitentiary to give evidence in the alimony suit of his wife.

Wm. Thompson & Co., hardware importers, suspended payment to-day. A year ago the firm dissolved, Messrs. Hutchinson and Menet retiring and the present partnership was formed, consisting of William Thomson and two of his sons. The firm has been working on rather limited capital, and of late has sustained a large number of bad debts. These, with slow collections have caused the present trouble. It is impossible to give any definite figures yet. Mr. W. C. Thomson stated this morning that he could not possibly give anything reliable. However, the direct liabilities will be about $90,000, and there is a nominal surplus of $25,000 or $30,000. The Standard Bank is secured for its claim by good endorsement.

This morning H. E. Hamilton, boot and shoe manufacturer, Bay-street, suspended payment. The liabilities are a little less than $40,000, of which $15,000 is owing to the trade and the balance to relatives. The assets are about $55,000, the estate thus showing a surplus of between $15,000 and $20,000. A meeting of creditors will be held Friday afternoon.

At noon to-day Matthew Fisher, manager of "The Traders' Tea Company," 15 King street west, was brought before the magistrate on the charge of distributing jewelry by a mode of chance. The Crown was represented by Mr. J. W. Curry, and Mr. N. G. Bigelow, Q.C., defended the accused. There were quite a number of interested citizens in court when the case was called, and considerable interest was taken in the proceedings. Several witnesses deposed that they bought tea for a $1 a package with the chance of drawing for prizes. The way the game was played is as follows:—Citizen enters and buys a package, draws, and gets some cheap jewelry. He draws again with the same luck usually. If he is persistent he draws again and still plays to hard luck. Then the clerk suggests taking back the tea bought for another chance. The company has a bigger fish pond for those carrying fat wallets. For $7 they guarantee the player either gold watch, diamond ring or $30. The magistrate reserved judgment.

City Auditor Anderson, who was engaged to go carefully over the books of Police Clerk Meyerfey, pending the investigation by the Commissioners, has nearly completed his work. So far he has found the accounts perfectly accurate.

W. F. Johnson, Superintendent of the Massey Manufacturing Co., who is the defendant in the well-known seduction case of Taylor v Johnson, which occupied the attention of Euclid avenue Methodist church inquisitors for such a long time, was privately examined yesterday afternoon by Mr. James A. Macdonald, counsel for the plaintiff. The defendant pronounced the suit brought against him by A. W. Taylor, 110 Bathurst street, and his daughter, Miss Emma Taylor, the outcome of scheme to blackmail or advance to shield some guilty person. The defendant's testimony was a complete denial of all the charges made by the plaintiff and his daughter.

Gotham for the World's Fair.

New York, Dec. 4.—The Executive Committee of the World's fair to-day revised and completed the bill to be presented to Congress authorizing the holding of the fair here. It provides that the fair shall be opened in 1892 and be continued so long af shall be advantageous, subject to the supervision and under the auspices of the Government of the United States. The bill requires the President to make public proclamation of the exhibition sending copies to the diplomatic representatives of all nations for publication in their respective countries and inviting them to take part in it.

CURRENT CAPITAL TOPICS.

Lepine's Mission—The Haldimand Election Case—Railway Deputations.

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—Ambroise Lepine, the celebrated secretary of Louis Riel, is in the city. It will be remembered that Lepine was, as a consequence of the rebellion of 1885, deprived of his rights of citizenship and of his property. By the amnesty Lapine was released from the state of outlawry and once more became a citizen of the Dominion. No amnesty could reinstate him in the possession of his land and it is to request the Government to restore him to this full enjoyment of his former possessions that Lapine is now here. Soon after his arrival yesterday Lepine had interviews with Sir John Macdonald and Sir Hector Langevin and it is stated will remain here several days. A movement is on foot to entertain him to dinner during his stay.

Mr. Dalton McCarthy says he intends to bring up in Parliament a question as to the appointment to the Quebec Postoffice of Miss Mayhee, of Gananoque, and her subsequent recall owing to the provincial cry raised against her because she was an English speaking person.

A deputation consisting of Senator Guevremont and others from Sorel waited on Sir John Macdonald yesterday in re the proposed great Eastern Railway from Montreal to Quebec. The deputation wish to ascertain the intention of the Government with regard to the balance of several bonuses for which work is not yet done.

This morning a deputation of over 40 gentlemen from Prince Edward, West Hastings and East Northumberland arrived in the city to wait upon the Government and urge that a subsidy be granted from the Federal treasury in aid of the extension of the Central Ontario Railway from Cochill, its present northern terminus, to Sudbury. Dr. Platt, M.P., Henry Corby, M.P., and G. W. Ostrom, M.L.A., headed the delegation. Hon. Mr. Bowell accompanied the delegates to Sir Hector Langevin, where they presented petitions from the various municipalities giving grounds why the subsidy should be given. It was said that a subsidy was expected from the Ontario Government, that the extension would pass through a rich, well-wooded and excellent farming district, and that the railway company intended building copper blast furnaces at Trenton and iron blast furnaces at Toronto if the subsidy was granted. The usual answer was given by Sir Hector namely, careful consideration. Sir John Macdonald was too ill to see the delegates.

Mr McCarthy, in the Supreme Court this morning, made his motion to bring on the Haldimand election case, too late to be inscribed at this court immediately. In support of his statement he complained that while the trial took place in the early part of September, on the 19th, and the question of costs on Oct 24, the record was not forwarded to the Supreme Court until Nov. 22. He admitted there was no blame to be attached to the respondent, the delay occurring largely through a controversy as to who was to pay the shorthand reporter.

Mr. Aylesworth, who appeared for Mr. Colter, said that some $300 was paid out of the petitioner's deposit in the former Haldimand election case, and Mr. Colter, who won the case with costs, was never able to obtain it from the defendant. In this case it was asked that the same proceedings should be adopted. After this was decided it took the shorthand writer some six weeks to transmit his notes. It would be impossible to get the factums printed in time so as to get the case put on the record for the 10th of the present month, which would have to be the case. Mr. Mr. McCarthy agreed to get all the printing done in sufficient time to file the case on the 10th, and the court upon these grounds decided that the case should come up for trial on the 19th.

VIENNA MAKES A PROTEST

AUSTRIANS ARE MAD ABOUT WHAT ENGLISH NEWSPAPERS PRINT.

A Scheme to Break Up the African Slave Trade—English And Slavery Opinion Doubting Bold Raids Around Suakim. —A Critical Situation.

London, Dec. 4.—Several London journals have received private remonstrances from representatives of the Austrian government in England to the effect that exceptions are taken to the matter published from their Vienna correspondents. These latter, it is stated, are continually prophesying a speedy war in the southeast, and seemingly in such a manner as if they hoped it would soon occur. Every movement of troops on the Galician frontier, and every increase of the forces there, either of the Austrian or Russian armies, is sent to London at once as a sure indication of impending hostilities, and often to the serious disturbance of commercial values. A delicate hint has been given that in case the sensation-mongering does not cease, the said correspondents will find facilities for obtaining really important news withdrawn from them when such events occur.

It is a significant fact that a gathering for professedly philanthropic purposes has proclaimed to the world that it sees no method of obtaining its ends except by the employment of force. The Brussels anti-slavery conference proposes to embarrass, if not destroy, the African slave trade by establishing a chain of military posts, within supporting distance of each other, across the lines of march of traders the outposts to contain a sufficient force to successfully resist any number of assailants likely to be brought against them. The cost of a sufficient number of such stations would of course, be enormous, and the probability is that no European government except England has more money than is needed to provide for its own defence. Cardinal Lavigerie's pet scheme has not a very promising outlook. Singularly enough the anti-slavery feeling in England is not nearly so strong as it was thirty years ago, trade having proved stronger than sentiment and Manchester and Birmingham more influential than Exeter hall.

The boldness of the raids around Suakim indicates that the Baggaras feel strong enough to encounter the forces within the town, and the latter, it seems, do not dare to venture forth for fear of being ambushed. Any future war will be simply one of extermination, word having gone forth among the tribes to give no quarter. The torture and murder of the Mahdi's messenger to Emin has aroused the natives to a pitch of fury that precludes any peace being put forward, and it is to be feared that the fringe of civilization surrounding the great continent will soon be narrower than ever. England and Italy know what the cost of warfare is in Africa and the people of both countries will protest against any campaign into the interior.

A VANISHED HOST.

Hotelkeeper McIntyre of the Falls Leaves His Creditors in the Lurch.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Dec. 4.—The business portion of the town was all agog this morning when it was learned that Hope McIntyre, proprietor of the Waverley Hotel, had absconded during the night, leaving his wife behind him. His business is in a very bad shape. There was no assignment made and William Henry of Stamford, the landlord, has taken charge of the premises to cover himself for back rental. Before noon claims amounting to over $5000 against the stock and chattels were filed. The losers are principally people of this town who had great confidence in McIntyre, who was well known as a genial host. Even the servants suffered in the hundreds: $800 will cover the assests. McIntyre's whereabouts is not known, although it is pretty well understood he started for New York.

Fatal Hunting Accident.

Owen Sound, Dec. 4.—A fatal shooting accident occurred yesterday afternoon near Dyment's Bay, on the Saugeen peninsula. It appears that two young men, named William Kennedy of Harrison's lumber camp and Hiram Lyburder, son of Mr. Horace Lyburner of Owen Sound, were out after game. The bush being pretty thick Kennedy saw what he supposed to be deer, and taking deliberate aim fired at the object, when to his horror he discovered he had shot his companion through the back. The wounded man only lived a few minutes. He was 26 years old, unmarried.

Fire in New York Harbour.

New York, Dec. 4.—The steamer Newburg left her pier at the foot of Franklin street at five o'clock. Off 36th street smoke was discovered in the forward part of the cabin. Capt. Beattie whistled for assistance and a tug responded. Several passengers jumped on the tug. No one was injured. The fire lasted three hours and the cargo was damaged. The main deck was badly damaged.

Navigation Closed at Belleville.

Belleville, Dec. 4.—The severe frost of last night which fell to six below zero, covered the bay with ice two inches thick and closed navigation. The ferry is still running. The vessels laid up here are the steamers Annie Gilbert and Cosette, tugs Norah and E. Bonor, Steam-barge Water Lily, tow barge H. P. Oswold, Schooner L. D. Bullock, D. Freeman, Delaware, Restless, Rainbow and Friend, and Sloops Hattie Ann, Sovereign, Empress, Minerva and Monitor.

National Trotters Expels a Canadian.

New York, Dec. 4.—The Board of Review of the National Trotting Association to-day decided to give no decision in the Balch stallion case until the meeting at Chicago next May unless a special meeting is called for that purpose. This is considered by the friends of the accused parties as quite a point gained. William B. Wright of Canada was expelled the association and the horse John L. Boston was excluded from the association tracks.

A Terrible Storm.

Quebec, Dec. 4.—Alfred Larochelle, the pilot who had charge of the S.S. Electrique, has just arrived from Fatherpoint, where he left the steamer. He says that the storm which the Electrique rode out close to St. Michel last week is one of the worst he has seen on the St. Lawrence. The sea at times would sweep over the steamer, which was the following morning covered with a sheet of ice 6 inches thick and all the gears frozen making. It hard to get under way again.

Mother and Child Drowned.

Bloomington, Ill., Dec 4—Yesterday Mrs. John Slawaugh, a handsome young woman of Stanford, while suffering from mental trouble, took her one-year-old child in her arms and leaped into a well. Both were drowned.

The Suicide Was Crazy.

Jefferson Davis Sinking.

New Orleans, Dec. 2.—There was practically no change in Mr. Davis's condition to-day except that he has perhaps grown slightly weaker since yesterday. He refuses to take proper nourishment and his friends have given up all hope of recovery, though they do not expect the end to come for several days yet. The patient is free of the attack of bronchites, but has a severe cold.

First Fall Through the Ice.

Sackville, N. B., Dec. 4.—A number of Mount Allison University students were skating on Norrice's Mill pond this afternoon when Frank Hamilton and Everett Carey fell through the ice. Hamilton was drowned and the other rescued after hard work. Hamilton belonged to Baie Verte N. B.

CANADIANS Work Too Hard!

The Result is Sleeplessness, Nervousness and a Broken-Down System, often

Ending in Insanity.

Thousands of overworked business men, wearied businesswomen industrious mechanics, and tried women, in all parts of the Dominion are to-day in a terrible position. Their nerves are weak, digestion poor, head aching, and they cannot sleep, work or live in comfort. This is what fills our Insane Asylums. This is the cause of that terrible Paresis. Before it is too late, use Dr. Phelps' wonderful discovery, Paine's Celery Compound. It removes the results of overwork, restores strength, renews vitality, regulates the whole system, and tones up the overworked brain and body. Do not despair, but use this wonderful remedy, and be restored to health and happiness, the same as was Mr. John L. Beedie, of Montreal, who writes: "I have great pleasure in recommending your Paine's Celery Compound. My system was run down and I was not fit for business, could not sleep well at night and was nervous. I commenced taking Paine's Celery Compound and improved immediately. I am now able to transact my business and endure any amount of excitement without bad effect."

Paine's Celery Compound can be purchased at any druggist's for one dollar a bottle. If he should not have it on hand, order direct from WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Montreal.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The evangelistic services are growing in power, interest and numbers daily. Mr. Barson's Bible readings each afternoon are rare treats for God's people, and the Holy Spirit's power is being manifested in a marked degree at every meeting. Much fruit will be the result of these special seasons. The evening meetings are times of refreshing from our Heavenly Father. A number of young men have accepted Christ as their personal Saviour, and as the meetings go on there are abundance tokens of revival. Mr. Barson is endearing himself to us all by his practical Gospel talks. Everyone is delighted with him and his earnestness in the Master's cause. We hope our young men will take advantages of these services and reap the benefits. They will be continued each afternoon at 3.30 for all; and each evening at 8 for men.

Ladies' Auxiliary will hold their monthly meeting Thursday afternoon at 4.30. A large attendance requested.

Omemee.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Heavy fall of snow and good sleighing.

Farmers around here are in loud praise of the Peterborough market, notwithstanding the cry of low prices. They contend that they always can make a good days pay, by driving to Peterborough.

The Oddfellows (Canadian Order) recently established here, are fitting up a very nice hall over the Agricultural rooms.

Large quantities of Xmas supplies are being received here from the Peterborough manufacturers and brewers.

Several parties who have been engaged in Manitoba and the North West, have returned home for the winter, after having had a profitable season there.

The Presbyterian's are again favouring the public with a fine concert on Jany. 1st. Talent from Peterborough, Toronto and other places secured. Their successful efforts in the past, in providing a treat is sufficient to attract a crowd.

The Methodist church anniversary services will be held here on Xmas day, when great attractions are promised.

Bensfort.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Special service will be held in the church the second Sunday in December, and on the following Monday evening the anniversary takes place.

Navigation closed with the last Saturday of Octobes. That is, the regular trips of the steamers were then discontinued, but the water is navigable throughout November this season.

Mr. J Kerr, who has been about a year with his brother at Plum Creek, Manitoba, returned on Saturday, 2nd Nov.

Mrs. A. Laing, of Brandon, formerly of Monaghan, is visiting friends. She has had seven years experience of the North-West, and speaks well of it.

The very fine weather during November has given all the advantages that could be wished for towards the season's work. As the roads have been in the best condition, a good deal of the threshed grain has been marketed.

Mr. J. Bradshaw is taking advantage of the times and the season to put a commodious addition to his house. His other house, at the rear of the lot, was burned on the 4th of Sept. It was not insured, but was not worth much, and had not been occupied for some time.

Mrs. Smithson's farm has been leased to Messrs. Mabood, of Oxenabee, and Huggins and Murney, of Monaghan. Mr. C. Chapple, one of the year's tenants, has just gone—well, we don't know where he went. He started south one moonlight night recently, and seems to have no particular interest in Monaghan.

Some mischievous little Sunday school and church rodents have worked mischief with the organs. One old mouse and five little ones were ejected from the Centreville instrument recently. Their work sometimes results in serious interference with the success of meetings, and moreover sometimes amusingly. As soon as the agents get to know it the defective instruments will be either replaced or repaired.

The last hunting party from here were away about a week. They report a good time in the back-woods, but the game too well scared already to bag easily. Mr. S. Smithson holds the laurels as far as the genuine sport goes. He has the fur of some twenty or thirty foxes stretched. Also a few weeks ago he brought down a handsome owl which measured 5½ feet from tip to tip of wings. He is getting the latter reproduced life-size by a Peterborough taxidermist.

The Court was duly instituted with a membership of twenty-seven—eight of the charter members, however, being unable to be present that night. The following is the list of officers:

A CANADIAN SYMPOSIUM.

Annexation and Commercial Union to be Discussed at Wilmington, Del.

WILMINGTON, Del., Dec. 4.—The Board of Trade of this city, desirous of discussing the possibilities of a supply of raw material from the northern part of the continent with a simultaneous opening up of markets for manufactures, have arranged for a public debate on the Canadian question on the evening of Dec. 13. Invitations to speak on the occasion have been accepted by Gen. James H. Wilson, of Wilmington; Charles Emery Smith, of Philadelphia; Congressman Butterworth, of Cincinnati, and Erastus Wiman, of New York, each of whom will speak for half an hour—the two former probably urging a political union, the two latter a commercial union, as the best way to achieve the closest trade relations with the rest of the continent. Gen. Wilson, it will be recalled, was the strenuous advocate before the United States Senate committee for a regulation of the transportation of American products through Canada, such as will protect American railway capital from the competition of Canadian railroads, built and sustained by Government money, while Smith, the brilliant editor of the Philadelphia Press, is a strong advocate of an early political alliance. Butterworth, on the other hand, though quite ready to welcome Canada to a political union, nevertheless is the original promoter of a union on a commercial basis, of which Erastus Wiman is also an advocate, he strenuously maintaining that while commercial union can be easily and early accomplished, annexation is unnecessary and undesirable, and at present impossible. The meeting will be presided over by President Taylor, of the Board of Trade, and will be largely attended by representative merchants and manufacturers, not only of Wilmington, but of Philadelphia and adjacent cities.

THE WASHINGTON SALONS.

A Return With Reference to Consular Fees Asked—The Committee in Canada.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—In the Senate to-day Mr. Vest (Dem., Mo.) offered a resolution (which was referred to the Committee on Commerce) calling on the President and Secretary of State for copies of all communications since March 4, 1885, in regard to fees exacted by or paid to United States consular officers in Great Britain and to Notarial offices there for the verification of invoices, with copies of instructions issued by the State Department on that subject, directing the Secretary of State to inform the Senate as to the total number of invoices, whether notarial officers in Great Britain are, in some cases, British subjects employed by and receiving compensation from the United States as clerks or consular officers; whether there is any arrangement by which consuls are benefitted by such notarial fees. The Secretary of State is instructed to report on all these points precisely and in detail.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites

Is sold all over the world. It is far superior to plain Cod Liver Oil, palatable and easily digested. How to Lace Your Shoes.

Not one person in a thousand laces his shoes correctly. The correct way is to put your foot when you are about to lace your shoe as much as possible in the heel of the shoe. You can see this best by lacing your shoes with the heel of your shoe resting in a chair standing in front of the one you are seated on. Over the instep the lacing should be drawn as tightly as possible. This will hold your foot back in the shoe, giving the toes freedom and preventing their being cramped. Lace about the ankle to suit your comfort.—New York Truth.

MINING AND ELECTRICITY.

A Great Scheme About to Make Use of Kakabeka Falls

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 3.—Our American Kakabeka cousins are here with us to stay. Messrs. Anderson and Eastman came here over a week ago accompanied by Mr. Geo. H. Eastman, of Minneapolis, a water power expert and a man who has had a close connection with the Minneapolis water power for the last 30 years. He spent four days last week examining the water power, and finds that nature has done everything possible to enable the water and power to be economically used, the surrounding country seems to him capable of supplying material to use the enormous water power, in the near future, to its full extent, and advises that it be utilized in furnishing electricity for smelting iron ores, for working silver, lead copper and nickle, which is found in abundance in Thunder Bay, for furnishing power, light and heat to the neighboring mines, and it must here be borne in mind, that electricity is now being used for all three.

Plans have been fully matured, as to the way in which the power is to be used and the company will commence operations on their tunnels within a few days. The surveys will be completed as soon as possible and the ground plan of the new city will then be open for public inspection.

They have definitely fixed upon the erection of smelting, reducing and concentrating work. An idea of the capacity of the works may be gathered, when we tell you that their battery of stamps will be in such shape that they can be increased to 100 as soon as the output of ore in the district warrants it; the works will be complete and any ore can be treated. This is going to be more than a boom to Algoma and the Dominion of Canada. Our mineral prospectors along the line of the P. A., D. & W., and the C. P. R. will then be able to send in a car load of ore and in a week find out what it is worth and get their money, and situated as it is, in the centre of a known mining region, with waggon roads to it from all directions, ores can be readily hauled to it by teams from mines in their early days of development.

COLLISION NEAR MERRITTON.

A Grand Trunk Freight Crashes Into a Gravel Train—One Man Killed.

ST. CATHARINES, Dec. 3.—About 5 o'clock this afternoon a gravel train of flat cars was working on the Grand Trunk Railway three or four miles east of Merritton, when a coal train came from the east and a collision occurred. One man, name unknown, working on the gravel train was killed and three others seriously injured. Considerable rolling stock was badly wrecked.

STANLEY IS ALL RIGHT.

He Feels Well, Wears a Prussian Cap, Linen Breeches and Canvas Shoes.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The New York Herald Commissioner sends the following:

NASSAC, Nov. 26 5 p. m.—I have just met Henry M. Stanley, Emin Pasha, Casati, Lieut. Stairs, Mr. Jephson, Dr. Parke, Nelson and Bonny and 500 men, women and children. I have found Stanley looking exceedingly hearty. He wears a Prussian cap, linen breeches and canvas shoes. I presented him with the American flag with which I was entrusted and it is now flying from Stanley's tent. The great explorer's hair is quite white and moustache iron gray. Emin Pasha is a slight, dark man. He wears spectacles. In a short conversation which I had with him he told me that he did not wish for any honors for what he had done.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—A long letter from Stanley to a friend dated Sept. 1889 is published. It records his discoveries and recounts the difficulties anticipated on his homeward journey. There is an account of the hostility of the King of the Kabbaregai who stripped Casati and turned him adrift to perish. He was fortunately found and rescued by Emin, and the latter gives a full account of his sojourn with Emin.

Gone to Meet Stanley.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The Egyptian Government has sent the Khedival steamer Mansourah to meet Stanley at Zanzibar, which will greatly hasten his return to Europe.

LOOKING FOR A CANDIDATE

The Equal Rights Party Determined to Oppose Hon. Mr. Colby.

MONTREAL, Dec. 3.—The Witness to-night is out with an article calling to the four winds of heaven for an Equal Rights candidate in opposition to Hon. C. C. Colby in Stanstead. There is to be a meeting of the executive of the Equal Rights Association to choose a candidate. It is rumored that Mr. G.W. Stephens ex-M.L.A., and at one time a supporter of Mr. Mercier, will be tendered the candidature.

The aldermanic excursion are extending their trip to Winnipeg and will return via Port Arthur and the lakes. While in Minneapolis they were tendered a banquet by that city. Several speeches were made, among the most noteworthy being one by Mr. Charles Pillsbury, the great miller. He said that all Montreal had to do was to improve its port and that no attempt to shut it out from the carrying trade could succeed.

WILL NOT MARRY THE PRINCE.

Banker Turnure Says the Tale from Halifax is False.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—A despatch from Halifax, Nova Scotia, announcing the engagement of Prince Victor Dhuleep Singh to Miss Jeanne Curnure of this city was published yesterday, says the Herald. Miss Turnure is the eldest daughter of Mr. Lawrence Turnure the banker. Mr. Turnure positively denied the truth of the report when I called upon him at his residence 417 Fifth-avenue yesterday afternoon.

"It must have been inspired by some malicious or foolish person," he said, "for there is not a shadow of truth in it. Furthermore, there is no good reason for even suspecting such a state of things. The Prince has been cordially received at our Lenox villa and has stayed with us for a week or two, and so have other young men, and I am sure the members of my family never looked upon him otherwise than as a gentleman visitor who was worthy of their especial consideration on account of his being a stranger in the country. The Prince never visited us in New York, but I remember having met him once or twice at one club or another."

Dunnville Pet Stock Show.

DUNNVILLE, Dec. 3.—The Dunnville Poultry and and Pet Stock Association show opened here to-day and is an immense success. About 1100 birds are on exhibition, and 50 dogs together with a magnificent display of canaries and other pet stock.

Vienna is snowed up again. Provisions are from 15 to 20 per cent. dearer on account of impeded communications. The postal service is done on sleighs.

The Autorite (Paris) says that an English company has applied for a concession to build a bridge across the English channel.

Robers are active in the Austrian country districts.

The Turkish Government has instructed its delegates in the African conference to oppose any intervention in the trade in Circassian women.

The Middlesbrough iron market is very much excited and warrants have advanced 5 shillings.

Probably the Greatest Word Painter Living.

An American paper says of the eloquent Chicago divine who lectures in Bradburn's Hall on Tuesday evening, Dec. 17th, "Above the greatest word painters on both sides of the sea we put Dr. McIntyre, of Chicago." Plan of hall now open at Stratton's Bookstore.

Peculiarities of the Hair.

There are times when all persons require to pay some particular attention to the hair. To remind the life on energy of the roots is a simple matter if taken in time. Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic will do the word, it works in accordance with nature, supplys fresh nourishment to the glands keeps the hair luxuriant and natural in shade. Be sure to get, you cannot afford to miss it. Every druggist sells it. It is money well spent. See Dorenwende advertisement in another column.

Found at Last.

FOR many years I suffered from croup but at last found a remedy for it in Hagyard's Yellow Oil, so that I am now free from croup entirely, and recommend Yellow Oil to all others who suffer from the same disease.

A Corrupt System.

BAD blood may corrupt the entire system and cause scrofulous sores, swellings, ulcers, salt rheum, erysipelas, sore eyes and skin diseases, as shingles, tetter, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood and cleanses, tones and strengthens the entire system. 2w481

SICK HEADACHE caused by excess of bile or a disordered stomach is promptly relieved by using National Pills. dw

is most distressing, not only to the person afflicted if he have any pride, but to those with whom he comes in contact. It is a delicate matter to speak of, but it has parted not only friends but lovers. Bad breath and catarrh are inseparable. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases as thousands can testify. b

Hints for Winter.

WHEN attacked by a cough or cold, hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis, croup or influenza, the successful experience of thousands of families who have used it regularly for all such troubles during many years, suggests the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam—the old reliable household favorite. 2w48d

Nerviline. What is it?

Nerviline is a combination of the most powerful pain relieving substances known. Nerviline is not a nostrum, but preparation which has received from members of the medical profession, clergymen, the press, and others most enthusiastic endorsation. If suffering from pain of any kind, external or local, give Nerviline a trial. Nerviline cures toothache, cramps, neuralgia, and almost instantly. Trial bottles 10 cents, large bottles 25 cents, at druggists and dealers everywhere 6dw49

Thirty Years Ago.

OVER 30 years ago there was placed upon the market a remedy designed to relieve pain and capable of either external or internal use. From the first it has had wonderful success, and hundreds testify that Hagyard's Yellow Oil cures rheumatism, sore throat, sprains, croup, cuts, bruises and all pains and aches. 2w48d

Irritable People.

PEOPLE are often irritable by reason of some exasperating skin disease which destroys comfort and good humor. Salt Rheum, nettle rash, erysipelas, pimples, scald head, etc., are of this nature, they arise from bad blood, and can be cured by using Burdock Blood Bitters according to directions. 2w48d

THIS cold weather makes one think of heavier clothing. While this thought is occupying your mind, think of Kidd's great sacrifice of winter overcoats at 372 George street. dw

There is no one article in the line of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. dw

Wealth Cannot Buy It.

HEALTH is not purchasable. The saddened, soured dyspeptic, or the bilious billionaire suffer, despite their wealth. Burdock Blood Bitters is a rational remedy for dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, scrofula, debility, etc., and every complaint arising from indigestion or bad blood. 2w48d

AS A TONIC and relief to sufferers from neuralgia, dyspepsia, loss of appetite and general debility, Dyer's Quinine and Iron Wine is highly recommended. W. A. Dyer & Co., Montreal. 6d122

TO THE DEAF—A person cured of deafness and noises in the head of 23 years' standing by a simple remedy, will send a description of it FREE to any person who applies to NICHOLSON, 30 St. John st., Montreal. dw

PROMPT, POTENT AND PERMANENT results always come from the use of Milburns Aromatic Quinine Wine. dw

Day and Night

During an acute attack of Bronchitis, a ceaseless tickling in the throat, and an exhausting, dry, hacking cough, afflict the sufferer. Sleep is banished, and great prostration follows. This disease is also attended with Hoarseness, and sometimes Loss of Voice. It is liable to become chronic, involve the lungs, and terminate fatally. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral affords speedy relief and cure in cases of Bronchitis. It controls the disposition to cough, and induces refreshing sleep.

I have been a practicing physician for twenty-four years, and, for the past twelve, have suffered from annual attacks of Bronchitis. After exhausting all the usual remedies

Without Relief,

I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It helped me immediately, and effected a speedy cure.—G. Stowell, M.D., Carrollton, Miss.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is decidedly the best remedy, within my knowledge, for chronic Bronchitis, and all lung diseases.—M. A. Rust, M. D., South Paris, Me.

I was attacked, last winter, with a severe Cold, which, from exposure, grew worse and finally settled on my Lungs. By night sweats I was reduced almost to a skeleton. My Cough was incessant, and I frequently spit blood. My physician told me to give up business, or I would not live a month. After taking various remedies without relief, I was finally two bottles of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I am now in perfect health, and able to resume business, after having been pronounced incurable with Consumption.—S. P. Henderson, Shamburgh, Penn.

For years I was in a decline. I had weak lungs, and suffered from Bronchitis and Catarrh. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral restored me to health, and I have been for a long time comparatively vigorous. In case of a sudden cold I always resort to the Pectoral, and find speedy relief.—Edward E. Curtis, Rutland, Vt.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Bronchitis. The physician attending me became fearful that the disease would terminate in Pneumonia. After trying various medicines, without benefit, he finally prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved me at once. I continued to take this medicine a short time, and was cured.—Ernest Colton, Logansport, Ind.

A Bear Dance.
The "grand break-down" in connection with the Murray street dance came off at the police court this morning. Two of the young men who took part in the disturbance were fined $5 and costs each for doing malicious injury to property and assessed $6 damages—in all $10 95 each. This, with the $5 fine they had to pay yesterday, makes it a pretty dear dance for them.

To Pay the Prize List.
The directors of the Central Exhibition met yesterday at the Morgan house and entered into a note for $1,000 to cover the balance of their indebtedness. The secretary was requested to collect all the subscriptions at once, and if this can be done by Saturday, as probably will be the case, the prize list will be paid at once. Secretary Collins will be at Mr. W. J. Green's store Wednesday and Saturday to pay money to prize-winners at the last exhibition.

By Far the Best.
Sale of crockery, china, glass and silverware will take place on Saturday, Dec. 7th, in the store on Water street, next Jas. Stevenson's office. Our assortment will be complete and bargains plentiful, as all must be sold before Xmas, and we will not dwell long on any one article. All the best goods are yet to be sold. We will sell on Saturday Dinner Sets, Breakfast Sets, Tea Sets, Chamber Sets, Silverware, &c., as well as a full line of other goods. Do not miss it. Sales at 12 o'clock, noon, and 7 o'clock in evening. JOHN HAGGART, auctioneer. dw

The Deputation Successful.
The Ottawa deputation returned to town this morning. Mayor Stevenson and Messrs. E. S. Davidson and E. H. D. Hall saw Deputy Minister Trudeau at the Capital yesterday, the premier being too ill to be interviewed, and secured the promise of a perpetual lease of the drowned land between the C.P.R. track and the river bank from King to Simcoe streets. The matter was all arranged up to the passing of an Order-in Council, which will be done at once. The town will pay only a nominal rental fee. It is the intention to fill in the river bed, which in time will become valuable property.

The Great Power of a Little Money.
A little money goes a great way at the great Christmas Sale of Dry Goods of M. Sullivan & Co., which began last Saturday. The Stock must be reduced, and at this main the biggest kind of inducements are offered to effect this result. Low prices are the rule in every department, and as the goods are all first-class, the customer gets the most astonishing bargains. Those who have patronized this sale are delighted with their purchases—they never know before what a wonderful purchasing power a dollar could have with low prices and up-to-date goods. Don't let this sale escape your memory or you'll lose the biggest chance of bargains of the day escape you. dtf

Pain from indigestion, dyspepsia, and too hearty eating, is relieved at once by taking one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after dinner. Don't forget this. dw

Women's Missionary Society.
The annual meeting of St. Paul's Auxiliary of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society will be held in the school room of St. Paul's church, on Friday afternoon, Dec. 6th, at half past three. All women interested in missions are cordially invited.
M. E. LECH, Sec'y.

The Teachers' Trip.
The public school teachers of the town will take a holiday to-morrow, and at the invitation of Inspector Tilley attend a convention in Port Hope. About twenty teachers intend taking the trip. Those teachers who do not go down to Port Hope will meet their classes as usual.

An Offer to Thieves.
Monday night some despicable miscreant entered Mr. E. E. Bowie's new agricultural implement warerooms, on Hunter street, into which he is just moving, and stole about twenty lengths of stove pipe and a brand new axe. Mr. Bowie offers the third $10 cash if he will come and confess, and promises not to take the "law on him." If the thief is willing to run the risk of carrying away a shinful of broken bones he should not hesitate to accept Mr. Bowie's offer.

The Feast of Days.
An entertainment, under this title, will be held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Charlotte street Methodist church, in the premises formerly occupied by Munro's biscuit works, kindly loaned for the occasion by Mr. Brooks, on Thursday and Friday, Dec. 12th and 13th. This novelty in the form of an entertainment will be sure to be very attractive to the public. Dinner and tea will be served both days, and articles suitable for Xmas presents will be on sale both days. dtf

Compliments from the Ladies.
The Secretary of the St. Andrew's Society has received the following:—The ladies present at St. Andrew's supper desire to return thanks to the Executive Committee for their very hospitable and courteous treatment—feeling highly honored at being present this first time at their sumptuous board so handsome and recherche in all its apointments, under the supervision of Mr. Harry Long. They trust that under the new departure they will be rembered for the next thirty years. On behalf of the ladies present.

Here's a Sight for Old and Young!
Mr. C. B. Routley, the popular toy and fancy goods man, will throw open his store from top to bottom, for the inspection of the public, on Friday, from 3 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m. You can then have a look at what dreams will be make out of for the next few weeks, and which is so well expressed in the following lines:—

Ust to wait, and sot up late a week or two ahead;
Couldn't hardly keep awake, nor wouldn't go to bed
Kittle shewin' on the fire, and mother settin' near Darnin' socks and rockin' in the skreeky rocking cheer;
Pap gap', and wonder where it wuz the money went,
And quar'l with his frosted heels, and spill his Beaunont;
And we a-dreamin' sleigh bells when the clock 'ed whir and buzz—
Long afore I knowed who "Santy Claus" wuz!

Charlotte Street Church.
The election of society representatives to the Quarterly Board of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church was held last night at the close of the prayer meeting. For the seven representatives there were ten nominations. The first ballot there were six elected, and one tie between two candidates. The second ballot resulted in the selection of the additional member, though neither of the two tie candidates were successful. The following are the members elected:—Fred Winch, Fred Stenson, J. Sutherland, J. Forster, R. Stenton, M. Carton, F. Brownscombe. The foregoing comprise only two members of the old board—Messrs. J. Sutherland and F. Brownscombe. There will be a meeting of the Quarterly Board on Friday night. Important business.

At the Opera House.
There was not a large audience in the opera house in attendance at the entertainment given by the Balmoral Choir, of Glasgow, but those present were well pleased, particularly with the part-songs, in which the choir are especially proficient. Their voices blend harmoniously and all the parts were well balanced. The conductor has his choir well trained. As soloists none of the company rise above mediocrity, excepting perhaps Miss Edith Ross, who possesses a fine contralto voice. Mr. Patrick is a very fair reciter, and his two numbers lent a charming variety to the programme. Ben he might easily improve upon his selections. "The Scotch Parson" and "The Women of Mumble-head," have been heard so often that even a first-class rendition cannot atone for their staleness. The programme comprised eleven choruses and part songs, four solos, a male trio and two readings. The entertainment altogether gave entire satisfaction, and should the Balmoral Choir re-appear in Peterborough they will no doubt receive a hearty welcome.

A Children's Gift.
Here's something for the girls. Mr. M. J. Tierney, of the Oriental Grocery Store, offers for competition a large doll, with ruddy cheeks and flaxen hair, and a dress of cardinal plush, altogether as handsome and bewitching a doll as any young miss could wish to hug. Every girl under fifteen years who enters the store, whether she purchases any thing or not, will be given a ticket bearing a number, and after the holidays a number will be drawn in the usual way, and the result announced in the EXAMINER. The girl holding the corresponding number will be given the doll. The beautiful prize is shown in one of the store windows, which is also decorated in appropriate style with an evergreen tree set up in a mass of white wool to resemble snow, the green limbs also being dotted with branches of the snow-like material, showing good taste, and making a pretty effect. Ornaments are also hung from the branches and dispersed in other parts of the window. From the top depends a genuine Chinese lantern, recently brought over from the land of pig-tails and flowers by a resident of Peterborough, and the only one of the kind in town. Mr. Tierney is determined to make his store as attractive as possible during the Christmas season. His stock of groceries and liquors is unsurpassed for quality, quantity or price.

THE CANAL COMMISSION.

Trent Valley Canal Matters Receive Attention.

The Commission Opened—The Taking of Evidence Begun.

THURSDAY Dec. 5th.

This morning the members of the Trent Valley Canal Commission, assembled at the Council Chamber. There were present, His Honor Judge Weller, chairman, Mr. Frank Turner, C. E., Mr. J. Kennedy, C. E., Montreal and Dr. L. Oliver, Secretary to the Commission. Mr. Wickham performed the duties of stenographer to the commission.

JUDGE WELLER, chairman, declared the commission open for the reception of information with reference to, two objects—to enable the commission to report to the Government in regard to the feasibility of the construction of the entire proposed line of canal, and to enable them to report in reference to the advisibility of constructing any particular section or sections.

In the absence of any evidence the commission considered the question of hydraulic "lift" lock in place of the ordinary locks, and Mr. Turner submitted the opinion of British engineers of eminence to show that the cost of the "lift" lock was very much less than that of the ordinary kind, while the efficiency was fully double.

Mr. JOHN CARNEGIE put in statistics relating to the freightable products of the district to be served by the Trent Valley Canal, as well as a statement of the agricultural products of the Peterborough District in reference to freight supply in case the Lakefield-Peterborough section were constructed.

Mr. H. CALCUTT, the first to given evidence, spoke from twenty-four years practical knowledge of the waters of the route below Peterborough and also of the route in general. He thought that barges could be towed over the existing navigable waterstretches at the rate of five miles an hour. Referring to the Galway lead and iron mines, Mr. Calcutt pointed out that navigation would approach to within a couple of miles. There was a deposit of brick clay in the vicinity. There was abundant first class building and paving stone on the upper route of the canal. Shipment by canal would greatly reduce the cost of carriage. Barges could be built to take stone to Toronto with safety. There were immense quantities of hardwood that are useless without the canal.

The Commission adjourned till 2 o'clock.

SHORT AND SWEET, BUT TRUTHFUL.

An Honest Offer that all can Plainly Understand, and that People can Respect and put Confidence in.

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 22nd, 1889.

GENTLEMEN:—

We want to say a few words to you just now. They will be plain and to the point; better still—they will be truthful, and therefore worth reading:—

1st.—We have a large stock of bran-new tailor-made Overcoats for Men and Boys. They are made of honest cloth, well sewed, and stylishly got up, and will fit and wear as well as if you left your measure—not the kind they make up for bankrupt stocks.

2nd.—You can have your pick of any of these Overcoats for Less Money than you can buy a similar coat that may be offered to you by any other dealer in Ontario.

3rd.—You are at liberty to look through all the stores in Town and then come to the City Clothing Store, when we will undertake to fit you Properly with a Better Overcoat, at a Less price than any bona fide offer that may have been made to you.

4th.—We will, likewise, agree to make the same offer hold good for Suits of Clothing, Coat, Pants or Vests, and include Scotch and Canadian Woollen Underwear in the bargain.

5th.—If you want to leave your Measure for a Suit or Overcoat, the same offer holds good in this department also.

6th.—This offer will stand until the middle of January, 1890, when we expect to have clothed every man and boy who intends buying clothing this winter, who is shrewd enough to know the difference between wool and shoddy. We mean business.

Respectfully yours,
H. LeBRUN & CO.

Another Big Snap!

$5 H. LeBrun & Co. have struck another rich mine. They have bought an additional 200 Storm Overcoats for cash, to sell at FIVE dollars each. Just fancy! You never could make them for the price; but the man wanted the money and we got the lot. They are splendid value—every one of them—and you needn't be afraid to buy them. They are all well made, of heavy, all-wool tweed, lined with heavy wool lining and trimmed and finished extra well. Good enough for anybody to wear on Sunday or any other day. Come and see them for yourselves, and tell your neighbors they are as good as we advertise. Facute, bring your boys with you, as our stock of Boys' and Youths' Overcoats bangs anything you have ever heard of. All sizes and we can fit your boy to perfection. No such bargains have been offered in the last five years! dw H. LEBRUN & Co.

There's Money in the Country.
To hear some people talk one would think that money was a scarce article, but bless you, there is always money fourthcoming when the proper inducements are offered. Take the great sale of dry goods now going on at Hackett's store. The stock must be cleared and business wound up by the 1st of January. Everyone knows this; they know that the bargains offered are genuine. Despite the large quantity sold there is a big lot yet to go. The store is 125 feet deep and was crammed with this season's new goods. Here's your chance. Everything being sacrificed to clear. Store crowded with buyers who recognise that this is a chance that occurs only once in ten years. All accounts must be settled by January 1st and the business wound up. Come and buy. d126-w48tf

Rousing Value.
19 lbs. bright sugar and 4 lbs. of fine tea for $2. Everyone who has tried our teas say they never have had such value as we are giving. Why? Because we buy in large quantities and pay the cash. We are bound to sell and will sell at close profits. Flour and all kind of meal kept in stock and will be sold cheap. Make no mistake, this is the store to deal in. The wholesale and retail trade supplied on short notice, at the Red Tea Store, 321 George street.

Our Increasing Population.
According to the last month's registration of births, deaths and marriages, Peterborough's population shows a cheering rate of increase. Just note—24 births to 5 deaths—nearly five to one, and, to five deaths, ten marriages, with all their population probabilities. This rate of increase is nothing to the popularity of hawley bros', superb teas and fragrant coffees. The finest brands grown, freshly imported, at the lowest prices. dw

Great Chance for the Public.
At this season of the year the public will be interested in knowing that great bargains in groceries can be obtained at Rash Bros.' grocery store. Turn to their advertisement and you will see that a great cash sale is now going on. Goods are cut down to the finest kind of price, and the goods are all of high class quality, and no better chance of securing bargains in groceries has been presented in Peterborough. Study the list of prices in Rash Bros.' advertisement. dw

A HORRIBLE DISCOVERY.

A BARBER AND BUTCHER FOUND TRAFFICKING IN HUMAN FLESH.

A Sensation in Berlin—Bristol Workmaker's Winning Sympathy—Crumbles from British Employers—How Strikes are Quelled in Germany.

LONDON, Dec. 5. The Bristol workmen are claiming and obtaining sympathy from a patriotic British public as they are fighting the battle of the English laborer against foreign importation. It is generally acknowledged that the Bristol workmen is the more efficient, but the dockmasters say that he is less reliable and always awaiting an opportunity to strike at the busiest of times to the extreme aggravation of his employers and the hindrance of trade.

Another complaint of the pessimistic British employer is that the flat has gone forth from the heads of the trades union that piece work must be discontinued henceforth. Thus all British workmen are to be upon a dead level in the future, and the slow, easy-going mechanic is to earn as much as his more energetic brother. Gunmakers, the tin-plate workers, tailors, iron molders, plasterers and most of other trades have agreed to this regulation of labor, which has been introduced before in some trades, but violated after a short time. Now it is to be strictly enforced and the deliberate workman, whose feelings are invariably of a delicate nature, is to be spared the harrowing spectacle of more efficient comrades earning from 20 to 75 per cent. more than himself. What the more skilful ones think of the rule may easily be imagined. They must probably sacrifice themselves for the good of their fellows.

The impending ruin of British industries has been so often announced that the public have become heedless of the often recurring prophecies, but the present strikes are so serious, the strikers appear so obstinate and competition abroad is so keen that a great deal of anxiety is felt in quarters not usually affected.

The manufacturer abroad escapes from the troubles of his British rivals. The strike at the wooden pills at Lockenwalle, Germany, has been quelled by force. It is hard to get at exact facts, but there is little doubt that several lives were taken and that some of the leaders of the strike now in custody will suffer imprisonment for a term of years.

Since the German authorities have, in their wisdom, debarred their countrymen from cheap American meat, the worm out horse has been welcomed in the market, and it is by no means certain that a more grievous one food has not been lately eaten by unsuspicious Berliners. The police appealed to by the relatives of a large number of persons who had mysteriously disappeared at last discovered that one Bobbe, a tobacconist, had murdered and robbed his customers at convenient opportunities, dropping the bodies through a trap door. The cellar adjoined that of a meat dealer, whose goods were noted for their superior quality. I say no more on such a disagreeable subject, except that it recalls the historical trial of Sweeny Todd, the London barber, who was also provided with a trap door and a handy neighbor whose veal pies were in great demand.

TARIFF REFORM.

The Tall Sycamore of the Wabash Introduces a Resolution.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. The resolution introduced in the Senate to-day by Senator Voorhees (Dem. Ind.) declares all existing tariff taxes on foreign merchandise should be so revised, repealed or amended as to provide:

First, for the collection of a sufficient amount of revenue to pay the expenses of the Government economically administered, the principal and interest of the public debts as they fall due, and liberal pensions, but not a dollar more.

Second—For the taxation of all articles of luxury at the highest practicable rates, and for the reduction of taxes on all necessities of civilized life, such as salt, sugar, woolen goods, iron, steel and other staple commodities, to the lowest possible rates consistant with a tariff for revenue and for nothing but revenue.

Third, for the curtailment and overthrow, as near as possible, of all monopolies in trade, by the enlargement of the free list to the full extent that the same can be done without impairing and endangering the necessary revenues of the Government, having in view at all times and under all circumstances a liberal policy of trade with the people of foreign countries and the establishment of equal and exact justice amongst our own citizens, with exclusive privileges to none.

Lepine Looking for his Land.

OTTAWA, Dec. 6.—Mr. Ambrose Lepine, late secretary to Louis Riel, is here. "It is true," said he to a reporter, "That I am here to petition the government to restore to me my lands. It consists of a farm and homestead, but it is more than all that. I think the government might after this time give them back to me. They were mine before the establishment of the territory. I saw Sir Hector Langevin on Tuesday, but at present I must say nothing. I really do not think I should be wise to say anything at all. After I have my interview with Sir John Macdonald I might be able to say more but at present I must be silent. It is not true that I ever said in Montreal or any where else that I would use every lawful means to secure the restoration of the two languages in Manitoba and the west and would agitate to that end. A reporter saw me just as you do and I said nothing. Then he went away and made that up and put it down with 'Lepine said that.'

I have said nothing on that point and do not want to agitate. If the government will kindly give me back my farm and let me live there I will be contented. On the other point I am silent."

A New Mexican Romance.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Dec. 6.—A most romantic story in real life has become known through the arrival yesterday of Mrs. Dandridge Harrison from New Mexico to visit relatives. Two years ago Mrs. Harrison—then Miss Childress—was teaching school on Sand Mountain. She became the object of the affections of one of her older pupils, Jim Majors, who, failing to have his affections reciprocated, began to circulate injurious stories concerning her character. Miss Childress procured a shotgun and hunting him up demanded a retraction, which he made in the most abject terms. The facts were published at the time and attracted the notice of a wealthy mine-owner in New Mexico, who wrote her asking her to correspond with him. She paid no attention to the letter at first, as she received hundreds of letters at the time from all parts of the country, but after a few weeks she answered this letter and the result was a correspondence which has now culminated in her happy marriage.

Killed at a Crossing.

QUEBEC, Dec. 6.—The regular up train on the Intercolonial Railway last evening collided with a farmer's team while crossing the track near the St. Thomas station. The cart which was loaded with hay was hurled a considerable distance and the farmer named Ouvave Colombe pitched into an adjacent ditch. He was picked up insensible, and was carried into the station and efforts were made to revive him but he expired a few minutes after.

A Treasurer in Trouble.

WINDSOR, Dec. 6.—Special auditors Munro and Barthelber, appointed to examine into County treasurer Wright's accounts, will send in a report to-day stating that a considerable deficiency exists which the treasurer and his securities should be called upon to supply. These gentlemen arrow their willingness to do so, in case the alleged indebtedness is also reconstructed to their satisfaction, but they will have two other experts go through the accounts. The matter will probably have to be finally decided in court.

Chicago in the Van.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The World polled Congress yesterday as to the choice of a city for the World's Fair. The vote stood: Chicago 67, New York 48, Washington 36, St. Louis 22. About half of the members refuse to express an opinion.

Sir John's Illness.

OTTAWA, Dec. 6.—Sir John Macdonald continues to suffer from a bad cold. He expects to be about again in a few days. There was no session of council to-day.

Fires in the States.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Fire broke out last night in the car works at Pullman. Engines from the city and a downpour of rain aided in preventing the destruction of the shops. The flames were confined to the drying kilns and lumber supply. About $100,000 will cover the [illegible]

DIVINES ON CHURCH UNION

CLOSING SESSIONS OF THE DOMINION ALLIANCE CONVENTION.

The Church in Temperance Work has Been "A Failure and a Finale" Union of Churches in Missionary Endeavor—A Variety of Opinions.

TORONTO, Dec. 6.—The Dominion Evangelical Alliance concluded its conference in this city last night. It has not been an unqualified success. The attendance of delegates has been meagre, and the subjects discussed have certainly not been "burnuonous."

The subject of discussion yesterday was Christian Unity in its relations to Missions, Temperance and Papal Aggression. Vigorous speeches were made and animated discussions followed. In the evening the work of the alliance was ably reviewed, lessons discussed, hopeful signs indicated and farewell addresses given.

Rev. Dr. Ankiffe of Montreal was chairman at the morning session. He enlarged on the great possibilities of missions and temperance work by a united effort on the part of all evangelical denominations.

Rev. Dr. Parsons followed in the same strain. He was applauded when he stated that there is too much Pharisaism in the church. Too many preachers stood in their pulpits and preached to suit the moneybag in his pew and so, in consequence, many grand ministers were being driven into comparative obscurity because their sermons did not meet with the approval of the wealthy hearer. The enemy was gaining a strong foothold in the Christian Church, clothed in the livery of heaven.

Rev. E. K. Cressy of Montreal dealt with the temperance question. The rum power, he maintained, shrinks not from contest with the church. They have leaders, money, organization and all forces, and their whole object is triumph. The church in the temperance work is a failure and a finale—it has made no assault on the rum traffic, and has only kept up a struggling fire. Yet a united Christianity would be invincible. He would admit in this no washing of hands in innocence—that foul act was reserved for Pilate, the patroon of all the ages. The drink traffic lies between the church of the living God and her millenium.

Rev. Septimus Jones thought the solution of the problem of Christian unity would never be solved on theoretical lines. A practical effort on the part of all churches to work in the mission field, hand in hand, shoulder to shoulder and heart to heart, would in the end bring out some solution that would commend itself to reason.

Principal Grant asked how they could hope to get union in the missions to heathendom if they have it not first at home. He instanced the futile effort to bring about a union of the Japan missions, which was favored by all men in the field, but was opposed by the churches at home.

Two additional vice-presidents were appointed—Rev. Principal Barbour of Montreal, and Rev. Principal Austin of St. Thomas.

The following Executive Committee was also appointed, all residents in Montreal:

Rev. Dr. Antliff, T. E. Williams, Dr. MacVicar, Archdeacon Evans, Rural Dean Lindsay, Principal Barbour, T. LaFleur and Dr. Well, and Messrs. Warden King and Walter Paul.

Rev. A. Sutherland, D. D., occupied the chair at the afternoon session. The subject of "Christian Unity" was further discussed. Rev. A. B. Cruchet, B. A., of Montreal, opening with a masterly address on "Its Relations to Papal Aggression." Eloquently he pleaded for a charitable feeling to his countrymen, earnestly he asked the people and press of Ontario to cease to refer to the French-Canadians as benighted and lacking in intelligence.

Ven. Archdeacon Evans, M.A., of Montreal presided at the evening session. He, too, had a kind word to speak for the French Canadians. As people they are not bigoted, and there is a type of citizen among them, whose opinions are broad and whose disposition is kindness itself. It is not the laity which blocks Christian development.

Rev. Dr. Stafford reviewed the work of the convention, at the same time replying to the objections which had been raised against organic union.

Rev. William Cuthbertson of Woodstock, in an eloquent and patriotic address, confessed that he could scarcely hope for organic union.

FALSE TO HER VOWS.

A Ottawa Civil Servant's Wife Elopes with a Wandering Tenor.

OTTAWA, Dec. 6.—A rather startling story of domestic infelicity has been current in the city the last few days and rapidly gained in importance as it grew older. To-day it is confirmed. The wife of a member of the Civil Service, has, says The Free Press, eloped with a well-known "man-about-town." The lady's name is given as Mrs. Colin Campbell. Her paramour is said to be Mr. Fred. O'Connor, but his friends declare that his absence can be satisfactorily explained. They are known to have left town last Thursday.

The facts of the case given by a friend who states that he was an eye witness to most of them are as follows:

"The husband returned to the city early last week from New York where he had gone to seek medical advice. Immediately on his return he discovered that things were not what they should be at home. The climax came on Wednesday. On the evening of that day several friends were at the civil servant's house. The young Lothario on leaving for home was followed by the lady of the house. They were out at the gate of the garden rather longer than was necessary and the husband went down to see to his wife's welfare. He overheard enough unwittingly to discover the plans of the pair and saw the young man caress his wife before parting. There were other other witnesses to this also. The distracted husband implored his wife to look well before she took a step which was bound to destroy their good name and ruin their home. He prayed her for the sake of her home, honor and children and even for the sake of one little one lying in the grave to stop before too late. Remonstrances were in vain and threats only angered. The husband then procured a revolver and blinded with passion and rage attempted as a last means to save his name from shame by attacking the other party. He had sent a message to him saying, 'If you ever cross my path I'll kill you.' The husband went to the depot in search of the paramour but failed to find him. His last remonstrances were useless with his wife and the train steamed out of the station bearing her away to the arms of her partner in flight who is believed to have gone ahead. The husband, continues the Free Press account, then went back to his home. Several letters have been received in Ottawa during the last few days from the couple.

O'Connor is a gay young fellow connected with the military, fond of smoking cigarettes and entirely dependent for his living on his relations. On Tuesday last the young man did not turn out to drill and some mention was made of it as he was a regular attendant. Father's Crime. An Alleged CHICAGO, Dec. 6—In Judge Tuthill's Court George E. Wilson made a mysterious claim to a little girl called Lillie Martha Wilson, and now in the possession of Mrs. Edward Lee of No. 66 West Van Buren-street. Wilson avers that the child is the result of his illicit relations with a young girl with whom he lived on Jarvis-street, Toronto, in 1886. They came to Chicago with the child, and soon after the mother was compelled to lead an abandoned life on account of Wilson's cruelty. The mother assumed the names of Misses Clark and Lizzie Hamilton, and in June last she died at the home of Messrs. [illegible]. Before her death the mother told Mrs. Lee her history; that she had never been married to Wilson; that he wronged her and then drove her out, and requested Mrs. Lee to bring up the child. When Mrs. Lee refused to give Wilson the child he began a habeas corpus suit. Judge Tuthill heard evidence, and decided that Wilson, not being able to show that he was the father of the child, was not entitled to the girl. Mrs. Lee took the little one away with her.

The Correct Figures.

QUEBEC, Dec. 6.—It is now ascertained that Tessier majority in Rimouski is 393.

BOSTON, Dec. 5.—The total amount of insurance involved in the Thanksgiving fire, as officially reported to date, is $2,304,250.

EMIN'S LIFE IN A BALANCE.

HIS SKULL FRACTURED IN A FALL FROM A BALCONY.

All the Doctors Except Stanley's Physician Declare the Injuries Fatal—He Fell Twenty Feet—Was Terribly Bruised—Cannot be Moved for Ten Days at Least.

ZANZIBAR, Dec. 6.—Emin Pasha has met with a probably fatal accident. Being near sighted he walked out of a window by mistake and fell on his head fracturing his skull. He now lies at Bagamoyo in a critical condition. All the doctor's except Stanley's physician declare that Emin's injurious will prove fatal. Stanley's physician is hopeful of saving Emin's life, but says that under the most favorable circumstances the patient cannot be moved for at least ten days.

Emin misjudged the height of a balcony parapet, overbalanced himself and fell twenty feet. When found his right eye was closed and blood was issuing from both his ears. His body was terribly bruised.

THE BEE-KEEPERS.

Second Day of the Annual Convention—To Meet at Kookuk Next Year.

BRANTFORD, Dec. 6.—The convention of the International Beekeepers' Association, which opened here yesterday with a large attendance of delegates from Canada and the United States, was continued to-day, President Dr. A. B. Mason in the chair. Miss H. F. Bieler of Campbellford read an essay on "Beekeeping an Occupation for Women." While there might be a little of the heavy work which would require the assistance of a man, a fairly strong woman could care for from 80 to 100 colonies and such particulars as the care of the honey and preparation for market were safer in a woman's hands. An animated discussion followed, the majority of the speakers agreeing with Miss Buller. Professor Cook thought boys and girls should be allowed to keep bees and retain the profits.

R. McKnight, of Owen Sound, gave a paper on "Cellar v Outdoor Wintering." He favored indoor wintering; it was safer, cheaper and more expedient. Several speakers followed on this topic, the consensus of opinion being with Mr. McKnight, though locality was considered an important factor in this question.

Prof. Cook of the Michigan Agricultural College gave an address on the "Apparatus of the Honey Bee."

A paper on "Warm Hives. How Best Attained," by S. Cornell of Lindsay elicited a long discussion.

Keokuk, Ia., was selected at the next place of meeting.

These officers were elected: President Senator R. R. Taylor, Lapeer, Mich.; vice-president Eugene Secord, Forest City, Ia.; secretary, C. P. Dadant, Hamilton, Ill.; treasurer, Dr. C. Miller, Marengo, Ill.

At the evening session the question "Should Bee-keeping be United with some Other Pursuit?" was taken up, it being the general opinion that the occupation could be profitably combined with other work.

"Shipping the Queen" was discussed by P. H. MacPherson of Beeton and others.

NEW PHASE OF LONDON'S SCANDAL.

Young Girls, Disguised as Boys, Enticed to Hammond's Place.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—The most startling and unexpected addition to the whole wretched scandal at Cavendish-square comes to-day. It is now asserted, and the story comes on authority apparently trustworthy, that Scotland Yard was deceived in its investigation, which has resulted in involving some of the most notable of England's aristocracy. Private information place an entirely new face on the whole miserable business. It is asserted that a majority of the "messengers" who frequented and were induced for a consideration to visit Hammond's so-called club-room were not boys at all. In order to avoid suspicion and to ward off inquiry these "messengers" who visited the Cavendish-square club-house were presumably of the male sex. As a matter of fact they were girls, ranging from 11 to 14 years old, with hair clipped short, faces browned by walnut stains, and gait changed by patient and persistent practice.

"That boys were employed to visit this club-house," says the informant, "is altogether probable, but that boys alone were the victims is not true. The youngsters who first revealed the horrible secret were boys. They may or may not have known of the sex of their companions. The fact remains that the majority of the children debauched were girls. Not less than seventy members of the highest society were corrupted in this detestable business. They were systematic thoroughly so, in their methods."

DIED FOR HIS CHILDREN.

John Moddler Burnt to a Crisp in His Cabin Near Landedowne.

KINGSTON, Dec. 5.—Last night a log house situated a few miles from the village of Landedowne, and owned and occupied by John Moddler, caught fire and Moddler in his efforts to save his children sacrificed his own life. It was about nine o'clock when a cloud of smoke rushed down the stairway. Mr. Moddler saw it and sprang to his feet. He looked and saw the upper flat in his cabin in flames.

My children! My children! cried Mr. Moddler and he went upstairs with a bound. The children passed down and were saved from death. In fighting his way to the stairway a son was badly burnt about the face. Moddler's wife and children called the brave man to come back but he did not answer after he got into the middle of the flames. The flames spread rapidly and when fanned by a strong breeze did fierce work in the cabin. A number of people gathered outside and watched the conflagration. They had arrived too late to be of any service.

"There he is!" yelled someone in the crowd and the charred remains of Mr. Moddler rolled between the falling timbers and fell to the ground below. The body was burned to a crisp. The fire was started by the children while playing with matches.

SULLIVAN AND JACKSON.

Offered Fabulous Sums to Fight in British Columbia.

VICTORIA, B.C., Dec. 3—Seattle has offered $25,000 to the principals of the great Sullivan-Jackson fight, provided the discussion would come in or near that city. Several well known gentlemen of this city met last night and agreed to put up $30,000 as a purse if the fight will be arranged to come off either at or in the vicinity of Victoria. The money has already been pledged, and a portion deposited at the Bank of British Columbia as an earnest. A telegram has also been sent to the arrangers of the mill, and an answer is hourly expected.

Woolen Mills Burnt.

GLENWILLIAMS, Ont., Dec. 3.—About 4 o'clock this morning fire broke out in the woolen mills of Sykes & Ainley, formerly owned by B. Williams, totally destroying the rear building, which was used for a packing room, boiler house, picker and mixing rooms. Fortunately the main building, which was destroyed by fire about three years ago, was saved. Loss about $5000; partially insured.

The Victim of an Outrage—A Cavalry Troop Organized.

HAMILTON, Dec. 6.—On Sept. 21 Mrs. Travers an elderly woman living alone near Alberton, in Ancaster township, was the victim of a brutal outrage. Before dawn three or four men broke into the house and ransacked it for money which they supposed to be concealed there. When they couldn't find any they seized Mrs. Travers and demanded that she give up what money she had. The spirited old lady refused, whereupon they beat her and put her through nameless tortures of the most cruel description until she became insensible. Then they removed their search, found $30, and went away with it. When daylight came Mrs. Travers crawled to her nearest neighbor, Robert Mulholland. She was more dead than alive, bruised and battered, and her face and clothing covered with blood. Two men, named Burnside and Sager, were arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the outrage, but there was not sufficient evidence against them. Since that dreadful morning Mrs. Travers lingered in a precarious condition. About two weeks ago she was smitten with paralysis in the side on which she had received the most injury. She lingered until last Monday morning, when she died.

A cavalry troop, 38 strong, was organized here to-day.

George Daniels, a 16-year-old boy working in the nail factory, injured his spine by running against the corner of an iron box. His recovery is doubtful.

FUR LINED CIRCULARS

This Cut represents one of the Most Fashionable and Popular Fur-Lined Garments ever introduced for Ladies' wear, and which is becoming more popular every season. Every lady now considers it an indispensable article, and her wardrobe incomplete without one. These Garments are Lined with Mink, Squirrel, Hampster, Muskrat and Opposssum—the outside being trimmed as desired

We are at present making up a very nice line of Russian CIRCULARS, with Double Fur Fronts, some having the addition of Sleeves for ladies who have driving to do, thus enabling them to use their arms freely.

Our SHOW ROOMS are filled with the above Styles, ranging in prices from $25 to $100.

We have just turned out of our Work room 25 more of those Large BEAR BOAS, with Muffs to Match.

CANADIANS Work Too Hard!

The Result is Sleeplessness, Nervousness and a Broken-Down System, often

Ending in Insanity.

Thousands of overworked business men, worried businessworkers industrious mechanics, and tried women, in all parts of the Dominion are to-day in a terrible position. Their nerves are weak, digestion poor, head aching, and they cannot sleep, work or live in comfort. This is what fills our Insane Asylums. This is the cause of that terrible Paresis Before it is too late, use Dr. Pheips' wonderful discovery, Paine's Celery Compound. It removes the results of overwork, restores strength, renews vitality, regulates the whole system, and tones up the overworked brain and body. Do not despair, but use this wonderful remedy, and be restored to health and happiness, the same as was Mr. John L. Brodie, of Montreal, who writes: "I have great pleasure in recommending your Paine's Celery Compound. My system was run down and I was not fit for business, could not sleep well at night and was nervous. I commenced taking Paine's Celery Compound and improved immediately. I am now able to transact my business and endure any amount of excitement without bad effect."

Paine's Celery Compound can be purchased at any druggist's for one dollar a bottle. If he should not have it on hand, order direct from WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Montreal.

The South Ward School.

Now One of the Best Buildings in the Province—A Glance at the Renewed Structure.

The present year has marked an epoch in the school history of Peterborough. For a long time there has been an overcrowding of all the schools, consequent upon a steady increase in the population of the town. This year the Board of Education made a special effort to supply the demands for simpler school accommodation. The South Ward building has been increased by two large rooms, and a new four-room building erected in the North Ward. This latter is not yet completed, but the South Ward school is now almost ready for occupation in all its parts. The building's external appearance is not prepossessing, but the interior is neatly and most commodiously finished. The new wing was designed by Architect Hemsworth, and modelled to compare with the main building. Mr. James Bogue had the contract, and he has done an excellent job.

The addition was built on the south side, or rear, of the old building, but a large new doorway, with ornamental porch, on the Rubidge street side will in future be used as a main entrance for the boys, a similar doorway on the opposite side of the building being reserved for the exclusive entrance of girls. These doorways open at each end of a long wide corridor, running the width of the building, on one side of which are the doors leading into the original school and on the other to the newly acquired rooms. Wide and easy staircases ascend and descend from the main corridor to a similar hallway above and to the basement below. In this latter are the Smead-Dowd furnaces for the heating and ventilating of the whole building. The system given every satisfaction. The basement is divided in two distinct sections, for the disposition of the perfect closet arrangement which is a part of the Smead-Dowd system. From the three furnaces heat-pipes lead into each room, and a grate is also placed in the hall. The two new school-rooms are bright and cheerful apartments, each about 30x35 feet and supplied with cloak-rooms. The floors throughout are of hardwood, and when new floors of the same material are laid down in the other rooms, which have been thoroughly refitted and made "good as new," the building will be one of the most complete in the province. The wide halls and staircases are an admirable feature of the school. The wing will be occupied as soon as seats arrive, and these are expected every day. Mr. Stirling, headmaster of the school, will occupy the upper room and Miss MacLennan the lower one.

In the spring walks will be laid down and the fences taken away, and the grounds placed in some sort of order.

Chandos.

From Our Own Correspondent.

BURNED TO THE GROUND.—Mr. Thomas Thompson's house, on lot No. 3, in the 9th concession of Chandos, was burned on Saturday night. He awakened and smelt smoke, and rose and went up stairs. There was no fire about the stove or pipes, and he went out doors. There he saw the fire was in the centre of the house. He ran and got a ladder and some water, but the fire was advanced so he could do nothing. He only succeeded in carrying out a few things from the house. He had his cellar well supplied with cabbage, potatoes, carrots, etc. His stove and everything else heavy are gone. Mr. Thompson is a man about 60 years of age, and came from Melbourne, Australia, two years ago last March, purchasing the farm he lived on from Mr. Allen, gunsmith, of Peterborough. He never married, and lives alone. He is a good neighbor, and very industrious. He has cousins in Peterborough. It is well he was not burned in his bed. There has been several malicious acts committed recently in this neighborhood. There should be a magistrate appointed in this settlement.

Stewart's, Otonabee.

Not long since, as one of our young men was returning from Peterborough with two young ladies, he thought he would drive around by Ashburnham. The train from Lakefield came along as they were near the track and the horse started off at a pace that would surprise Morgan's Mayflower. However, our hero hung on to the lines and got the horse down to a slower gait, and after gathering up hats, umbrellas, etc., the trio started for home, which they reached without any further mishap.

The members of the River Road Union Sabbath school are making preparations for a Christmas tree and entertainment to be held on Monday evening, Dec. 23rd. Those south of the school meet on Monday night, and the rest on Tuesday night.

A committee has been formed for the purpose of erecting a hall in this neighborhood, and as the right men have it in hand, we expect to see a fine building up before another year has rolled around.

Keene.

The Keene Curling and Skating Rink Co. are getting the rink in order and are calculating on a prosperous season.

The Methodist Sunday School purpose holding their annual Christmas tree concert on Christmas evening. Come one, come all.

A number of stolen goods were discovered in an old house adjoining the tannery on the Keene mill property, among which was John Comrie's overcoat and Mr. Duncan's rug, both of which were stolen from their buggies in Mr. Gall's shed.

Fraserville.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

New weigh scales, for waggons and other big weights, are being erected opposite Reynold's hotel. They will be a convenience for the farmers.

We now have two lights at the station.

Mrs. Sanderson is improving.

There is a party here buying potatoes at 40c a bag for shipment.

SHORT AND SWEET, BUT TRUTHFUL.

An Honest Offer that all can Plainly Understand, and that People can Respect and put Confidence in.

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 22nd, 1889.

GENTLEMEN:—

We want to say a few words to you just now. They will be plain and to the point; better still—they will be truthful, and therefore worth reading:—

1st.—We have a large stock of brand new tailor made Overcoats for Men and Boys. They are made of honest cloth, well sewed, and stylishly got up, and will fit and wear as well as if you left your measure—not the kind they make up for bankrupt stocks.

2nd.—You can have your pick of any of these Overcoats for Less Money than you can buy a similar coat that may be offered to you by any other dealer in Ontario.

3rd.—You are at liberty to look through all the stores in Town and then come to the City Clothing House where we will undertake to Clothe You Properly with a Better Overcoat, at a Less price than any bona fide offer that may have been made to you.

4th.—We will, likewise, agree to make the same offer hold good for Suits of Clothing, Coat, Pants or Vests, and include Scotch and Canadian Woollen Underwear in the bargain.

5th.—If you want to have your Measure for a Suit or Overcoat, the same offer holds good in this department also.

6th.—This offer will stand until the middle of January, 1890, when we expect to have clothed every man and boy who intends buying clothing this winter, who is shrewd enough to know the difference between wool and shoddy. We mean business.

Respectfully yours,

M. LeBRUN & CO.

DONOHOE'S DOUBTS.

The Defender of Kunze and O'Sullivan Talks to the Jury.

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—When Judge McConnell's court opened this morning, Mr. Donohoe, counsel for O'Sullivan and Kunze, began his address to the jury. He first took up Kunze's case, arguing there was no apparent reason why he should conspire to kill Cronin, and that the identifications of him were incomplete and indefinite.

Mr Donohoe then took up the case of O'Sullivan, and discussed the alibi evidence from various points of view, drawing the conclusion that it was incontestibly proved that O'Sullivan could have had nothing to do with the murder.

The speaker then reverted to the case of Kunze, pointing out as evidence of innocence the fact that though he anticipated arrest he did not run away, and declaring that it was not shown that Kunze knew anything of the defendants except Coughlin and O'Sullivan prior to the murder.

Mr Donohoe then read from legal works a definition of the term "reasonable doubt" and a number of decisions touching circumstantial evidence. Taking up the question of O'Sullivan's contract with Cronin, the speaker read decisions touching criminal intention. This was to show that this circumstance could not be turned against O'Sullivan, because it had not been proved that O'Sullivan's intention was to use the contract to bring about Cronin's death. O'Sullivan, said Mr. Donahoe, had no motive to commit this crime; he was not at odds with Cronin; Cronin never did anything to harm him; the absence of a motive must be taken into the account when making up the judgment. The contract was made openly and O'Sullivan freely confessed it and told all about it to whoever asked, even after the murder.

Mr Donohoe paid his compliments to The New York Herald correspondent Clancy, saying Clancy had overacted the part when he imitated on the stand the trembling and nervous hesitancy of O'Sullivan when Clancy urged him to go to the station to identify Cronin's body. The speaker argued that nervousness and hesitancy were no evidence of crime. They were merely matters of temperament. Two or three times during his speech Mr. Donohoe referred to Mr. Hynes of the prosecution in denunciatory or sarcastic terms.

At the close of his address the court adjourned

BLACK INGRATIUDE.

John Turnbull, Sleeman's Agent, Skips With Boodle.

GUELPH, Dec. 4.—"Ingratitude, thou art the vice of slaves," is an old axiom, but never was it more truly demonstrated than in the case of John Turnbull, who has just crossed the border after robbing his employer.

Turnbull has been employed for many years by George Sleeman as a traveller for his brewery. Some time ago he stole a sum of money, running up into the thousands, from his employer, but he was forgiven on that occasion and kept on at his post. He has now rewarded the kindness in a most singular way.

He left here for the west on his usual trip on Nov. 11, going direct to Chatham. A pigeon shooting match was in progress there and Turnbull remained at that point all week.

On the 18th he went to London and remained a few days, making such collections as possible. He then went to Sarnia, where he sold his gun to a friend, and made arrangements for his flight. He packed his books and the orders he had taken and shipped them to Mr Sleeman, together with a letter stating that by the time they were received he would be in the far west. He was sorry, but there was no one to blame but himself."

Mr Sleeman at once sent a traveller over the route, and so far it is learned that Turnbull has collected between $300 and $400. He could not possibly have obtained over $700 or $800, but it is not likely that he secured that much.

Mr. Sleeman says that if the man returns to the city he will prosecute him for his peculations.

"ONE MAN, ONE VOTE."

Declared for at the Manchester Meeting—Abolition of Certain Taxes.

MANCHESTER, Dec. 14.—At the Liberal Federation to-day a resolution was adopted to demand urgency at the coming session of Parliament for a bill embodying the "one man, one vote" principle. Resolutions were also adopted favoring a shortening of the duration of Parliament, a reduction of the period of residence enabling a man to vote to three months, compulsory powers to acquire allotments, the abolition of the duties on tea, coffee and cocoa, a direct popular vote on the liquor traffic and the disestablishment of the Church of England.

Mr Gladstone was given a non-partisan reception in the Town Hall. He made an address, in which he dilated upon the value of municipal institutions as among the best guarantees of social security. This, he said, was demonstrated by the improvement they have effected in the life and condition of the great masses of people.

The Peanuts Duty Should Come Off.

ROME, Dec. 4.—The Riforma commenting on President Harrison's message expresses a hope that the question of a well-nigh prohibitive duty upon art works imported into the United States may be solved in conformity with Italy's just wishes.

Mousa Bey's Acquittal.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 4.—Mousa Bey has been acquitted of the charge of incendiarism, pillage and murder by a majority of the court, and of robbery by a unanimous decision. When liberated he distributed money and food to the poor. Some Armenians who had been his victims in their own country have arrived here with the intention of bringing other charges against him. The verdict is generally criticised as not in accordance with the facts.

Prince Duleep Denies It

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 2.—The handsome Indian Prince Duleep Singh sends a note to a local paper denying the report of his engagement to Miss Jennie Turnure, of New York. The report probably arose from the fact that his highness recently sent Miss Turnure a handsome present.

United States Items.

Ten persons were injured in an accident last night at the Midland crossing on the Indianapolis and St. Louis railway at Paris, Ill.

William Herrick, aged 70, father of Rev. H. N. Herrick, president of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was found dead in his stable at Fort Wayne, Ind., behind his horse's feet yesterday. It was thought that he was kicked to death.

The steamer Atalanta from West Indian ports arrived at New York yesterday with the chief officer and fourteen men of the steamer Edith Goddeur, which foundered at sea Nov. 20.

Probably the Greatest Word Painter Living.

An American paper says of the eloquent Chicago divine who lectures in Bradburn's Hall on Tuesday evening, Dec. 17th, "Above the greatest word painters on both sides of the sea we set Dr. McIntyre, of Chicago." Plan of hall now open at Stratton's Bookstore.

Peculiarities of the Hair.

There are times when all persons require to pay some particular attention to the hair. To reinvigorate the life or energy of the roots is a simple matter if taken in time. Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic will do the work, it works in accordance with nature, supplies fresh nourishment to the glands keeping the hair luxuriant and natural in shade. Be sure to get, you cannot afford to miss it. Every druggist sells it. It is money well spent. See Dorenwends advertisement in another column.

Joy in Jasper

I CAN recommend Burdock Blood Bitters as a sure cure for scrofula. I had it for four years, and was so bad at one time that I was almost a solid sore. I commenced taking B.B.B. last summer, have taken three bottles, and am entirely cured now.
2w49d MISS ELLEN FITE, Jasper, Ont.

For Frost Bites

THERE is no better remedy for frost bites, chilblains, and similar troubles than Hagyard's Yellow Oil. It also cures rheumatism, lumbago, sore throat, deafness and pain-pain and pain generally. Yellow Oil is used internally and externally. 2w49

SICK HEADACHE caused by excess of bile or a disordered stomach is promptly relieved by using National Pills. dw

Yes, he loves you now, 'tis true
Lies with eyes of violet blue,
Lips as sweet as honey dew,
Bonny little bride!
Will he love you as to-day,
When your bloom has fled away,
When your golden locks are gray—
Will his love abide!

Yes, if it is the true kind it will survive all the inevitable wastes and changes of life. But, it is every woman's desire and duty to retain, as long as she can, the attractions that make her charming and beloved in youth. No one can keep her youthful bloom or equable temper if weighed down and suffering from female weakness and disorders. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a remedy for these troubles. Sold by druggists

What is Wanted

IS something that will make a man sleep well, eat well and rise in the morning refreshed and strong with none of the worn out tired feeling sure to be found where constipation, dyspepsia or diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and blood exists. Burdock Blood Bitters meets every indication expressed above 2w49

Nerviline. What is it?

Nerviline is a combination of the most powerful pain relieving substances known. Nerviline is not a nostrum, but preparation which has received from members of the medical profession, clergymen, the press, and others most athusiastic endorsation. If suffering from pain of any kind, external or local, give Nerviline a trial. Nerviline cures toothache, cramps, neuralgia, and almost instantly. Trial bottles 10 cents, large bottles 25 cents, at druggists and dealers everywhere 6dw49

Important to Workingmen.

ARTIZANS, mechanics, and laboringmen are liable to sudden accidents and injuries, as well as painful cords, stiff joints and lameness. To all thus troubled we would recommend Hagyard's Yellow Oil, the handy and reliable pain cure for outward or internal use. 2w49d

The Best Ever Made.

GENTLEMEN,—My trouble was heart disease and dyspepsia, but I took two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters and one of Burdock Pills and got well. I never felt better in my life. My brother has also tried B. B. B. and thinks it a splendid medicine.
2w49d MRS. JNO. EARLY, Hamilton, Ont.

This cold weather makes one think of heavier clothing. While this thought is occupying your mind, think of Kidd's great sacrifice of winter overcoats at 372 George street. dw

There is no one article in the line of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. dw

AS A TONIC and relief to sufferers from neuralgia, dyspepsia, loss of appetite and general debility, Dyer's Quinine and Iron Wine is highly recommended. W. A. Dyer & Co., Montreal. 6d122

Day and Night

During an acute attack of Bronchitis, a, ceaseless tickling in the throat, and an exhausting, dry, hacking cough, afflict the sufferer. Sleep is banished, and great prostration follows. This disease is also attended with Hoarseness, and sometimes Loss of Voice. It is liable to become chronic, involve the lungs, and terminate fatally. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral affords speedy relief and cure in cases of Bronchitis. It controls the disposition to cough, and induces refreshing sleep.

I have been a practicing physician for twenty-four years, and, for the past twelve, have suffered from annual attacks of Bronchitis. After exhausting all the usual remedies

Without Relief,

I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It helped me immediately, and effected a speedy cure.—G. Stovall, M.D., Carrollton, Miss.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is decidedly the best remedy, within my knowledge, for chronic Bronchitis, and all lung diseases.—M. A. Rust, M. D., South Paris, Me.

I was attacked, last winter, with a severe Cold, which, from exposure, grew worse and finally settled on my Lungs. By night sweats I was reduced almost to a skeleton. My Cough was incessant, and I frequently spit blood. My physician told me to give up business, or I would not live a month. After taking various remedies without relief, I was finally two bottles of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I am now in perfect health, and able to resume business, after having been pronounced incurable with Consumption.—S. P. Henderson, Shasburgh, Penn.

For years I was in a decline. I had weak lungs, and suffered from Bronchitis and Catarrh. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral restored me to health, and I have been for a long time comparatively vigorous. In case of a sudden cold I always resort to the Pectoral, and find speedy relief.—Edward E. Curtis, Rutland, Vt.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Bronchitis. The physician attending me became fearful that the disease would terminate in Pneumonia. After trying various medicines, without benefit, he finally prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved me at once. I continued to take this medicine a short time, and was cured.—Ernest Colton, Logansport, Ind.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

The Great Power of a Little Money.

A little money goes a great way at the great Christmas Sale of Dry Goods of M Sullivan & Co., which began last Saturday. The Stock must be reduced, and at the sale the biggest kind of inducements are offered to effect this result. Low prices are the rule in every department, and as the goods are all first-class, the customer gets the most astonishing bargains. Those who have patronized this sale are delighted with their purchases—they never know before what a wonderful purchasing power a dollar could have with low prices and tip-top goods. Don't let this sale escape your memory or you'll let the biggest chance of bargains of the day escape you. dtf

Pain from indigestion, dyspepsia, and too hearty eating, is relieved at once by taking one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after dinner. Don't forget this. dw

The Feast of Days.

An entertainment, under this title, will be held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Charlotte street Methodist church, in the premises formerly occupied by Munro's biscuit works, kindly loaned for the occasion by Mr. Brooks, on Thursday and Friday, Dec. 12th and 13th. This novelty in the form of an entertainment will be sure to be very attractive to the public. Dinner and tea will be served both days, and articles suitable for Xmas presents will be on sale both days. dtf

Great Chance for the Public.

At this season of the year the public will be interested in knowing that great bargains in groceries can be obtained at Rush Bros.' grocery store. Turn to their advertisement and you will see that a great cash sale is now going on. Goods are cut down to the finest kind of price, and the goods are all of high class quality, and no better chance of securing bargains in groceries has been presented in Peterborough. Study the list of prices in Rush Bros.' advertisement. dw

"Dr. McIntyre's 'Wyandotte Cave' lately made one's blood stand still." Plan of seats for this great lecture now open at Peterborough Bookstore.

Rousing Value.

10 lbs. bright sugar and 4 lbs. of fine tea for $2. Everyone who has tried our teas say they never have had such value as we are giving. Why? Because we buy in large quantities and pay the cash. We are bound to sell and will sell at close profits. Flour and all kind of meal kept in stock and will be sold cheap. Make no mistake, this is the store to deal in. The wholesale and retail trade supplied on short notice, at the Red Tea Store, 321 George street.

Do not procrastinate but purchase one of Kidd's overcoats now being sold at 25 per cent less than wholesale cost. dw

Our Increasing Population.

According to the last month's registration of births, deaths and marriages, Peterborough's population shows a cheering rate of increase. Just note—24 births to 5 deaths—nearly five to one, and, to five deaths, ten marriages, with all their population probabilities. This rate of increase is nothing to the popularity of hawley bros'. superb teas and fragrant coffees. The finest brands grown, freshly imported, at the lowest prices. dw

The New Industry.

Mr. Thos. Brooks yesterday received a telegram stating that the Chicago men expected here to-day in connection with the negotiations for the establishment of an electric light carbon works, will not be able to leave till next week. However, the postponement of their visit will not retard the negotiations. Mr. Brooks has full power to act, and as soon as the special meeting of the council is called arrangements will probably be closed up

There's Money in the Country.

To hear some people talk one would think that money was a scarce article, but bless you, there is always money fourthcoming when the proper inducements are offered. Take the great sale of dry goods now going on at Hackett's store. The stock must be cleared and business wound up by the 1st of January. Everyone knows this; they know that the bargains offered are genuine. Despite the large quantity sold there is a big lot yet to go. The store is 125 feet deep and was crammed with this season's new goods. Here's your chance. Everything being sacrificed to clear. Store crowded with buyers who recognize that this is a chance that occurs only once in ten years. All accounts must be settled by January 1st and the business wound up. Come and buy.

Athletic Meeting.

The adjourned meeting of the Bicycle Club was held last night to receive the report of the committee which was appointed at the last meeting for the purpose of canvassing for membership at the Snowshoe Club in connection with the club. They reported that they found the desire so great for club rooms on a larger scale than was contemplated in connection with showshoeing, that it would be perhaps better to call another meeting and have a full expression of opinion of those interested. After a number of members had expressed their views, it was moved and carried that a separate organization be formed for the purpose of encouraging winter sports and obtaining club rooms in connection therewith. A committee was then formed to draft a constitution to be submitted to a meeting to be called on Monday evening next at the hour of 8 o'clock.

Curling Matters.

A largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of the curling club was held at the rink last night. The new system which has been adopted by the club, of having skips for rinks comprising every member of the club, old or young, thus giving everyone an opportunity of enjoying regular practice, and engaging in the winter series of local matches, was discussed and unanimously confirmed. By this system the choice for first and second men on each rink is to be decided by lot, and all members who have joined by that date must be taken on a rink. The old system as far as it applies to foreign matches still holds good, except that the skips and vice-skips of the local rinks may in cases of important matches select twelve men from the club, who in turn select skips, and these skip their own rinks. A medal has also been provided for a 13 point competition among new members. The Lindsay-Peterborough challenge cup competition, according to the articles of agreement drawn up, was approved of and the Peterborough clubs' share (if the cost subscribed. The device of the Managing Committee, whereby all skips to be appointed by them to compete in foreign matches, are to be selected as soon as possible by rotation, will ensure an equal distribution of match favors.

The Nora Clench Concert.

The following criticism of the performance of Miss Nora Clench, the peerless Canadian violinist, who appears in the Opera House, Jan. 9th, 1890, is taken from the Empire, and those who had the pleasure of hearing Miss Clench since the completion of her studies in Germany say that there is not one word of exaggeration in it, if indeed it does her justice:—"But to me the fourth number on the programme that we waited expectantly—the violin solo by the young Canadienne, Nora Clench. Presently the portiere parted, and she advanced to stand before the footlights, a slender, white-robed figure, holding her violin lightly under her arm. As the welcoming plaudits subsided, soft notes sounded across the house, an interest in its stillness. With a touch most tender and sympathetic, an execution prompt yet full of delicate shading, Miss Clench interprets as only a true artist can. Beneath her touch the little instrument becomes of a verity 'the bonnie laddy' that George Macdonald loves to portray—a sentient creature, responsive to every human emotion. It made a charming picture, the graceful young girl in her robe of ivory white, standing in easy, unconscious pose before the footlights, her head drooping over her violin, while all about her blossomed fragrant, white starred chrysanthemums. As the last sweet, high tones died on the air the audience expressed most emphatically their approval of her merits as a violinist, to which, doubtless, was added their appreciation of her girlish grace."

THE CANAL COMMISSION.

Trent Valley Canal Matters Receive Attention.

THURSDAY, Dec. 5.

AFTERNOON SESSION

At about 2 p.m. the commission resumed. Mr. G. W. RANNEY, C. E., who was superintendent of the Trent Navigation waters for thirty years, gave the first evidence. He was well acquainted with the waters from Balsam Lake to the mouth of the Trent. Referring to the Peterborough-Lakefield section, Mr. Ranney, considering the matter with reference to engineer Rubidge's estimates and plans, pointed out the changes in route he would propose and detailed the saving in money thus effected. Instead of running the whole canal parallel with the river as Mr. Rubidge proposed, Mr. Ranney would, beginning, at Nassau (lot 4 con. 9) use the navigable portions for canal purposes till within three quarters of a mile of Lakefield, a distance of 4.85 miles. To make this stretch navigable, would require four locks and dams, which would also be a valuable source of water power. He went over Mr. Rubidge's estimates in detail and estimated the saving in detail as follows:—

Earth work	$ 64 717
Rock work	155 130
Mooring and Puddling	20 500
Protection of Slopes	11 250
Bridges	20 000
Diversion of Railway	11 000
Concrete	13 027

The locks his estimate proposed were like that at Whitla's, built in 1843, at cost of $45,254, with the great cost of drawing the stone from Warsaw, 17 miles. According to his, Mr. Ranney's estimate, and plan, the saving to be effected on this section was $312,353 over Mr. Rubidge's estimate, which was $1,457,314, reducing the total cost of the Lakefield section to $1,029,461. There would be no interference with mill privileges as now existing. He had no doubt of their being sufficient water supply, not only from Balsam Lake to Trenton, but from that lake north. There could be a very great additional economy of water at small expense. In case of a very large traffic being developed, he had no doubt of there being a sufficient supply. A cheaper style of masonry would have answered at Burleigh. There was no material defect in the Young's Point lock. Mr. Ranney thought the Lakefield-Peterborough section would pay commercially. It would open up a large extent of navigation.

Mr. H. T. STRICKLAND had intimate knowledge of the Trent Navigation waters. He thought there was a vast amount of water going to waste which could be husbanded for canal supply. Mr. Strickland pointed out that immense mineral deposits would be brought within a practical use by the opening of the canal, in lead, lithographic stone, granite. In shipping stone, ores and phosphates there was a very small margin and freight was a very important matter. At Lakefield there was only one railway line. If the canal were opened only between Lakefield and Peterborough, there were two competing railway lines, and consequently better freight terms. Regarding the cost of the Lakefield-Peterborough section, Mr. Rubidge had put down $250,000, whereas the original cost of construction was only $8,000.

Mr. T. CAHILL, was a thirty years resident of Peterborough and well acquainted with the waters of the proposed canal route. As to the diversion of the railway at Nassau, Mr. Rubidge's estimate of $20,000 Mr. Cahill thought was about four times too much. Mr. Rubidge's estimate for rock excavation and timber were excessive. Fifteen years ago it was thought that in one year then the railway would take everything out of the country, but that had not been the case, and the same would apply to the Lakefield Peterborough section. It would develop the resources of the northern country. There are facilities for the manufacture of lime, which is not now made from lack of cheap transport, and other industries.

Mr. STRICKLAND added to his previous evidence the great advantage that would accrue to millowners from a steady supply of water which extensive reservoirs would produce. A large extent of low land would thus be reclaimed and made fit for cultivation.

Military School.

At the meeting of officers of the 57th Battalion on Tuesday evening, arrangements were completed for the winter class for non-commissioned officers of the battalion, a sort of local "military school." As so much now depends on the efficiency of the "non-coms," this movement is the proper one to start with to raise the battalion to the position aimed at—second to none in the Dominion. The class will be limited to fifty, so that two or three of the best men from each company, recommended by their captains, can be taken in, in addition to the non-coms. Each member will be required to sign the roll and undertake to attend regularly. The class will meet on Tuesday next for organization. Books will be supplied by the Regimental Committee. The old music hall has been secured through the courtesy of Mayor Stevenson. The staff will consist of Major Edwards, Captain and Adjutant Deanistoun, Captains Brennan, Hill and Mason and Lieutenants Matthews and Stevenson. Two officers at a time will be in charge, taking the class for a month at a time, and commencing with Captains Brennan and Mason. The work first to be taken up will be squad and company drill with manual and firing exercise in which each member of the class will be expected to qualify to act as instructor. This will be followed by battalion drill, skirmishing and attack formations with special reference to the positions and duties of officers and non-commissioned officers, posting sentries, etc. Instruction will also be given in interior economy and militia law equations. This course will also offer to the junior officers of the battalion an excellent opportunity of getting up the work preparatory to going to the military school. We have no doubt there will be a full turnout on Tuesday night.

The Cobweb Party.

The young ladies of the "Y" are most ingenious in their plans to advance their cause by interesting the young men and persuading them that they cannot do better than leave some of their spare cash in the hands of their fair charmers, to be used in pursuit of the laudable objects of this branch of the W.C.T.U. Last night a deep-laid scheme was carried out, which may be followed by far more important results than are apparent on the surface. The very name, "Cobweb Party," is most suggestive. The young men may not be able to disentangle themselves from the meshes of Cupid's web, spun about them by the smiles and amiable hospitality of their charming entertainers, as easily as they unravelled the golden thread which last night temporarily decided their fate. The party was a splendid success. There were about fifty young men and maidens present, who spent a pleasant social evening. The "Cobweb" was, of course, the chief feature. The main hall was a network of glistening golden and silvery thread, inter-woven in the form of a monster cobweb. The ends of the cords were tied to a chair, and each of the young men, taking an end, followed it over, and under and through the maze of filament until he pulled up at one of the many little tables strewn about the room. This end of the thread was tied to some little ornament, and a young lady wearing a duplicate was to be his partner for the evening. Then the games began. On each table was a parlor game, and those playing worked their way either to the head table or the "booby," as luck or skill should determine. The "booby table" was a thing to be rigorously avoided. While the games were in progress impromptu music was rendered and light refreshments were passed around. Among the best of the performers was an ardent disciple of Esculapius, whose exhibition of piano pyrotechnics was loudly applauded. The "Y" netted a nice little sum as a result of the Cobweb Party.

Criminal Action.

We understand that Dr. Stephenson, V. S., has instituted criminal proceedings against Mr. W. H. Robertson, of the Times, for the publication of a paragraph in this morning's issue under the heading of "A Culpable Driver," which reflects upon Dr. Stephenson. The following is the particularly offensive portion of the paragraph complained of:—"A man who doesn't know any more about a horse than to drive him at such a rate on icy ground when not sharp-shod, does not deserve to own one at all, let alone pretend efficiency in the care of the equine race in case of injury, sickness or disease. The society for the prevention of cruelty to animals should roast such a man." The case will probably come up before the police magistrate Monday morning.

Personal.

Mr. Charles Cameron has resigned his position as agent of the Standard Life Assurance Company, of Edinburgh, Scotland, and Mr. A. V. R. Young has been appointed General Agent for Peterborough and District. November renewals will be paid to Mr. Cameron, but December and all future renewals will be paid to Mr. Young, General Agent, 379 Water street. Mr. Cameron retains a special agency of the company.

KILLED IN A COLLISION

SEVEN PERSONS LOSE THEIR LIVES IN A RAILWAY PITCH-IN.

An Extra Train Meets the Regular Passenger Train Leaving St. Albans, 9.5 at 4.10 a.m.—The Accident 51-2 Hours Later—No Full Details Received.

ROXBURY, Vt., Dec. 7.—Two trains collided on the Vermont Central railway near here last night. Seven persons were killed.

TROY, N. Y., Dec. —. At midnight last night The Telegram received special despatch saying that two passenger trains on the Central Vermont Railway had been wrecked by a collision on that road between Northfield and East Granville.

The accident was at 9.30 o'clock.

An extra train collided with the passenger train leaving St. Albans at 4.10 p.m. and which was due at White River Junction five hours later.

It is impossible to ascertain for a certainty the number of people killed and injured, and the first reports are liable to be exaggerated.

CRISP CAPITAL CHAT.

Sir John's Condition Improved—A Toronto Case in the Supreme Court.

OTTAWA, Dec. 6.—Mr Joseph Pope has been re-appointed private secretary to Sir John. The re-appointment was rendered necessary by the Premier's resignation of office. Mr. Pope now holds the dual position of deputy clerk to the Privy Council and private secretary, with salaries for both.

Sir John Macdonald was sufficiently improved to-day to be able to rise. The Council met at Earnscliffe this morning and remained in session for some two hours. It is understood that the whole time was devoted to preparation for the session.

A red book of seventy-five pages was issued to-day by Col. Walker Powell, Adjutant General, containing the regulations for the permanent corps of the active militia.

In the Supreme Court to-day the case of Hayes et al. v. Coleman was taken up. James Hughes, of Toronto, made a will bequeathing his property to his wife for life or until she married again. It was then to revert to his brother Simon Hardcastle. To his son and heir he bequeathed "one sterling shilling." Hughes died in 1845. His wife took the property but died in 1858. Simon Hardcastle having died a year earlier, the property devolved upon the son and heir who, however, did not turn up. Defendant Roberts, a former wife of Hardcastle, then took possession and in September last sold the property to Defendant Hayes. The plaintiff, Coleman, claims the property as the grantee of Philip and William Hopkins, devisees under a pretended will of Simon Hardcastle. The property is very valuable and is situated in Toronto.

This telegram, received recently by the Premier, shows the feeling in British Columbia on the Chinese question:

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 28.—To Sir John Macdonald, Ottawa. On behalf of the freeholders and electors of this city I earnestly protest against any modification of the Chinese Restriction Act. The measure is a necessary protection against a dangerous invasion of the worst form of debased Mongolian heathenism, which tends only to degrade labor and impoverish the country. THOMAS CUNNINGHAM, Member elect for New Westminister District.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Elopement in a Limited Way—How Committed—Other Events.

TORONTO, Dec. 7.—When the name of James Kew, charged with rape upon a four-year old Christina Chisholm, was called in the Police Court yesterday morning, the Magistrate decided that the evidence should be heard with closed doors. The court was accordingly cleared with the exception of the press. A number of witnesses gave evidence which was of such a nature as to render it unfit for publication. The story of the little girl, who is a very pretty child, was very pathetic as she narrated how the inhuman monster accomplished the outrage. The Magistrate decided that a prima facie case had been made out against Kew and he was committed for trial.

Yesterday morning Mr. N. G. Bigelow, counsel for the tea vendors charged with running a lottery, applied to Judge Falconbridge for a writ of certiorari to quash the conviction of the Magistrate against his clients. The writ was granted, and the case will probably be argued to-morrow.

The police are anxious to obtain some information of Charles A. Penny, a farmer whose home is in Pickering. He left Pickering for Toronto on Saturday, Nov. 30th. He transacted some business in Toronto and is supposed to have left by the Southern Division of the G. T. R. There is something mysterious about his appearance. He owns a farm at Pickering and wrote to his friends there asking them to sell his farm for him, and he would not return. Penny came to Canada from England about two years ago and learned farming. He bought a farm and had it well stocked, and no reason for his leaving can be found. Naturally his friends are anxious about his whereabouts.

A young man named William Carr, well-known to the police, had a narrow escape from being shot at an early hour this morning while he was trying to escape from a constable who was pursuing him. It appears that about eight o'clock last night John Quinn was crossing George street on the Esplanade when he was set upon and robbed of a gold watch and $30 in cash. Carr was suspected of the robbery, but he could not at the time be found. At an early hour this morning George Cobb, a watchman for the Ontario Brewing and Malting Company, saw Carr attempt to burglarize the store of Mrs. A. Cartin, 300 King street east, and the store of Charles Stobie, 298 King street east. He informed Constable Montroy, and after a short search that officer found Carr in the act of forcing open the fanlight in M. O'Connor's hotel, corner of King and Princess streets. As soon as the thief saw the officer he ran and an exciting chase ensued. At Duke street Montroy found that the fugitive was increasing his lead and was likely to escape, and drawing his revolver fired a shot. The bullet plowed up the earth close to Carr's heels, but instead of stopping Carr put on a spurt. Montroy threw aside his heavy overcoat and finally, after a hard race, ran down his man and overpowered the fugitive. At the Police Court to-day Carr pleaded not guilty to three charges of attempted burglary and one of highway robbery, and was remanded till Tuesday next.

There is a small sized sensation raging in the vicinity of John and Adelaide streets over the marriage of two young people. The one is Ernest Mann, a juvenile watchmaker, and the other is Miss Tessie Frost, daughter of W. J. Frost of 185 Adelaide street west. Mann has been sweet on the young lady for some time, and the parent, it is said, not liking the idea of his prospective son-in-law, sent him a letter forbidding him visiting the house. This so wrought the youth that he made up his mind to get square with the "old man," and accordingly he secured the aid of a gay young barber of the West End, Mr. Jun Ayre, and his wife, and they called around to the Frost mansion and asked Tessie to take a walk, which she readily consented to do. The party adjourned to the residence of Rev. Robert Bulman, a retired clergyman, and he made the young people man and wife. This is looked upon by the friends of the young people as an elopement in a limited way. There are two or three things which are now bothering the young groom and the bride. The father wishes them to be married over again by a priest, but the husband will only consent on condition that the stern parent pays the expenses of such a ceremony; he has paid one minister, he says, and he does not propose to pay for a second nuptial ceremony when the one he went through answers all practical purposes.

Of the hearty receptions which Archbishop Walsh has had during the past week none was more genuine than that given His Grace by the 60 boys of St. Nicholas institute last night.

A formal address was presented His Grace, which also stated the gratitude of the parentless boys for the shelter and the instruction they receive in the Institute.

The Archbishop addressed the lads in a free kindly, fatherly way. He gave them sterling advice and encouraging words, enforced on them the need of honesty and perseverance and the blessings of a religious life. Them he delighted them by telling them he would give them an oyster supper in commemoration of his visit and turkey for dinner on Sunday.

How the boys stared, and smiled, and laughed and cheered, and later as they ate their oysters praised their unwonted fare and the kind art that provided it.

EMIN'S CASE IS CRITICAL.

HEMORRAGE FROM THE EARS AND OTHER BAD SYMPTOMS.

He is not Advanced in Years But His Physical Condition is not Good—Some Hope Still Entertained—The African Slave Trade—And Its Suppression.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The foreign office has received a telegram from Zanzibar to the effect that Emin Pasha's skull is not fractured, and that his recovery is possible. This is thought to be the judgment of Dr. Parke.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—Stanley cables to Mr Burdett Coutts that Emin Pasha's condition is in the greatest degree critical and the German naval surgeons who have seen him declare only twenty in a hundred of such cases ever recover, this percentage including all cases of men in the vigor of life. Emin's age is not great but his physical condition is not good. In addition to other bad symptoms the hemorrhage from the ears continues and this, though it prevents the immediate formation of a large clot in the brain, menaces life by loss of strength. He is lying in the German hospital at Bagamoyo. Dr. Parke still has some hope.

LONDON, Dec. 6—In all the circles whose chief topic of discussion for the past week or more has been the rescue of Emin Bey, Henry M. Stanley and the safe arrival of the two leaders with their followers within the limits of civilization, the news from Zanzibar last night of the presumably fatal accident to Emin at Bagamoyo fell like a pall. Thousands were inclined to doubt the truth of the report, but could give no reason for believing it otherwise than true, except that their feeling revolted against accepting a tale so sad, and their hopes sought the loophole of chance that the despatches might have been hastily sent and exaggerated the gravity of the Pasha's injury.

Close upon the heels of Stanley's letter ascribing the successful march of himself and Emin, as well as his own success in reaching the pasha, to divine guidance, the news of the hard fate of the faithful governor of the last equatorial province ruled by a white man seems like mockery, and his death at this time would cause universal sorrow. Aside from the general mourning arising from the loss of a man of his personal worth, and the circumstances attending his taking off, the death of Emin would be especially lamentable in that the most valuable testimony concerning his residence in equatorial Africa and his eminent services in the cause of civilization would be lost and the vast fund of information be acquired at the cost of so much labor and privation rendered nugatory.

Much of the theoretical knowledge regarding Africa has been thrown to the winds by the expedition of Stanley, and a great deal more of it remains to be relegated to the realms of fiction by disclosures which only Emin is capable of making; therefore it is the more strongly to be hoped that his injury is not as serious as it is reported.

The testimony of Father Schinze, of the German African mission, to the magnitude of the undertaking of suppressing slave trading in Africa, is rather discouraging to the various societies, committees, associations and the like, whose occupation of late has been confined to the promulgation of arguments designed to show that abolition of the traffic is the easiest thing in the world, provided money in sums sufficient to meet their modest requirements is forthcoming, and the priest's declaration that total suppression of the trade will take centuries of hard work, will have a tendency to draw tighter the purse string of philanthropically inclined capitalists.

MADRID, Dec. 6.—Queen Isabella, being asked what she thought of the Brazilian revolution, yesterday, said: "Decidement, le bon Dieu n'est plus de notre cote." No matter what a monarch does now, it lands him as an exile on foreign soil. If he is good-natured and liberal he encourages restlessness to break out; if he is severe in repressing sedition, his harshness is made the pretext for a revolution. Do what he may, or turn where he will, he is sure to be beaten. "Spain is quiet because her sons are chivalrous and respect the young widow, whom they know to be doing the best she can. Dom Pedro was an ideal monarch. Nevertheless, revolution swept him away. But what is very rare is this: that those who dethroned him wish him well and speak of him and treat him handsomely." The ex-empress has decided to spend the winter at the villa of the Duchess de la Tourmanlourg, at Cannes, a lady who was a particular friend of the ex-empress, who feels indebted to her for her kindness when Dom Pedro was so ill last winter. The Portuguese government intends to show by its conduct, after the definite establishment of the republic of Brazil, that it selects its own form of government. It also desires to continue the part cordial relations between the two countries. Many monarchical and republican politicians of Portugal are convinced that an imperial restoration is impossible in Brazil.

From Siberia to Canada.

BERLIN, Ont., Dec. 6.—There is staying here with Mr. Allan Huber, who has just returned from Japan, a Russian going under the name of Brant, which, however, is only assumed. He escaped from Siberia, where he was in confinement for 18 years for something which appeared in a newspaper which he owned and which displeased the authorities. He is well versed in the English language, and speaks and writes it quite fluently for a foreigner. He intends to follow journalism in America, having received an offer from a well-known New York magazine, where foreign correspondent he met while in Siberia.

The C. P. R.'s Atlantic Terminus.

PORTLAND, Me., Dec. 6.—The Press says it has information from undoubted authority that Portland will be the outlet for business of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The Boston and Maine Railroad Company will erect an immense elevator on their wharf in this city to accommodate the increased business. It is said the Beaver line of steamships will be the first to take the Canadian Pacific grain from the new elevator. The latter is to be ready by next winter.

[illegible], Dec. 6.—Manager Forbes of the Boston and Maine Railway, declares there is no foundation for the report that Portland, Me., is to be an outlet for the Canadian Pacific Railway and that Mr. Forbes is to build a big elevator.

Utilizing Niagara Falls.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Dec. 6—Plans have been prepared for the construction of a tunnel from this city to Niagara Falls, through which it is proposed to conduct the water power of the latter place to this city, to be utilized as motive power for manufactories here. It will be made at a cost of $4,000,000. Articles of incorporation have been filed by the Niagara River Tunnel Company, with General Jewitt as President.

Conviction of a Murderer.

MARSHALL, Mich., Dec. 6.—George Lemoque, the man who was arrested along with the Young sisters charged with the murder of an infant in this city, has just been convicted of murder in first degree. The jury was out all night. Lemoque was perfectly cool when the verdict was announced and never flinched. Sentence has not yet been pronounced.

JEFF DAVIS IS NO MORE.

THE LEADER OF THE LOST CAUSE SLEEPS DEATH'S SLEEP.

Died at the Ripe Age of 81—No Official Recognition Will be Taken of His Death. "Rather Than Revive Memories Best Forgotten"—His Wife Still Living.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 7.—Jeff Davis is dead. Messages have been received from many points all expressive of respect for the dead and of sympathy for Mrs. Davis in her affliction.

Jefferson Davis was a soldier and a statesman of marked ability, and only lacked success to be a hero. He was however, a leader among men and the idol of the Southern people during the rebellion. He was born June 3rd, 1808, in Christian county, now Todd county, Ky. He received an academical education, and was sent to Transylvania College, Ky., which he left in 1824 to become a cadet in the military academy at West Point, [illegible] he graduated in 1828. He was in the army seven years, taking part in expeditions against the Indians. He resigned his commission in 1835, and having married a daughter of Zachary, afterwards President, Taylor, he returned to Mississippi and became a cotton planter. In 1845 he was elected a representative to Congress on the Democratic side, where he took a conspicuous part in the discussions, being a finished debater. While he was in Congress the First Regiment of Mississippi Volunteers, then enrolled for service in Mexico, elected him their colonel. He was actively engaged in the attack and storming of Monterey, and distinguished himself in the battle of Buena Vista, having remained in the saddle a long time though severely wounded. In 1847-50 he was a member of the Senate from Mississippi, where he was appointed Chairman of the Committee on military affairs and took a leading part in the debates on slavery and States' rights, defending both. In 1850 he resigned his seat in the Senate and ran for Governor of Mississippi but was defeated. In 1853 he was appointed Secretary of War by President Pierce, which he held until 1857. His record as Secretary of War was highly commendable. On his retirement from the War Department he re-entered the Senate for the term ending March, 1863. In the 36th Congress he was the recognized leader of the Democrats. Mr. Davis was a candidate for nomination for the Presidency in 1860, but failed in getting it, and in the following session of Congress he is said to have taken an active part in the conspiracy which planned the secession of the Southern States from the union. He was a leading member of the secret caucus of Senators from Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas, which met on the night of January 5th, 1861, in a committee room of the capital, and framed the scheme of revolution, which was promptly followed by the South, and he was Chairman of the Executive Committe of those appointed by the caucus "to carry out the objects of the meeting." The other members were John Slidell, of Louisiana, and Stephen R. Mallory, of Florida.

Their plan was to hasten the secession of the Southern States, of which South Carolina alone had yet openly left the Union; to call a convention of the seceded States at Montgomery; to accumulate munitions of war; to organize and equip a force of 100,000 men, and lastly to hold on as long as possible to the Southern seats in Congress, in order to paralyze the Government and to gain time for the South to arm and organize. Mississippi seceded Jan 9th, 1861, but it was not till the 21st of that month that Mr. Davis made his farewell speech in the Senate and departed for home. On Feb. 4th the Confederate Congress met at Montgomery, when he was unanimously elected "President of the Confederate States of America." He was inaugurated shortly after by Alexander H. Stephens, of Georgia. His Cabinet was composed of Robert Toombs, of Georgia, Secretary of State; Leroy P. Walker, of Alabama, Secretary of War; Chas G. Memminger, of South Carolina, Secretary of the Treasury; Stephen R. Mallory, of Florida, Secretary of the Navy; Judah P. Benjamin, of Louisiana, Attorney-General, and John H. Reagan, of Texas, Postmaster-General. The history of the war, into which the country was thus plunged, from the attack on Fort Sumter until the close of the unpleasantness, is known to every schoolboy. At one time a reward of $100,000 was offered for his apprehension, but when hostilities ended he was included in the proclamation of amnesty. Since then Jefferson Davis has been a mere historical entity in the United States, over whose head the bloody shirt has been continually waved by Northern politicians, but the leader in the Lost Cause was consistent, if not philosophical, to the last. As one after another of the men who figured prominently in the great national tragedy passes away, and those who "fit in the war" follow them, the American civil war will gradually become a mere remembrance of the united nationality.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Secretary Proctor was seen yesterday morning and was asked what course the department would pursue in regard to Mr. Davis' death. He said:—"I see no occasion for any action whatever. It would serve no good purpose that I can see. 'Tis better to let the matter rest in oblivion; sleep if it will and to relegate it to the past, than to anything that would revive memories best forgotten."

Several army officers in talking about the case, approved the Secretary's determination to ignore the matter, and said there really was no other course to take in view of the fact that the citizenship of Jefferson Davis had never been restored.

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 6.—The announcement of death of Jefferson Davis was received here with profound sorrow. Bells are tolling and Mayor Thompson has called a meeting of citizens for to-night to pass resolutions.

THE CRONIN CASE.

Hynes' Forcible Address to the Jury—Some Burning Words.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—At the opening of the Cronin trial to-day, Mr. Hynes resumed his address to the jury. He continued his examination of the defence of Beggs. He said the evidence did not show, as claimed, that Beggs was simply in the attitude of waiting, and deprecating any discussion until the report of the committee to try the triangle was made. It was not merely that Dr. Cronin was premature in his report to his camp. Beggs' objection was against uncovering the alleged frauds at all. He announced himself a friend of Alexander Sullivan and he wanted the investigation of the frauds dropped. Mr. Hynes added on this point:

"He insisted that there was no use opening old sores; that they were the enemies of Irish unity; that the men behind his, men who the power as he says here, or 'the men who are the power,' will in time realise the motives of those who are continually breathing disorder in their ranks and a day of punishment will come. I am very much discouraged as the present outlook and hope no trouble will result."

He did not mean the trouble that had been going on in the camp or discussion of it. The trouble had a more significant meaning than the mere acrimony of discussion, than debate and ventilation on the subject in the camp. People were talking to Beggs at that time about trouble. Of course in writing to Mr. Spellman he would not disclose any more than his anxiety that Spellman should take some action and as I said yesterday, perhaps the scheme was under the cover of that secret committee that had been already appointed to do its work. Who was breathing threats of trouble into the ears of Beggs at that time?

Referring to the acts of Coughlin and Beggs Mr Hynes said: These men who were determined to wreck Dr Cronin, who were determined to have his life and silence his tongue, knew they could go around and breathe suspicions in the ears of men who they felt had the possibilities of murder in their hearts, and this was the reason why Coughlin said that a confederate of Le Caron was amongst us.

Turning towards the prisoners the speaker said: "I do not know how these men have been imposed upon. I do not know what villainous means were employed for the purpose of producing the convictions in the mind of some of them that they were dealing with a British spy. We will never know the history of their purpose until some putrid conscience shows forth its pit-sphorescent light in the dark shadow of the gallows and tells the inner truth from a man about on the verge of the grave. If the men who inspired the murder of Cronin believed him a spy they would have sent him across the water, but it was not the spy the were after. They were endeavoring to cover up their own frauds.

A Wonderful Vegetable Discovery That Removes the Terrible Results of Overwork.

A True Invigorator.

Weakness and prostration of the nervous system surely follow that overwork and worry which brings sorrow and suffering to so many Canadian homes. The terrible results of nervous weakness, are seen on every hand. Pains in the back, poor and unrefreshing sleep, lack of appetite dyspepsia, and lost energy and strength, are the first symptoms of more serious and dangerous trouble. This is the way that Paralysis, Paresis and Insanity begin. Do not delay a moment longer, for some time it will be too late to regain your lost health and vitality. Use Paine's Celery Compound now, and the dull eyes will regain their brilliancy, the cheeks will grow rosy, the brain become clear, the nerves strong and steady, your sleep restful and refreshing, appetite good, and health and happiness will take the place of misery and suffering.

A. Sabiston, the well known lithographer of Montreal, writes: "In the summer of 1883 I had to work very hard, and was troubled considerably with insomnia (sleeplessness). I resolved to try your Paine's Celery Compound, and after taking the contents of two bottles, felt like a new man. A good night's rest gave me strength for the duties of the day, and instead of starting out to business in the morning feeling as if I had completed a day's work instead of being about to commence one I started out in good spirits, feeling fresh and strong. My wife and various friends, to whom I recommended the medicine, have been benefited greatly, and in fact 'Paine's Celery Compound' is a household word in our family."

A Pleasant Evening.

A Graceful Good-Bye to a Bible Class Teacher.

On Thursday evening there was a very pleasant gathering of young ladies at the rooms of Rev. Mr. Kerrick, on Hunter street. The occasion was a presentation to Miss Kirkpatrick on the occasion of her leaving town, and the necessary severance of her relations as teacher to the young ladies Bible Class of St. John's Sunday School. The following address was presented:—

DEAR MISS KIRKPATRICK:—Your pupils in the Bible Class regret most sincerely that you are about to leave them, but they trust that their loss may be your gain and that you may be as happy and contented in your new home as you deserve to be. We feel that we cannot let you go without in some way expressing our sorrow at parting with you, and our gratitude to you for your uniform kindness to and patience with us, and we hope you will accept the accompanying little token of our esteem, and that it may sometimes remind you in your new home of your loving pupils in St. John's church Bible Class.

Signed on behalf of the pupils,
Minnie Hay, Pro. Belcher,
Maude Lewis, Maggie Norton,
Birdie Belcher, Clara Cook.
Peterborough, Dec. 5th, 1889.

The address was read by Miss Hay, and the "little token," a magnificent green plush dressing case, thoroughly equipped, was presented by Miss Norton. Accompanying the elegant gift was a beautiful bouquet of cut flowers.

Miss Kirkpatrick, who had been assembly entrapped in coming to the rooms, was completely taken by surprise, and though visibly moved by the evidence she had just received of the appreciation of her pupils, returned her thanks in a few well chosen words.

Then a delightful little social programme was entered upon, consisting of refreshments, cheerful conversation, vocal and instrumental music, charades, etc. Rev. Mr. Davidson and Rev. Mr. Kerrick were present and performed the role of hosts in a pleasant paternal manner. The evening was a very pleasant one, and the entire affair passed off with great success. The committee of young ladies who greatly contributed to this success, was composed of Misses Flora Belcher, Maggie Norton, Maude Lewis and Clara Cook.

Miss Kirkpatrick, who leaves town this morning, goes to take up her residence in Petrolia. By her removal St. John's church, especially the Sunday school, loses a valued and zealous worker. Miss Kirkpatrick has been in charge of the young ladies' Bible class since last February and will be succeeded by Mrs. G. A. Smith.

Ashburnham Brevities.

Mr. A. H. Peck, town treasurer, is busy making up his annual budget to present to the ratepayers on nomination day.

Miss Bardett, of Cleveland, Ohio, is the guest of her brother, Mr. F. Bardett Elizabeth street.

At the last meeting of the school board, Tuesday night, Mr. A. H. Strike was re-appointed principal for the coming year. The staff for 1890 is as follows:—Principal, A. H. Strike, salary $550; first assistant, Miss Jennie Smith, $275; second and third assistants, Miss Lucy Stevenson and Miss Hettie Bennett, respectively, at $250 each.

The annual supper of St. Luke's Women's Auxiliary took place Thursday evening in St. Luke's school room. These suppers are always successful and this one proved quite equal to any in the past. The room was crowded from dark till ten o'clock and the tables were almost groaning under the weight of choice viands provided by the ladies of the Women's Auxiliary and of the congregation of St. Luke's generally.

Tea was served from five till after eight and the waiters were kept busy all the time while the tea was in course, the ladies not only serving the small army of hungry people but also in other apartments where a sale of fancy and useful articles was carried on. This was an attractive apartment for the ladies, particularly for the married ones and those contemplating marriage soon. The juveniles had their own special department also, the fish pond, presided over by Misses Lottie Morgan, Lily Clarke and Hettie Barnham, and the lucky tube, managed by Misses Eva Bennett and Kitty Phillips. The lucky tube is a new invention imported from the old sod, being nothing more or less than an ordinary tube filled with bran, in which are embedded articles of every description. The person wishing one of these prizes, pays his fee and thrusts his arm into the bran and whatever he extracts is his own individually and collectively, but principally collectively, as it was invariably the boys who did the drawing and as soon as the prize appeared he was arrested by half a dozen bewitching young ladies and divested of it. There was no stereotyped programme, but music was furnished without stint by a number of ladies, Mrs. E. A. Peck, and Misses Kate Calcutt and Edith Barnham were the principal performers, the music being wholly instrumental. The ladies have cause for feeling pleased over the result, a sum of over $75 being netted.

Over Twelve Years Established.

A live and well established grocery and provision business for sale. R. H. Green, on account of continued ill-health, has decided to sell his entire stock of groceries, provisions, &c., at 55c. at a bargain, to a suitable purchaser. The goods are nearly all new, well assorted and bought at the lowest possible wholesale prices. The stock, furnishings, horse, rigging, &c., will amount to about twelve hundred dollars, but will be reduced considerably within the next few weeks (if I don't meet with a wholesale purchaser in the meantime), as I am now retailing them at a great sacrifice. Parties wanting good fresh groceries, provisions, &c., for the holiday season will find it to their advantage to call before buying elsewhere, as decided bargains will be given. The goods must be sold. R. H. GREEN, corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets, Peterborough. Dec. 3rd. w47tnf

The Great Power of a Little Money.

A little money goes a great way at the great Christmas Sale of Dry Goods of M. Sullivan & Co., which began last Saturday. The Stock must be reduced, and at this sale the biggest kind of inducements are offered to effect this result. Low prices are the rule in every department, and as the goods are all first-class, the customer gets the most astonishing bargains. Those who have patronized this sale are delighted with their purchases—they never know before what a wonderful purchasing power a dollar could have with low prices and tip-top goods. Don't let this sale escape your memory or you'll let the biggest chance of bargains of the day escape you. dtf

There's Money in the Country.

To hear some people talk one would think that money was a scarce article, but bless you, there is always money forthcoming when the proper inducements are offered. Take the great sale of dry goods now going on at Hackett's store. The stock must be cleared and business wound up by the 1st of January. Everyone knows this; they know that the bargains offered are genuine. Despite the large quantity sold there is a big lot yet to go. The store is 100 feet deep and was crammed with this season's new goods. Here's your chance. Everything being sacrificed to clear. Store crowded with buyers who recognize that this is a chance that occurs only once in ten years. All accounts must be settled by January 1st and the business wound up. Come and buy. d126-w49tf

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites

is sold all over the world. It is far superior to Plain Cod Liver Oil, palatable and easily digested. Dr. Martin Miles Stanton, Bury Brooks, England, says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion, and taken it myself. It is palatable, efficient, and can be tolerated by almost anyone, especially where cod liver oil itself cannot be borne. Sold by all Druggists, 50c. and $1.00. w65eod

Sleepless Worry

Baby one Solid Rash

Ugly, painful blotched multitude—no rest by day, no peace by night—doctors and all remedies failed—Tried Cuticura—Effect marvellous—Saved his life

Cured by Cuticura.

Our eldest child, now six years of age, when an infant six months old was attacked with a virulent, malignant skin disease. All ordinary remedies failing, we called our family physician, who attempted to cure it; but it spread with almost incredible rapidity, until the lower portion of the little infant's person, from the middle of his back down to his knees, was one solid rash, ugly, painful, blotched, and malicious. We had no rest at night, no peace by day. Finally we were advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. The effect was simply marvellous. In three or four weeks a complete cure was wrought, leaving the little sufferer person as white and healthy as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion, your valuable remedies saved his life, and to-day he is a strong, healthy child, perfectly well, no repetition of the disease having ever occurred. G.F.C. B. SMITH.

Boy Covered with Scabs.

My boy, aged nine years, has been troubled all his life with a very bad humor, which appeared all over his body in small red blotches, with a dry white scab on them. Last year he was worse than ever, being covered with scabs from the top of his head to his feet, and continually growing worse, although he had been treated by two physicians. As a last resort, determined to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and am happy to say they did all that I could wish. Using them according to directions, the humor rapidly disappeared, leaving the skin fair and smooth, and performing a thorough cure. The CUTICURA REMEDIES are all you claim for them. They are worth their weight in gold.

Coughs, Colds, Croup.

Allen's Lung Balsam was introduced to the public after its merits for the positive cure of such diseases had been fully tested. It excites expectoration and causes the Lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; changes the secretions and purifies the blood; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is warranted to break up the most distressing cough in a few hours' time, if not of too long standing. It contains no opium in any form and is warranted to be perfectly harmless to the most delicate child. There is no real necessity for so many deaths by consumption when Allen's Lung Balsam will prevent it if only taken in time. For Consumption, and all diseases that lead to it, such as Coughs, neglected Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma and all diseases of the Lungs, ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the Great Modern Remedy. For Croup and Whooping Cough it is almost a specific. It is an old standard remedy, and sold universally at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. The 25-cent bottles are put out to answer the constant call for a Good and Low-Priced COUGH CURE. If you have not tried the Balsam, call for a 25-cent bottle to test it.

THE CANAL COMMISSION.

Trent Valley Canal Matters Receive Attention.

This Morning's Work Mayor Stevenson Gives Evidence — He Has a High Opinion of the Utility of the Lakefield-Peterborough Section.

FRIDAY, Dec. 6th.

MAYOR STEVENSON had been a resident of Peterborough forty-six years, actively engaged in business, in grain and coal, largely. He was well acquainted with the waters. Referring to the coal trade, ten years ago the total yearly receipt of steam coal handled by him was a hundred tons; now to serve the district there were used about 6,500 tons. The cost of steam coal, f.o.b., at Buffalo was $1.60 per short ton; at Cleveland the same. The freight by water from Buffalo to Midland would be 30 cents; the freight from Buffalo to Peterborough was $1 40, while the freight per railway from Midland was $2 40 per ton. He thought that coal could be brought from Midland by canal for 75 cents per ton, and from Buffalo at a corresponding rate if the canal were in use. Coal carried past Peterborough, was shipped by Rideau canal to Kingston for 50 cents per ton, and Ottawa got its hard coal for $5.50 per ton. He pointed out how an Ottawa firm had taken a contract from the Central Bridge Works by virtue of the former having cheaper water freight. In this way these works were heavily handicapped. Barges taking down grain or timber to Montreal, would have return cargoes of raw materials for local manufacturers. He thought if the canal were constructed, the coal supply which now comes from the west would come from the east. The reduction of freight would admit of this being done. Coarse salt for curing purposes came from England and canal carriage would reduce its price. Coal could be brought from Cleveland to Midland and to Peterborough by canal for $1 05; whereas it cost now from Buffalo where the price is the same as at Cleveland, $1.40. The canal would thus reduce the price of coal 35 cents per ton. Mr. Stevenson said if the canal were open he would bring Nova Scotia coal by way of Trenton, and Cleveland coal by way of Midland. Return cargoes in both cases would reduce the cost of freight greatly. The local benefits to be derived from the canal would be enormous. Our immense water power facilities, would be developed and immense quantity of coal would be required. As an example a few years ago, the quantity of coal used was not a hundred tons, now the consumption was, hard and soft coal, was about 30,000 tons. The canal would develop the building stone industry greatly. If the canal were in use all the stone required for building purposes in Peterborough would be brought from the back country, and not imported as at present. The wood industry would be developed. The opening of the Peterborough section would be of immense advantage to this district. Having regard to the portions of the canal already built, Mr. Stevenson regarded the Peterborough section as by far the most important in the route.

Mr. J. P. DUNN, local station agent of the C. P. R., stated in answer to a question that the rate freight for grain from Peterborough to Montreal was 15 cents per 100 lbs; on lumber the rate was 7 cents per 100 lbs to Toronto. A 1000 feet of dry lumber was 2700 lbs, or $3 37½ per 1000 feet for lumber to Montreal at 12½ per 100 lbs. The distance to Montreal is 265 miles. The rate on grain to Montreal is 15 cents. The charge on wood from Havelock to Peterborough is $1.10 per cord. The rate on coal from Buffalo to Peterborough is a $1.30 per ton in summer and $1.50 in winter, the difference presumably being caused by water competition. The rate on pig iron from Montreal to Peterborough is 12 cents per 100 The rate from Montreal to Toronto for pig iron is 12 cents and perhaps 2 cents lower in summer.

Mr. W. H. MALDRUM of Messrs. Maldrum & Davidson, millers and wheat importers, said the firm got about 100,000 Northwest wheat per year—would use more if they had cheaper transportation. In winter it comes by C.P.R. via Carleton Place; in summer by C.P.R. and water to Owen Sound. They buy wheat cheaper delivered by shippers; they get better freight rates—ship more largely. St. Catherines gets better freight rates for flour to Montreal—23 cents; from Peterborough, 30 in summer and 35 in winter, owing to water shipping. If we had the canal we should ship our flour by that route. As a matter of fact there is no competition between the two railways here. The canal would boom the milling interest more than anything else. We could get a bill of lading through to Montreal, grind and ship the flour on same bill of landing. Was familiar with Erie Canal, thought the towing capacities of the T. V. C. far superior. Freight rates to Montreal were 30 cents in summer and 35 cents in winter. Didn't think that the railways would "squeeze" shippers on winter rates that had used canals in summer—they had always treated them fairly. If the canal were built as a whole the greater bulk of Northwest grain would come this way. This route would not affect the Northwest grain route. Even lake port mills, say Deseronto, prefer to get their grain via upper lakes, and by rail from Owen Sound, to sending it around by Welland Canal. Didn't know of a single bushel of Manitoba grain by Welland Canal. St. Catherines had a saving in freight of 13 cents per barrel of flour, because of water carriage. He had no doubt the advantage to the country, present and prospective of the Trent Valley Canal, would fully compensate for a cost of ten millions.

R. C. STRICKLAND, millowner and manufacturer of lumber, Lakefield, was the next to give evidence. The great point, he thought, was keep the lumber trade in the country. Now the great bulk of northern lumber went via Tonawanda and New York. The route by canal would be a saving of fully one half in freight. Enough would be saved in the lumber trade alone in five years to cover the cost of the canal. It would be of immense advantage to Montreal. Lumber could be shipped by canal at a third of what it could be sent by rail for. This route would take every stick of timber to Montreal. His firm would have saved $3,000 on a bill of half a million feet supplied Ogdensburgh this summer if the canal could have cut down rates from $2 to 75 cents, as it would have done if it had been built. Thought the canal would be of incalculable benefit to this county in the development of unbounded mineral resources. The future output of hardwood from the northern country would be as great as the past output of floatable lumber had been. Mr. Strickland emphatically declared that it was the duty of the government to pledge itself (again) to the speedy construction of the canal. The Young's Point lock was good enough. Think 23 feet (wide) locks sufficient. The canal would not affect the mills so as to create grounds for claims for compensation. The mountains of stone in the northern part, the best of monumental, equal to Aberdeen, granite for curbstones, and beautiful white marble, were practically useless unless by an outlet by the canal.

To the Public.

Our aim has been and will continue to be to give the consumer the highest grade of goods consistent with prices charged. We do not manufacture so-called cheap cigars; fine goods are our specialty. Purchasing only the best of tobaccos, irrespective of price, we are in a position to manufacture as fine a class of goods as can be obtained anywhere; Havana not excepted. Insist upon having our well known brands, "Cable," "El Padre" "Mungo," and "Madre E Hijo," and thereby obtain full value for your money. The immense sums expended in introducing our goods, the exceptionally fine quality of tobacco used in their manufacture, and the labor of nearly half a century should convince the most skeptical that the quality of same will not be allowed to deteriorate. me

Probably the Greatest Word Painter Living.

An American paper says of the eloquent Chicago divine who lectures in Brudburn's Hall on Tuesday evening, Dec. 17th, "Above the greatest word painters on both sides of the sea we set Dr. McIntyre, of Chicago." Plan of hall now open at Stratton's Bookstore.

Joy in Jasper.

I CAN recommend Burdock Blood Bitters as a sure cure for scrofula. I had it for four years, and was so bad at one time that I was almost a solid sore. I commenced taking B.B.B last summer, have taken three bottles, and am entirely cured now.
2w49d MISS ELLEN PIPE, Jasper, Ont.

For Frost Bites

THERE is no better remedy for frost-bite, chilblains, and similar troubles than Hagyard's Yellow Oil. It also cures rheumatism, lumbago, sore throat, deafness and soreness and pain generally. Yellow Oil is used internally and externally. 2w49d

Yes, he loves you now, 'tis true
Lass with eyes of violet blue,
Lips as sweet as honey dew.
Bonny little bride!
Will he love you so to-day,
When your bloom has fled away,
When your golden locks are grey—
Will his love abide?

Yes, if it is the true kind it will survive all the inevitable wastes and changes of life. But, it is every woman's desire and duty to retain, as long as she can, the attractions that make her charming and beloved in youth. No one can keep her youthful bloom or equable temper if weighed down and suffering from female weakness and disorders. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a remedy for these troubles. Sold by druggists. c

What is Wanted

IS something that will make a man sleep well, eat well and rise in the morning refreshed and strong with none of the worn out tired feeling sure to be found where constipation, dyspepsia or diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and blood exists. Burdock Blood Bitters meets every indication expressed above 2w49d

Nerviline. What is it?

Nerviline is a combination of the most powerful pain relieving substances known. Nerviline is not a nostrum, but preparation which has recieved from members of the medical profession, clergymen, the press, and others most athusiastic aformation. If suffering from pain of any kind, external or local, give Nerviline a trial. Nerviline cures toothache, cramps, neuralgia, and almost instantly. Trial bottles 10 cents, large bottles 25 cents, at druggists and dealers everywhere 6dw49

Important to Workingmen.

ARTIZANS, mechanics, and labouringmen are liable to sudden accidents and injuries, as well as painful cords, stiff joints and lameness. To all thus troubled we would recommend Hagyard's Yellow Oil, the handy and reliable pain cure for outward or internal use. 2w49d

The Best Ever Made.

GENTLEMEN.—My trouble was heart disease and dyspepsia, but I took two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters and one of Burdock Pills and got well. I never felt better in my life. My brother has also tried B. B. B. and thinks it a splendid medicine.

Day and Night

During an acute attack of Bronchitis, a ceaseless tickling in the throat, and an exhausting, dry, hacking cough, afflict the sufferer. Sleep is banished, and great prostration follows. This disease is also attended with Hoarseness, and sometimes Loss of Voice. It is liable to become chronic, involve the lungs, and terminate fatally. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral affords speedy relief and cure in cases of Bronchitis. It controls the disposition to cough, and induces refreshing sleep.

I have been a practicing physician for twenty-four years, and, for the past twelve, have suffered from annual attacks of Bronchitis. After exhausting all the usual remedies

Without Relief,

I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It helped me immediately, and effected a speedy cure.—G. Stovall, M.D., Carrollton, Miss.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is decidedly the best remedy, within my knowledge, for chronic Bronchitis, and all lung diseases.—M. A. Rud, M. D., South Paris, Me.

I was attacked, last winter, with a severe Cold, which, from exposure, grew worse and finally settled on my Lungs. By night sweats I was reduced almost to a skeleton. My Cough was incessant, and I frequently spit blood. My physician told me to give up business, or I would not live a month. After taking various remedies without relief, I was finally two bottles of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I am now in perfect health, and able to resume business, after having been pronounced incurable with Consumption. S. P. Henderson, Saulsburgh, Penn.

For years I was in a decline. I had weak lungs, and suffered from Bronchitis and Catarrh. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral restored me to health, and I have been for a long time comparatively vigorous. In case of a sudden cold I always resort to the Pectoral, and find speedy relief.—Edward E. Curtis, Rutland, Vt.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Bronchitis. The physician attending me became fearful that the disease would terminate in Pneumonia. After trying various medicines, without benefit, he finally prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved me at once. I continued to take this medicine a short time, and was cured.—Ernest Colton, Logansport, Ind.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

Rentley's Holiday Opening.

A large throng of visitors accepted the invitation of Mr. C. B Rentley, the popular toy and fancy goods dealer, George street. Yesterday afternoon and evening there were hundreds of delighted visitors inspecting and admiring his immense stock of holiday goods. Samples of these in countless variety confronted the visitor at every step and from every point of view. The first floor did not by any means contain the whole supply. The same bewildering condition of plethoric display applied to the second and third floors. To think of enumerating would be like counting a handful of fine sand. Every sort of toy and device dear to the childish heart, or appealing to the admiration of adults, was represented in endless variety. Everybody was loud in praise of the completeness of the splendid stock of holiday goods which Mr. Rentley presented.

"Dr. McIntyre, of Chicago, is the finest speaker on this continent." Reserve your seats for his greatest lecture "Wyandotte Cave," at the Peterborough Bookstore.

Charlotte street Church.

A meeting of the Quarterly Board of the Charlotte street Methodist church was held on Friday evening, Rev. S. J. Shorey, pastor, in the chair. The current accounts of the recording stewards were audited and found correct. The following were elected stewards:—Messrs. Geo. A. Cox, James Stevens, W. Clarkson, A. L. Davis, Robt. Nail, James Ross, Wm. Brownscombe. The representatives to the Sunday School appointed were, Messrs. A. L. Davis and Felix Brownscombe. A motion by Mr. Stevenson, seconded by Mr. Clarkson, inviting Rev. Mr. Shorey to remain another year as pastor of the church was adopted by an unanimous standing vote. This is an expression of confidence which must be very cheering to Rev. Mr. Shorey, and tend to strengthen his hands for the work in which he takes so deep and earnest an interest.

The Teachers' Trip.

The teachers who went to Port Hope Friday to inspect the system of school teaching in vogue in Port Hope, returned last night well pleased with their trip and much interested in what they saw of the methods of teaching school there. They were also well entertained by their pedagogic co-workers of Port Hope. An amusing mishap occurred to one of the principals of the public schools, who didn't get as far as Port Hope. He missed the train at the station here, and on returning home found the doors all locked. He rang the bell and pounded the door, but the only answer came from a timid, frightened voice within, which explained that "her husband was away in Port Hope and she wasn't going to let any one in." After a long argument the wife was finally convinced that it was not a tramp or burglar who demanded entrance, but her own angry husband, and she let him in. After the lord and master's wrath had been pacified the wife admitted that she had perpetrated a practical joke—she had seen him coming up the street in time to play the trick on him.

Health Matters.

Dr. Fife, chairman, Dr. Brennan, E. Pearce, Wm. English, Wm. Lech and T. E. Bradburn attended the meeting of the Board of Health Friday evening. Dr. Clarke, Medical Health officer, Inspector Rossel and Secretary Macdonald were also in attendance. The slaughter house nuisance was discussed and it was decided to issue no more permits to butchers, though permits already allowed were to continue as long as the parties owning the slaughter houses satisfied the claims of the health authorities. The provisions of the law regarding the keeping of pigs in the corporation is also to be enforced. The Board suggested to the town council the advisability and necessity of engaging one or more scavengers for the town. The Secretary was instructed to communicate with the Provincial Board of Health to see what steps may be taken to prevent pollution of the water in the river above the water company's works. The Board also drew the attention of the council to the deficient condition of the sewerage of the town and the unsanitary condition of the town offices. It was decided in future to hold a meeting of the Board one month after appointment.

A Denial.

To the Editor of the Examiner—

SIR,—I notice a paragraph in the Empire of to-day in connection with the visit of the deputation to Ottawa from Peterborough, stating that on account of the construction of the C.P.R. spur, that portion of the river between the railway and the west bank of the river, has become a pool of stagnant water and sewage, and is dangerous to the health of the town people. Now sir, I emphatically deny that such is the case. I have lived for nearly forty years on the bank of the so called pool, and know what I am writing about. That portion of the river referred to has never had a steadier or more even flow than since the construction of the road up the river. The only nauseous or foul matter noticeable is an oily substance which escapes into the water from the gas house.

Yours, etc.,
E. GREEN.

Peterborough, Dec. 5th, 1889.

A Protest.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR.—On behalf of the Young Women's Christian Temperance Union, I would like to say a few words through the medium of your valuable paper. Thursday evening, the 5th, an entertainment was given in our hall for the benefit of our piano fund. The committee of management had a unique design to offer, and the whole plan was conducted in a manner calculated to secure a thoroughly pleasant evening for those who wished to enjoy themselves according to 19th century civilization. Unfortunately some rude young people, (whose names we withhold out of regard for their friends) attended the gathering and behaved themselves in such a loud and boisterous style that people of gentle manners were disgusted. Fancy any one who imagines herself a young lady mounting a chair and shrieking until more than one guest felt inclined to administer a rebuke. Think of a young man who, after behaving in the rudest and most boisterous manner all evening, had the audacity to come upon the landing, and repeatedly ring the door bell of a private residence. Now, Mr. Editor, I want to say that so far from countenancing such behaviour we do most indignantly protest against it. We desire that our Association shall be an educating power in different directions and we deny that any one, for the paltry sum of 15c, or indeed for any amount of money, is entitled to scandalize our rooms, which we wish to make a safe and pleasant resort for young people of our town. This is not the first time that unpleasantness of this kind has occurred at our gatherings, but we sincerely hope it will be the last. One of our mottoes reads "Frist pure, then peaceable." We trust that in thus demanding the purity, we may be in a fair way of securing the peace also.

I am, dear sir, yours very truly,
PRESIDENT OF THE "Y"

Obituary.

The Late Rev. J. W. B. Beck, M.A.

The flag drooping at half mast on the tower of St. John's Church at mid day to-day, and the solemn tolling of the bell, gave the sad intelligence of the death of Rev. Mr. Beck, who for a third of a century had ministered within its walls. Rev. John Walton Romeyn Beck, M.A., who died this morning at the age of 61 years, was appointed rector of Peterborough in 1858 by the late Rt. Rev. Bishop Strachan, and has filled that position continuously for the thirty years that have since elapsed. During the whole of that time he was found at the post of duty, the only intermissions being brief visits to England, during the first of which Rev. V. Clementi had charge of the parish. Rev. Mr. Beck was a faithful minister, scrupulously attentive to his sacerdotal duties. He was peculiarly reticent on personal matters, and this knowledge of his character suggests that no effusive terms of eulogy would be in accordance with the sentiments he held on such a subject. For thirty years he has been associated with the religious affairs of St. John's, and through all the chances and changes of that time he has retained the high respect and veneration, not only of his own flock, but of the general community of citizens. About a year ago, through failing health, he was forced to resign active work, in a parish where he had ministered for about 32 years. That he did so with the greatest reluctance is well known to the members of his congregation, and this is further shown by the fact that in spite of feeble health, only a short time before his death, he attended the jubilee services in Toronto, in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the consecration of Bishop Strachan. Besides being rector of Peterborough, Rev. Mr. Beck was Rural Dean of Northumberland and a Canon of St. Alban's Cathedral. The funeral will be from St. John's church, on Tuesday, December 10th, at 3 o'clock p.m.

Oddfellows Anniversary.

Otonabee Lodge Commemorates its Resuscitation—A Pleasing Entertainment

Another year of progress and prosperity, the seventh on the list since resuscitation, has been added to the history of Otonabee Lodge of Oddfellows, No. 13. The anniversary was marked by an entertainment in the lodge rooms last night, which, like all its predecessors, was a gratifying success. A large committee of the members of the lodge had the preparations in hand, and every department was well managed. The entertainment took the customary form of a concert and lunch, and as usual the hall was filled to overflowing with an appreciative audience, who encored almost every number. Mr. R M. Roy, Noble Grand of the lodge, filled the chair most acceptably. The programme was very short, purposely so in order not to detain the audience too long, and a new departure was made by the singing of the National Anthem by the entire company before the first number, an overture by the orchestra, was called. The five musicians acquitted themselves most creditably. Then followed a solo by Miss Annie Dunn, "The Maid of the Mill." Miss Dunn's sweet voice is always welcome to a Peterborough audience. Miss Gray's comic reading, "Biddy's Experience," evoked a storm of applause as did also her second reading in response to an encore. The Junior Quartette, Masters McKee, Ferguson, Lewis, vicliniste, and Duff, pianist, played with a precision and skill that reflected credit not only on themselves but also their teacher, Prof. Doucet. Mr. Thos. Dunn was down on the programme for the next number, but for various reasons he was unable to sing, and the audience was consideraby disappointed in consequence. The address by Dr. R. W. Bell, Grand Master, concluded the first part. Dr. Bell briefly pointed out a few of the most striking features and advantages of Oddfellowship as a charitable organization and secret society.

During the intermission refreshments were provided in the dining room. The tables were filled twice.

The second part of the programme was opened by the orchestra in "Il Trovatore," one of the most delightful events of the evening. Miss Sophie Cameron sang "Auld Robin Gray" so well that an encore was vigorously demanded and responded to. An instrumental trio by Messrs. Butcher (flute), Dowson and McIlmoyle (violists), with Mrs. Dunford accompanying on the piano, was entitled "La Marquise." The performers executed their selection with splendid effect. A vocal quartette, Mrs. Seward, Mrs. Stapleton, Messrs. Chas. Shaw and W. R. Greatrex, sang "Good Night" at the last number on the programme. Their effort was loudly applauded and deserving of the encore it received. The audience dispersed after "Auld Lang Syne" had been sung."

The committee of Otonabee Lodge desire to thank all those who took part in the programme, as well as their brother Oddfellows who helped make the affair a success, and if their friends were pleased with the entertainment the committee are satisfied.

Lindsay Libel Suits.

The action for libel entered against the Warder and "Swipes" by Messrs. Cooper and MacMurchy have been withdrawn, the Warder having amply apologized. Mr. C. D. Barr, of the Post, is pushing his criminal action, and at the preliminary proceedings in the police court Tuesday morning Mr. Sam. Hughes, editor of the Warder, was committed for trial at the next assizes, bail being taken in $3,000. A counter action has been entered against the Post by Dr. B. P. Clarke, who writes over the pseudonym of "Swipes," who claims he was criminally libelled by the Post.

Our Increasing Population.

According to the last month's registration of births, deaths and marriages, Peterborough's population shows a cheering rate of increase. A Trio of Runaways.

Yesterday forenoon Mrs. J. B. Dixon's horse ran away but fortunately little damage was done, though one man was knocked down by the runaway. Yesterday afternoon Alex. Elliott's delivery horse careened up George street and into the yard; one of the shafts was broken. This forenoon Mr. D. Bellegham's horse ran away on Charlotte street, throwing the driver out, smashing the lamp post at the corner of Aylmer street and breaking the harness. The horse was not injured, and was stopped before going far.

FALL OF PEDRO'S EMPIRE

AN ARMED CONSPIRACY EFFECTS THE DE ACLANTARA'S OVERTHROW.

The Emperor Talks—Taken Prisoner and Used Roughly A Wistful Farewell to Brazil He will Return if the People Desire it Will not Accept the Pension.

LISBON, Dec. 7. It is learned from interviews with members of Dom Pedro's party that he and his family were at his summer residence at Petropolis near Rio Janeiro, when the revolution occurred. On the morning of Nov 15, as Dom Pedro was leaving the Imperial Chapel after the celebration of mass, he was handed a telegram from Viscount da Oura Preto, the Imperial Prime Minister, requesting that he immediately come to Rio Janiero, as since dawn insurgents had placed the city under siege, and loaded artillery was commanding the streets. Dom Pedro at once returned to Rio Janeiro, and upon his arrival at the palace it was surrounded by troops. A staff lieutenant entered the room in which Dom Pedro was and read to him Gen de Fonseca's decree proclaiming the Re-

Deodoro de Fonseca the organizer and head of the revolution now Provisional President of the United States of Brazil, is a man 63 years of age, who has been a soldier all his life, and who is said to be devotedly attached to the profession of arms. He served with distinction in the Paraguay campaign, and was wounded at the battle of Itororo.

public. After the reading of the decree Dom Pedro held a meeting of his Ministers and Councillors of State. He tried to form a new ministry with Senhor Saraiva at its head, but to this Gen. Da Fonseca objected, saying a republic had been declared and was supported by the military; that the presence of the imperial family in Brazil was incompatible with the existing state of affairs, and that they must soon leave the country. The Emperor, after consulting with his friends, decided to agree to the demands of the Republicans. No communications were allowed to pass between Dom Pedro and the foreign representatives.

At 2 o'clock the following morning Maj. Tompsted, with a detachment of soldiers, went to the palace and placed the members of the imperial family under arrest while they were still in bed. He bore written orders from Gen. Da Fonseca that the Emperor and his family should embark forthwith. The government would not allow them to wait until daylight, as they feared that any demonstration in the streets in favor of Dom Pedro might result in bloodshed. This measure was considered doubly necessary by the Republican leaders, as the students in the city were well supplied with arms and were greatly excited. Count d'Eu and his wife and children were compelled to leave the palace at 3 o'clock Sunday morning and walk to the quay. Dom Pedro and the Empress followed them immediately in a carriage under escort of troops.

The imperial party embarked on a steam launch and were taken to a man-of-war, which immediately proceeded to Ilha Grande, an island 60 miles from Rio Janeiro, where the party were kept as prisoners until the afternoon, when they were transferred to the Alagoas. The latter vessel at once sailed for Lisbon. The iron-clad Riachuelo accompanied the Alagoas to prevent the landing of the royal prisoners at Bahia or any other Brazilian port. As the Riachuelo could steam only six knots an hour, the progress of the Alagoas was greatly retarded. Dom Pedro positively declines to discuss the recent events in Brazil. A steamer with Baron De Andrada, the Brazilian Minister to Portugal; Baron De Penedo, late Brazilian Minister to England, and other prominent persons on board, met the Alagoas. Count d'Eu intends to go to Spain on a visit to the Duc de Montpensier. Dom Pedro will probably remain in Lisbon for a few days, and then proceed to Paris.

The Republican Government of Brazil issued a decree on November 15 containing 11 articles. It proclaimed a provisional federal republic. The United Provinces of Brazil will form the confederation and will elect deliberative bodies and local governments. Until the election of new legislators the provisional government will govern the country. The federal state governments will immediately adopt steps to secure order and the liberty of citizens of Brazil and foreign residents. When the means to maintain order are not sufficient the authorities can appeal to the public forces. The federal government being proclaimed, no other form of government will be recognized until the nation expresses its wishes by popular suffrage in this respect. The army and navy will be subject exclusively to the orders of the provisional government or the provisional representatives. The civil and military officials will be subordinate to the central government. Rio Janeiro is constituted the provisional capital of the federation. The Secretaries of State of the provisional government are charged with the execution of the decree. The decree is signed by Gen. Da Fonseca and all the Ministers.

In an interview on board the Alagoas the late Emperor said that he did not intend to issue a manifesto. He said: "I have no desire to busy myself longer with Brazilian affairs. I had no intercourse with the Republican Government. I received a telegram at the summer palace at Petropolis announcing that the Revolution had triumphed. Upon its receipt I went to Rio Janeiro and placed myself at the disposal of the Revolutionary Government. The palace at Rio Janeiro was instantly encircled by troops, and ingress and egress was stopped. The siege lasted 32 hours, during which time my family suffered much from want of food. We were then taken silently, after midnight, between a double file of soldiers, from the palace to the arsenal, and placed on board a warship. The vessel upon which we were placed was the Parnahyba. As soon as we were on board she took her departure for Ilha Grande. Upon our arrival there, though the sea was rough, we were transported in small boats to the Alagoas. The Empress was agitated, and wept continually. Her hands and wrists were hurt as she was being landed on the Alagoas. I myself was deeply affected and spent the time watching the coast as it gradually disappeared from view when the shore line dropped below the horizon. I let fly a carrier pigeon bearing my farewell message to Brazil." The late Emperor eagerly questioned the reporter about the news from Brazil. He was delighted upon learning that the Brazilian flag was unchanged. Dom Pedro intends to visit the Opera House to morrow and hear "Othello."

He seems to be enjoying splendid health. The Empress appears frightened and dazed.

When King Carlos boarded the Alagoas he met Dom Pedro at the top of the stairs. The dethroned Emperor and the King kissed heartily. Few words passed between them, and Brazil was not alluded to. The late Empress said: "I never will forgive those Republicans for their rough treatment of me." The late Emperor and his party embarked on the royal yacht and were landed at the naval arsenal. Upon disembarking they were approached by a number of old servants, who were weeping. The family then drove to the Hotel Braganza. All along the route they received respectful greetings from the people.

Many inquiries have been made of Dom Pedro touching his future and his attitude toward the Government of Brazil. In answer to all these he confines himself to the declaration that, if summoned to return to Brazil, he will go. He alludes to some of the prime movers in the revolution with respect, to others with disdain. None of these men were in direct communication with him, but all that passed between them was through intermediaries. It is known that they are all important men, and that they organized a military conspiracy, which was carried to its conclusion with the most perfect secrecy. All Spanish and Portuguese revolutions are worked by military conspiracies. This conspiracy was a complete surprise to every one.

EMIN IS GETTING BETTER.

RECOVERED CONSIDERABLY BUT CAN NOT BE MOVED AT PRESENT.

His Spirits Rise High on Receipt of a Cable from Emperor William—Greetings Between Stanley and the Kaiser—The Situation on East Africa.

BERLIN, Dec. 7.—The latest news from Emin Pasha is that there are strong hopes of his recovery. The brain is now known to be uninjured, and the fever is reduced. In response to an enquiry from the Emperor, Maj. Wissmann yesterday cabled: "Emin Pasha is much better, but he must for the present remain at Bagamoyo. He charges me to tell your Majesty that the Emperor's congratulations are the best reward for all his work; and he begs leave to express his humble thanks for them." The Emperor left Demnin Thursday for Darmstadt, where he cabled to Emin: "Now you have at last returned from your post where you have remained over 11 years with truly German loyalty and devotion to duty. I am glad to greet you, sending my congratulations and imperial appreciation. I have felt especial satisfaction from the fact that it was through territory under our protectom that German forces were able to smooth the way to the coast for your return."

At the same time the Emperor cabled to Stanley as follows: "Thanks to your perseverance and inflexible courage, you have now, after repeatedly crossing the Dark Continent, overcome a new and long succession of exceeding perils and almost unendurable hardships. That after surmounting those your return journey should lead you through lands covered by my flag, affords me great satisfaction, and I welcome you heartily to civilization and security."

Stanley wires the following answer: "Emperor of Rex: My expedition has now reached its end. I have had the honor to be hospitably entertained by Maj. Wissmann and others of your Majesty's officers under him. Since arriving from Mpwapwa our travels have come to a successful conclusion. We have been taken across from Bagamoyo to Zanzibar by your Majesty's ships Sperber and Schwalbe, and all honors coupled with great affability, have been accorded us. I gratefully remember the hospitality and princely affability extended to me at Potsdam; and am profoundly impressed with your Majesty's condescension, kindness, and gracious welcome. With a full and sincere heart, I exclaim, 'long live the noble Emperor William!'"

The Emperor was immensely pleased with Stanley's reply. He read it aloud, encircled by a brilliant party, at a supper given last night by the Grand Duke Hesse. To-day the Emperor again cabled Stanley urging him to make an early visit here, and giving him hearty assurance of a warm German greeting.

EGYPT AS A COTTON GROWER.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The American cotton planter cannot afford to look longer with contempt on the cotton crop of the eastern countries. That of India has doubtless cost its encouragers more than it will return to them in the next half century, and in some district the attempts to raise it has been temporarily abandoned. But Egypt appears to be better fitted for growing the staple, and if the samples now being displayed in Manchester are genuine the United States will soon have to count upon having a formidable rival. The fibre is of fair length and very firm, and although undoubtedly selected from exceptional bales, would obtain a favorable rating anywhere. The crops also much larger than usual, and its success may be looked up as an additional reason why England will never abandon Egypt. To be independent of the United States is the British cotton manufacturer's dream, for he has never forgotten the cotton famine of 1861-5.

ITALY IN EAST AFRICA.

The thousands of workingmen engaged in strengthening the fortifications of Spezia are fast rendering that city impregnable to any ordinary assault. Italy can evidently find money enough to strengthen her defenses, even if bankrupt. Spezia will soon be one of the best fortified ports in the world, and the works near the French frontier on the summit of Mount Cenis and near Nice, although carefully guarded against investigating eyes are known to be marvels of engineering.

THE CRONIN CASE.

Strong Language Used on Behalf of the Accused.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—Mr. Foster continued his speech in behalf of Beggs on Saturday. Alluding to the "meeting which has now become historic that was held in Camp 20 February 8," he said: "Where is the argument, where is the assumption to establish in your minds the conclusion that this was a conspiracy which originated in and was carried on by Camp 20? There is not one thing in all this case, except that four of these defendants are of that Camp, nothing. Do you believe that a society of 350 members, composed of such men of Michael P. Brady, the lawyer, and John P. Finerty, the journalist, adopted and carried out a connected scheme for murder? Individuals may be dishonest but societies never can be." Taking up the question of the appointment of a committee in Camp 20 to try Cronin, Mrs. Foster denied that any such committee had been appointed.

Mr. Longenecker—"I say the motion was made and carried—made by Dennis O'Connor."

Mr. Foster—"I deny it. Now I understand that suggestions have been made by Mr. Longenecker that a committee was appointed by Beggs to try Dr. Cronin. I say it is a lie, No such committee was ever appointed."

Mr. Longenecker—"I only say that the testimony was that a motion was carried."

Mr. Foster—"I know that a motion was carried. It makes me mad, cool as my nature may be, when my client's life is jeopardied, to have men continue to insinuate in the hearing of the jury that there is evidence that a committee was appointed to murder Dr. Cronin. No adjective in the English language known to me is sufficiently strong to express my views and my sentiments when those charges are made, because it is as false as hell." Mr. Foster argued at length that Beggs, as senior guardian, had always counseled peace and unity, and then said: "Hang him, because he is a friend of Alexander Sullivan. I do not know whether he is a friend of Alexander Sullivan or not. Now, in the name of conscience and in the name of Heaven, will they ask you to convict my client because he is the friend of another man whom they despise, but against whom they can prove no criminal act?" Concluding, Mr. Foster told the jury that they must either find his client worthy of death, or must acquit him entirely. He said "John F. Beggs stands forth responsible for his acts without a mitigating circumstance if he is guilty. Therefore I say to you gentlemen, in all candor and sincerity, you must destroy the life of John F. Beggs or else you must turn him free. Shame to the verdict surrounding this case that would say: 'We will not torture our minds. We have not the moral turpitude to hang a man upon this evidence, but guessing, imagining, speculating that he might be guilty, we will give him a term in the penitentiary upon general principles.'"

Several warehouses were destroyed by fire at Magdenburg, Saxony, Saturday with their contents. The loss cannot now be established, but it is very heavy.

Gilbert & Sullivan's Latest.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—Gilbert & Sullivan's new opera, "The Gondoliers," was produced tonight at the Savoy Theatre. The performance was conducted by Sir Arthur Sullivan. There was a brilliant house. The opera is lighter and 'catchier' than "The Yeoman of the Guard." Gilbert's story is not the most ingenuous he has written, but it is always droll and laughter-moving. Sullivan has also returned to his earlier and simpler style of composition. The applause was frequent, and Gilbert and Sullivan were both called before the curtain. On the whole the new opera is a success.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The Pall Mall Gazette, reviewing the speech of John Morley, at Glasgow last night, alludes to that gentleman as "Bright Sacandus." His speech, the Gazette asserts, is worthy to be ranked with the happiest efforts of the late Birmingham butcher, and effectually settles the question of the sor-

A STUPENDOUS SCHEME.

ONE HUNDRED MILLIONS OF PAPAL MONEY TO FOUND A BANK.

Startling Announcement Made by the New York Herald—Reasons of the Pope's Alleged Action — Two Archbishops Deny the Truth of the Herald's Report.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—The Herald says that the Universal Association Bank and Trust company is about to be formed in this city under the special benediction of the pope of Rome, with a capital of $100,000,000, to receive, care for and invest not only the enormous revenue of the church, but the private fortunes of its members. The money of all other persons and sects are to be received and invested as well. For years the pope has felt the need of a safe depository for his money in the event of war in Europe or serious trouble with the Italian government. America has been selected as the only country where an institution could be founded that would not be exposed to seizure and loss. In America, a gentleman well known in the politics of the State of New York and in financial circles, has accepted the office of president. Nearly all the work of organizing the main bank is completed. The directors have been chosen, but have not yet got together to take the last step, that is, the actual founding of the institution. It is expected this will be done today or Monday or Tuesday of next week. Among the directors are many prominent men of the commercial financial and religious world.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Archbishop Corrigan was seen this afternoon in regard to the statement published this morning that a great Roman Catholic bank with a capital of $100,000,000 was about to be started in this city. The Archbishop said: "You can deny this whole thing most emphatically. This Mr. Leybourn if a most consummate liar. The whole thing is a gigantic scheme of swindling."

BALTIMORE, Dec. 8.—Cardinal Gibbons says he has not heard of the great Catholic bank to which The New York Herald devotes a page this morning.

DARKNESS WORSE THAN FOG.

A Great Strike of Gasworkers Threatened in London.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—London is now threatened with a strike which may affect half of its population, even more directly and seriously than did the dockers' strike. The stokers of the South Metropolitan Gas Company are discontented and 1700 out of 2000 men have given notice of a strike on Friday next. This began as a strike against non-union men, but has now developed into a strike against the whole system. It is admitted that this company has already made large concessions to the men. It has reduced their hours from twelve to eight, which means five actually, and raised their wages. It now offers the men a share of the profits on conditions, the men say, which bind them to the service of the company for a year and prevent anything like a general strike for that period. The strike Committee's manifesto denounces the bonus scheme as in itself contrary to the spirit of trades unionism, whatever that may be, and declares that the strike must go on. The chairman replies that the company is ready. He offers $10 a week bonus to new hands for the first week and $5 for every subsequent week while the strike lasts: he professes to be sure of obtaining men: he has ample funds and an ample stock of coal, should the coalmen also strike, and he assures Londoners south of the Thames that they need not fear darkness.

Already in anticipation of the coming struggle the strikers are resorting to the usual forms of intimidation, and picketing has begun. The company is believed to have arranged with sundry large employers of labor to supply men when wanted. Their premise are beset by union emissaries, and actually arriving under contract with the company have been cowed or turned back. The railway stations are picketed, and nobody can approach any one of the company's works without running a gauntlet of angry sentinels, ready or almost ready to use violence if need be, to prevent men from working who want to work. The Gas Workers' Union is determined that the coal porters shall be called out all over the south of London, perhaps all over London. Pressure from fear is once more to be put on peaceful citizens, and threats of univeral darkness and a coal famine are freely made.

The all-important question is what the police will do. They are not thought to have done their duty during the dockers' strike. Mr. Munro, the new Chief of Police, sympathized, or was supposed to sympathize, with the strikers. He certainly allowed intimidation, looked on while violence was practised, and suffered an elaborate system of terrorism to be organized and carried out under the noses of the police. There was no efficient protection for men who were willing to work. He had been told plainly and publicly that he abnegated his duty, and warned that his present business it to see that no man is violently interfered with in the pursuit of his lawful occupation. The strikers made no secret of their resolve to pursue to the bitter end. Encouraged by the supineness of the police at the docks they count on being allowed again to win by lawless force.

The Executive Council of the National Union of Gasworkers and general laborers and delegates from the Coal Porters' Union have to-day issued a fresh manifesto, very long and very riotous in tone, extremely abusive and menacing, and well calculated to alienate public sympathy from the men whose grievance, on their own showing, is not one of low wages or long hours. The present strike is simply a flagrant attempt to impose upon the whole community the tyranny of a single class. The secretary of the Coal Porters' Union says expressly that the strike of he porters in support of the gasworkers will not be confined to their districts, but is directly intended to deprive all London of coal.

Manchester, too, has a gas strike. It is the old story. The gasworkers demanded some time since more wages and less hours. The demands were conceded, and the men instantly gave notice of a strike because non-union men were employed. Nearly 3000 men are out, and others engaged to take their places are working under police protection and sleeping inside the works. The same state of things exists in Salford, a suburb of Manchester. In both towns the municipal corporation owns the gasworks, and in both a long struggle is feared. But in Manchester and Salford the police are clearly on the side of law and order, and terrorism is not tolerated.

Agitation continues, in one form or another all over the Kingdom.

DEATH OF MR. H. F. BRONSON.

The Millionaire Lumberman Passes Away at a Ripe Old Age.

OTTAWA, Dec. 8.—Henry F. Bronson, the head of the Bronson-Weston Lumber Company, pioneer lumberman of the Ottawa Valley and one of Ottawa's oldest and most respected citizens, died of apoplexy at his residence at noon yesterday. He had been ailing for some time. Mr. Bronson was 72 years of age, and was born in Saratoga county, in the State of New York. He left a fortune estimated at several millions.

Dropped Dead.

ST. THOMAS, Dec. 8.—Sudden deaths from the effects of heart disease have been very frequent in this city and neighborhood of late. One day last week David B. Bingman, farmer, Southwood Station, died very suddenly from that cause. He had been at work all morning fixing a pump, and when he sat down to dinner was apparently in his usual health. However, in a few minutes he got up from the table complaining of being sick, and grew rapidly worse, being dead in a few minutes, before a physician had arrived. He leaves a wife and one child. His brother is station agent at Southwood Station.

THE LADIES!

A New and Startling Form of Disease exists in enfeebling Canadian Women.

How cases of Thin, Impoverished Blood, Complexion, Perfect Health and Superb Physical Beauty.

A great London Physician says that he notes a new and distinct form of nervous disease produced in Canadian women by worry about servants and overwork in caring for the home. This is only too true. It is why we see so many ladies pale, weak, languid, and suffering from headaches and innumerable weaknesses. They cannot stand the strain upon their nervous system. Many of them have found the means to sustain their failing strength, to give color to the cheeks, and new life and vigor to the body, in Paine's Celery Compound. This pure and scientific remedy is exquisitely adapted to the needs of women, and is daily making the most remarkable cures. Mrs. W. E. Cooper, 60 St. Hyppolite St., Montreal, was for a long time troubled with nervous headaches, loss of appetite, low spirits, etc. After using the Compound, her headaches disappeared, appetite was good, and her spirits revived.

Annie Gourley, of River Beaudette, P.Q., found the Compound a certain cure for weakness, and now reals as well as she ever did.

Many a Canadian lady has the same reason to be grateful.

Paine's Celery Compound can be purchased at any druggist's for one dollar a bottle. If he should not have it on hand, order direct from WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., MONTREAL.

Women's Mission Work.

Annual Meeting of St. Paul's Church Society—A Lengthy Report of the Year's Record.

The annual meeting of St. Paul's Auxiliary of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society was held in the school room of St. Paul's church on Friday afternoon, December 6th, at half past three.

After the opening exercises the reports of the Auxiliary and Mission Band were read; and the President gave a short address, after which Mrs. Haultain read an excellent paper entitled, "North Carolina," which was followed by an earnest and helpful address from Mrs. Shortreed, of Toronto. While the collection was being taken up Mrs. Brodigan sang the beautiful hymn, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." The meeting was brought to a close by singing a hymn and prayer.

The following officers were elected for 1890:—

PRESIDENT—Mrs. Fairbairn, re-elected.

1ST VICE-PRESIDENT—Mrs. J. F. Dennistoun, re-elected.

2ND VICE-PRESIDENT—Mrs. Henderson, re-elected.

SECRETARY—Miss Maggie Roger.

TREASURER—Mrs. Innes, re-elected.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE—Mrs. Tinnie, Mrs. A. Smith, Mrs. Walsh, Mrs. W. G. Ferguson, Mrs. R. Hall and Miss Roger.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The seventh annual report of St. Paul's Auxiliary of the W.F.M.S.:—

During the past year our meetings have been held regularly on the second Friday of every month; the average attendance being twenty one, and the total number of members sixty-nine, forty-one of whom are members of the General Society, and eight of whom are life members.

The amount contributed this year was $232.45, which is $47.55 more than last year, but although a smaller sum it really represents a better rate of contribution, as last year three of our members became life members of the General Society at their own expense, which added seventy-five dollars to our treasury; whereas this year only one certificate of life membership was added, it being presented to Mrs. W. H. Taylor on the occasion of her removal from town. We have again this year to thank the Stewart Settlement Sunday school for the addition of ten dollars to our funds. In addition to our other contributions there was sent as usual a quantity of clothing to the Indians in the North West. This year five boys, twelve years of age, pupils at our Mission School at File Hills Reserve, were provided with a complete outfit, almost entirely new, the value of which, with other goods was $46 00.

And, as has been customary for the last five or six years, our auxiliary again subscribed for the "Interior," to be sent to our lady missionaries in India. Since our last annual meeting Our Heavenly father, in His all-wise Providence has called two of our members home to himself, and others have gone to continue their life work in distant places, but though parted now for a season, we all hope to meet as members of God's household in the home above, where there are no partings and no tears.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Presbyterial Society of the W. F. M. S. was held here in January, when we had the privilege of listening to an address from Miss Fraser, a young lady who is studying medicine at Queen's College Kingston, with a view to going out to the foreign field as a medical missionary.

In May Miss Campbell, a returned missionary from the China inland mission, delivered an address under the auspices of this Auxiliary, when such was the power of her appeal for benighted China, that a young lady, a member of this congregation, has since offered herself as a missionary to that country.

And, in October, by the kind invitation of St. John's Women's Society, the ladies of this Auxiliary had the pleasure of attending a meeting in St. John's school house, at which Miss Lang, a returned missionary from India, gave a highly interesting account of her work among the women of that country.

Our Auxiliary was represented by the Secretary at the annual meeting of the General Society, held in Toronto in April, and a report of the same was given at our meeting in May.

Miss Taylor, our former organist, left town in August, when Miss Rain Heath, at the unanimous request of the members, kindly consented to take her place.

For the last few months Mrs. Brodigan has led the singing at our monthly meetings, and so great has been the improvement that we all, as an Auxiliary, feel deeply indebted to her and earnestly hope she will continue her good work.

The annual thanksgiving meeting, which was held in October, was a well attended and truly interesting meeting, all present joining heartily in the exercises.

Before closing our report there is one question we would ask: How is it that out of the four hundred women and girls who are members of this congregation, only about one quarter belong either to this Auxiliary or to the Mission Band? Is it not our duty as well as privilege to help to gather the heathen into Christ's kingdom? We may think that we can them little than it is not worth while trying to help; but it is not in our own strength or our own power that we work, but in His strength; all we have to do is to show ourselves "willing in the day of His power;" and how can we do this better than by banding ourselves together to work for His kingdom? And in holding back are we not forgetting that he hath said:—"If thou forbear to deliver them that are drawn unto death, and those that are ready to be slain; if thou sayest, behold we know it not; doth not He that pondereth the heart consider it? and He that keepeth the soul, doth not he know it? and shall not He render to every man according to his works?

MAGGIE H. LAIDLAW,
Secretary.

Puritan Fine Cut

is not a "cheap" tobacco; it is manufactured from the finest tobaccos procurable, and is placed on the market not for a day or a year but for "all time." Those who have tried it pronounce it a remarkably fine, cool and sweet smoking tobacco. As its merits become known, the demand increases. Many years' experience in handling tobaccos with every facility for manufacturing and purchasing, insures the smoker a good article at a price consistent with the quality of same. D. The Great Power of a Little Money.

A little money goes a great way at the great Christmas Sale of Dry Goods of M. Sullivan & Co., which began last Saturday. The Stock must be reduced, and at this sale the biggest kind of inducements are offered to effect this result. Low prices are the rule in every department, and as the goods are all first-class, the customer gets the most astonishing bargains. Those who have patronized this sale are delighted with their purchases—they never know before what a wonderful purchasing power a dollar could have with low prices and tip-top goods. Don't let this sale escape your memory or you'll let the biggest chance of bargains of the day escape you. dtf

There's Money in the Country.

To hear some people talk one would think that money grew on trees, or was a necessary article, but bless you, there is money fourthcoming when the proper inducements are offered. Take the great sale of dry goods now going on at Hately's store. The stock must be cleared and business ground up by the 1st of January. Everyone knows this; they know the bargains offered are genuine. Despite hard times and cold there is a big 14 year [illegible] 25 feet deep and was completed with this season's new goods. Here's your chance. Everything being sacrificed to clear. Rooms crowded with buyers, this proves that this is a chance that comes only once in a few years. All accounts must be settled by January 1st and the business wound up. Come and buy. d126-w48f

THE CANAL COMMISSION.

Conclusion of the Peterborough Session.

The Evidence Taken on Saturday—Sittings to be Held at Lindsay, Barrie, Midland and Orillia—The Permanency of the Water Supply Discussed.

SATURDAY, Dec 7th.

The Commission sat at 10 20.

Mr. GEO. HILLIARD had been in the milling business for about thirty years. Was well acquainted with the Trent Valley waters. He did not think there was a question of doubt as to the sufficiency of water supply for canal purposes, if properly husbanded. Mr. Hilliard contended that it would be more economical by half to move 100,000 bushels of grain in ten barges costing $50 000, than in one steamer costing $100,000. Towing on the Trent Valley Canal could be done by steam. The lightening of large vessels into barges would benefit the grain. He was of opinion that grain could be carried cheaper by canal from Port Arthur to Montreal than by large vessels by all lake route. The cost at transhipping grain, at Midland harbour, which was one of the best on the lakes, would be about four mills per bushel, and would be more than compensated for by the benefit to the grain. Mr. Hilliard said the large loss of property and life by lake route was something that would be chiefly avoided by use of the canal route. The portion of lake route, tributary to the Trent Valley system, was much safer than the all lake route. The loss of property in American shipping alone in ten years represented the total wreck of 370 vessels the partial loss of 3306 vessels, and a total loss of some 25 millions of dollars. The canal route with the same amount of traffic would save all this loss as well as save considerably in insurance. Competition in traffic was needed. Flour could be sent as cheaply from Chicago to Montreal as from Ontario, and this canal would give protection against the railways. Without the canal there was no means of making use of the great extent of minerals in the North West. An immense amount of red birch which is not floatable, could find outlet and a ready market, in case the canal were built. The building of the local section between town and Lakefield, would be of great advantage to Peterborough, it would open up navigation from Balsam Lake to Healey's Falls.

Mr. R. B. ROGERS, C. E., Superintendent of the Trent Valley waters submitted plans showing how an immense additional water supply for canal purposes could be gained if required, by diverting a portion of the Muskoka waters into Balsam Lake, by very little expenditure.

AFTERNOON SITTING.

The Commission resumed at 2 p.m.

Mr. RANNEY was recalled and said there would be no difficulty in following Mr. Rubidge's levels to Nassau and then entering the river. Gull River rapids, four in number, would have to be overcome to reach Gull River. He also spoke of communication by way of Burnt River with Kinmount, to connect with the Lornesville, Bancroft and Ottawa Railway, which reaches the mines. He thought smaller locks than those at Burleigh would answer. Bargee would probably not be wider than eighteen feet.

Mr. J. M. LEWIN, mill owner and lumber merchant, said that in the absence of the canal much natural resources of the country would be undeveloped in the shape of forest and mineral deposit. He gave instances of canal competition reducing railway freight rates. The trunk railway lines competed at water points, but in other cases there was agreements as to rates. He referred to the great amount of hard woods that were useless for commercial or economic purposes without the canal. There were vast deposits of iron and phophates, both of excellent quality. A large additional extent of territory could be made tributary to the canal by the opening of lateral water stretches at trifling cost. There was ample water for canal purposes. He thought 22 f wide locks would be enough—this would effect a saving of about 15 per cent in construction and a great saving of wat r. He thought a reduction of 25 per cent. all round could be effected in construction. The Erie Canal, which carried more grain than all the trunk lines, had locks 18 feet wide. The rate on lumber from Lindsay to Port Hope once was $1.80, and the building of the Port Perry road to compete, reduced the rate to $1.30. The construction of additional reservoirs for water storage would not create any considerable claims for compensation. Nor would water powers suffer from building the canal. The canal would be worked to its fullest capacity by the Northwest grain trade. He thought the Lakefield-Peterborough section should be constructed first. It would connect two existing navigable stretches, making a total of 135 miles continuous.

W. BRUNDRETT, local G. T. R. station agent, in answer to questions stated that the freight rate on wheat from Peterborough to Montreal was 15 cents per hundred, and oats and coarse grains 13 cents, on lumber 7½ cents; to Belleville on wheat 9 cents per 100; wheat to Port Hope 6 cents per 100, lumber 5½ cents. The rate on cord wood per cord was, from Chemong to Peterborough, 90 cents for dry, $1.15 for green; soft wood, dry 60 cents, green 75. From Lakefield and Birdsall's—hardwood, dry, $1.05, green, $1 30; soft, dry, 70 cents, green, 85. From Hastings—hardwood, dry, $1.15, green, $1 40; soft, dry, 80 cents, green, 95. The rate on coal from Black Rock (Buffalo) to Peterborough was $1.35 per ton the year round.

Norwood Notes.

Mr. W. P. Plant, proprietor of the Norwood foundry, has applied for a patent on a double hopper root cutter. When secured this will make the third invention Mr. Plant has obtained a patent for.

Messrs. Sawers & Stone, barristers, of Peterborough, have opened a branch office in Norwood, in rooms over the division court office, and one of the firm will be in Norwood every Tourslay beginning with to day, and also on division court days.

At the last regular communication of Norwood Lodge A.F. & A.M., No. 223, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—

W Bro	J A Harper	W M
"	J H Powell	S W
"	J Maldean	J W
"	W H Minaker	Chap
W "	W E Roxburgh	Treas
"	W A Richardson	Sec'y
"	R Edgar	Tyler

The non-elective officers will be appointed at the next regular communication.

To the Public.

Our aim has been and will continue to be to give the consumer the highest grade of goods consistent with prices charged. We do not manufacture so-called cheap cigars: fine goods are our specialty. Purchasing only the best of tobaccos, irrespective of price, we are in a position to manufacture as fine a class of goods as can be obtained anywhere; Havana not excepted. Insist upon having our well known brands, "Cable," "El Padre" "Mango," and "Madre E Hijo," and thereby obtain full value for your money. The immense sums expended in introducing our goods, the exceptionally fine quality of tobacco used in their manufacture, and the labor of nearly half a century should convince the most skeptical that the quality of same will not be allowed to deteriorate. ms

Probably the Greatest Word Painter Living.

An American paper says of the eloquent Chicago divine who lectures in Bradburn's Hall on Tuesday evening, Dec. 17th, "Above the greatest word painters on both sides of the sea we set Dr. McIntyre, of Chicago." Plan of hall now open at Stratton's Bookstore.

Joy in Jasper.

I CAN recommend Burdock Blood Bitters as a sure cure for scrofula. I had it for four years, and was so bad at one time that I was almost a solid sore. I commenced taking B.B.B last summer, have taken three bottles, and am entirely cured now. 2w46d MISS ELLEN FITS, Jasper, Ont.

Peculiarities of the Hair.

There are times when all persons require to pay some particular attention to the hair. To rekindle the life on energy of the roots is a simple matter if taken in time. Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic will do the word, it works in accordance with nature, supplys fresh nourishment to the glands keeper, the hair luxuriant and natural in shade. Be sure to get, you cannot afford to miss it. Every druggist sells it. It is money well spent. See Dorenwends advertisement in another column.

Important to Workingmen.

ARTIZANS, mechanics, and laboringmen are liable to sudden accidents and injuries, as well as painful cords, stiff joints and lameness. To all thus troubled we would recommend Hagyard's Yellow Oil, the handy and reliable pain cure for outward or internal use. 2w49d

The Best Ever Made.

GENTLEMEN,—My trouble was heart disease and dyspepsia, but I took two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters and one of Burdock Pills and got well. I never felt better in my life. My brother has also tried B. B. B. and thinks it a splendid medicine. 2w49l MRS. JNO. EARLY, Hamilton, Ont.

Day and Night

During an acute attack of Bronchitis, a ceaseless tickling in the throat, and an exhausting, dry, hacking cough, afflict the sufferer. Sleep is banished, and great prostration follows. This disease is also attended with Hoarseness, and sometimes Loss of Voice. It is liable to become chronic, involve the lungs, and terminate fatally. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral affords speedy relief and cure in cases of Bronchitis. It controls the disposition to cough, and induces refreshing sleep.

I have been a practicing physician for twenty-four years, and, for the past twelve, have suffered from annual attacks of Bronchitis. After exhausting all the usual remedies

Without Relief,

I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It helped me immediately, and effected a speedy cure.—G. Stovall, M.D., Carrollton, Miss.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is decidedly the best remedy, within my knowledge, for chronic Bronchitis, and all lung diseases. —M. A. Rust, M. D., South Paris, Me.

I was attacked, last winter, with a severe Cold, which, from exposure, grew worse and finally settled on my Lungs. By night sweats I was reduced almost to a skeleton. My Cough was incessant, and I frequently spit blood. My physician told me to give up business, or I would not live a month. After taking various remedies without relief, I was finally two bottles of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I am now in perfect health, and able to resume business, after having been pronounced incurable with Consumption. —S. P. Henderson, Shalsburgh, Penn.

For years I was in a decline. I had weak lungs, and suffered from Bronchitis and Catarrh. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral restored me to health, and I have been for a long time comparatively vigorous. In case of a sudden cold I always resort to the Pectoral, and find speedy relief. —Edward E. Curtis, Rutland, Vt.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Bronchitis. The physician attending me became fearful that the disease would terminate in Pneumonia. After trying various medicines, without benefit, he finally prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved me at once. I continued to take this medicine a short time, and was cured. —Ernest Colton, Logansport, Ind.

A Big Rush.

It the announcement by Rev. S. J. Shorey in Charlotte street Methodist church yesterday morning means anything (and it certainly does)—it means this: That Rev. Dr. McIntyre, of Chicago, is one of the grandest men of this age, a finished speaker, an accomplished word painter and a silver-tongued orator. Undoubtedly he is the finest that has ever been secured for Peterborough. The tickets are bound to go with a rush Secure yours at once at Stratton's Bookstore

Mrs. Malaprop in Jail.

A Sunday or two ago a certain lay worker visited the jail to talk on spiritual matters with the prisoners. With unconscious irony he began by singing the hymn "Is in Good to be Here," and began his remarks by saying he was "glad to see so many present." These well meant remarks were, of course, ill timed and mal apropos. He would have spoken exactly to the point if he had said that hawley bros'. kept the finest stock of teas and coffees in the district and at the lowest prices. Don't forget this fact when you want a tip-top cup of tea or coffee. d

Such Strides We Are Making!

This season we are doubling values as we are doubling our business. To attract the trade of gentlemen—young and old—we have completed the purchase of a large stock of the newest patterns of nobby Tweed for trousers. By paying spot cash for the cloth and putting a small profit on a small cost price, we can afford to take your measure and fit you right for $3 00, $3 50 and $4.00 per pair, you will save from $1.00 to $2 00 by the transaction. Come and examine the patterns, and while you are in ask to see our $13 and $14 suits made on the premises.

St. Paul's Choir Christmas Cantata.

The beautiful cantata, "The First Christmas Hymn," by Henry Leslie, will be presented in St. Paul's Church on Christmas morning. The full choir of thirty voices will give it with excellent effect. The rehearsals are well attended and everything points to a most efficient presentation of this fine cantata under Mr. Parker's direction.

The Telephone Service.

The Telephone Company are re-constructing their lines in town, and while the work of introducing the new system is going on there will be at times unavoidable delays and breaks in the circuit. Mr. Kent asks his patrons to bear with the annoyance for a little while, and assures them they will be amply repaid by the promptness and perfection of the new system in future.

The Christmas "Remainder."

The Christmas EXAMINER has been issued and delivered to residents in the town, and to-day it is being mailed to the address of every householder in the county of Peterborough. Thus seven thousand copies of this our best Christmas edition yet issued, finds its way into every home, and thus the large amount of bright seasonable reading, as well as the more important announcements of advertisers, becomes known to everybody.

A Correction.

It was announced from the Charlotte street Methodist pulpit yesterday that on account of the District Convention to be held on Tuesday and Wednesday in Charlotte street and George street churches that the Endeavor society meeting on Tuesday evening and Prayer meeting on Wednesday evening would not take place. As the district meeting has been postponed the meetings will be held during the week as usual:—Young ladies class, led by the Pastor, Monday evening, Endeavor Society Tuesday evening, Prayer and praise service Wednesday evening. Cordial invitation extended.

By Far the Best.

Sale of crockery, china, glass and silverware will take place on Wednesday, Dec. 11 in the store on Water street, next Jas. Stevenson's office. Our assortment will be complete and bargains plentiful, as all must be sold before Xmas, and we will not dwell long on any one article. All the best goods are yet to be sold. We will sell on Saturday Dinner Sets, Breakfast Sets, Tea Sets, Chamber Sets, Silverware, &c., as well as a full line of other goods. Do not miss it. Sales at 12 o'clock, noon, and 7 o'clock in evening. JOHN HAGGART, auctioneer. dw

Norah Clench Concert.

The prospects of the great success of the Noro Clench concert on Jan. 9th, are growing stronger every day. The public interest is very great. Everybody is desirous of hearing the great Canadian violiste, who has taken her place in the very front rank, and is charming her immense audiences wherever she appears. At the coming concert she will contribute three grand selections, and in addition she will be assisted by Mrs. Chambers, the leading soprano of Montreal, who has so many ardent admirers in Peterborough. Further information will be supplied the public from day to day.

Man's Inhumanity.

A carter was hired on Saturday to remove the household goods of a poor widow woman from one end of the town to the other. The stipulated fee was 50c an hour. While the carter was still some distance from the new house he pulled up on the road and demanded another quarter of a dollar before he proceeded, as he claimed the hour was up. The poor woman either had not the money or would not pay the extra sum, and the carter forthwith dumped the furniture on the roadside and drove on passing the house to which the goods were being removed on his way. The woman had to carry them to her new home on a borrowed handsleigh, a distance of nearly half a mile.

Election of Officers, C. M. B. A.

At the last regular meeting of the C.M.B.A. on Friday night, Dec. 6th, the following members were elected for the year 1890:—

PRESIDENT—T. J. Doris.
1ST VICE PRESIDENT—Geo. Ball.
2ND VICE PRESIDENT—John Cronin.
FIN. SEC.—L. M. Hayes.
TREASURER—H. Carveth.
REC. SEC.—J. J. Lynch.
ASST. SEC.—W. J. Devlin.
MARSHALL—John A. Bohland.
GUARD—John McCormack.
TRUSTEES—Wm. Kennealey and W. J. Devlin.

J. D. McIlmoyle representative to Grand Council, and M. Sullivan alternate.

The above trustees were elected to fill the place of retiring trustees, whose terms have expired.

A. S. Convention.

The third annual Sabbath School Convention of the county of Peterborough was held at Lakefield Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, the Chronicle says, and proved to be a very interesting and profitable gathering of Sabbath school workers. There was a large attendance from all parts of the county. The following officers were elected:—

PRESIDENT—Rev. Jas. Macfarlane.
VICE-PRESIDENT—W. M. Graham.
MINUTE SECRETARIES—Dr. Harrison and Jas. Roberts.
COMMITTEE—A. R. Kidd, Dunmer; I. Garbutt, jr., Douro; G. W. Mann, Smith; J. P. Brown, Asphodel; W. E. Roxborough, Norwood; G. Reid, Otonabee; Wm. Harper, Lakefield; Jno. Wood, Ashburnham; H. S. Griffin, Peterborough.
AUDITORS—S. Henderson and James Roberts.

The Opera House this Week.

Zera Semon, the greatest of modern magicians and ventriloquist, with his marionette minstrels and novelty company, begins a week's engagement at the Opera House to-night. Zera's performances are spoken of by the press as most wonderful and startling. Besides the entertainment a prominent feature of the show is the great gift enterprise. One hundred elegant and valuable presents, including watches, chain sets, hats, etc., are given away each evening. This is a genuine gift show. Zera Semon, with his magic and ventriloquism, is a host in himself, and there are, besides, in the company expert jugglers, musicians and clog dancers. Zera Semon has a reputation for novelty and originality in his exhibition which will no doubt attract crowded houses all the week. Admission at popular prices. 1d

Police Court.

MONDAY, Dec. 9.

The preliminary proceedings in the criminal libel suit entered against W. B. Robertson, of the Times, by Dr. Stephenson, V.S., were to have been taken in the police court this morning, but it is understood the case has been settled and withdrawn, Mr. Robertson giving satisfactory explanation to the complainant.

This morning's session resulted in quite an addition to the town treasury. Three men were fined $2 each for being drunk Saturday and Sunday night. Another young man was fined $20 for pointing a pistol at a fellow who struck him in a Hunter street hotel Thursday night last. The culprit pleaded that the weapon was not loaded and he only intended to frighten his opponent, but the law is very strict in this regard and the magistrate felt bound to fine him. The lowest fine possible, $20, was imposed.

St. John's Solemn Sunday Services.

Reference to the Reverend Rector's Death.

The lamentable death of the Rector on Saturday imparted a subdued yet affecting solemnity to the services in St. John's on Sunday. There were no external tokens of mourning, but a feeling of sadness seemed to fill the air of the sacred building. The morning services throughout were of peculiar impressiveness, the hymns and music being selected with reference to the occasion. Rev. Mr. Kenrick conducted the services, and when he entered the pulpit his bearing showed that he was laboring under no ordinary feelings. After an impressive praise, he said "In the midst of life we are in death." Continuing he said it was his duty to announce what they all knew, that their beloved rector was no more. This was no time to preach an ordinary sermon. The congregation should let God preach to them through the death of their pastor; all should take the thought home to themselves that ere long death might call any of them away. After referring to the grievous troubles the deceased clergyman had to bear and which he had borne with pious resignation, the preacher announced the arrangements in connection with the funeral and left the pulpit deeply affected. The congregation was also similarly affected, many being moved to tears.

The Evening Services.

The bad weather did not prevent a large congregation from filling the church in the evening. As in the morning, the services, especially the musical portions, were presented with reference to the occasion, particularly the last two hymns and the offertory and recessional voluntaries. Rev. Mr. Kenrick again conducted the services and, in place of the sermon, gave a brief address. He asked what he should say. He was sure their thoughts could not follow an ordinary sermon—they would all be with the dead. They would be busy with the memory of one who had been a familiar figure amongst them for the past thirty years. One whose past career was bound up with their lives. He whom they loved, they would never see again,—the parson, who had baptised their children, watched by the bedside of their dying—stood beside the open grave as the earth fell upon the coffins of their loved ones—prepared them for confirmation—administered the holy rites of the church—was gone. In that fact God was preaching to them—the death summons might come at any moment. The one object of the deceased rector's life was to glorify God in his church of which he was a minister. To show that he was intent on this, it was mentioned that the deceased had selected as the hymn to be sung at his funeral:

"For thy dear saint, O Lord
Who strove in thee to live,
Who followed thee, obeyed, adored,
Our grateful hymn receive.

For thy dear saint, O Lord,
Who strove in thee to die
And found in thee a full reward,
Accept our grateful cry."

Before last Lent he had discussed the Lenten services with Rev. Mr. Davidson, and impressed upon him that the great object of these services was to bring the people face to face with the Cross of Christ. He urged the congregation not to forget that that was one of the last things said by their late rector. Few men, the speaker said, had to bear such constant trials. He was weighed down with troubles—in money matters, in family and other matters. He met these with resignation and patience, and their effect was to discipline his character and bring him nearer to God, while at the same time they doubtless had the result of impairing his health and hastening the end. He had always a great dread of an agonizing death, and prayed much to be delivered from it; in answer to his prayers he had passed peacefully away. His last words as heard by the speaker were in response to the prayer of the Litany, "O Lamb of God, etc.'—and his fast failing breath feebly formed the words, "Grant us thy peace." The story of the last week of the rector's illness was one of despair and hope, but on Friday he took a turn for the worse and on Saturday morning he passed peacefully away. What a change this was That afternoon, the speaker saw, their late rector lying in his coffin, robed in the vestments of his sacred calling—so natural looking—as though he were peacefully asleep, yet his body on the way to corruption and his spirit far away. The congregation were urged to so live, by God's help, that when the summons came they would be able to meet it in peace and safety.

The preacher then announced the funeral arrangements. The body would be placed in the church on Monday morning and remain till the funeral on Tuesday at 3 o'clock, when, after the singing of the "Nunc Dimittis," it would be borne to its last resting place. The congregation would be afforded an opportunity of taking a last look at the remains of their late pastor.

Contrary to expectations the church was not draped in black. Both curates were opposed to it, and such display was especially repugnant to the late Rev Mr. Beck. The only emblem of mourning were a surplice cassock and stole, disposed in the chair occupied by the late rector, near the altar, upon which was placed a beautiful wreath of of white flowers.

Church Chimes.

Hand-bills distributed on the street Saturday announced that Dr. Wadel-Ward, of Jerusalem, would preach in St. Andrew's church Sunday night and lecture this evening There was some mistake, however, the Doctor did not appear, nor were any arrangements made for him.

The anniversary sermons of the Mark street Methodist church were preached Sunday morning and evening by Rev. D. S. Houck, of Bridgenorth. Mr. Houck's discourses were most impressive and appropriate and listened to with marked attention by large congregations. The Mark street Methodist church is in a most prosperous condition and the anniversary just passed marks another era of growth and advance in God's works among the Ashburnham Methodists.

The convention announced to be held in the Methodist churches Tuesday and Wednesday, has been postponed.

Evangelists Crossley and Hunter will leave Hamilton next Saturday.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

We do thank God for the increased interest in the evangelistic services. Mr. Burson has shown himself approved of God as an exponent of His word. Christians have been built up and sinners led to accept Christ as their personal Saviour. Mr. Burson has very kindly consented to remain with us during this week and give his delightful, interesting and helpful Bible readings each afternoon at 3.30 and special Gospel talks each evening at 8p m.

All the services held Sunday were seasons of refreshing, and were well attended, great interest being manifested. We are so grateful that the Lord sent our brother to us. His labors are being owned and blessed to saint and sinner. Christians, pray for us, attend the services if you want to get good and be enabled to do good for others.

Ladies' auxiliary will meet Tuesday afternoon at 4.30 p.m.

The Rev. Jeffrey Hill, of Chatham, delivered a pictorial lecture to the children of St. Luke's Sunday school on Saturday evening. The attendance was not large, the evening not being a favorable one. The first part of the lecture was upon the Holy Land, each part described being illustrated by means of large charts. The second part was of a more amusing nature, but every part having a good moral lesson. The audience was more than delighted with the whole lecture Mr. Hill occupied the pulpit of St. Luke's church morning and evening Sunday.

THE GREAT SCULLER DEAD

HENRY E. SEARLE, THE WORLD'S CHAMPION, NO MORE.

Died of Typhoid Fever—Record of Australia's Noted son—O'Connor Cables His Sorrow—Who is the World's Champion?—A Question for Belcher.

ADELAIDE, South Australia, Dec. 9.—Henry Earnest Searle, the champion oarsman of the world, died of typhoid fever to-night.

The whole country is in mourning over the sad event. Flags are at half mast and the word tones of the St. Paul's chapel bell disturbs the stillness of the night. For a time it was hoped that a recovery was possible, but a week ago the great oarsman took a relapse and has been slowly sinking day by day. His end was a peaceful one and he now rests calmly on his oars with a title that can never be wrested from his honored grasp.

Among the many cablegrams from friends throughout the world was one received from his late opponent, William O'Connor from Toronto, Canada, expressing his sympathy and hope for recovery.

HIS EARLY AQUATIC VICTORIES.

Searle was an unknown man on Jan. 1 of last year. His rapid ascent to the highest aquatic fame is unparalleled in the history of rowing. As a native of Grafton, Henry Searle became known as the Clarence River sculler. He was born on July 14, 1866, and when but a mere boy rowed to and from school twice a day, the distance being three miles each way. As in every art, early training in sculling is productive of splendid results, and no doubt this regular work has been a great factor in making Searle such a great sculler.

Searle's first race was on Nov. 9, 1884, at Chatsworth, when he won a race in waterman's skiffs. In May of the following year he won the light skiff race at Harwood, and on the same day he, with J. Fisher, pulled off a double-scull race, in waterman's skiffs. His next race was at Harwood in 1886, when he won a light skiff race over a three-mile course, but he was defeated the same day by Wallace over a mile course. In the following April he won a light skiff race at Chatsworth, but was beaten in skiffs by Wallace two days after at Lambra. Searle, who was coaxying 10 pounds, was second. Subsequently he beat Mr. Wallace, A. Baker, and G. Baker, the weights being: Searle 16 pounds, M. Wallace 10 pounds, A. Baker 10 pounds, and G. Baker feather. In the following July he again won from Wallace in a private match in light skiffs. He was then matched against S. Davis over a two miles and three-quarters course and won again. In November of the same year he was defeated at Palmer's Island by A. Baker, who carried 8 pounds, Searle being second with 12 pounds, Wallace third with 7 pounds, and J. Reed, with feather weight, fourth. In April, 1886, Searle contested in a handicap time allowance race, in which he had 20 seconds start from the scratch man, and won. In November he passed the post first in a light skiff race at Chatsworth with handicap of 35 pounds.

CHRIS. NEILSON'S DEFEAT.

Searle's next performance was on Jan. 2, '88, when he beat Chris. Neilson, who gave him three lengths and a half start, and Hearn, the champion of New Zealand who gave him one length and a half start. This was at the Clarence River Aquatic Carnival, and was Searle's first attempt at outrigger-ck, and his performance caused general surprise. Neil Matterson then took him in hand, and brought Searle to Sydney. His first match was with Julius Wull on June 26, over the championship course, for $100 a side, and Searle won easily. Searle then met Stansbury, the Shoalhaven sculler, for $100 a side over the Parramatta championship course. The race was rowed on July 13, and after a splendid contest, Searle won, breaking all records over the course, his time being: 19 minutes 33⅘ seconds. On Sept. 14 he gave Neilson a hollow beating. On Oct. 5, Searle met Hughes on the Hunter River, giving him a start of 10 seconds, and won with the greatest ease.

WINS THE WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

It was on Oct. 2, 1888, that Searle reached the zenith of aquatic glory when he wrested the world's championship from Peter Kemp on the Parramatta course in :22 44⅘. His next effort was to capture the $3000 prize in the international scullers' regatta at Brisbane, Australia, over a large field of competitors, including all the great Australian oarsman. Having defeated everything in his native land he listened to challenges from this part of the mundane sphere. After much cabling and controversy the match was arranged with William O'Conner to be rowed on the Thames on Sept. 9. Probably more money was staked on this event than on any sporting contest in the history of the world. The race was a grand one and it was generally accepted that the best man won. Searle was 5 feet 10 inches high and measured 41 inches round the chest. His rowing weight was 13⅘ lbs., and he was 28 years and six months old.

Thus in his brief career of five years' professional rowing Searle has only been beaten three races, all minor ones, and has won no less than thirteen, a truly phenomenal record.

THE FEELING IN TORONTO.

TORONTO, Dec. 10.—It seems only as yesterday that the news of Searle's great victory over our own William O'Connor was spread over this city like wild fire a few minutes after the great race on Sept. 9. Then the doughty Australian was a human paragon with the great strength and skill to wrest the victory from the hitherto unconquerable Canadian. To-day he lies cold and calm in death, the victim of one of the many of human ills. O'Connor gave it as his opinion, yesterday, that Searle contracted his illness on the murky Thames; that the germs lurked in his constitution at the time of the race, but of course not sufficiently to affect his manhood. On his homeward voyage he sank steadily, and on landing in Adelaide he was forced to his bed, from which he never rose, and yesterday the dread disease completed the fatal task begun.

The vanquished opponent was effected greatly when a World reporter showed him a despatch stating that Searle's end was near. He immediately valued his regrets, hoping the message would reach the great oarsman in life. Every citizen who had the pleasure of meeting Searle in London grieved sorely at his sad fate. All were loud in their praise of his fine mental and physical qualities. Messrs. Mossop, O'Grady, Hobberness, Rogers, Biggar and Carmichael all spoke in the same strain. Mr. Rogers said that he had hoped for another race between Searle and O'Connor.

WHO IS THE PRESENT CHAMPION.

The world's championship is now, of course, open to dispute. The two most prominent aspirants to that title are O'Connor and Stansbury. Both were defeated by the deceased champion in very close races. Stansbury had challenged Searle for a race on his return and O'Connor had challenged Stansbury. One has as much claim to the title as the other, O'Connor averred yesterday that he would never row again on English waters, but was willing to meet Stansbury on a lake course. There is little doubt but that the latter will visit America, as per invitation, to the Colinia regatta on Washington Lake next May. Then a meeting will be arranged for the aquatic giants and a revival in the grand water sport will occur.

FOUND WITH HIS THROAT CUT

Supposed Suicide of Alexander McKenzie of Hespeler.

HESPELER, Dec. 9.—The body of Alexander McKenzie was found to-day in a swamp about four miles from this place. The throat was cut from ear to ear. The act was undoubtedly the work of the unfortunate man's own hand while laboring under a fit of despondency. The poor man was in rather reduced circumstances and having recently got out of employment became low-spirited and it is thought allowed himself to brood over his trouble to so great an extent that he took his own life. He was over 60 years of age and had lived in the locality for more than 30 years. He bore a good character and was much respected. He had never been married. An inquest will be held.

THE POISONED CANDY CASE.

Eleven Jurymen Secured for the Trial of McDonald at St. John.

ST JOHN, N. B., Dec. 10.—Eleven jurymen have been secured for the trial of McDonald, the alleged prisoner. Thirty-seven men out of a panel of 100 failed to respond and the judge announced that he would fine every one. Twenty more men will be summoned to-morrow. Nearly all the persons stood aside. Many were men who had formed such strong opinions against the prisoner that they would feel like finding him guilty from the

TWO WINGS TO THE CLAN.

ONE IN THE WITNESS BOX AND ONE IN THE DOCK.

Forrest Declares that All the Witnesses for the Prosecution are Unreliable—They have Long Memories—If the Vote Blundered Why Should the Jury?

TORONTO, Dec 10.—At the opening of the court trial to-day Mr. Forrest resumed his address to the jury on behalf of the defence. He argued on the unreliability of circumstantial evidence.

Now, gentlemen," said he, "I want to ask a few questions. Suppose that the accident of ordering the men to clean the sewer had not occured until after this trial. Don't you know that in every speech urged by the distinguished orator you would have been told that Martin Burke was guilty because he sent Dr. Cronin's clothes over the city? Ask yourselves if that argument had been made to me and those clothes had not been discovered, would not I have given it weight? Cannot you learn, gentlemen, from that simple fact some lessons? You can learn that these gentlemen that have been trying this case for six months are no safer guides than we are. You learn that circumstantial evidence will lie and mislead. You learn another thing: That although these defendants may not be able to disprove what they can prove to be true as they say, it does not follow that they are guilty.

"You see the difficulty, gentlemen, that the defence is in when we are called upon to prove a negative. How can we prove that the clothes were not over the sea if the accidental not turn them up in the North Town sewer? Call it faith, call it blind chance, call it over-ruling Providence, call it what you will, it did for Martin Burke, the humble laborer, what his counsel and all the witnesses in the world could not have done. Suppose the truth had not been disclosed. Suppose the clothes had not been found. Suppose the argument had been made by these gentlemen, that they had been sent abroad, and what an argument, too, they would have made."

"They could have described the box going across the stormy sea, they could have talked about the ship that held its guilty secret, they could have speculated upon what was being done and had been done. Suppose all that had been done, and you had believed it, and drawn the conclusion that they urged you to draw in their opening and that they would have urged you to draw in their closing; suppose, then, that the truth had been disclosed and the clothes found in the North Town sewer. What justification could you have made to the people of the State of Illinois? What justification could you have made in your breast to your God?

"Now," he went on, "it is proven that the Clan-na-Gael throughout the United States is divided into two wings. One wing of the Clan sits in the prisoners' dock and the other wing sits in the witness seat. How does the wing that sits in the witness seat and which envelops this entire prosecution—how does that wing feel towards my clients and the wing to which its side belongs? They say that that wing of the Clan-na-Gael or the leaders, betrayed our comrades to the British Government and sent our comrades to British prisons by telling who they were. So you find that this wing has been assisting the prosecution, that it has labored day and night. And as the other parties have given their services and their money and the rest of these 15,000 Clan na-Gaels throughout the country have been aiding the prosecution of this case. All these men who have left Ireland for Ireland's good because of the English police are after them, they come from Milbank, they come from other places, swooping from the prisons of England crying Revenge! Revenge! Revenge!" and you find them in the witness box and you find them around the tables urging on the prosecution, and you come here as a jury to pass upon the facts and to examine the motive behind it and it is the ancient Irish maxim so far as that is concerned."

"Now, gentlemen, there is not a witness that has been discovered in this case since the coroner's jury returned its verdict that is not a suspicious witness. I never saw such a body of witnesses and you never did. They have eyes like the eagle. Like owls they see longer and further by night than they can by day. Their hearing is as sensitive as that of the deer that roams over Northern forests. What extraordinary perceptive faculties; what reasoning powers; what prodigious memories; every one of them, too, does an extraordinary and unusual thing. Every one of them does something remarkable so as to impress upon his mind the date of the occurrence he testifies to. Such intellectual gymnastics was never before heard of. In the future when the writer of intellectual science want to get the best illustrations of a full, accurate and prodigious memory they will search the records of the Cronin trial and enquire into the memories of the witnesses on behalf of the State."

Mr. Forrest then with much sarcasm and ridicule analyzed the testimony of various witnesses for the prosecution, claiming all testified as if they had been trained to bolster up a desperate case. Mrs. Conklin, Milkman Mertes and Mrs. Hoertel he said testified to occurrences which they claimed to have witnessed when shadows had fallen; yet they were able to give minute descriptions of the persons concerned in them, could tell their complexions and the kind of clothes they wore. The trouble with the evidence was too circumstantial and its details fitted together too closely to be in accordance with the nature of things. It lacked that variety in unity which was recognized as the the strong point in circumstantial evidence.

Mr. Forrest then considered the expert testimony in the case at great length and showed that the doctors could not determine the cause of death and could not even decide definitely whether or not the wounds were inflicted before or after death. The State, he said, had indicted these men for the murder of Dr. Cronin by inflicting blows on his head and face. They must prove that or the prisoners must be set free. If they failed it was their own fault in making a blunder in the indictment."

"I tell you gentlemen," exclaimed Mr. Forrest, "we can say that we do denounce the doctor's murder. That has been done sufficiently, God knows. The whole world has denounced it and thundered it at the heads of my clients for six months. It was a murder—a cruel murder—but I tell you, gentlemen, that in your Court House they would in the name of the law commit a legal murder to sustain a theory, to sustain a blunder; the whole thing was made necessary by the original blunder.

There was no evidence, he said, that the blows on Dr. Cronin's head caused death. They were not severe, the skull was nowhere fractured. The speaker then took up the matter of the trunk key and the cotton bathing, which occupied his attention until the court adjourned for the day.

Mr. Forrest will probably occupy all of to-morrow with his argument.

TORONTO TOPICS.

One of the Gang Who Stoned Archbishop Walsh Fined—Other Notes.

TORONTO, Dec. 10.—At the Police Court yesterday morning William McIntosh, of Walton avenue, was charged with having thrown a stone at the carriage of Archbishop Walsh on the night of his arrival in the city. Charles Gottingher, a small boy who lives at 93 Jarvis street, testified that he had seen McIntosh pick up a stone at the corner of Shuter and Church streets and throw it through the window of the carriage calling out at the time "Give it to the dirty —— of a ——." Detective Watson stated that he had watched McIntosh closely from the time the procession passed from Yonge street along Shuter street. He had seen him raise his hand as if to discharge a missile, but could not swear that stone had been thrown. He had heard McIntosh make the remark alluded to by Gottingher in his own defence McIntosh swore positively that he had not been disorderly on the line of the procession, and had not thrown a stone during the evening. He had seen the stone thrown, but they all came from behind him.

The Magistrate said he was satisfied McIntosh had thrown the stone. He considered the offence a most serious one, the affair a most disgraceful one and would impose exemplary punishment. He then fined him $50 and costs or three months in jail.

The Toronto Street Railway Co. has given notice that an application will be made to the Local Legislature at its next session for an act to amend that governing the said company, so as to confer power to use cables, electricity, steam, or other motive power on the street railway lines.

"WE ARE THE PEOPLE!"

BRAZIL NEWSPAPERS SINGING THE SONG OF LIBERTY.

A Clever and Effective Ruse to Maintain Exchange Rates—Little Possibility of Secession Except of the Germans—The Wealthy Were Timorous.

LISBON, Dec. 9.—An Englishman, the regent of an important English bank at Rio Janeiro, who was aboard the Atrato, said: "The Ministers were made prisoners. Before the arrival of the Emperor the Premier handed in his resignation, but said nothing to the Emperor about it. We knew nothing of the provisional Government. Business was suspended. The greatest fears were entertained, not of the soldiers, but of the blacks. Sunday, the telegraph was seized and no messages were delivered, not even those addressed to the British Consul. I went to the consulate at ten o'clock in the morning and was stopped also. We feared that the exchange would fall to nothing, but the provisional Government notified the English bank managers that if they allowed the exchange to fall their establishment would be suppressed. The provisional Government also offered to guard the bank, but this offer was declined. The next day the exchange only fell from 27⅞d. to 27d. I saw the Emperor on a balcony guarded by soldiers. Nothing could exceed the feeling of kindness which everyone, including the provisional Ministers, entertained toward him. The cowardice of those who ought to have resisted was contemptible. The wealthy classes were timorous rather than indifferent. The old loyal feeling began to wear out after two days. The republican leaders had intended to issue a proclamation in December, but seeing that the national guard was increased they resolved on a coup d'etat. I do not believe the north is strong enough to separate. The only possible secessionist movement will be from the Germans. We have 250 passengers who are fleeing from the country."

The fall of Count Preto excited very slight sympathy. All officers who favored the monarchy have been removed. Titles are disappearing and public functionaries are addressed as "Cidado." Official letters will henceforth terminate with the words "salutation, health and fraternity."

The restriction on commercial telegrams was removed Nov. 17, but political telegrams were rejected. The Government provided against the publication of anything unfavorable or disquieting. Even telegrams to foreign ministers were suppressed. The Minister of Marine, at the head of a small body of sailors and marines, tried to suppress what he believed to be a revolt of the infantry at their barracks. The marines fraternized with the rebels, who summoned the Minister to surrender. This he refused to do and tried to draw his revolver. The soldiers shot him down in the presence of either Gen. da Fonseca or his aide. Gen. da Fonseca and the disaffected troops anticipated that the Government would move against them at the head of two regiments of cavalry, and a battery of artillery surrounded the Santa Anne barracks, where the Ministers had assembled. The troops inside fraternized with those outside. The barrack gates were thrown open and the Ministers witnessed Gen. da Fonseca's triumphal entry and exit, saluted by the troops. This constituted the business. The citizens were unmoved.

A dispatch from Rio Janeiro, dated Dec. 6, states that Barbosa, Minister of Finance, has resigned, and has been replaced by Saldanaha Marinho.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—The newspapers brought by the steamship Finance, which arrived from Brazil Saturday, gave many interesting details of the revolution which so summarily overthrew the monarchy and established a republican form of government. The papers throughout the country are reported to be rejoicing, almost without exception, and after the extravagant manner peculiar to South Americans. They also indicate that the catch phrases or "slang" of the Republic have found favor with the new-born republic of the south, as the papers have adopted the slogan, "We are the people." A Maranhao paper rejoices editorially as follows:

At last we are free!

"The two Americas to-day are sisters, and the hymns of liberty resound from the North Pole to the South. Everything is transformed at the sweet call of Liberty.

America belongs to herself. The thousands of people who breathe its air are strangers to the liberty that has now been pronounced. Liberty and work! This is the cry of all America. The joy can be noted everywhere. It illumines the faces of all the people, and confidence in the progress of the country revives in their hearts. A happy future is now to be seen on the horizon of our country."

WHAT IS THE BEST?

The Program for the Wilmington Debate—The Wiman Propaganda.

WILMINGTON, Dec. 9.—It has been agreed that the question to be debated before the Board of Trade on Friday night next shall be stated as follows: "What governmental policy on the part of the Governments of the United States and Canada will be best calculated to bring about the desirable relations between the two countries?" The disputants are General James H. Wilson of Delaware and Charles Emory Smith of Philadelphia, on the side of Political Union; Congressman Butterworth of Ohio, and Erastus Wiman of New York, in support of Commercial Union. Every considerable business man in this city has received a copy of a pamphlet issued by Mr. Wiman in relation to Canada entitled, "The Greater half of the Continent."

ORILLIA'S POST OFFICE SITE.

An Exciting Contest at the Polls—The Wheeler Lot Chosen

ORILLIA, Dec. 9.—The citizens voted to-day on the question of choosing a site for the new post office. The matter has created more excitement and feeling than any election for years. Almost a full vote was polled with the result that the Wheeler lot on Peter street was chosen against the Market Block site by a majority of 45.

This Comes Per G. N. W.

MONTREAL, Dec. 9.—It was stated to-day that the leading counsel of the Montreal and Great Northwestern Telegraph companies were in consultation with a view to settling the lawsuit now before the courts. The Montreal Company was said to be now willing to accept the 6 per cent. offered by the G. N. W. in lieu of the 8 per cent, which is theirs by right of contract, though insisting on the Western Union Company depositing bonds or some other tangible security.

Another Victim of Overhead Wires.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Peter Claussen, aged 34, a lineman employed by the North New York Lighting Company, was found dead hanging on a wire attached to a pole at the corner of 3rd-avenue and 170th-street yesterday afternoon. His right hand was severely burned and he is supposed to have been killed by an electric shock.

IMPORTANT!

Remarkable Restoration to Health of Well Known Canadians whose Cases were Given up as Incurable.

From the few of the hundreds of letters we have received from those who have been restored to health and strength by the use of that wonderful discovery, Paine's Celery Compound, we make a few extracts. We hope that the thousands of Canadian men and women who are suffering from nervous and wasting diseases, will profit by these true and plain statements of facts.

D. B. Davidson, of Montreal, suffered for years with nervous dyspepsia, pain in his back, and sleeplessness. He tried doctors without relief, was losing flesh rapidly, and had about given up heart when he commenced the use of Paine's Celery Compound. "Now," he says, "I am a new man. I sleep well and my food does not hurt me."

Mr. Jas. Johnson, 302 St. Charles Borromeo Street, Montreal, was weak and nervous, had no appetite, and could not rest at night. His nerves were soothed and strengthened by Paine's Celery Compound, and he soon became well and strong.

Annie Gourley, of River Beaudette, P. Q., found the Compound a certain cure for weakness, and now feels as well as she ever did.

A customer of Harrison Bros., druggist, Hamilton, Ont., told them that he was entirely cured of nervous weakness by the use of two bottles of the Compound, after everything else has failed.

The little child of Mrs. G. E. Meredith, 36 D'Arcy St., Toronto, was cured of St. Vitus' Dance by Paine's Celery Compound.

RAILWAY EXTENSION.

At a recent meeting in Lindsay to consider the development of our northern mining resources, it will be remembered that Mr. Stratton, M.P.P., went Peterborough spoke of the desirability of extending the Chemong Valley Railway northward to Bobcaygeon, thence on to Kinmount and thence to Gravenhurst. Now that the local Board of Trade has taken up the matter it is to be hoped that all possible diligence and energy will be directed to a consummation so devoutly to be wished. That a paying traffic would in a short time be developed is not a matter of much doubt. We all know how rich the region such a line would tap, is in material resources, both of forest and mine. The very arguments most insisted on before the Trent Valley Canal Commission as to the development to be effected by its construction, apply with greater force to the building of this extension. And with greater force, for the railway extension is a live topic, and the canal a subsoil invented with a rather hazy halo of hope. By the construction of the proposed railway extension, not only would vast natural resources secure a direct outlet, but a large extent of country would be rendered tributary to Peterborough, and the tide of trade from the north would be turned towards Peterborough. The latter's market and commercial facilities being so greatly superior to Lindsay, these considerations would turn the trend of trade to this town. This is a tangible object for the Board of Trade to aim at, and there seems to be little reason to doubt that if that body goes to work aright, the construction of the line can be accomplished. Every effort should be made to collect information tending to show the Grand Trunk Railway that the building of the extension would develop a paying traffic. This accomplished the line would speedily follow. To the collection of this information the railway committee should especially address its efforts. The region to which it is proposed to make the extension, has attracted the attention of another great railway corporation, and if Peterborough does not wish to see the trade of this region pass by its doors, prompt and well directed action must not be delayed.

The Superiority of Peterborough Market.

The following from the Lindsay Warder will be read with interest by the farming community. It needs no comment. Here is what the Warder says:—

A farmer residing partly within the limits of Lindsay recently offered his peas for sale in this town; but, not receiving his price, took the load to Peterborough, and, over and above expenses, cleared about $10 on the day's work. Others from the limits of the town load to Peterborough.

Cases of instances are available where men have received from 4c. to 10c. per bushel higher for barley, and from 4c. to 12c. higher for wheat per bushel in Peterborough than in Lindsay. At Borough Versions, Emily and Ennis-Ops, these facts are known, and, as a consequence, hundreds of teams that should come to Lindsay go to Peterborough; and hence that town profits.

For nearly five years we have been striving quietly, as we met to injure this town, to get Lindsay buyers to come up to Peterborough prices; but all w. gained was ill-will from those in the ring. Now, the farmers all know the facts by hard practical experience. When a man gets a certain price one day in Lindsay and 10c. higher for barley from the same bin, in Peterborough next day; when farmers from the town borders of Lindsay drive to Peterborough market, surely something is wrong. "PETERBOROUGH BUYERS GIVE BAD WEIGHT," says the ring. Well, shrewd farmers from Emily and Verulam weigh their grain and come out over, rather than under weight. "AH, BUT THE PETERBOROUGH MEN TRAP UP THE TICKET WITH THE WEIGHT ON, AND ENTER UP ANOTHER WEIGHT." Too thin. Imagine a Peterborough buyer testing any one of the scores of intelligent farmers from Victoria!

Why is it evidently stated that one of the leading Peterborough buyers after actually paying such high prices in 1887-8, cleared over and above expenses $6,000. Query. How much then was made out of Victoria county farmers, with Lindsay markets so low?

Let the farmers of Victoria consider the matter, and endeavor to induce one of the Peterborough buyers, say McBain or Wrighton, to open on Lindsay market also. A small buyer has no chance anywhere. The prices quoted him by the ASSOCIATOR are various to suit the occasion. He is allowed [illegible] grain, or, if he be troublesome, is killed off in a year or two. Just as when the Bay of Quinte farmers sailed with their own barley to Oswego, the Association there REFUSED TO DEAL WITH THEM AT ALL, at any price. The ring is stronger to-day than ever.

Let farmers sift and keep inquiring until the bottom is reached. We are making arrangements to publish the Peterborough market weekly.

The harsh, drastic purgative, once deemed so indispensable, have given place to milder and more skilfully prepared laxatives; hence the great and growing demand for Ayer's Pills. Physicians everywhere recommend them for costiveness, indigestion and liver complaints.

Peculiarities of the Hair.

There are times when all persons require to pay some particular attention to the hair. To rehabilitate the life or energy of the roots is a simple matter if taken in time. Dr. Dennerwood's Great German Hair Magic will do the work, it works in accordance with nature, supplies fresh nourishment to the pleads keeper, the hair luxuriant and natural in shade. Be sure to get, you cannot afford to miss it. Every druggist sells it. It is money well spent. See Dennerwood's advertisement in another column.

The New Minister's Reply to the Dominion Alliance's Test Question.

MONTREAL, Dec. 9.—In reply to the official request by the Dominion Alliance for a definition of his position on prohibition Hon. C. C. Colby writes:

STANSTEAD, Dec. 6, 1889.

MR. J. H. CARSON, Secretary Dominion Alliance: My Dear Sir: I have to acknowledge receipt of your official letter submitting the usual test questions which all alliance propounds to candidates. In reply, I beg to refer you to my speeches and votes in parliament, which have been for the most part, if not always in harmony with the views of the Alliance and for which I have received the formal thanks of branches of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. I refer you also to an editorial of The Montreal Witness referring to a memorable division when I and some other supporters of the Government voted against the government. In that editorial it was said that my name, with some others, deserved to be written in gold on the hearts of our constituents. As a Cabinet Minister I cannot properly says more. Respectfully yours, C. C. COLBY.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Mayor Clarke for the Third Time—Commercial Travellers Meet—Other Notes.

TORONTO, Dec. 8.

A peculiar and atrocious assault was committed on a young man about 11 o'clock Saturday night. He was passing over Wellington-street, on Bay, towards W. R. Brock & Co.'s wholesale house. A covered carriage was coming along Wellington-street from the west. In the cab were three or four noisy, half-drunken men and women. While directly opposite the young man one of those inside the carriage reached out with an umbrella or cane and poked it into the young man's eye, inflicting a painful wound. An operation may have to be performed. The name of the young man could not be learned, but on a handkerchief which he dropped on the sidewalk were the initials "J. B. H." He is said to be a resident of Eastern Ontario. After the assault the man in the box whipped up his horses and the carriage, with its drunken occupants, was soon out of sight. One of the men in the cab, it is believed, is known.

The statement of affairs of the Polson Iron Works Company, now in liquidation, shows the liabilities to be $125,782; direct unsecured, $101,530; indirect, $6561; preferred, $6000; contingent, $7000. The assets are put at $312,339.

A general meeting of the Commercial Travellers Association of Canada was held Saturday night. President A. A. Allen occupied the chair. The nominations of candidates for the various offices were held. These officers were elected by acclamation:

President—A. A. Allen.
First Vice-President—John Burns.
Treasurer—R. H. Gray.

Mr. E. Fielding gave notice of a motion to provide a fund for superannuated travelers. The annual meeting will be held here on the 27th, when the election of officer will take place.

Rev. J. H. Hector, who is called the "Black Knight at the Prohibition Crusade," spoke in Association hall yesterday afternoon at three o'clock.

The new weekly periodical The Saturday Ledger made its appearance Saturday and found a ready sale by the boys and dealers. It is composed of 12 pages and prints no advertisements therein. Secretary Gus Foy has about completed the books of the Toronto baseball association. He says that the total deficit for last season would be between $2,500 and $3,000 as shown by his edger. This is the first official statement of the club's finances for the past season.

Mrs. Walsh, whose little daughter was so badly burned a few days ago that she died in the Hospital, has been arrested on a charge of manslaughter and lodged in the county jail. This action was taken in consequence of the verdict of censure passed upon her by the coroner's jury. It is alleged that for some time back Mrs. Walsh had been dissipating, and the little child being left alone in the house was trying to light a fire when her clothing was caught by the blaze.

The World the morning announces, on what it considers good authority, that Mayor Clarke will seek a third year's tenure of the chief magistrate's office.

Mr. George Gooderham and Mr. T. G. Blackstock arrived in New York on Thursday on the Teutonic from Europe, and reached Toronto Saturday morning.

SCORCHING FIRES AT GOTHAM

Four Lives Lost and Heavy Damage Done to Property.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—The National Line Steamship Company's dock at Pier 39, North River, took fire at 1.30 o'clock this afternoon and burned nearly to the water's edge. Four blackened dead bodies were taken from the ruins. Many more people were badly burned some of whom are likely to die. It was the most disastrous fire on the river front for some time. For two hours the fire resisted the efforts of nearly the entire fire department below Four-tenth street and seriously threatened the adjacent piers. The Steamship Holland, belonging to the National Company, lay in her berth at the north side of the pier when the fire was discovered. By quick work she was removed from her dangerous position and towed to the Jersey side. Exactly how the fire occurred is a mystery, but the officials of the company think that it was due to spontaneous combustion among a lot of cotton on the pier. The spread of the fire before it was discovered and the confidence of the dock laborers that they could distinguish it without the aid of outside apparatus gave the flames a tremendous headway.

Before the men were really aware of their danger the westerly end of the dock was a burning mass and such of the laborers as escaped had to flee for their lives. It was then that most of them were injured. Those who did not escape at that time were overpowered by the smoke and fell senseless and dying in their tracks. Three alarms were turned in finally and the fire boats were summoned. After strenous efforts on the part of the firemen the flames were subdued at 4.30 o'clock and the bodies of the four victims were conveyed to the morgue. The excitement of the crowd that surrounded the place had somewhat abated. One young woman however made several attempts to enter the ruins in search of her brother, Willie Barry. For half an hour the attention of the spectators was divided between her and the policemen who were endeavoring to soothe her. Finally she was approached by a man who told her the boy was all right. She accepted his assurance with a look of relief and turned away. The complete list of those killed is:

JAMES BARRY, watchman, 50 years old.

RICHARD JOHNSON (colored), foreman, 45 years old, married.

GEORGE BOOKER (colored), longshoreman.

JAMES WHALEN, carpenter.

The injured are:

JOHN HOPSON (colored), married, longshoreman, badly burned, condition precarious.

SAMUEL DIGGS (colored), 70 years old, married, longshoreman, seriously burned.

FRED WILLIAMS, 40, carpenter, badly burned, but will recover.

HALDOCK KIPP, clerk, severley burned, will recover.

GILBERT FARMER (colored), 32, longshoreman, burned and cut, will recover.

JOHN HOTALING, 50, engineer, burned about face, will recover.

ROBERT WALLACE, 36, fireman, overcome by smoke, will recover.

JOHN THOMSON (colored), badly burned about the head and face and throat, condition precarious.

FREDERICK WILLIAMS, bruised about the hands and face, will recover.

ROBERT WALLACE, foreman engine company, 33, overcome by smoke, will recover.

Besides the above persons who were taken to St. Vincent's Hospital there were half a dozen who were slightly burned about the face and hands. Among these were several firemen. There is only one person unaccounted for out of the 300 employed on the pier, the elevator boy, James Maguire. It is thought, however, that he got out all right and went to his home. The loss cannot be definitely ascertained, but it is thought will exceed $250,000, which is fully covered by insurance.

DYSPEPSIA, that great source of misery to so many people, can be effectually cured by the use of Dyer's Quinine and Iron Wine. It is carefully prepared, easily assimilated and can be taken by the weakest invalid. W. A. DYER & CO., Montreal. 6d134

TO THE DEAF.—A person cured of deafness and noises in the head of 23 years' standing by a simple remedy, will send a description of it FREE to any person who applies to NICHOLSON, 30 St. John st., Montreal. dw

Those unhappy persons who suffer from nervousness and dyspepsia should use Carter's Little Nerve Pills, which are made expressly for sleepless, nervous, dyspeptic sufferers. Price 25 cents. dw

LADIES, bring your boys to Kidd and he will clothe them for you cheaper than any merchant in Peterborough. 372 George st., two doors south of the shoe store. dw

PROMPT, POTENT AND PERMANENT results always come from the use of Milburns Aromatic Quinine Wine. dw

SCROFULA

Tumors, Erysipelas, Canker, and Catarrh, Can be cured by purifying the blood with

I do not believe that Ayer's Sarsaparilla has an equal as a remedy for Scrofulous Humors. It is pleasant to take, gives strength and vigor to the body, and produces a more permanent, lasting, result than any medicine I ever used.—E. Haines, No. Lindale, O.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my families, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease.—W. F. Fowler, M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

For forty years I have suffered with Erysipelas. I have tried all sorts of remedies for my complaint, but found no relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After taking ten bottles of this medicine I am completely cured.—Mary C. Amesbury, Rockport, Me.

I have suffered, for years, from Catarrh, which was so severe that it destroyed my appetite and weakened my system. After trying other remedies, and getting no relief, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, in a few months, was cured.—Susan L. Cook, 909 Albany st., Boston Highlands, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is superior to any blood purifier that I have ever tried. I have taken it for Scrofula, Canker, and Salt-Rheum, and received much benefit from it. It is good, also, for a weak stomach.—Millie Jane Peirce, South Bradford, Mass.

Mrs. Shinerup in Jail.

A Sunday or two ago a certain lay worker visited the jail to talk on spiritual matters with the prisoners. With unconscious irony he began by singing the hymn 'It is Good to be Here," and began his remarks by saying he was "glad to see so many present." These well meant remarks were, of course, ill timed and mal apropos. He would have spoken exactly to the point if he had said that barley brew', kept the finest stock of teas and coffees in the district and at the lowest prices. Don't forget that fact when you want a tip-top cup of tea or coffee. d

Rush Strides We Are Making!

This season we are doubling values as we are doubling our business. To attract the trade of gentlemen—young and old—we have completed the purchase of a large stock of the newest patterns of cashby Tweed for trousers. The Christmas Market.

Christmas day happens on Wednesday this year, thus interfering with the regular market day. For the convenience of all parties the midweek market should be held on Tuesday of Christmas week. It is hoped the farmers and townspeople will arrive at this understanding so that all may enjoy Christmas day at their homes.

At the Opera House.

Zera Semon's first performance at the opera house last night was attended by a good-sized audience and needless to say the show gave every satisfaction. The principal event of the evening was the drawing of prizes. The first prize, a lady's gold watch, was won by Miss May Wainwright; the dinner set by Lee Atchison; the chamber set by Jas Dorrie. Over 100 articles were given away. To-night another gold watch will be given away, and a complete change of programme presented.

The Great Power of a Little Money.

A little money goes a great way at the great Christmas Sale of Dry Goods of M. Sullivan & Co., which began last Saturday. The Stock must be reduced, and at this sale the biggest kind of inducements are offered to effect this result. Low prices are the rule in every department, and as the goods are all first-class, the customer gets the most astonishing bargains. Those who have patronized this sale are delighted with their purchases—they never knew before what a wonderful purchasing power a dollar could have with low prices and tip-top goods. Don't let this sale escape your memory or you'll let the biggest chance of bargains of the day escape you. dtf

There's Money in the Country.

To hear some people talk one would think that money was a scarce article, but bless you, there is always money fourthcoming when the proper inducements are offered. Take the great sale of dry goods now going on at Hackett's store. The stock must be cleared and business wound up by the 1st of January. Everyone knows this; they know that the bargains offered are genuine. Despite the large quantity sold there is a big lot yet to go. The store is 125 feet deep and was crammed with this season's new goods. Here's your chance. Everything being sacrificed to clear. Store crowded with buyers who recognize that this is a chance that occurs only once in ten years. All accounts must be settled by January 1st and the business wound up. Come and buy. d126-w48tf

Over Twelve Years Established.

A live and well established grocery and provision business for sale. R. H. Green, on account of continued ill-health, has decided to sell his entire stock of groceries, provisions, &c., en bloc, at a bargain, to a suitable purchaser. The goods are nearly all new, well assorted and bought at the lowest possible wholesale prices. The stock, furnishings, horse, rigging, &c., will amount to about twelve hundred dollars, but will be reduced considerably within the next few weeks (if I don't meet with a wholesale purchaser in the meantime), as I am now retailing them at a great sacrifice. Parties wanting good fresh groceries, provisions, &c., for the holiday season will find it to their advantage to call before buying elsewhere, as decided bargains will be given. The goods must be sold. R. H. GREEN, corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets, Peterborough. Dec. 3rd. w47taf

Transferred to Chatham.

This morning Mr. J. P. Dunn, the genial and popular station agent of the G. P. R. at Peterborough, was notified that he had been transferred to Chatham, where the company are opening out a new station. Mr. Dunn has proven an energetic and successful in working up the business in Peterborough that the C. P. R. Company have recognized his special worth and capacity for taking new positions, hence his removal to Chatham. Mr. Dunn's many friends in town will sincerely regret his departure, while hoping he may be as successful in his new home as he has been here. His abilities will find a large field for operation in Chatham. It is understood a committee of young men who are privileged to call Mr. Dunn their friend, are arranging a farewell testimonial to take place this evening. Mr. Dunn leaves to morrow for Chatham. His place will be taken by Mr. W. Moore, of Norwood.

Clearing their Skirts.

A deputation of carters composed of Messrs. M. O'Brien, Geo. Benton, Robt. Duncan, Jas. Jobe, D. Hillier and Wm. Hook, called at the EXAMINER office this morning and wished it stated publicly that none of them was the carter referred to in yesterday's issue, who threw a load of furniture off on the roadside because the widow woman who owned the goods would not pay an extra quarter. In justice to these gentlemen their statement is published. They were not at all concerned in the affair.

Patrick Foley, the carter referred to, gives his side of the story. He says he moved the woman's furniture to the house where she told him to go, and helped her carry the goods inside. He asked another quarter of a dollar, and she said she would give it him as soon as she earned it. Foley replied "that was all right," and drove on. That night he heard she had again moved the furniture to a house she had occupied before removing to the place below the locks, from which Foley had moved her. Foley says he would not do such a thing as the paragraph lays to his credit.

County Court.

The Common Charge Assault Cases Before the Grand Jury—The Jury Panel—His Honour's Charge.

PETERBOROUGH, Dec. 10th

The fall sittings of the County Court and general sessions, began here to-day before His Honour Judge Weller.

There was an unusually large attendance of spectators, about twenty-five of the young lady pupils of the Collegiate Institute occupying seats in the court room.

There were eight or nine legal gentlemen present.

GRAND JURY.

ROBT. FAIR, foreman.

R. Allen,	Stewart Brown,
Robt. Borland,	E. E. Bewis.
H. Caldwell,	John Dinwoodie,
Wm. Fair,	J. S. Fitzgerald,
Jos. Jary,	Thos. G. Milburn,
John McNaughton,	R. A. Morrow,
Hy. Patterson,	C. B. Rentley,
R. Renwick,	Thos. Retherford,
G. B. Sproule,	W. C. Taylor,
W. Thistlethwaite,	M. Wilson,
David West,	W. G. Yelland.

The Judge addressing the Grand Jury said the calendar presented the same appearance it had done, he was happy to say, since he ascended the bench—it showed no criminals in jail awaiting trial. Reference was made to the vagrants and insane persons (four or five of the latter) confined, pending removal to the asylum. He regretted that a place designed for criminals should, from lack of asylum accommodation, be confined in jails, an undesirable state of things, although these unfortunates received the best of care from Mr. Nesbitt.

Referring to the assault cases, he would have pardoned, he said, from his relations with one of the parties, not to have anything to do with them. It was his duty and that of the Grand Jury to clear their minds from preconception, and consider the merits of the cases without fear, favour or affection. Mr. Colbeck would be charged with assaulting a son of Mr. McWilliams', by whipping him in school. The common law permitted whipping as a matter of discipline. In doing this a teacher acted within his rights, provided he did not exceed what was necessary to reduce the child to obedience. If a boy resisted, the master might have to inflict severer punishment than would otherwise be necessary. He had been told that some of the Grand Jurors had been taken to see the boy who was beaten. If this were done it was a gross interference with the course of justice to thus attempt to influence their minds. If it was found the punishment of the boy was excessive, they would find a true bill. Referring to the thrashing of Mr. Colbeck. His Honour said Mr. McWilliams pleaded justification in the injury to his boy; but that was not legal justification in any way. If every man were to take the law in his own hands, a bad condition of things would follow. One man would have as much right as another to seek his own redress. The law says a man shall not take the law into his own hands. The law says there is no wrong without a remedy. If the jury thought Mr. McWilliams justified, they would find no bill. The jury were then released to their duties.

The Last Sad Rites.

The Remains of the Late Rev. J. W. R. Beck Placed in the Tomb.

An air of hushed activity surrounded St. John's church this afternoon, when the funeral rites of the late Rev. J. W. R. Beck, M.A., Rector, were celebrated with solemn and impressive ceremony. Long before the hour announced for the funeral the church was thronged with people, many of whom embraced the opportunity of taking a last look at the remains of the departed as they lay in the coffin in the chancel. The casket was adorned with handsome floral emblems, the gifts of thoughtful and kindly-remembering friends and parishioners of the late rector of Peterborough.

There were a number of the clergy of the diocese in attendance, including the Bishop of Toronto; Rev. J. D. Cayley, of St. George's Cathedral; Rural Dean Allen, Millbrook; Rev. Dr. Bethune, of Trinity College School; Rev. Dr. Simons, of Trinity College; Rev. Canon Davidson, of Colborne; Rev. Geo. Cooper, Hastings; Rev. W. C. Allen, Millbrook; Rev. J. Gibson, Norwood; Rev. J. W. McCleary, Norwood; besides Rev. J. C. Davidson and Rev. C. B. Kenrick, curates of St. John's Church.

The solemn but beautiful service of the Church of England was taken by Rev. J. C. Davidson and Rev. Canon Cayley, Precentor of the diocese, the full choir assisting, after which the casket was borne to the hearse by the pall-bearers, chosen from among the visiting clergy. The funeral cortege was one of the longest ever seen in Peterborough, evincing the general respect and veneration in which the deceased was held by all classes of people. Arrived at the Little Lake Cemetery, the service over the grave was read by the Bishop of Toronto and Rev. Canon Allen. The body was then consigned to the tomb, amidst a deep silence, and the last sad duties in connection with the burial performed.

The chief mourners at the funeral were the family of the deceased, among whom were Miss Beck, of New York, and Mr. H. T Beck, of Toronto.

Charged With Forgery.

Jerome C. Green, of Belmont, in the Toils—Committed for Trial.

Some time ago it will be remembered one Jerome C. Green, a resident of Belmont township and agent for Patterson Bros. agricultural implements, was arrested on a charge of forgery. It was alleged that Green forged the names of several farmers of the township to promissory notes in payment for machines, stated to have been ordered by them, in order that he might collect his commissions thereon. He was arrested, but before he could be tried he escaped from the custody of the constable and crossed over to the United States, where he procured temporary safety. The Patterson firm determined to probe the matter to the fullest extent, and caused the arrest of Albert Dunkely and Joseph Green, also of Belmont, in connection therewith. They were both discharged. Then the prosecutions took steps to secure the extradition of Jerome C. Green, the principal, who was living in Rochester. Forgery is an extraditable offence. Last Saturday evidence was given at the police court here by several agents of the Patterson Company and the victimized farmers, on the strength of which a warrant was made out for Green's arrest. The warrant was placed in the hands of a government detective, who crossed over to the Flowery City and secured his prisoner. Green volunteered to return of his own accord without the trouble of being extradited, and now states that he would have returned before this but he had not money enough. The prisoner was brought to town last night and this morning appeared before the magistrate.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

Green is a youngman of good appearance, and was followed into court by his young wife, who was apparently deeply interested in her husband's welfare. Mr. John Barnham, Q.C., appeared in behalf of the prisoner. The charges were three in number, two of them being for forging the name of Alex. Peterson on two different notes, and one of Andrew Cosbie The amounts involved are small. The prisoner pleaded not guilty to the charges.

The magistrate explained that evidence had been taken Saturday in this matter, but if the prisoner wished it another examination would have to be held. Upon advice of his counsel the prisoner waived further preliminaries and allowed the evidence already in to hold good. The magistrate then committed him for trial at the next assizes, and bail was fixed at $1000 personal bonds and two sureties in $500 each, the same bondsmen to be accepted on each charge.

St. Paul's Mission Band.

Annual Meeting and Presentation of Reports—A Gratifying Record of the Season's Work.

The annual meeting of the Faithful Workers Mission Band of St. Paul's church, was held on Thursday evening, Dec 5th, in the school-room. The meeting was addressed by Mrs. Shortreed, Home Secretary of the General Society. A paper on "Mission Work among the Jews" was also read by Miss Dowling.

A pleasing feature of the meeting was the presentation to the President, Miss Martha Dickson, of a certificate of life membership, accompanied by a complimentary address.

The following is a copy of the

TREASURER'S REPORT.

During the present year our Mission has raised $182.63; deducting expenses of $27.53 we have a balance on hand of $155.20. We regret that this is somewhat smaller than the amount raised last year, but at the same time we feel encouraged, as we can truly say that more has been "offered willingly unto God" than in other years, our voluntary contributions being over seventeen dollars in excess of last year. A garden party and an entertainment have been given during the year by the Band, from which sources we realized $84 15. Our mite boxes have, we are afraid, been forgotten by many of us, only a little over six dollars having been handed in. (Last night $2 was added to this.)

At the beginning of the year we introduced what we called the "Five cent collection" into our meeting. Each person willing promises to give 5c. a month. This small sum has amounted to $8 30.

Our little friends of the juvenile band have also been doing their share of the work, $6 66 having been raised by the children. The last addition to our funds was $25 collected for a certificate of life membership for our President.

Our expenses amount to $27.53. These have been incurred chiefly in connection with entertainments given by the band and in buying materials for the quilts to send to the Northwest.

A. HALL,
Treasurer.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Following is the report of the secretary:—

Our work for the year is ended. Not a page, not a line, can be undone. Can the Master say of each one of us, as He did of Mary of old, "She hath done what she could?" Our meetings on the whole have been well attended, the average being twenty-five. Our members also have shown more interest in the work this year, several of them contributing papers on our different mission fields, and also in taking part in the opening and closing exercises. Sewing meetings were held during the year, the result being that three quilts were made and sent to the North-West. We also presented our president, Miss M. Dickson, with a certificate of life membership.

Our band was not represented at the annual meeting in April, but Mrs. Loch very kindly gave us the benefit of her report. We were represented at the semi-annual meeting held at Cobourg in June by Miss E. Montgomery, who brought back an interesting report.

We have had two public entertainments, a lawn social at Mr. Richard Hall's, and an entertainment in the school room, both of which were very successful.

The Children's Mission Band have had their meetings regularly once a month. The little folks show much interest in the work, both by their attendance and their willingness to give missionary recitations and readings. They also contributed a large number of dolls and fancy articles, which were sent to India. When the roll is called they, as well as our own Band, answer by a text of Scripture.

At our September meeting we had our friend, Mrs. Walter Roger, with us, who gave us a most interesting and instructive address, calculated to stimulate and encourage us in this great work.

Before closing our report we would like to appeal to the young people of our church, urging them to unite with us in this work. It is not our work, it is Christ's; and if we are His children do we realize we are disobeying His last and, therefore, most sacred command, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature," Mark, xvi, 15.

DEATH RAN IN THE CRUSH

JOHNSTOWN PA. SUFFERS A SECOND TERRIBLE SCOURGE.

A Cry of "Fire" Creates a Panic in an Opera House—Two People Killed and Seventy Five Injured—People Brought to Their Senses by the Hose

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. Dec. 10.—During a performance of Uncle Tom's Cabin at the Opera House here to-night a cry of fire was raised, resulting in a terrible rush for life down the narrow stairs.

Ten persons were instantly killed and many terribly injured.

Seventy five in all are injured.

The names of all the killed and wounded cannot be ascertained at present. Among the killed are

MISS NESTER.
GEORGE FISCHORN

It was found necessary to turn a stream of water on the crowd from a fire engine standing near before the dead and wounded could be taken out.

People rushed from the outside up the narrow stairs and were crushed by the crowd forcing its way to the streets.

CANADIAN PACIFIC TERMINUS.

St. John's Bold Bid to Wrest it From Portland.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Dec. 10.—James D. Leary of Jogging raft fame, the well-known New York contractor and lumber merchant, has just entered into a big contract to build dry and wet docks in this harbor. The scheme is a mammoth one and will involve the expenditure of some millions of dollars. Negotiations have been in progress between himself and the city and the provincial government for some time, which have finally terminated to his complete satisfaction.

It is the outcome of a bold bid which this city has been making for many years now to secure for itself the Atlantic terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The negotiations have progressed so far so satisfactorily that the city has signed the contract with Mr. Leary and given him a subsidy for $10,000 a year for twenty years, besides exemption from all taxation.

Further than this the provincial and the federal executives have been seen both by Mr. Leary and the representatives of the city to the good effect that the former will give $10,000 a year for a like term, and the latter will be asked at the coming session of Parliament to make good the subsidy to the amount of $60,000.

The Canadian Pacific already runs here. James C. Robertson of the firm of Harris & Co., the largest car manufacturers in Canada, and who have had extensive dealings both with the Dominion Government and with the Canadian Pacific, is interested with Mr. Leary in the venture.

BOULY IN AN INDEFINITE MOOD.

If he Doesn't Become a French President he'll Lecture for $700 a Night.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Mr. Alexander Comstock, manager of Niblo's Theatre and the Academy of Music, returned from Jersey last week with a preliminary contract duly signed by General Boulanger in his pocket. The few details which have transpired concerning it are in the main incorrect. The General has inserted a clause declaring the agreement null and void in case he is able to enter France as President of the French Republic before the end of January, when he is to start for America accompanied by his private secretary and personal manager. Mr. Comstock agrees to pay travelling expenses, hotel bills, etc., for the General and suite and to give him $700 net for each of thirty lectures he is to deliver in the principal cities of the States. The General is to write his lecture and promises to address his audiences in English. He will be introduced on each occasion by some leading French resident of the place.

M'DONALD'S TRIAL.

The Jury Chosen—Sensational New Evidence Anticipated.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Dec. 10.—Thomas Littlejohn, the twelfth juror in the McDonald trial, was obtained this morning. One hundred and thirty-one persons were empannelled to get the jury.

Solicitor-General Pugsley, who conducts the case for the crown, began his opening address and continued till 1 o'clock.

It is reported that new testimony important in the case has been discovered. Some eighteen or nineteen large combs were found behind a box in the shop rubbish room of Messrs. Harker's store, identical with the other combs in boxes similar to those in which the poisoned candy was sent.

The Grip of The Grippe.

PARIS, Dec. 10.—The influenza or grippe, is extending widely throughout this city; 100 employes of the Central Telegraph office are now ill with it. There is a great deal of public alarm about it, much inquiry and even some small degree of panic due to notions of its possibility being a free-runner of great evils. An official medical report touches especially the case of the large number of employes of the Magasin du Louvre who have been taken and says none of the cases are severe.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Three Young Men Sentenced—Women's Enfranchisement—Other Notes.

TORONTO, Dec. 11.—In the reception-room at St. Michael's Palace yesterday afternoon for 2½ hours, His Grace the Archbishop, held a reception. Mr. James F. Murray acted as A.D.C. The weather was all that could not be desired and this kept a large number of callers away. However there was a good representation of prominent Catholic ladies and gentlemen who paid their respects to His Grace and had a few friendly words from him. Right Rev. Bishop O'Mahoney, Vicar-General Laurent, Very Rev. Father Rooney, Archdeacon Cassidy, Rev. Father Morris, Rev. Father McBride, secretary to His Grace, assisted in the reception. Among the first to call were Hon. T. W. Anglin, Commander Law, R. N., Dr. Collins and Dr. Murray McFarlane of the Toronto General Hospital, Rev. Mr. Topp, George Crawford, Mrs. Hugh Ryan, Miss Ryan, Mrs. Austin Smith, Eugene O'Keefe, Mrs. O'Keefe and the Misses O'Keefe. Thomas Long, ex-M.L.A.; Mr and Mrs. Gus Foy, Mr and Mrs. James Pape, Miss Pape, Miss Pape, Mr. Joseph Pape, John Scully, Frank Cassidy. There was a large sprinkling of young lady callers.

The remains of the late Mr. John Gillies, ex-M.P., were removed yesterday morning from No. 86 Euclid avenue to the Union station, en route for Paisley, county of Bruce, where the interment will take place to-day. The brother of the deceased accompanied the remains, and the officers of the Gaelic Society of Toronto, of which Mr. Gillies was an honorary member, attended.

"You may as well send me down for seventeen years and be done with it," sobbed Mary Kelly, at the police court yesterday, "I can't go out upon the streets but I'm arrested for being drunk. I had a few drinks yesterday, but I was not drunk." She was remanded till to-morrow.

Margaret Parker was drunk as she clung to the railing of the dock. She said that she was perfectly sober, but upon letting go her hold upon the railing she fell in a heap upon the floor. She was remanded till to-morrow to sober up.

Four young men named Albert Harvey, Joseph Liner, Joseph Sheahan and William Scott were brought before the Magistrate to-day on a charge of having assaulted a notorious character named Annie Kenny, with intent to commit rape, to which they all pleaded not guilty. Detective Watson stated that he was engaged in frustrating a tenement in rear of No. 4 Patterson place for stolen property last night, when he saw four young men enter the building with the woman Kenny. He then described the assault as he witnessed it with the aid of a match, but the particulars are unfit for publication. The statement of the woman Kenny corroborated Watson's story. Scott, the youngest of the four prisoners, was discharged, and the other three were sent to the Kingston Penitentiary for two years.

The Women's Enfranchisement Association will hold a public meeting in the parlor of the Y.M.C.A. to-night. The object of the meeting is to discuss woman's suffrage. Aldermen from every ward are expected to present. The chair will be occupied by Ald. Gillespie. A meeting of the ladies will be held on Saturday at 2 p. m. in Shaftesbury Hall for the purpose of organization.

CANADA TO BE THE MODEL

A GROWING MOVEMENT TO FEDERATE THE AUSTRALIAN PROVINCES.

Sir Henry Parkes's Favorite Scheme—It Grew Out of a Proposition to Form an Army—Albany, Cavendish Wales, Proposed as the Capital.

SYDNEY, Nov. 10.—Sir Henry Parkes, Premier and Colonial Secretary, is following up his proposition for a federation of the Australian colonies somewhat upon the model of Canada. This other grew out of the proposition for the formation of an Australian army, but aims especially to overcome many gross evils of misgovernment which seem inseparable from the present system. While it has many other supporters than Sir Henry himself, there is a conservative element which apprehends that if once the colonists take to organizing a general colonial government they will not be satisfied to remain dependent, but will desire to annex to the United States. Sir Henry suggests the abolition of all border duties and absolute free trade between the colonies, guaranteed, if necessary, by special intercolonial treaties; a uniform marriage law to protect the family from the evils of divorce as seen in the United States, and a uniform railway gauge for the whole country. He proposes Albury; New South Wales, as the cpital of the confederation.

O'CONNOR AT WORK.

Preparing for Next Seasons Races—Big Money Ahead.

TORONTO, Dec. 11.—It is not generally known that William O'Connor is regularly taking exercise in anticipation of his coming season's races. Lately he has taken a daily afternoon walk to the Humber, running the greater part of the distance back.

Many were the friends that called on him yesterday to learn his programme which of necessity has been considerably altered by Searle's lamentable death. To all these he spoke in the kindest terms of his late conqueror but could of course give nothing definite as to his intentions.

He is almost certain however to visit Washington late in the spring. Yesterday Mr. O. Connor had a letter from C.C. Clikins, the millionaire Seattle estate man, assuring him that his $9000 offer was a genuine one, so he feels no doubt about the success of the affair. Further the American Champion gave it as his belief that the $15,000 which it is proposed to raise for the big regatta above referred to would most assuredly bring Stansbury to this country from Australia. His idea is to have only four scullers in the race, viz: Stansbury, Teemer, Gaudaur and himself. Or if many scullers enter the contest, could be decided in heats as in the International race at Sydney.

O'Connor has not yet received an answer to his challenge to Stansbury, but expects one every day.

ASSEMBLY CANDIDATES.

North Hastings Conservatives Solid For the Present Member.

MADOC, Dec. 10.—At the Conservative convention here to-day, A. F. Wood was again selected as the party candidate for the Assembly on the first ballot by a two-thirds's vote, the other candidates being John Caskey and James Haggerty. The nomination was made unanimous. Much enthusiasm prevailed. A unanimous vote of confidence was passed in the leadership of W. R. Meredith.

West Huron Conservatives.

GODERICH, Dec. 10.—The annual meeting of the West Riding Conservative Association was held at Carlow this afternoon. These officers were elected: Joseph Beck, President; Robert Medd, Vice-President; James Mitchell, secretary-Treasurer. R. Radcliffe of Goderich, was appointed on the Executive Committee, vice W. Campbell resigned, and W. T. Whitely of Clinton, was also placed on the Executive. Resolutions were passed endorsing the policy of Sir John Macdonald, and sustaining the leadership of W. R. Meredith, M.L.A. Addresses were made by Messrs. Porter, Birmingham, Kelly, F. W. Johnston and others, after which it was decided not to name a nominee at this convention in view of the fact that the elections would probably not come off before June next.

He Hauled Down the Flag.

LISBON, Dec. 10.—The captain of the Alagoa, in accordance with instructions from the Brazilian Government received by cable, hoisted the federal flag, whereupon the maritime commandant informed him that although Portugal was well disposed towards the Brazilian republic he could not permit in the port the presence of any flag not recognized by the Government. Thereupon the captain hauled down his colors. He sails for Rio Janeiro to-morrow.

No News Is Good News.

ZANZIBAR, Dec. 10.—There is no news today from Emin and this is understood to mean that all goes well. Emin's people have sailed to Mombasa to await at that point the arrival of the steamer sent by the Khedive to take them through the Red Sea.

The Sultan intends to issue an official proclamation or communication to the faithful generally in praise of the devotion of the Zanzibaris who went with Stanley.

Strike Leaders Reinstated.

ESSEN, Dec. 10.—the leaders of last spring's strike have been admitted to the mines throughout the district. This pacifies the men and there is a better feeling.

Bushiris Routed.

ZANZIBAR, Dec. 10.—The Germans under Lieut. Schmidt attacked the Bushiris Monday. Twenty-eight Bushiris were killed and the others escaped.

Late London Notes.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—The Marquis of Salisbury presided to-day at a final meeting of the committee of the Cabinet on the Irish Land Bill. The draft will be submitted to the full Cabinet.

All work has been stopped at the Woolich arsenal in consequence of the strike of gas-workers.

The Earl of Zetland, the new Viceroy of Ireland, will go to Dublin and enter upon his duties Saturday next. The program is that only the official staff shall meet him at Kingston.

Inherited a Fortune.

ST. CATHARINES, Dec. 10.—Mr. James Hawkins, of this city, has fallen heir to a fortune of $50,000 by the death of an aunt living in Fairport, N.Y.

Ambitious City News.

HAMILTON, Dec. 10.—The charge of disorderly conduct against Private Fielding of D Company, 13th Battalion, was dismissed by the Police Magistrate this morning, the weight of evidence being in favor of the defendant.

Mr. George McQuarrie of Kingston, will come to Hamilton as assistant secretary of the Y.M.C.A.

Mr. Wm. Brick of this city, has been engaged as principal of the Separate Schools of Peterboro.

FIRES OF A DAY.

$3000 Blaze at Cobourg—Incendiarism at Bothville.

COBOURG, Dec. 10.—At three o'clock this morning a fire broke out in J. B. Hayden's hardware establishment in King-street. The stock was badly damaged, principally by water. The loss is about $3000 on stock and slight damage to a building. The stock is insured in the Ætna for $2000, Imperial $3500, Lancashire $1000, British America $2000 and $2,000 on building in the Mercantile.

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 10.—A storehouse owned by D. Lane, on the corner of Dundas and Commercial-streets, was burned with its contents at an early hour this morning. The fire was incendiary, the tenants being out of town. Loss, $3500.

U. S. News Notes.

Two of the saloon passengers of the Ems on her last trip from Bremen to New York had limbs broken on the voyage. The steamer had a very rough passage. During the storm two babies were born in the steerage.

Dennis Donohoe, a Madison, Wis., character, died yesterday. Denny amused people by swallowing live reptiles, knives and other indigestible substances for the price of a drink. Five jackknives, one with the blades open, were found in his stomach.

A madman armed with a revolver and bowie knife took possession of a railway train in Oregon yesterday. He was finally captured.

The Kansas farmers have been badly swindled by the sorghum projectoreta.

THE PRINCE IS DEPRESSED

A YEAR MAKES A GREAT CHANGE IN ALBERT EDWARD'S LOOKS.

Edmund Yates Gossips about Persons and Events—Balfour Among the Scotch—Windsor Castle Shorbed by Gladstone—A Waft From Manchester.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—The great depression of spirits from which the Prince of Wales is at present suffering didn't escape the notice of his visitors last week. He talked constantly of his failing health, and although he battles bravely against increasing weakness, it is impossible to conceal the fact that he is an entirely different man from what he was twelve months since

ANOTHER ROYAL INVALID.

The German Empress has been unwell ever since her return to Berlin. She hasn't yet recovered from the fatigue which she underwent at Athens and Constantinople, and to which she was altogether unequal, as she is in delicate health.

SUICIDES AMONG SOLDIERS.

There has lately been an extraordinary and alarming increase in the number of suicides among the officers of the German army. In one month twenty-eight officers shot themselves.

SQUARE DANCES WILL BE POPULAR.

The Sandringham county ball on Friday was thoroughly successful, although great disappointment was felt at the absence of the Duke and Duchess of Fife. Dance cards are still in vogue at Sandringham, and the programme was very daintily got up with the Prince's crown and monogram on the back. The ball commenced with the Royal Danish quadrills and ended with the Prevlamino gallop. Square dances will once more become fashionable, if princes may be trusted. There were six at Sandringham.

HOW PARNELL LIKES TO TALK.

Parnell's tardy appearance at Nottingham is due to the urgent appeals of the Liberal leaders. He was informed that silence would be misleading and create among the English people an impression that the enthusiasm in the Irish party was declining. To do Parnell justice, he has been unwillingly dragged from his retirement. He has no fondness for talk and gush and prefers to speak rarely but speak decidedly when he does open his mouth. His great object, I believe, at Nottingham will be to confute Balfour's statement as to the progress and tranquility of Ireland.

A STORY FROM MANCHESTER.

According to the Manchester gossips, who presumably were informed by some of the Hawarden set who attended the conference in full force, Gladstone toward the end of the last session took the opportunity of informing Parnell that he and his family were yearning to have the pleasure and honor of receiving him as what Americans term a house guest at Hawarden. Parnell didn't. I understand, respond to the invitation of the aged statesman, who so triumphantly conducted him to prison only a few years ago, with even a tolerable approach to the enthusiasm which Gladstone is accustomed to expect on such occasions, but he didn't absolutely refuse to re-visit Hawarden in the course of the autumn. A few weeks ago, Gladstone, according to the Manchester story, expressed the earnest hope that Hawarden would have the high honor of receiving him as a guest on a certain spread day when there would be a party of congenial friends to meet him. From that day, however, until Wednesday last, Gladstone, as the story goes, received no answer whatever from Parnell, who, unless political friends at Manchester have been romancing, has certainly treated his venerable colleague with scant courtesy.

GLADSTONE'S ON THE BRAZIL REVOLUTION.

Gladstone's glowing panegyric to the Brazilian revolution caused a shock of surprise at Windsor. The change of government in Brazil must be accepted as a fact, but was not one over which Englishmen ought to have gone into ecstacies. The praise which he lavished on the conduct of the Brazilian revolution was suggestive, whether it was intended as a hint to Europeans, or above all, to English Liberals. I do not know but that it will be interpreted to that light by many of them. When a man who has been three times the chief adviser of the constitutional monarch, and who hopes to fill that position again, appears as the enthusiastic eulogist of a republican movement, his action is certainly open to misinterpretation.

BALFOUR CHEERED BY SCOTCHMEN.

There never was such a sight seen in Scotland, or anywhere else for that matter, as the one that greeted Balfour on Wednesday and Thursday evening. That in a Gladstonian stronghold in Scotland 15,000 people could be assembled to do honor to a man who, according to all political appearances, was carrying out a policy distasteful to the mass of his countrymen, seemed impossible, but no enthusiasm was ever more hearty and spontaneous than that which welcomed him when he stepped on the platform and cheered him to the echo after his speech was finished.

Votes of 56 Bills Already Given for the Next Session.

OTTAWA, Dec. 10.—So far notice has been given of 56 bills to be introduced at the next session of Parliament. One of the last to be received was that regarding Orange incorporation. It will be sufficiently far upon the list to come up this session.

Henry Wade, Secretary of the Ontario Provincial Agricultural Association, arrived here this morning on business with the Agricultural Department. He visited the experimental farm and left for Montreal this forenoon.

When the court assembled this morning Mr. Scott, son and partner of Hon. R. W. Scott, appeared to have the case of Tittaw. Colville replaced on the list on the grounds that he was not present when the case was disposed of yesterday afternoon. When this case came up yesterday Mr. McCarthy, who appeared for respondent, asked that it be dismissed with costs, no one appearing for the appellant, and the court accordingly dismissed the case. To-day the Chief Justice not only refused the request of Mr. Scott but delivered a case to counsel generally, impressing upon them the necessity of being present when their cases were called on Thursday morning next.

A deputation from the Montreal Chambre de Commerce waited upon the Minister of Railways to-day to represent the necessity for the extension of the Intercolonial Railway way from Levis west to Sorrel, from which place a road already runs to Montreal. The proposed route would save 35 miles between Montreal and Quebec on the south shore and is unanimously endorsed by all the municipalities interested.

Ticked Under the Groun.

Mr. Morley in a speech at Dundee, suggested that peers who may resign their seats for life in the House of Lords be permitted to contest seats for the House of Commons, where men of talent may do most useful work.

The South London Gas Company has been compelled to dismiss all the new hands as Stokers as well as regulars have resigned and the supply of gas is very low.

Sam Small Wants a Change.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 11.—Rev. Sam Small has made application for ordination in the Protestant Episcopal Church. His application is being considered by a committee of ministers and doubtless will be favorably received. Mr. Small has been a minister of the Methodist Church, but his family are members of the Episcopal Church.

Browne's Fresh Scent.

OTTAWA, Dec. 10.—W. E. Browne, boot and shoe dealer, who was a fugitive in the States from his angry creditors a few months last summer, and who ultimately settled with them for a fraction on the dollar, will be presented with a beautifully illuminated address valued at $100 by a number of personal friends. A supper will be given on the occasion. Browne has again started business in Ottawa.

Charged With Discrimination.

WASHINGTON Dec. 11—The Inter-State Commission yesterday began a hearing against the 30 railroads charged by George Rice of Marietta, O., with discriminating in favor of the Standard Oil Company in the matter of carrying oil.

Not so Many But Worse.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 11.—The epidemic of influenza seems to be changing its nature somewhat. The rumors are becoming more malignant than they were at first but there are not so many cases.
